

Designating some trips for men means that we'll have a more even mix on trips that are open to all. As soon as we feel we can offer and fill up trips specifically for lesbians, we're eager to do so.

QI'd like to be on a mixed trip, but don't want to be the only woman.

We're trying something new this year: A trip on which half the spots are reserved for gay men, half for women. It's the Provencal bike ride, beginning August 29, 1997. If this proves successful (and initial inquiries indicate that it will be), we'll repeat the idea in 1998.

QI'm interested in the Mistral, but want to make sure it doesn't overlap the parts of Provence I've already been to. Could you send me a more detailed itinerary?

We can supply day-to-day itineraries and supplemental information for most of our trips. Just give us a call.

QWho comes on your trips?

The majority range in age from late twenties to early fifties, but we've had people as young as 22 and as old as 73. (No, it wasn't Bob Dole.) Geographically, all regions of the United States have been represented.

By the very nature of our trips, we get fun, active, and intelligent people who like to participate fully in what life has to offer. Most people who travel with us stay in touch with new friends they made on the trip.

QWhat do people enjoy most about your trips?

We ask everyone who travels with us for their comments afterward. Here's what people have singled out as the highlights.

- There were some fabulous sights, but most of all, I enjoyed the quiet and scenic roads. I could never have found them by myself.
- Great group of people! I expect to stay in touch with several new friends.
- The trip was beautifully organized and executed.
- I had more thrilling new experiences on those fourteen days [of Boomerang!] than in any other two weeks of my life.
- I liked it all. This was my best vacation ever.
- [Climbing the Grand] was absolutely the most exhilarating day of my life.
- The best thing was the congenial atmosphere, always feeling like I was with friends.
- The routes were wonderful and carefully researched.
- The closing-night dinner in Avignon was the best meal I've ever had.
- Your careful organization let me relax and enjoy the trip.

Multiple trip discounts: If you sign up for two consecutive trips, we'll deduct $50 from the cost of the second trip and provide a hotel room for the night between them.

Physical condition: Participants are required to have medical insurance. Before reserving, please consult with your doctor to be sure you have no health-related barriers to participation. You are responsible for payment of any medical services you may require during the trip. To get the most enjoyment out of your trip, plan some conditioning beforehand. We'll send suggestions after you register.

Pre-departure information: Well before your trip begins, we'll send you a more detailed itinerary, as well as suggestions about what to take with you, where to meet, and other travel advice.

Large groups: We can create custom trips for groups of ten or more. Organizations that would like to sponsor a trip through us, as well as groups of friends looking for a special time together, are invited to tell us what they're looking for, and we'll make a proposal to fit your need.

Reserve early! Unlike cruise ships, which handle tens of thousands of passengers each season, we can accommodate only a small group on each trip. Our trips often sell out months in advance. Don't be disappointed!
