

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

* 1921 - 1922 *

LIBRARY
OF THE
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

C

B81uTa
v.22

BROWN

ALUMNI MONTHLY

ON THE HILL	The Editor	201
Being a College President—Future of Physical Instruction—Few Students Dropped—Psychological Tests—Brunonian Contributors to the Atlan- tic Monthly—Fraternities and the College
IN PRAISE OF EXAMINATIONS	Otis E. Randall	203
WHAT LYNN HAS DONE	Arthur W. Pinkham	204
ADVISORY BOARD AND VISITORS		206
AROUND THE CIRCUIT	Henry T. Samson	207
WHO'S WHO IN HARTFORD		212
UNIVERSITY INTERESTS		213
UNDERGRADUATE NEWS		213
THE WOMEN'S COLLEGE		216
BRUNONIANS FAR AND NEAR		218

Published monthly, August and September excepted, by the Brown Alumni Magazine
Co. at Brown University, Providence, R. I. Entered at the Post Office at Providence, R. I., as second-class matter under the law of March 3, 1879

TEN CENTS A COPY

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR

How This Bank CAN HELP YOU MOST

No matter how extensive your financial interests may be throughout Rhode Island you will find that the Industrial Trust Company can be helpful to you. Branch Offices of this bank are located in the important business centres of the State—ready to serve you and save your time and effort. Once you have formed a connection here all of your future banking business in all parts of the State will be transacted through one dependable organization.

Industrial Trust Co.

Member of Federal Reserve System

Those desiring Convenient, Safe and Progressive Banking Facilities can find such at

THE

Mechanics National Bank

Opp. Railroad Station and City Hall

DIRECTORS

Charles C. Harrington
Herbert W. Rice
Hugh F. MacColl
H. Edward Thurston
E. Tudor Gross
Charles C. Marshall
J. Palmer Barstow

Blackstone Canal National Bank

20 Market Square

Capital Stock $500,000
Surplus and
Undivided Profits over $700,000

ALBERT R. PLANT, PRESIDENT
HERBERT F. HINCKLEY, VICE-PRESIDENT
CHARLES P. BROWN, CASHIER

Directors

Herbert F. Hinckley	John B. Branch
Edwin M. Dodd	Albert R. Plant
C. Moulton Stone	William A. Viall
Charles H. Merriman, Jr.	Fletcher H. Mason
Frank C. Field	Henry S. Chafee

Important Changes In Tax Laws

Now is the time to become familiar with the many changes in the income tax laws; if you wait until your income tax return is actually due you may experience a great deal of difficulty in making it up correctly.

This Company will be glad to furnish upon request a booklet containing the full text of the Federal Revenue Act of 1921, with summaries of the more important provisions. It contains a complete index and side notes as an aid to easy reference.

This booklet covers the Federal Income Tax, Excess Profits Tax, Estate Tax, Stamp Tax, and miscellaneous taxes.

Ask at the Information Desk in our banking rooms.

15 WESTMINSTER ST.

Member Federal Reserve System

The organic chemical industry—of which the dyestuff industry is an integral part—is the super-university where, and where alone, the trained research chemists can be developed, in whose hands the future industrial welfare of the nation is placed.

It affords the post-graduate course where the academic teaching of our technical schools and colleges is translated into practical results, and where the test-tube theories of the laboratory are proved in terms of commercial quantities.

National Aniline & Chemical Co., Inc.

New York
Boston
Chicago
Hartford
Charlotte

Montreal
Toronto
Providence
Philadelphia
San Francisco

THE FIRST AND LARGEST
MAKERS OF COAL-TAR DYES
IN AMERICA

NATIONAL
U.S.A.
DYES

NATIONAL
U.S.A.
DYES

NATIONAL DYES

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

VOL. XXII

PROVIDENCE, MARCH, 1922

NO. 8

ON THE HILL

BEING a college president is no easy task, as we are reminded by Dr. Faunce's long trip across the continent. The modern college executive cannot sit down in his study and absorb himself in educational problems. He must hurry hither and yon, keeping the alumni informed of the progress of the institution, talk on all sorts of themes to all sorts of audiences, have a jealous care for the development of the college's financial resources—and in addition face a new host of social and ethical perplexities on the campus.

It is fortunate for Brown University that Dr. Faunce is inured to long travel, has a special gift for public speech and an equal talent for the thankless task of securing new equipment and endowment. The twenty-two years of his administration mark a period of extraordinary development in the history of Brown.

* * *

WHAT is to be done for the future of physical instruction at Brown? Dr. Marvel has at the present time 123 classes a week in our outgrown gymnasium. It was built for the accommodation of 250 students and the present registration is well over 1200. We simply have not kept abreast of the times in our provision for the bodily welfare of our students.

We must have a new gymnasium—the sooner the better. Where shall it be placed? One plan has been for the utilization of the new playground on Thayer street, but that is several blocks distant from the campus. There is much to be said in favor of building, when we do build, close to the centre of university life.

Brown has so many wants that it is a question which shall be supplied first. But a gymnasium of modern type and facilities cannot be long delayed.

* * *

A BASELESS rumor got abroad a few weeks ago that the midwinter examinations at Brown had resulted in the disappearance of a large number of undergraduates from college. One report placed the total at three hundred. The fact is that the casualties are no greater than usual. Considering the unprecedented number of students registered, it is distinctly gratifying to know that only about twenty were retired at the close of the first semester—of whom four were sent away for other than academic deficiencies. And in place of these twenty some thirty new students made their appearance. The new men are entered chiefly in the Freshman class, but there are additions also to the upper classes, these latter coming from other colleges.

* * *

WE do not profess to be expert in the new psychological tests for students, but as we understand them they are proving of value in reinforcing such judgment of men as the college authorities are able to reach from the old-fashioned examinations. If a student fails, for instance, in three examinations at the end of a semester, and his psychological tests are equally unflattering, the Powers That Be have less hesitation than they might otherwise have in making it plain to the unfortunate young man that his continued connection with the college would be unprofitable.

* * *

BY general consent it is a crowning literary achievement to be admitted to the pages of that somewhat austere periodical published on the shores of Massachusetts Bay, the Atlantic Monthly. Occasionally we see a Brunonian name on the list of contributors, and when we do we feel a certain vicarious pride. Professor Dallas Lore Sharp, '95, is a frequent contributor; he stands easily at the head of American nature writers today. Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, D. D., author of "In His Steps," and at present the editor of the Christian Herald, appears from time to time, his most recent paper being a record of his "Protestant confessional." The Boas brothers, Ralph P., 1908, and George, 1913, get into the Atlantic swim often enough to suggest that talent does go by families; and in many numbers we are refreshed by Mrs. Allinson's charming essays. Since resigning the deanship of the Women's College she has had more time for literary work of this character.

* * *

A FRIEND whom we prefer to robe in the mantle of anonymity by describing him as a well-wisher of Brown has lately suggested to us that the question of fraternities and scholarship is one that deserves more attention than it ordinarily receives. He points out that at Brown they "do not uplift the level of scholarship or intellectual endeavor," though he goes on to say that "they have distinctly uplifted the level of manners and good breeding." His conclusion is summed up in these words: "They are a refining influence in our college life—but they are in no sense an intellectual force."

The response to this might easily be that if they do as much as this observer says, they are worth while. Personally we hate to think of what Brown University would be without its fraternities. It is true that they have their limitations, that they help to disintegrate the life of the college, that they have not had a marked effect in intensifying the intellectual activities of the campus, but if they have accomplished much as a refining and cultural force, we ought to be grateful to them.

To our (editorial) way of thinking, one of the most serious questions to be solved in connection with the fraternities is the extent to which the university has supervision over the chapter houses. Away from the campus as they are, are they private residences, and thus beyond all college regulation? That seems a dangerous doctrine to subscribe to. There will probably be a pretty general alumni agreement that in such matters as dances, for instance, it is not only desirable but necessary that the university should maintain a policy of close interest and control. So long as a fraternity proclaims its intimate affiliation with the university, it must surrender to some extent the independence that institutions wholly outside the circle of Brown life are permitted to enjoy.

Moreover, it seems to us that any fraternity is recreant to its obligations that does not keep watch on its members and encourage them, especially the younger men, to intellectual endeavor. After all, students do or should go to college to study, and the influence of the fraternities without exception should be in the direction of emphasizing this fact. It would be very gratifying if, when the next publication of scholarship statistics is made, it should turn out that the Greek-letter societies had stressed the intellectual life a little more and that the comradeship of the chapter houses had resulted in classroom percentages equal to those credited to the non-society men.

IN PRAISE OF EXAMINATIONS

AT the opening of the second university semester, Feb. 8, Dean Randall, addressing the undergraduate body in chapel, said in part:

The scholastic race for the academic year 1921-22 is half over. We start out upon the last lap this morning. It is true that a number of those who qualified for the contest last September are out of the running, but that number is far less than we had feared. Those of us who are here this morning have run the race so far successfully. We have met our obstacles and our discouragements, we have stood the severe tests of the past few weeks and have demonstrated that we are fit for the race before us.

We regret exceedingly that any of those who started off with us last September should be obliged to drop out, but no institution of high standing can hope that every man enrolled will meet in full all that is required of him.

The report which was circulated some time ago that Brown would use the final examinations of the first semester as an arbitrary means of reducing her large enrollment is absolutely false. There has been no intention and there is no intention on the part of Brown University of crowding out any man who has proved himself worthy of our consideration. The only men who have been asked to withdraw are those who, for lack of preparation or lack of attention to their work, have demonstrated that they are not worthy of the opportunities which Brown has to offer.

Our numbers have been reinforced by a goodly number of worthy men who have come to us at midyears with highly satisfactory credentials from preparatory schools and other colleges. These men are most welcome. Let us make them feel at home.

The semester examinations through which we have just passed have been the means through which we have determined the present standing of our men and have been able to pick out those who are fit to continue in the race.

Those tests have been very severe, and it is because they are severe that the standards of Brown University are placed so high in the college world. They are very much more severe than they were 25 years ago, and we would like very much indeed to have some of our recent critics who are grieving over undergraduates' shortcomings, try some of these examinations for themselves, and see how far they would get.

Few of us who succeeded in satisfying the demands of the college 25 years ago would make much headway in meeting the entrance requirements to-day, to say nothing about the requirements in college.

The majority of undergraduates look with great disfavor upon the semester examinations and are inclined to regard them as unessential in our academic exercises, whereas probably there is no feature of our system of education which offers a better type of training to students than the final examinations. The object of the college course is to prepare men for usefulness in the various activities of life. A man of any great importance in any of the world activities is under examination all the time, and if he is a man worthy of the confidence of his fellows he should not be afraid of any test which they might be inclined to impose upon him. It is the same with students. If they have done their work conscientiously they should look forward with pleasure to those tests which shall reveal what they have really accomplished.

The various exercises which have been given throughout the semester in the various departments have given the student an opportunity to show his ability by repeated efforts extended over a long period of time. If he made a poor showing at one period, he had an opportunity to remedy it at a number of later periods. When a man is compelled to reveal through a two or three-hour examination what he has accomplished in a department as a result of a half-year's study, he is forced to put into play the best that he has and to produce the best results in a limited amount of time. This is one of the most valuable exercises that we can give to the student because it is this sort of experience through which the great men of the world who are doing our great tasks are forced to pass. No man can be trusted with the great responsibilities of this life unless he has been trained in some way to summon his best powers at critical times, oftentimes with short warning, and to utilize them to the best advantage.

WHAT LYNN HAS DONE

An article which shows how one group of active Brown alumni is interesting itself in the problems which confront the schoolboy in his choice of a college and in his decision to seek a higher education. This report was prepared

By Arthur W. Pinkham '02

Chairman, Committee on Preparatory School Interests, Associated Alumni of Brown University

THE other day while in the office of the Associated Alumni at Providence, the writer took occasion to examine the lists of young men who have been enrolled at Brown from Lynn during the last seven years. His purpose was to get a good estimate of the results of organized effort on the part of a few men who are known as the Brown Club of Lynn.

Previous to the year 1914, the Lynn schools sent very few men to Providence. Those who did go went because they were urged to do so by their fathers or brothers; because they were attracted by the success of athletes on the Brown teams and wished to emulate them; or because some Brown alumnus had casually mentioned to them the fact that, on account of its size, Brown University gave every man an opportunity to shine in his own particular field of endeavor.

No attempt was made to list the names of men who entered before 1914, because the names were scattered through classes of a hundred years. It is safe to say, however, that the average for those years would be less than one a year. But in 1914 all this was changed because that fall fifteen Brown men met and formed a club. Their meetings were held monthly at the homes of the various members. Among other things on their program, it was planned to start a campaign for the purpose of interesting boys in Brown. The scheme was very simple. They addressed a letter to the principals of the local high schools in which they asked for a list of the seniors who intended to enter college the following fall. Then they prepared a questionnaire somewhat as follows and sent it to each of the students on the list:

I am.....preparing to enter some college, university, or technical school next fall.
I should like to know more about Brown University.

If all goes well, I shall—be certified—take College Board examinations. My principal says I may count on.....credits or units. (Give number.)

My ranking in my class is in the first—second—third—fourth quarter.

At present I am interested in Science, Literature, Business, History, Law, Medicine. (Underline)

My age is..... Height..... Weight.....

My athletic activities are.....

My non-athletic activities are.....

Preparatory School.....Class.....

I refer you to Mr.....Address.....
as to my character and reputation.

It is very interesting to note that during the last seven years fully 90 per cent of the high school boys filled out these questionnaires and immediately became very much interested in the question of college education. They at once started an active correspondence seeking further information in regard to Brown; they personally interviewed the chairman of the committee having charge of this matter; they even brought their fathers and mothers in to discuss the situation. The delightful part of it was that the parents seemed very appreciative of the interest which the alumni were taking in their sons.

The replies to the questionnaires were classified and catalogs or bulletins were sent to those who requested them. Finally about March of each year an annual Brown Night was held. In addition to the local alumni, there were present all of the likely prospects from the local high schools and about twenty or thirty undergraduates from the college. This annual meeting was very informal and it always had nearly 100 per cent. acceptances from the sub-Freshmen. The usual program has been somewhat as follows: During the first half hour, each Brown man present was given the names of several of the sub-Freshmen, and he thereupon appointed himself a committee to stay with that particular group during the evening. As soon as the meeting opened you would see the young men begin to group themselves around each of the older men and hear them beginning to fire questions right and left regarding entrance requirements, tuition, living expenses, rooms, etc. Then some one of the undergraduates with the aid of a stereopticon and a set of slides belonging to the college, which is always available, would deliver a very interesting talk on life at Brown. Whenever a picture of some famous athlete was thrown on the screen, immediately there was generous applause which showed how familiar the high school boys are with the heroes of the football and baseball teams. On one occasion when Tom Appleget was holding forth on the lecture platform delivering a delightful eulogy on President Faunce, a curious thing happened. The room was dark so that one could not see his nearest neighbor. Quietly and unannounced President Faunce himself came into the hall and sat with rapt attention listening to the very interesting things which Tom was saying about him, wholly unconscious of his presence there.

The other numbers on the program have usually consisted of a boxing match, a wrestling match and feats of legerdemain by the underclassmen and finally one or two numbers by the University Orchestra or the Quartette. Then to cap the climax, refreshments were served. The gatherings always broke up amid cheers, the high school boys trying to outdo the college men both in noise and in enthusiasm.

The results of the writer's visit to the office of the Alumni Association showed that forty-two Lynn boys had entered Brown during the last seven years. In the year 1916 ten men enrolled. It was the first year for thirty years that the Lynn High School did not send a man to Harvard. The shock was so great to the local Harvard alumni that they sent a committee over to interview the Brown committee to see how it happened.

The purpose of this article, however, is not to boast of the achievements of the Lynn Club along the line of sub-Freshmen activities although every member is proud of the record. Neither is it entirely to arouse in the minds of other Brown alumni throughout the country the need of some sub-Freshmen activities on their part, although such need is great. It is to remind them that as an avocation there is no pursuit more interesting, more satisfying, more delightful than that of going about the country speaking at preparatory schools, interviewing prospects and arousing in them a desire for higher education and for greater achievement. How many alumni who read this article have had the privilege of receiving the thanks and sincere appreciation of mothers and fathers who had given up all hopes of having their sons go to college? How many have had the satisfaction of knowing that you were largely responsible for a certain boy's interest in Brown or in college education itself? If you have had that privilege and have watched these boys graduate and go out into the world to occupy positions of trust and responsibility, you will then fully appreciate the joys of that Rotarian slogan "He profits most who serves best."

ADVISORY BOARD AND VISITORS

The annual meeting and dinner of the Advisory Board of the Alumni are scheduled for the evening of March 7th at the University Club, with a supplementary meeting the next morning (Visiting Day).

The program for Visiting Day, March 8th, is as follows:

12:00-12:45 P. M. Social meeting of Faculty, Corporation and visiting committees in Sayles Hall.

12:45 P. M. Luncheon.

1:15-2:00 P. M. Speaking by members of the Corporation and Faculty.

2:00-4:00 P. M. Consultation of committees with teaching staff.

3:00-5:30 P. M. Gymnasium, swimming, boxing, wrestling, track athletics and inter-class basketball.

The luncheon will be served this year in Sayles Hall instead of in the Administration Building. Among the topics to be presented after luncheon are the new Metcalf Chemical Laboratory, physical training and athletic sports, cooperation with business enterprise and the relations of the university and alumni.

THE ASSOCIATED ALUMNI OF BROWN UNIVERSITY

OFFICERS

Edward H. Weeks, 1893, President
 William C. Greene, 1875, Vice President
 Charles R. Adams, 1880, Vice President
 Ira Barrows, 1883, Vice President
 Henry G. Clark, 1907, Secretary
 E. Tudor Gross, 1901, Treasurer

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Edward H. Weeks, 1893
 E. Tudor Gross, 1901
 Henry G. Clark, 1907
 J. Palmer Bartow, 1902
 George B. Bullock, 1905
 Arthur W. Pinkham, 1902
 Walter C. Wyckoff, 1895

HENRY T. SAMSON, 1910, ALUMNI MANAGER

This Department is maintained by the Association and devoted to the interests of a wide-awake and working organization of Brown alumni. All news and communications should be sent to the Associated Alumni of Brown University, John Hay Library, Providence, R. I.

AROUND THE CIRCUIT

BOSTON

The sons of Brown in Boston and vicinity elected the following officers for 1922-23 at the annual dinner at the City Club, Feb. 28:

President, Robert Cushman '93. Vice-Presidents, Fred W. Woodcock '91, Dallas L. Sharp '95, Edwin A. Locke '96. Secretary, Homer N. Sweet '07. Treasurer, Carleton D. Morse '13. Executive Committee, Albert L. Scott '00, Harvey N. Davis '01, Henry K. Metcalf '02, Stephen S. Bean '14, F. Hartwell Greene '16. Delegate to Alumni Council (for two years), Wesley E. Monk '96.

The dinner was attended by 300 Brown men. The speakers were Admiral W. S. Sims, who urged the importance of airplanes and submarines; H. A. Dyer '94, who presented to Coach Robinson, in behalf of friends, a traveling bag and purse of gold; "Robbie" himself, who feelingly responded; and Dr. Faunce. The latter said, among other things:

"The state universities cannot refuse any graduates of good high schools, however dull they may be. The endowed institutions are under solemn obligation to give their main attention to the minds that are really educatable, to students of purpose and ambition, and to eliminate the mentally soft and the morally invertebrate. Such a policy is not exclusive or snobbish; it is simply a determination not to devote our resources to coaxing and coddling those who resist education, but to encouraging and inspiring those who really want it.

"We would not shut out any worthwhile student. We would not put up the bars against ambition. But we cannot steer without a chart and a port at which we hope to arrive. The best friends of Brown feel that for the next ten years we should plan for about 1200 undergraduate men, letting our women's college and our graduate department grow as they will."

CHICAGO BROWN CLUB

January 13th, 14th and 23rd were the big dates recently for members of the Chicago Brown Club, which is demonstrating how wide-awake an organization of Brown men may be when it decides to be.

On the 13th Dean Randall, who was in Chicago attending a convention, was greeted by twenty-five members of the club, who gave him a royal welcome. After a splendid dinner, which was served in the Wrigley Building, the meeting was turned over to the Dean, who kept his listeners interested until a late hour with his stories of events and conditions on the Hill.

On the 14th Dean Randall and a group of Brunonians were entertained at a luncheon given by Wallace R. Lane, at the University Club.

At the invitation of Noble B. Judah '04, forty-nine lusty and enthusiastic Chicago Brunonians descended upon that gentleman's home on the evening of January 23rd for the annual meeting of the Chicago Brown Club. The meeting bids fair to be called the "best in the club's history." Here is an account of the doings from the pen of Harold Jackson, energetic and progressive secretary of the Chicago organization:

That the old spirit still lives was amply demonstrated by the constant ring of cheer and song. A bountiful buffet supper, inter-persed with many a "Long Brown," "I'm a Brown Man Born," and "Judah,—He's All Right," started the evening rolling in true Brunonian fashion. President Faunce, later referring to our genial host, declared that not only was "he" all right but "she" also was very much all right—a statement readily endorsed by the entire gathering.

BROWN MEN AT CHICAGO

With his usual charm and customary flow of eloquence, President Faunce brought to us a captivating story of the Hill and its activities. He talked Brown in a way we like to hear it talked. He said things we wanted to hear and left us sensing more than ever the glories of old Brown.

Tom Appleget, who accompanied the President on his visit, also had some interesting things to tell us, touching on different points from those covered by Dr. Faunce.

A perpetual musical program was carried out, George Kowalski '17 and Jack Walker '13 doing yeoman service at the piano. Abe Mendenhall '91 produced several original songs which were more or less ably rendered by the "Poison Ivy Quartet," composed of the three gentlemen last named plus H. M. Jackson '15. Kowalski, a former member of the Overseas Review, read one or two poems that added greatly to the merriment of the occasion.

Commencement Day was revived by the showing of the moving picture film and slides brought along by Appleget. The audience accompanied the showing by whistling and singing the old familiar march, and by frequently greeting their old friends in the film.

After a general open session marked by its unusual flow of wit and oratory, the meeting was called to order by Judge Donald L. Morrill '80, who then appointed a nominating committee. The officers nominated by these gentlemen and later elected by the club are as follows:

President, Lester L. Falk '06; Vice-President, Wallace R. Lane '99; Secretary-Treasurer, John T. Walker '13; Executive Committee, H. E. Roelke '11, Sherman M. Strong '15, R. Grant Martin '04, J. Russell Brown '17, Edwin Mayer, '09.

HARTFORD

From Hartford comes the report that the meeting of the Hartford Brown Club on the evening of February 13th was one of the most successful ever held. Some one has remarked that this is saying a good deal for Hartford, which is one of the live-wire towns on the Brown map. Twenty-seven Brown men were present at this meeting.

Frank O. Jones presided over the festive board, which was spread at the University Club. A quartette of Brown men got together and entertained with a number of selections and the whole club joined in the singing of some of Bruno's most famous melodies.

Professor John F. Greene was the guest of the Hartford Club at this meeting as one of the Associated Alumni speakers. Professor Greene gave an interesting address on subjects of interest to all Brown men.

The next meeting of the Hartford Brown Club will be held on the evening of March 13th, when Bill Shupert, captain of last year's football team and President of the Cammarian Club, will address the men. A number of prospective Freshmen have been invited to attend this meeting.

Plans for the visit of the Brown Musical Clubs to Hartford had not been definitely settled at the time of the February meeting but it is hoped that by now everything has been arranged for the club's concert in that city in April. It was hoped that concerts might be held in Hartford and New Britain on successive evenings.

Secretary C. Wilbur Cary reports that there is a growing interest in the club and its activities. Plans are being considered for a meeting later in the season at the American School for the Deaf in West Hartford. This invitation has been extended to the club by Superintendent F. R. Wheeler '97 and another invitation has been extended for a meeting to be held at Warehouse Point by Rev. G. Dewitt Dowling '96.

SAN FRANCISCO

Yes, Brown Bears are to be found on the other side of the Rockies also. President Faunce will testify to that for he met a number of them on the Western coast.

At a dinner tendered to Dr. Faunce on Thursday evening, February 2nd, at the Pacific Union Club in San Francisco, Brown men of that city and the Bay region spent an enjoyable evening with enthusiasm running high.

Among those present were Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, who presided; Professors Plehn and Goodspeed, Right Rev. Louis C. Sanford, Bishop of San Joaquin, Walter M. Field, Nathaniel Blaisdell, H. R. Conner, Trueman D. Woodbury, Frederick Roper, Dr. Davis L. Hibbs, Clare S. Johnson and Eugene R. Dukette.

LOS ANGELES

Thirty-three alumni of Brown University, residing in Southern California, met for dinner at the California Club, Los Angeles, on the evening of February 8, 1922. The occasion of the meeting was the visit of President Faunce to Los Angeles. R. W. Kirkley '94, President of the Brown Alumni Club of Southern California, presided and acted as toastmaster. President Faunce, who was the guest of honor and speaker of the evening, gave an interesting account of the problems facing the university in regard to the matter of handling the fast increasing number of applications for admission to the college, and asked for a discussion among those present, of the question of whether the university facilities should be increased, or whether some restriction should be placed upon the admission of new students. Every alumnus present expressed his opinion upon the subject and some excellent speeches were made.

Following Dr. Faunce's speech and the discussion by the alumni, the election of officers was held, resulting in the selection of Senator Cornelius W. Pendleton of the class of 1881, as President of the club, and of Lawrence L. Larrabee '09 as Secretary-Treasurer.

After the election of officers the meeting was officially adjourned, but the men remained to relate various anecdotes of a humorous nature, concerning happenings in their college days.

President Faunce left Los Angeles on the midnight train of the same date for San Diego to visit friends, before starting on his return trip East.

The meeting proved a great success and was enlivened by the singing of many old Brown songs from the Brown song books, with which everyone was supplied. Dr. Faunce's visit proved especially refreshing to many of the elder alumni who have not had the opportunity to visit the college since the time of their graduation.

L. L. LARRABEE.

FALL RIVER

With over 100 Brown men living in Fall River and vicinity, it was voted by the executive committee of the Fall River Club that the annual New England banquet in Boston would replace any formal gathering of the Fall River men this winter.

Carl Terry, Secretary of the Club, writes that if the attendance at Boston from Fall River is small, plans may be discussed for a winter meeting of the club in the Spindle City. Fall River will be represented by Rev. Clarence F. Gifford at the Advisory Board meeting.

LYNN

As long as the Pinkhams, the Douglasses and the Marbles are in Lynn, the Brown club in that flourishing city will be very much on the map. Plans are continually under way in Lynn for some sort of Brown gathering—and all of them are successful.

On February 8th the Brown orchestra went to Lynn for a concert arranged by the Rotary Club of that city with the cooperation of Brown club members. Classical High School hall was filled to capacity on this occasion. On account of the energetic efforts of the Brown Club, the undergraduate society was given a fine reception and, according to all accounts, gave an excellent entertainment. The following Lynn members acted as ushers at this party: John Barnes, J. S. Barnes, J. S. Cutler, Charles H. Douglas, Alfred W. Ingalls, Francis A. King, J. Russell Murphy, Arthur Phelan, Daniel R. Pinkham, Preston T.

Stephenson, M. J. Robinson, Frank E. Marble and William M. Howe.

At a meeting of the Lynn Club on February 24th at the home of Secretary Douglas, Alumni Manager Samson was given a cordial reception on his visit to explain the purposes and needs of the Associated Alumni, with which the Lynn Club has always cooperated.

ROCKLAND

Brown men living in Rockland, Mass., and vicinity, met on the evening of January 30th for the formation of the Rockland Brown Club as a member organization of the Associated Alumni. Stuart N. Phelps '15 was elected president at this first meeting.

Alumni Manager Samson explained the purposes of the Associated Alumni and the means of cooperation with the various clubs. There are approximately 40 Brown men residing in Rockland and the neighboring towns who should be interested in the Rockland Club.

Plans were discussed at this meeting for the appearance of one of the Brown musical organizations at Rockland under the club's auspices, but it was found that the programmes of the musical clubs and orchestra for this year have been completed. It is expected, however, that the Rockland men will soon stage other meetings and entertainments of interest to Brown men in that section of the State.

At the next meeting of the Rockland Club, which had not been held up to the time when the Alumni Monthly went to press, a delegate to the Advisory Board meeting in March was to have been elected.

CONNECTICUT VALLEY CLUB

That publicity gained from the victories of its athletic teams is of no special advantage to a college is the opinion of Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, President of Amherst College and former Dean of Brown. This statement was made at the annual banquet and dinner of the Connecticut Valley Brown club at the Nayasset club, Springfield, Mass., on February 14th. He added that athletic activity might go so far that it would become "crude."

Dr. Meiklejohn believes that the college stands for education first, everything else being secondary. He spoke in high praise of E. Benjamin Andrews, former President of Brown.

Theodore F. Collier, professor of European history at Brown, was present as the faculty's representative. He spoke on "A Survey of Present Conditions in Europe."

The third speaker was Henry T. Samson, alumni manager, who brought news of many other Brown clubs throughout the country. He urged that the local Brown graduates hold gatherings every month, instead of once a year as is now the case. Herbert E. Thayer, president during the past year, presided. He called on several present for "three-minute talks."

Officers chosen to serve during the ensuing year are: President, Arthur S. Gaylord '02 of Holyoke; vice-president, Irving H. Gamwell '96; secretary and treasurer, H. F. Osteyee '15 of Springfield; executive committee, Elliot H. Bosworth of Chicopee Falls, E. T. Brackett of Springfield and Ralph P. Boas of Springfield.

The following Brown men were present at the dinner: Arthur S. Gaylord, John F. Watts, Albert E. Hylan, Chester W. Allen, Dr. Zenas L. Leonard, William B. McSweeney, William C. Hill, Aaron A. Aronstan, E. T. Brackett, F. P. Cobb, Jefferson R. Potter, Henry B. Drowne, Irving H. Gamwell, Walter B. Gunn, Herbert E. Thayer, Elliot H. Bosworth, Ralph P. Boas, Walter H. Mitchell, Paul C. Richards, Herbert F. Osteyee, Thomas H. Kenworthy, William C. Gilles, Scott Adam, William G. Collenburg, H. B. Lang, Clinton H. Hobson, Ralph A. Armstrong, Milton Roberts, Lawrence R. Grose, E. F. Davenport, Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, Henry T. Samson, Professor Theodore F. Collier and J. C. Gray.

WILMINGTON CLUB

On January 30, W. R. Swint '11 entertained the members of the Brown Club of Wilmington at his home, 2303 Ridgway road, Wawaset, Wilmington, Del. At the annual meeting of the club which was held at this time A. E. Barnard '15 was elected president for the coming year and D. T. Shaw '15 secretary.

At the present time there are twelve men in the Wilmington group according to Robert G. Caswell '11, who was secretary of the club last year. They are R. M. Atwater '64, G. D. Allison '05, N. E. Holt '10, R. G. Caswell '11, F. C. Blake '13, A. E. Barnard '15, F. H. Smith '03, E. I. LaBeaume '07, R. M. Palmer '10, W. R. Swint '11, C. L. Knowles '14 and D. T. Shaw '15.

R. M. Palmer and R. G. Caswell '11 of the Wilmington Club have resigned from E. I. duPont de Nemours and Company. Mr. Caswell will accept a position with W. B. Pratt, Inc., of Boston, consulting chemists. The address of Mr. Shaw, secretary of the Wilmington Club at the present time, is Marlboro Apartments, Park place, Wilmington.

CENTRAL NEW YORK

Executive Secretary T. B. Appleget was entertained by the Brown Club of Central New York at a dinner held in Syracuse on February 16th. The alumni present were William A. Dyer, A. E. Dudley, R. D. Cady, H. C. Newton, P. R. Gast, W. C. Blanding, R. W. Cram, H. T. Phinney, H. W. Lord, Harold T. Eaton, W. R. P. Davey, H. D. Bruce and Rev. A. A. Jacques.

DETROIT

At the annual meeting of the Brown Alumni Association of Michigan held in Detroit, that organization voted unanimously to affiliate with the Associated Alumni and adopted the affiliation section of the constitution.

At the annual election Wilfred C. Leland '92 was chosen president for the coming year and L. M. Bishop secretary-treasurer. President Faunce and Secretary Appleget both addressed the members of the Detroit organization at this meeting.

BALTIMORE

Brown men in Baltimore have shown surprising energy in the organization of what promises to be one of the most wide-awake clubs on the circuit. On the night of February 10th the organization meeting was held and officers for the coming year elected.

Alfred M. Quick '87 was elected president, Charles H. Peckham '19 vice-president, E. R. (Rex) Cleaveland '14 secretary-treasurer. These officers and Samuel R. Damon '16 constitute the club's executive committee. A "steering committee" also has been selected, to consist of Dr. Bartlett, Dr. Burdick, "Prep" Loud, Ed. Campbell and Gough McDaniels.

Plans for informal luncheons to be held at stated intervals are included in the club's extensive programme to keep Brown spirit up to the mark in Baltimore. Baltimore expects to be represented by a delegate to the Advisory Board meeting in March.

WHO'S WHO IN HARTFORD

Note—This is the first Who's Who to be published by a Brown Club. Who will be next? When twenty similar lists have been published the Associated Alumni will consider the publication of the Brown Club directories in a book for use by the alumni. This list should contain only the names of active club members who are also members of the Associated Alumni of Brown University. Who's Who lists should be mailed to the Alumni Manager, Associated Alumni, John Hay Library.

Dr. Edward B. Allen, industrial physician, Cheney Bros., South Manchester, Conn.
 Rev. Morris E. Alling, Secretary, Conn. & Hartford Federation of Churches, 27 Lewis st., Hartford.
 Jesse M. Bailey, Manager, Alling Rubber Co., Hartford, 76 Washington circle, W. Hartford.
 Rev. H. A. Blake, 234 Ashley st., Hartford.
 Dr. Howard W. Brayton, pediatrician, 179 Allyn st., Hartford.
 Ray Brown, the Choate School, Wallingford, Conn.
 Russell W. Besser, 174 Farmington ave., Hartford.
 Walter G. Cady, professor of physics, Wesleyan University, Middletown, Ct.
 C. Wilbur Cary, manager, the Cary Teachers' Agency, 36 Pearl st., Hartford.
 Edward J. Corrigan, 20 Deerfield ave., Hartford.
 Joseph Coulter, automobiles, 355 Barber st., Hartford.
 F. B. Crocker, Cheney Brothers, South Manchester, Ct.
 Zygmunt J. Czubac, 199 Olive st., Meriden, Ct.
 M. B. Dennison, Caldwell & Jones, Hartford.
 John Dorin, Cheshire, Ct.
 Rev. G. DeWitt Dowling, rector, St. Johns P. E. Church, Warehouse Pt., Ct.

Cyrus G. Flanders, Bradstreet Mercantile Agency, Hartford.
 Arthur W. French, High School, Bristol, Ct.
 E. E. Harkness, the Root Co., Bristol, Ct.
 William R. Harris, electrical contractor, South Manchester, Ct.
 Rev. George W. C. Hill, pastor South Congregational Church, New Britain, Ct.
 Daniel Howard, superintendent of schools, Windsor, Ct.
 John L. Jenney, Cheney Brothers, South Manchester, Ct.
 Frank O. Jones, superintendent Northwest School Dist., Hartford.
 Thomas J. Kelley, mgr., Manufacturers' Assn. of Hartford County, Hartford.
 Edward F. Kehoe, 75 Walnut st., Naugatuck, Ct.
 Ralph C. Knight, Conn. General Life Ins. Co., Hartford.
 Prof. V. K. Kriebel, Trinity College, Hartford.
 Russell Larkin, Conn. General Life Ins. Co., Hartford.
 Edward Miller, Box 16, Station A, Meriden, Ct.
 H. Eugene Nickless, principal Grammar School, Meriden, Ct.
 Joseph Nichols, Conn. General Life Ins. Co., Hartford.
 C. R. Richardson, efficiency dept., Cheney Bros., South Manchester, Ct.
 Rev. Herbert D. Rollason, pastor Congregational Church, Middletown, Ct.
 Charles F. Savage, sec'y Middlesex County Y. M. C. A., Deep River, Ct.
 Laurence R. Smith, Library Bureau, Hartford.
 David G. Smythe, Public High School, Hartford.
 Frederick Slocum, professor of astronomy, Wesleyan University, Middletown, Ct.
 H. L. Tinker, insurance, 64 Pearl st., Hartford.
 M. Allen Wadhams, superintendent Building Construction, Hartford.

Frank L. Wheeler, treasurer, Wheeler-Schneider Coal Co., Shelton, Ct.
 Frank R. Wheeler, superintendent American School for the Deaf, West Hartford.

 Preston Verity, Fleischmann Yeast Co., Hartford.

UNIVERSITY INTERESTS

UNIVERSITY BUYS PROPERTY

Brown University has acquired a piece of property at 97 Westminster street, purchased from Jesse Howard. Revenue stamps attached to the deed indicate that the purchase price was approximately $120,000. The property has a 40-foot frontage on Westminster street.

It was purchased for the purpose of protecting adjoining property that was bequeathed to Brown several years ago. With the new property the university now has realty fronting 80 feet on Westminster street and extending through to Exchange place.

MR. APPELEGET'S TRIP

Executive Secretary Appleget on his recent trip attended alumni meetings in Milwaukee, Youngstown, Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse in addition to those which Dr. Faunce also attended. At Milwaukee on January 31st three Brown men turned out to give him a luncheon at the City Club. Those present were Messrs. Eugene L. McIntyre '04, George A. Gessner '05, D. F. Watson, Jr., '11. The gathering adjourned at two o'clock because Mr. Appleget had a speaking appointment at the Milwaukee Country Day School, but reassembled afterward and continued until almost midnight.

The executive secretary also had an interesting luncheon in Youngstown, where five alumni turned out for the meeting. They were: R. B. Wilson '12, R. G. Ashbaugh '13, John M. Davis, Jr., '15, R. C. MacKay '11, E. S. Walton, Jr., '13.

Mr. Appleget went as far west as Colorado Springs.

FOR COLLEGE MEN ABROAD

The American University Union, with which Brown University is connected as a subscribing institution, cordially invites students and graduates of the university, visiting Europe, to make use of the facilities offered at the Union offices at 50 Russell Square, London, W. C. and 1 rue de Fleurus, Paris. Lists of lodgings and pensions are kept and various social opportunities are offered. Access may also be obtained to universities and other institutions of learning, and candidates for degrees will find their way made easier by consulting, at Paris, Professor Paul Van Dyke, director of the Continental Division, and at London, Dr. George E. MacLean, director of the British Division.

The annual bulletin of the union has just been issued and may be obtained on application to the secretary, Professor J. W. Cunliffe, Journalism Building, Columbia University, New York city. The reports show that there were 1153 registrations during the year at the London office, and over 500 at the Paris headquarters.

UNDERGRADUATE NEWS

ORCHESTRA AT WEST POINT

R. T. Rich '22, manager of the University Orchestra, announces that the United States Military Academy has asked that a concert be given at West Point, March 18, and that arrangements have been made for the trip. The concert is to be a "Ladie's Night Event" and will be followed by a dance.

By the special invitation of the Amusement Officer and the Cadet Adjutant, the members of the orchestra will be quartered in the barracks and will eat with the cadets in the mess hall, and a cadet will be detailed for each member, to act as a guide and escort.

It is believed that the Brown Orchestra is only the second organization of its kind to be invited to entertain at the Military Academy. The only other like organization which is known to have played at West Point is the Princeton Triangular Club.

SIGMA XI ELECTS

Following are newly elected members of the honorary scientific society of Sigma Xi:

Frank E. Winsor '91, Miss H. E. Burgess '22, Miss R. M. Finklestein '22, E. L. Bainton '22, E. M. Eddy '22, H. R. Grimshaw '22.

H. Ise '22, F. B. Littlefield '22, K. H. N. Newton '22, H. B. Pray '22, W. Seaman '22, A. D. Somes '22.

In addition to this honor, four of these students were elected to Phi Beta Kappa in their Junior year. They are: Miss R. M. Finklestein, C. M. Eddy, K. H. N. Newton, and W. Seaman.

SWIMMING SCHEDULE FOR 1921-22

Dec. 17—McGill University at Providence. Won by Brown, 39-14.

Jan. 20—Rutgers at New Brunswick. Won by Brown, 28-25.

Jan. 21—Army at West Point. Won by Brown, 42-11.

Feb. 15—M. I. T. at Providence. Won by Brown, 48-20.

Feb. 18—University of Pennsylvania at Providence. Won by Brown, 36-17.

Feb. 25—Dartmouth at Hanover. Won by Brown, 38-30.

Feb. 28—Syracuse at Brown. Won by Brown, 46-7.

Seven victories, no defeats, to date.

March 1—Wesleyan at Providence.

March 10—Yale at New Haven.

March 11—Columbia at Providence.

March 18—New England Intercollegiates at Boston.

March 25—I. S. A. Intercollegiates at Philadelphia.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE FOR 1921-22

The basketball schedule follows; games are at home unless otherwise designated: Dec. 8, Northeastern; 14, Connecticut State; 16, Providence College; 22, Seton Hall at Orange, N. J.; 23, City College at New York; 24, Brooklyn Polytech at New York; Jan. 7, Trinity; 13, Wesleyan at Middletown; 14, Springfield; 17, Colgate; 19, M. I. T.; 21, Knox; Feb. 10, Bates; 14, R. I. State, Kingston; 18, M. I. T. at Boston; 22, Maine; 24, Wesleyan; 28, Harvard; March 3, Tufts; 7, Clark; 10, Hamilton, Clinton; 11, Union, Schenectady; 15, R. I. State.

The basketball record to date is as follows: Brown 57, Northeastern 25. Brown 23, Connecticut State 29. Brown 48, Providence College 12. Brown 49, Seton Hall 77. Brown 20, C. C. N. Y. 31. Brown 30, Brooklyn "Poly" 23. Brown, Trinity. Brown 22, Wesleyan 39. Brown 21, Springfield 43. Brown 21, Colgate 45. Brown 28, M. I. T. 17. Brown 15, Knox 34. Brown 41, Bates 21. Brown 28, R. I. State 25. Brown 25, M. I. T. 27. Brown 20, Maine 10. Brown 38, Wesleyan 25. Brown 13, Harvard 31.

The victory over Wesleyan was the first since 1908 for Brown.

WRESTLING SCHEDULE FOR 1922

Jan. 14—Yale at Providence. Won by Yale, 17½-7½.

Jan. 21—M. I. T. at Boston. Won by Brown, 17-10.

Feb. 18—Navy at Annapolis. Won by Navy, 29-0.

Feb. 25—Columbia at New York. Won by Columbia, 17-8.

Mar. 4—Brooklyn Poly Tech at Providence.

Mar. 10—Dartmouth at Providence.

Mar. 11—Harvard at Cambridge.

Mar. 18—New England Intercollegiates at Boston (probable date).

BASEBALL SCHEDULE FOR 1922

Sat., Apr. 8, Connecticut State at Providence.

Wed., Apr. 12, Boston University at Providence.

Sat., Apr. 15, Providence College at Providence.

Mon., Apr. 17, Columbia University at New York.

Tues., Apr. 18, New York University at New York.

Wed., Apr. 19, University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Thurs., April 20, Princeton University at Princeton.

Sat., Apr. 22, Rhode Island State at Providence.

Tues., Apr. 25, University of Maine at Providence.

Wed., Apr. 26, Colby College at Providence.

Sat., Apr. 29, Bowdoin at Providence.

Wed., May 3, Wesleyan at Middletown.

Thurs., May 6, Amherst at Amherst.

Wed., May 10, Springfield College at Providence.

Fri., May 12, University of Virginia at Providence.

Sat., May 13, University of Pittsburgh at Providence.

Wed., May 17, Yale University at New Haven.

Sat., May 20, Wesleyan College at Providence.

Wed., May 24, Yale University at Providence.

Sat., May 27, Dartmouth College at Han-Providence.

Tues., May 30, Harvard University at Providence.

Thurs., June 1, Harvard University at Cambridge.

Fri., June 2, University of Pennsylvania at Providence.

Sat., June 3, Amherst College at Providence.

Sat., June 10, Tufts at Providence.

Sat., June 17, Dartmouth College at Providence.

Wed., June 21, (Commencement Day), Trinity College at Providence.

NOTES OF THE MONTH

The Senior class day committee is: G. D. Smith, chairman, M. H. Glover, secretary-treasurer, and L. S. Chick, W. M. Howard, R. Morrisey.

Andover beat the Brown Freshmen wrestlers 18-8 on Feb. 25 at Andover.

In the N. E. A. U. games at Boston, Feb. 25, J. F. S. Carter '23 won first place in the 40-yard dash, defeating Earl Thompson, the Dartmouth star. Carter's time was 5 sec.

The Musical Clubs will make a Western trip in April, going at least as far as Cleveland.

W. C. Forstall '22 has been elected 'varsity track captain in place of Jerome West '22, who resigned because of other college duties.

The dates for Junior Week are May 11, 12 and 13, with the Prom on Friday night, May 12.

Walter H. Snell '13 has been appointed baseball coach in place of H. E. Pattee '06.

Sub-Freshman Day this year will be Saturday, April 29. The whole day will be given to entertaining preparatory school men and showing them college life at Brown. Included in the events will be the baseball game with Bowdoin. The dinner will be at Sayles Hall in the evening.

The Senior Frolic attracted over 200 couples to Sayles Hall on the evening of Feb. 24.

The football championship of China has been won by a team of American Marines coached by Captain Tenney, a former half-back at Brown.

Thomas G. Corcoran '22, of Pawtucket, has been awarded the Susan Colver Rosenberger prize for the best work and thesis in political science. Raymand T. Rich of Hingham, Mass., received honorable mention.

The annual dinner of the Brown Club is scheduled for Wednesday, March 8 at 6:30 p. m. at the Turks Head Club, Providence.

D. K. E. has established a dining room in its house at 65 College street.

The contract has been let for the Metcalf Chemical Laboratory and ground will be broken early in the spring. The great building will extend northward along Thayer street from the Soldiers Gate to Waterman street, the northern section being an auditorium one story lower than the main structure. The material will be red brick and the architecture Colonial.

At a meeting of the Athletic Association, Jan. 5, the following resolution was passed: That no manager, assistant manager or competitor shall be allowed to assume the duties of any other undergraduate activity without first notifying the Athletic Board and receiving its sanction. This resolution is effective at once.

The first prize of $35 for the Class of 1880 discussion was awarded to R. Gerstenlauer '22; the second prize of $25 was awarded to J. A. Wilson '23. Gerstenlauer has been captain of the 'Varsity debating team for the last two years. Wilson was winner of the second prize in the 1880 discussion last year. Both the prize winners took the position that Brown should not limit the size of the student body to 1200 men. The discussion was held before a good-sized audience in Manning Hall.

At a recent meeting of the Peddie men at Brown a permanent organization was formed. There are 22 Peddie graduates now at Brown. The following men were elected: President, R. E. Scollner, '24; vice-president, A. J. Frey, '22; secretary, P. M. Chalmers, '22; treasurer, W. F. Johnson, '23; corresponding secretary, E. A. Smith.

THE WOMEN'S COLLEGE

KOMIANS

The various college organizations have been active during the winter. Shortly after the all-college Christmas dance, the Komians gave two one-act plays, "The Wonder Hat" and "Funiculi Funicula." The plays were well acted and the casts were as follows:

The Wonder Hat

Harlequin	Sallie Wells '23
Pierrot	Anabel Wheaton '23
Punchinello	Orina Kidd '24
Columbine	Ruth Lothrop '23
Margot	Goldie Corash '24
Coach	Leota Lyon '22

Funiculi Funicula

Doctor Collins	Mildred Bailey '23
Taddema Tanner	Amey Steere '22
Alma Willys	Madelaine Dickinson '22
Two Masqueraders
	Joanna Shea '23
	Dorothy Patton '23
Coach	Emelia Robison '23

CIRCUS COMES TO BROWN

The Brownies have also helped to enliven the winter routine by giving a circus. The following account of it appeared in the "Special Supplement:"

None of us felt inclined to get out of bed at four o'clock Wednesday morning, so we didn't see the circus trains come in, but by quarter of eight that night signs of "circus" were unmistakable; the vivid black and white of a clown could be seen scurrying around the corner; one could get glimpses here and there of pink ballet skirts, or spangled tights, all was hustle and confusion in the "dressing tents."

At 8:00 the circus band entered the gymnasium, led by one of the clowns. The music, on instruments gathered from kitchen and hardware store, was truly remarkable. With the end of the "Overture" the main performance began.

Isabel Abbott made a very true-to-life ring-master with her high silk hat, frock coat, and cracking whip. The first act was a tumbling stunt with June Heller and Jo Maguire appearing as Tumb-lo and Tumb-lah. Samsona, known in private life as Phoebe Hall, displayed wonderful prowess as a strong man.

A marvelous balancing act was put on by Helen Borden and Helen Meiklejohn. They looked very diminutive as they balanced easily on the tight rope at a great height. Ruth Vinton excelled in the endurance test on the flying rings, while Elizabeth Simpson showed hours of persistent training in the skillful management of her spirited stallion. With cool cunning and audacious daring she showed in every movement her complete mastery over the animal, and, withal, she displayed a calmness and patience that marked her at once as a lover of horses.

After the performance the side-shows were crowded. The startling attractions proved thrilling, and the fortune-teller was so overwhelmed with business that the Bearded Lady had to help out during rush hours.

As in nearly all circuses, there was one disappointment—a bitter one. Jumbo, the trick elephant, was detailed to appear at the end of the main show and be fed peanuts by adoring children, but he was missing, and we had to be content with his brilliant but far too brief performance.

The clowns were exceedingly natural, and their burlesque of each act brought many laughs. Popcorn, ice cream, and dancing made the evening entertaining until the very last circus peanut was shelled.

DORMITORY DANCES

The annual dance at Miller Hall occurred just before the mid-year examinations. The living rooms and dining room were decorated in green and white—evergreen trees, branches of pine and festoons of smilax made the background, against which gleamed many white candles. Glenna Day was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair. Both the family at Miller Hall and their guests were well pleased with the music, the original favors and the refreshments.

Forty couples enjoyed the hospitality of Metcalf Hall, after the mid-year examinations, at a Valentine dance. Joanna Shea was chairman of the general committee and Ruth Hutchinson had charge of the decorations. The house was very attractive, as always; made additionally so for the occasion by having bands and festoons of red, looped with hearts, upon the walls. The dance was a great success in every respect.

SIGMA XI

Two of the seniors have just been elected to the Society of Sigma Xi. They are Miss Burgess and Miss Finkelstein, whose records in science are already noteworthy. Miss Finkelstein was one of the delegates last year from the college to the meeting of university women in New York in honor of Madame Curie.

NEW ORCHESTRA

A college orchestra has come into prominence this winter and has given good service at several entertainments. At present its members are as follows: Violins: Ruth Bateman '23; Helen MacNaught '23; Elizabeth Apollonio '24; Iva Stone '25; Helen Meiklejohn '25; Muriel Austin '25; Edith Horne '25; cello: Catherine Winsper '23; Louise Smith '24; Betty Rubin '25; saxophone: Hannah Pickles '25; drums: Florence Blick '22; piano: Agnes Cole '23.

CHAPEL

President Faunce conducted chapel at the Women's College just before he left Providence for his Western trip.

Other recent speakers have been Rev. Benjamin Harris and Rev. Philemon Sturgess of Grace Church.

On several mornings the whole time has been given to singing by the student body and Mr. Ray Gardiner sang a solo at one service.

ALUMNAE

The Alumnae banquet which is to take place in March is the first in four years and a large attendance is expected. During the war no banquet was held, although, according to the usual plan one was due two years ago. Sayles Gymnasium will be prepared for the occasion. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. John Heckman '07, chairman; Mrs. David P. Moulton '02, Miss Isabel Brownson '05, Miss Evelyn Chase '19 and Miss Margaret A. Carpenter '18.

The local alumnae have held frequent meetings this year at the college. There were a Hallowe'en party and a Christmas party in their season; later, Mary O'Neil '21 described her summer in Italy and at another meeting Rose Presel played a concert program and Adele Wildes told of her travels and studies in Greece and Italy.

The Boston Alumnae Club was fortunate enough to have Mrs. Allinson as its guest at a recent meeting. There was a large and appreciative gathering.

The Connecticut Valley Alumnae Club has had two meetings: the fall meeting, at which Miss Stanton was asked to speak about the college, was held in Springfield, and the winter meeting was at St. Margaret's School in Waterbury, by invitation of Miss Emily G. Munro '98.

BRUNONIANS FAR AND NEAR

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Published for the graduates of Brown University by the Brown Alumni Magazine Co.

Henry R. Palmer, Editor

Clinton H. Currier, Business Manager and Treasurer

Emma B. Stanton,
Women's College Correspondent

Business Office, Brown University

Subscription, $1.00 a year. Single copies, 10 cents.

There is no issue during August and September.

Entered at the Providence post-office as second class matter.

MARCH, 1922

CORPORATION

Colgate Hoyt, trustee and benefactor of the university, died on Jan. 30, 1922, at his home in Oyster Bay, Long Island, aged 72. His son, Colgate Hoyt, Jr., was graduated at Brown in 1905.

FACULTY

Professor Fowler wrote President Faunce on Jan. 26 that he had just left Athens and expected to be in a few days on his way for a 600-mile trip up the Nile.

ALUMNI

1857

Edward Hutchins Cutler, who died at his home in Newton, Mass., on Nov. 18, 1921, was born at Killingly, Conn., Sept. 29, 1836. He came to Brown from the Providence High School, taking the first prize in Greek in his entrance examinations. While in college he took three firsts in mathematics, a first and a second in Latin and a first and a second in Greek. He was valedictorian of his class. In 1858 he became assistant librarian at Brown, and in 1860 an instructor in mathematics. In 1861 he went to Bridgewater, Mass., as head of the Bridgewater Academy and on Aug. 15, 1866, was married there to Miss Alice Wadsworth Alden. In 1865 he became an instructor at the Providence High School and later its principal. He became principal of the Newton High School in 1880 and in 1887 he established a preparatory school at Newton, which he conducted until about 10 or 12 years ago. Since 1881 he had lived in Newton. At the time of their golden wedding in 1916 six of Mr. and Mrs. Cutler's seven children were living. One of these, Henry Cutler, died in 1918 and Mrs. Cutler passed away in 1920. Mr. Cutler was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Zeta Psi, a charter member of the New England Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools, clerk and senior warden of Grace Church, Newton, and president and secretary of the Tuesday club. The five children who survive him are John, Mary and Edith Cutler and Mrs. Welles E. Holmes (Emily) of Newton, and Alden Cutler of Rockville, Conn.

1879

Rev. Edgar Thomas Farrill, Congregational clergyman, died at Milwaukee, Wis., on Jan. 12, 1922. Mrs. Farrill writes: "The Brown Monthly arrived to-day. I have to record the passing to the higher life of Mr. Farrill, on the 12th inst. He enjoyed the magazine so much! He read from it during his illness of three months. You may like to know a little of his life-work. From Brown he went to Andover Theological Seminary. His pastorates were in Hopkinton, N. H., for three and one-half years, and Lebanon, N. H., where for seventeen years an unusually happy time was spent between pastor and people. During these years he was a trustee at Kimball Union Academy in Meriden, N. H. He went West to Kenosha, Wis., to the First Congregational Church, which ten-years' pastorate

JANUARY NUMBERS WANTED

The business manager of the Brown Alumni Monthly finds that the January edition is entirely exhausted. He would be grateful if a few subscribers who do not care to keep a file for binding would mail their copies of this (January) issue to him.

Sleep Here When in New York

This is one of the homiest rooms at the Brown Club in New York. The appointments are as good as those in any hotel. The beds so comfortable they are an invitation to sleep. One non-resident member dropped in three months ago "for a day or so." He's still living at the Club and wouldn't leave on a bet.

The Club is within a stone's throw (if you have a good baseball arm) of the Grand Central. A two minute walk for ordinary mortals.

Join the Brown Club in New York. Non-resident dues are only $10. Charges for room and bath $2.50. Breakfast $.50. Lunch $.65. Dinner $1.10. The saving over hotel charges will more than pay your dues. Drop us a line today applying for membership. Everybody's doing it.

BROWN CLUB IN NEW YORK

119 East 39th Street
New York City

BODELL & CO.

Investment Securities

10 Weybosset Street
PROVIDENCE

115 BROADWAY
NEW YORK

35 CONGRESS STREET
BOSTON

RAMESSES

CIGARETTES

At the Pre-War Price 20¢

WAR sent the price up for a while but the price is now back to 20c.

Five long years of war held up five years' supply of Rameses Tobacco in its native climate where it aged and mellowed as no Turkish tobacco was ever allowed to age and mellow before.

The result is a greater Rameses—the cigarette made of the world's finest Turkish tobacco.

If your dealer cannot supply you, write us direct.

STEPHANO BROS., Philadelphia

Westminster Bank

73 Westminster Street
Providence

ARNOLD B. CHACE, President
GEO. A. JEPHERSON, Vice-President
WILLIAM C. ANGELL, Cashier
BENJAMIN B. MANCHESTER, Ass't Cashier

Accounts Solicited

We offer to depositors every facility which their balances,
business and responsibility warrant

BLANDING'S

Prescription Department

For over half a century has set a standard for reliability that makes it the logical place at which to have your prescriptions compounded. Prices consistent with the high quality of drugs used.

BLANDING & BLANDING

58 Weybosset Street

CRAHAN

ENGRAVING COMPANY.

DESIGNING

PHOTO

CATALOGUE

ENGRAVING

ILLUSTRATIONS

50 Exchange Place

Providence

estate business in Exeter, Cal. He writes that he travelled 250 miles last fall to see
Pollard play football.

1884

William M. P. Bowen has removed his law offices to 938 Hospital Trust Building, Providence.

1890

James Geoffrey McMurry, valuation attorney for the Denver and Rio Grande
Western Railroad, died at his home in the Perrenoud apartments, East 17th ave. and Clarkson st., Denver, Col., on Dec. 30, 1921.
The Rocky Mountain News says: "Mr. Mc-Murry was considered one of the ablest railroad attorneys in the country. He was a graduate of Brown University, Carson College and the Harvard Law School. Virtually all of his practice has dealt with the legal problems of railroad companies and in a legal capacity he had been connected with Colorado railroads for a number of years. For many years he was assistant attorney for the Colorado & Southern road and from that position he went to the Denver & Rio Grande company as assistant to
E. N. Clark, general attorney of the road.
He held this position for ten years, until early in March, 1920. At that time a new position was created, the Government having returned the railroads to private control, and Mr. McMurry was appointed to this position as valuation counsel. Mr. Mc-Murry was born in Union City, Tenn., Nov.
24, 1864. His parents were Vincent and Jane Bradford McMurry. He married Miss
Lillian Salamon, daughter of an old Denver family, on Sept. 3, 1897. Mrs. McMurry is the sole survivor. Mr. McMurry was an active member of the Denver club, the Denver Country club and the Denver Motor club." McMurry and Burnett entered the class of '90 at Brown after graduating from Carson in Tennessee, in 1888. At Brown
he was a member of Delta Upsilon.

Stephen G. Goldthwaite has returned from a two months' trip to Honolulu, Hawaii, where he attended the sessions of the Peace Congress of the World as a delegate of the Inland Daily Press Association.

1891

Frank E. Winsor has been elected director for New England of the American Society of Civil Engineers and vice-president of the New England Waterworks Association.

Ferdinand Dutton Stidham is at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for a degree. He is also contributing to magazines and newspapers. His address is 228
Newbury st., Boston, Mass.

THE EUROPEAN SUMMER SCHOOL

A Summer Course in HISTORY, ARCHAEOLOGY AND ART

studied on the spot under the guidance of

University Specialists

Dr. H. H. Powers

Dr. L. E. Lord.....	Oberlin College
Dr. Walter Miller.....	University of Missouri
Dr. Theodore Lyman Wright.....	Beloit College
Dr. Elizabeth H. Haight.....	Vassar College and others

FIFTY SCHOLARSHIPS OF $200 EACH

are offered in 1922 in connection with the above

The European Summer School costs no more than an ordinary tour. It is more of an education than a year in the university. It excludes no legitimate travel interest.

Write for information

BUREAU OF UNIVERSITY TRAVEL

14a, BOYD STREET, NEWTON, MASS.

1893

Robert R. Goff is having published the second of his series of Loose-leaf Outlines in Mathematics. The title is Observational Geometry and Numerical Trigonometry. The publishers are the Palmer Co. of Boston.

1895

Herve W. Georgi writes that "next to my family (his wife, two daughters and a son) and my work (teaching) I am devoted to the Los Angeles Oratorio Society, of which I am a director."

1901

Dr. Allen K. Krause, associate professor of medicine, Johns Hopkins University, delivered the fifth Harvey Society Lecture at the New York Academy of Medicine, on Jan. 21. His subject was "Experimental Studies on Tuberculous Infection."

1902

Jeremiah Holmes is now making his business headquarters in New York city, where he is specializing in scientific studies and programs of personal insurance protection. His office number is Room 964, 200 Fifth ave., at 23rd st., and he is especially representing the Equitable Life.

1903

Rev. Albert William Hayden Thompson,

Starkweather & Shepley

Incorporated

George L. Shepley, President

INSURANCE

Of Every Description

Fidelity and Surety Bonds

17 Custom House Street
Providence, R. I.

New York Office, 55 John Street
Chicago Office, 175 W. Jackson Boulevard
Boston Office, 43 Kilby Street
Paris, France, Office, 20 Rue Chauchat

Preston & Rounds Co.

No. 98 Westminster Street

Providence, R. I.

Booksellers
Stationers

The American Youth of Today

to succeed in college or in technical school must build a strong character and receive thorough preliminary instruction. Worcester Academy, of Worcester, Mass., is holding constantly to the attainment of these two high ideals as the great function of a great school. It is always our pleasure to mail our catalog to any one interested in the building of boys into successful men. Lists for 1922-23-24 now open. Unexpected vacancies may permit immediate admission.

a native of this city, died in Baltimore on Jan. 11, 1922. He graduated at the Episcopal Theological School in 1906 and was rector of All Saints' Church in Pontiac, going from there to Trinity Church, Newark, N. J. In 1912 he became rector of St. Martin's Church, Newark.

1904

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hastings announce the birth of a son, Henry Clement Hastings, on January 23, 1922, at Albany, N. Y.

1905

Martin S. Hall is superintendent of the Electric Department of the Mathieson Alkali Works, Saltville, Va.

1907

Dr. Clarence W. Way of Sea Isle City, N. J., has been appointed major in the 303d Medical Regiment of the Officers Reserve Corps with headquarters at Newark, N. J.

Griffith E. Thomas has been medical officer for the past two years at the naval airship construction and experiment station, Lakehurst, N. J. After graduation from the Naval Medical School in Washington he went to the Orient for three years, spending a year and a half in Japan and the rest of the time in the Philippines and on the coast of China. On his return Mr. Thomas was on duty at Portsmouth, N. H., as assistant to the surgeon of the navy-yard there and also surgeon of the U. S. Naval Prison. In 1916 he went to sea on the U. S. S. Utah and when the war broke out he was on duty with the submarines in the Panama Canal Zone. In 1917 he was ordered to a transport and spent the rest of the war period transporting troops between Hampton Roads and the coast of France.

1908

Lucian W. Himes is a civil engineer in New London, Conn., and is living at 13 Avery Court, New London.

William C. Bitting, Jr., has been admitted to the firm of Lorenzo E. Anderson & Co., one of the largest investment organizations in St. Louis. For twelve years he was associated with the William R. Compton Co., and recently resigned as director and vice president. He is a director of the American Trust Co., with whose interests he is closely identified.

Harold W. Lyall is director of laboratories, Tuberculosis League, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

offered by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston for the best answer to Mr. Edison's question, "Who Was John Hancock?" has been awarded to Leon V. Quigley, a student at the Worcester (Mass.) Polytechnic Institute. This answer, giving a correct, concise and comprehensive statement of the position occupied by John Hancock in American history, is printed below in full.

"Who Was John Hancock?"

JOHN HANCOCK was an American statesman and patriot. His signature is found on the oldest and most important documents of Massachusetts, and of the United States. He was the first signer of the Declaration of Independence and was the first Governor of Massachusetts.

John Hancock was born at Quincy, Massachusetts, in 1737. He graduated from Harvard College, and entering upon his uncle's business became a successful merchant in Boston. He gained much in social power and in wealth, being meanwhile justly popular for his integrity and ability.

He was in 1765-1770 a selectman of Boston and a member of the general court. With Samuel Adams he led the Massachusetts Whigs, and only escaped capture at Lexington and Concord by virtue of the valiant fight by the Minute Men on the "Nineteenth of April in '75."

John Hancock was subsequently known in various positions: as President of the Continental Congress, as Major-

General of the Massachusetts military forces, as President of the Constitutional Convention. He died at Quincy, Massachusetts, October 8, 1793.

The historical position of John Hancock is unique in State and Nation. He wielded great political influence but was always liberal and public-spirited. His name is most prominent as a Whig leader during the American Revolution in such events as the Boston Massacre, the Boston Tea Party and the battles of Lexington and Concord.

John Hancock signed his name first to the Declaration of Independence. He thus risked his own "life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness" that these privileges might be obtained for others to enjoy. To this end he "pledged his life, his fortune, and his sacred honor."

That he was popular and efficient may be judged from the fact that he was for ten years Governor of Massachusetts, being elected annually to this office by popular vote.

John Hancock insured the life of the Nation—
We will insure your life with the same integrity

John Hancock
MUTUAL
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

The Best Tonic

Horsford's Acid Phosphate is especially recommended for the restoration of energy and vitality, the relief of mental and nervous exhaustion, impaired digestion or appetite.

HORSFORD'S Acid Phosphate (Non-Alcoholic)

Is a scientific and carefully prepared preparation of the phosphates, and has been found a most valuable general Tonic.

A teaspoonful added to a glass of cold water, with sugar, makes a delicious and wholesome beverage.

If your druggist can't supply you, send 25 cents to Rumford Chemical Works, Providence, R. I., for trial size bottle, postage paid.

Providence Coal Co.

Anthracite and Bituminous

COAL

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

Central Office, Corner Custom House
and Weybosset Street. Yard, Corner of Dorrance and Dyer Sts.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

Norman L. Sammis has been with the Builders Iron Foundry, Providence, for thirteen years, and is now in the production end of the business, and also acts as plant engineer.

Leslie E. Swain of the Department of Physical Training represented the college at the concert given by the orchestra at Beverly, Mass., Feb. 7th. In the afternoon he spoke to the high school students on "Advantages of a College Education." The opportunity was made possible by H. W. Woodbury, Jr., Brown '13, of Beverly. Mayor Tuttle entertained Mr. Pinkham, leader of the orchestra, and Mr. Swain as well as two other members of the party at dinner at the Salem Club.

1909

John W. Mayhew is still in Haiphong, Indo-China, where he is an accountant for the Standard Oil Co. of New York. He has a son, John W., Jr., who is slated for the 1939 class.

Major Robert Coker is commander of the Curtis Elmwood Air Reserve Depot, Buffalo, N. Y., and has held that position since Dec. 15, 1920. He was made free balloon pilot on July 30, 1921, and balloon observer August 31, 1921. He is also district manager of the Material Disposal and Salvage Division Air Service, Buffalo, having gone there after closing the Boston and New York Districts, where he had been in command for about a year. While with these two latter districts he sold over $11,000,000 worth of air service surplus property with the best return to the Government of any Government sales activity.

Albert M. Cristy is now representative in the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii. He has been secretary of the bar association and a member of the law firm of Brown, Cristy and Davis since 1915. His home address is 801 Prospect st., Honolulu, T. H.

Donald Jackson, the last of the active members of the former Providence Banking Company, which has recently been discontinued, is now associated with E. H. Rollins & Sons, handling investment securities, with office in Providence.

Sydney Wilmot, assistant professor of civil engineering at Brown, is conducting an extension course in the second series on Reinforced Concrete.

Herbert M. Sherwood, State senator from Providence, has opposed the Republican State leaders in their desire to ease a political situation by creating additional Superior Court justices. Senator Sherwood has had public opinion strongly with him and has succeeded in his program.

A Manton Chace is prominent in the affairs of the Providence City Club, an active organization of Providence business men.

Robert K. Bennett is superintendent of schools in Central Falls, R. I. His home address is 110 Cross st., Central Falls.

At a class supper held on the evening of February 1st the following members were present: Wheeler, Densmore, A. M. Chace, Burgess, Wilmot, Littlefield, Connolly, McCarthy, Hager, Curtis, Poland, H. Jackson, Henderson, Whitmarsh, D. Jackson, Chambers, Tanner and Chafee.

Professor Sydney Wilmot, head of the Structural Division of the Providence Engineering Society, in the Providence Bulletin of January 31, 1922, presented the findings of the Engineering Society with regard to the Providence building laws.

1910

Leon F. Clark is living at 120 Franklin st., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and is superintendent of the Dutchess Bleachery at Wappingers Falls, N. Y. His ability has been recognized by recent promotion to this position and the concern is considered as having one of the most advanced partnership plans between employer and employé in this country.

Since leaving college and the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, Malcolm S. Field has stepped right along, being chem-

Complete Service
in the design and construction of

STEAM POWER STATIONS

HYDRO-ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENTS

TRANSMISSION SYSTEMS

—

RAILROAD SHOPS

LOCOMOTIVE TERMINALS

PASSENGER TERMINALS

ELECTRIFICATION

—

INDUSTRIAL PLANTS OF EVERY CHARACTER

DWIGHT P. ROBINSON & COMPANY

ENGINEERS AND CONSTRUCTORS
125 EAST 40TH STREET
NEW YORK

CHICAGO YOUNGSTOWN DALLAS LOS ANGELES MONTREAL

A Good Morning Cup—

rich brown, fragrant and mellow, free from bitterness, and with a delicate flavor all its own—that's

AUTOCRAT COFFEE

Sold everywhere: In Cities—in the Mountains—By the Seashore.

BROWNELL & FIELD CO.
Providence, R. I.

A valuable coupon in each can.
Write for premium list.

The Corlew Teachers' Agency

RUFUS. E. CORLEW, Prop., Brown '98

GRACE M. ABBOTT, Manager

120 BOYLSTON ST., BOSTON

Telephone Beach 6606

Send for registration form

The Merchants National Bank

Providence, R. I.
20 Westminster Street

Capital, $1,000,000
Surplus Earnings, $1,500,000

ROBERT W. TAFT, President
CHARLES H. NEWELL, Vice President
MOSES J. BARBER, Vice-President
FRANK A. GREENE, Cashier
WILLARD I. ANGELL, Asst. Cashier
HARRY S. HATHAWAY, Asst. Cashier

Directors

George M. Smith Everett L. Spencer
Horatio N. Campbell Moses J. Barber
Robert W. Taft Frank E. Richmond
Charles H. Newell Edward P. Jastram
William B. McBee A. Livingston Kelley

Interest allowed on Current Accounts

Established 1863

Elsbree-Valleau Co.

Fine Hats
and Furs

101 Westminster Street, Providence

ist, chemist manager, factory manager and finally superintendent of Kellogg Products, Inc., manufacturers of refined vegetable oils and "Kingnut" margarine. His home address is 311 Hudson st., Buffalo, N. Y.

Israel R. Sheldon is chief engineer for the Texhoma Oil and Refining Co., having occupied this position since being discharged from the Air Service.

1911

Larry Gardner is sales manager of the Anstice Co., dealers in hardware specialties in Rochester, N. Y.

1912

Ernest M. Daland is assistant outpatient surgeon, Massachusetts General Hospital, and also outpatient surgeon to the Huntington Memorial Hospital, Boston. He is doing general surgery, but is specializing on tumors.

After four and a half years' service as assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church, Fall River, Mass., Clarence F. Gifford has resigned his position to take up the work of the First Christian and Congregational Churches of Assonet, Mass. These churches have entered into a joint agreement whereby a cooperative program is being carried forward. Mr. Gifford has been an advocate of such a community plan for some time and says that now he is trying to put into practice what he has been preaching for a number of years. Mr. Gifford is president of the Sons of Brown of Fall River and vicinity.

Dr. H. Carey Bumpus of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., read a paper by invitation before the Rhode Island Medical Society, March 2, and a second paper before the Friday Evening Medical Club, March 3. He is specializing in urology.

1913

On the evening of February 17th fifteen members of the class of 1913 met for dinner at the University Club. Professor Davison afterward gave a very interesting series of experiments in chemistry. Plans were outlined for the June reunion.

1914

Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Protheroe of White Plains, N. Y., announce the birth of their daughter, Ethel Robina, on Jan. 24, 1922.

Aaron E. Gottshall is assistant to the chief of the Internal Revenue office at Washington. He has a little girl named Druscilla who is about four years old, and is living at Chevy Chase Apts., Chevy Chase, D. C.

Edward R. (Red) Campbell is in charge of the Truck Dept., of the Foss Hughes Company, Pierce Arrow Distributors for Baltimore and Washington. His address is 1315 Cathedral st., Baltimore, Maryland.

1915

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Moses announce the marriage of their daughter, Nettie Irene, to Earl Allwood Bowen, M. D., on Dec. 24, 1921, at the Unitarian Church, Winchester, Mass.

John A. W. Pearce is principal of the high school at Oxford, Mass., a school of 110 pupils. He has a young John who is now 3½ years old, and a strong Brown rooter.

The name of William Emmet Beehan has appeared frequently of late in the sporting columns as he has refereed several professional football games in the vicinity of New York city.

The mailing address of John Hansen Bower is desired by the secretary.

Ralph Leon Blanchard, whose home address is Box 98, Cumberland Center, Me., is with the Angus Company, Ltd., 3 Clive row, Calcutta, India.

Harrison Bliss is at Townsend, Mass.

Roderick A. Gillis is with the well-known investment house, Halsey Stuart Company, 625 Williamson Bldg, Cleveland, Ohio.

Frederick Hartwell Greene is living at 47 Reservoir st., Cambridge, Mass. His business address is 60 Federal st., Boston, and he is a director of the Boston "Sons of Brown."

Lawrence L. Hall is with the U. S. Rubber Co., Tire Division, Mfg. Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York city.

Edward Washington Hill is with the Open Hearth Department of the Homestead Steel Works, Munhall, Pa.

Edward W. Hincks is teaching and coaching at the well known Thayer Academy, Braintree, Mass.

Frederic J. Hunt is with the R. I. Hospital Trust Co., Providence.

Harley C. Hyde is living at 2096 Cranston st., Cranston, R. I., and when last reported was with the Sift Wool Co. in Boston.

The mailing address of Morris Edwin Hultslander would be appreciated by the secretary.

Dr. Harry Elmer Emmons, Jr., and Miss Elizabeth G. W. Calvert of Somerville, Mass., were married on Christmas Day.

E. Charles Sidney was recently in Boston. He is still travelling for the Jewish Welfare Board.

Wilbur T. Breckenridge is at the Western Electric Company's New York city office; his mailing address is 997 East 17th st., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dana M. Hubbard is now with the Printers' Ink Publishing Company and expected to be with their Chicago office after February 1st.

Captain J. Lindley Gammell has been transferred to the 17th Field Artillery at Camp Bragg, near Fayetteville, N. C., where he is regimental adjutant.

George H. A. LaRoe is an officer in the National City Bank of New York at Genoa, Italy, and has just completed a trip around the world, meeting Bob Holding in Shanghai.

The Rockland, Mass., Brown Club, whose president is Stuart Phelps, entertained, Jan. 19th, Professor John F. Greene, who addressed the members and faculty of the High School on "Modern Phases of Education."

Elliott H. Falk is back in New York and has renewed his old partnership of Chase & Falk in the investment line. Newton G. Chase is a 1907 Brown man.

Lewis Clifford Kenyon, formerly of Hope Valley, R. I., is now living at 95 Montclair

National Exchange Bank

63 Westminster Street

Providence, R. I.

INCORPORATED 1801

Capital	-	-	-	$500,000
Surplus	-	-	-	$750,000

Interest paid on deposits

Certificates of deposit issued

Travelers' Cheques for sale

New business invited ave., Newark, N. J., and is connected with the Heald Machine Co., of Worcester, at their New York city office, 839 Singer Bldg.

C. M. P. Cross is American consul at Aden, Arabia.

Clarence J. Lamb is living at 484 Central ave., Pawtucket, R. I., and is the zone finance officer for the Northeastern Dept., U. S. Army, at Boston.

Emlyn Vinald Mitchell is with Page & Shaw, candy manufacturers, at 20 Ames st., Cambridge 39, Mass.

Harold Leslie Myers is with J. & P. B. Myers, Inc., 60 Broadway, Brooklyn, N. Y. and lives at 208½ Morris st., Morristown, N. J.

William Arthur Needham is the private secretary of Governor San Sauci of Rhode Island.

Henry S. Newcombe is in the cotton brokerage firm of E. S. Macomber at 1017 Hospital Trust Bldg., Providence, and is living at 29 Orchard place.

Warren P. Norton is principal of the Battles Memorial School at Girard, Pa.

James F. O'Donoghue is living at 64

Grove st., Lowell, Mass., and is engaged in vocational education work for the disabled soldiers, with headquarters at Manchester, N. H.

Whiting Hayden Preston is associated with George C. Valentine in the Manatee Fruit Company at Palmetto, Fla.

Richard Drury Rice is living at 110 Main st., Saranac Lake, N. Y.

Joseph Henry Stannard, Jr., may be reached at 72 Carleton st., Providence.

Dr. George Willis Waterman was last known to be at the New York Hospital, 8 West 16th st., New York city.

Eliot S. Staples is with the Iron Mountain Company at Iron Mountain, Mo.

Wallace G. Stewart is now in New York city at 87 Worth st.

William Gordon Ward is living at 186 Elm st., North Attleboro, Mass.

Edmund J. Sullivan resides at 254 Wayland ave., Providence, and is in business as the Sullivan Investment Co., 107a Grosvenor Bldg.

Everett Linscott Thornton is with the Grinnell Company, West Exchange st., Providence, and his mailing address is 771 Chalkstone ave.

Peirce Hill Brereton is associated with the legal firm of Curtis, Matteson, Boss and Letts at 415 Woolworth Bldg., Providence.

Lieutenant Sanford S. Burton has been stationed for some time at the U. S. Naval Headquarters, 9 Rue Chaillot, Paris, France.

Maurice J. Sievers is the executive director of the Jewish Federation, 1900 Linwood ave., Toledo, O.

Harold L. Gibbs is attending the General Theological Seminary, Chelsea Square, New York city.

John L. Jenney is with Cheney Bros. at South Manchester, Conn.

The address of Barney Wilcox Baker is Hazard, Ky.

SAINT MARGARET'S SCHOOL

Waterbury, Conn. Founded 1875.

Successful preparation for all colleges. Secretarial Course giving Gregg Certificates. All Branches of Domestic Science. Excellent advantages in Music and Art. Experienced teachers. Gymnasium work, Athletics, Track, Basketball, Swimming, and Outdoor Sports. Beautifully situated, one hour from Hartford or New Haven. Students admitted at any time during the year. Send for booklet.

Miss Emily Gardner Munro, A. M.,
Brown '98, Principal

DRUGS

Chemicals and Medicines

Electric Batteries
Invalid Roller Chairs
Prescriptions a Specialty

GEO. L. CLAFLIN CO.

62 to 64 South Main Street,
Providence, R. I.

1916

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Johnston announce the birth of George Franklin Johnston, Jr., on Jan. 22, 1922.

Captain of Cavalry William Curtis Chace, U. S. A., is on duty at the Michigan Agricultural College as assistant professor of military science and tactics. His address is 437 Abbott road, East Lansing, Mich.

1919

The address of Ralph E. Dexter is 6 Quinsan Garden, Shanghai, China.

Let Fatima smokers
tell you

FATIMA CIGARETTES

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

BESIDES selling Men's Handkerchiefs, Hose, Gloves, Shirts, Jewelry and Leather Goods, this store also offers large comfortable Chairs, Smoking Stands, Humidors, Desk Lamps and the like, for men. Come in sometime and just look them over.

Gladding's

BROWN

HEADQUARTERS

IN

NEW YORK

HOTEL BRISTOL

129-135 West 48th Street

Just East of Broadway

400 ROOMS

300 BATHS

Convenient to

Theatres, Shops, Subways

EUROPEAN AND AMERICAN PLAN

T. ELLIOTT TOLSON, '06, Pres.

Have you a fund which is regularly accumulating for your child's education?

The Educational Fund Contract, issued by the Puritan Life, offers the most modern and complete plan whereby a fund will be in hand at the right time.

The Contract provides for $500 payable to the boy each year for the four years of his college education, beginning at age eighteen.

Here is how it works out. Assume that the father is thirty years of age and the baby one year old. The parent deposits with us regularly each year $92.14 and when the child is eighteen we pay him $500 a year for four years.

If the parent does not live to complete the payments, upon his death all the remaining deposits are cancelled and the child receives his $500 a year for four years when he reaches age eighteen.

This unique plan has proved most popular and has been accepted by parents living in all parts of our good land.

Many boys and girls will look to the Puritan Life for the Educational Fund which is awaiting them.

Puritan Life
Insurance
Company,
Providence, R. I.

I wish you would send me information regarding your Child's Educational Fund Contract.

Name.....

Address.....

