The John Hay Library is located on the corner of Prospect and College Streets, opposite the main gates to Brown University. The Library is open to the public from 9 am to 5 pm, Monday through Friday. All materials are in closed stacks and must be paged with the exception of standard reference materials. Materials do not circulate. Photocopying of non-fragile materials is done by the staff. The charge is ten cents per exposure for printed materials and fifteen cents per exposure for manuscripts. Arrangements can be made for photographing or microfilming collections.
