ADVOCATES FOR SELF-GOVERNMENT

August 28, 1987

Dear Reader:

Welcome to the Liberty Communicator Catalog.

As you've noticed, this catalog is different. Other catalogs in the liberty movement, such as Laissez Faire and LibertyTree, help us access insights in history, ethics, economics, philosophy and political science.

We need this, for sure. But we need more. We need insights and skills in communications. That's our job at the Advocates for Self-Government. We specialize in communicating the ideas of liberty.

Why? Because the need is obvious. In my 600 days on the road speaking and training in our cause, over 1,000 libertarians have told me that they've got good answers, but people don't listen. They tell of the intense frustratration they feel when a friend or loved one closes them off. That's where the Advocates can help.

We get people to encounter, evaluate and embrace libertarian ideas. We do it by teaching liberty minded people, like you, how to get others to listen with an open mind. You can use these training tools and become more confident in one-on-one discussions, public speaking, media interviews and writing.

This catalog is in two parts. Up to this page, you've been reading about SUMMIT 87, the Communicator Workshop November 13-15 in Los Angeles. It's going to be a s-u-p-e-r session. I hope you can join us.

On the remaining pages, you'll find communicator training material and tools. Place your order today. You have my assurance of a 100% satisfaction money-back guarantee on everything you get from the Advocates!

Yours,

Marshall

Marshall Fritz
President

PS: If you want to receive future catalogs from the Advocates, please send in either an order, or if that's not possible right now, clip out your address label and mail it to me.
