Stop dreaming about a White Solstice and come enjoy one, with a week in Jackson Hole, Wyoming. This is a leading ski resort with plenty of activities for non-skiers, too. We'll stay at deluxe 2- and 3-bedroom condos in Teton Village, just minutes from restaurants, shopping, and lifts. Ski all you want, but save time for other activities. Watch for moose and elk on a cross-country ski trip or hike. Try your hand at snow-shoeing. Spend a day in Jackson's art galleries and museums. Then enjoy a terrific dinner with new friends.

- ★ Walk from your front door to the Jackson Hole ski tram and whisk up 4139 feet — the greatest continuous vertical rise in the U.S., with an average of 33 feet of snow a year. Or head for nearby Snow King or Targhee.
- ★ Go on a wildlife safari, or a moonlit walk through snow-covered pines.
- ★ Head up to Yellowstone for a day of cross-country skiing or snowmobiling.
- ★ Try something different: Dog-sledding, hot-air ballooning, snowshoeing, ice-skating, or cross-country skiing.
- ★ Browse in Jackson's famous art galleries and crafts shops.
- ★ If you really want something to write home about, take an ice-climbing class and hang off a frozen waterfall!

Is this the right trip for you? Skiers of all levels will find plenty of challenges and excitement in Jackson Hole, on both downhill slopes and cross-country trails. Non-skiers who enjoy other winter activities, or who simply prefer a relaxing week in the mountains to the usual hectic holiday rush, are equally welcome.
