

KEEP SEPARATE SCHOOLS for WHITE AND COLORED

A LESSON

Actually, the disgraceful spectacle at Los Angeles City College should provide a lesson not only to the parents of Los Angeles (many of whom originally came from the deep South) but to parents everywhere. It is this: if white children are educated with Negroes, sent to church with them, thrown into constant and intimate social contact with them, and in addition are continuously impressed with the virtues of racial equality, then such things as this are inevitable. Young people who are taught all their lives that it is wicked to discriminate between black and white cannot be blamed too much if they fail to discriminate between a black "king" and a white queen for their school anniversary, nor, for that matter, if they fail to discriminate between a white or black marriage partner. . .
