Did you ever think of your investment account as being somewhat like a ship in that it also requires proper ballast and sails?

Ballast in the form of high-grade bonds which, blow high blow low, can be counted upon for their income. Sails in the form of stocks to take advantage of any favorable economic winds that may blow.

But proper balance between ballast and sails is essential. Too light ballast or too much sail and your financial ship may be endangered by the buffeting winds and squalls of economic changes.

Individual attention as to "ballast and sail" is given to every investment account in our care. Let us give you full details about this service which has relieved many individuals of their investment problems.

PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND

OCTOBER, 1941

► ► Lively Fare for Alumni Day, 1941

► ► BEHIND predictions that Alumni Day, 1941, will be most popular of all such events lie a number of reasons. Not the least of them is the general interest in the brand of football Coach J. Neil Stahley is introducing at Brown. It will receive its first testing in intercollegiate competition when the eleven takes the field against Wesleyan in Providence, Sept. 27. Wesleyan this year, like Brown, is inaugurating a new coaching era under Wes Fesler, former colleague of Stahley's at Harvard, and it will be the first game for both teams.

With football in the air, the Alumni Day dinner, in Marvel Gymnasium, Friday, Sept. 26, will take its theme from that, but it will be a substantial evening for all the emphasis on entertainment and informality. In an effort to attract as many of the younger alumni as possible, the dinner will be served buffet style and priced at only one dollar.

The annual golf tournament will be held Friday afternoon at the Wannamoisett Country Club, East Providence. Alumni golfers and their friends plan to have luncheon at the club at noon, starting play at 1. If you care to take part, notify Joseph Olney '36 at the Alumni Office, and he will help arrange matches.

To make it more convenient for alumni skippers, the annual dinghy regatta with the undergraduates has been scheduled for Sunday afternoon, when races will start from the Brown University Boathouse on the Seekonk River at 2. The old grads will be attempting to recover some of their prestige and the Thurber Trophy, lost to the student yacht club members a year ago.

► HEADLINE attractions at the dinner are many. The affair will be held in the Marvel Gymnasium at 7 o'clock Friday night, with a reception preceding it at 6:30. Some classes and other groups are having other rendezvous so that they may arrive in a body.

The principal speakers are President Wriston and Jim Britt, Boston radio sports commentator. In addition Jimmy Jemal '18, former Brown All-American, New York Daily News columnist, and radio favorite, will use the gathering as material for one of his well known "Inquiring Reporter" programs. For his interviews, Jemal plans to use a traveling microphone on the floor and engage some of the former

Brown athletic stars and other interesting personalities in heart-to-heart talk. (An article on Jemal appears elsewhere in this issue.)

Also borrowed from radio is the idea for a Quiz for Prizes which will have a prominent spot during the evening. Anyone at the dinner will be eligible to compete for the prizes, some of them valuable, some of them amusing, which are being contributed. All alumni, whether or not they intend to be present, are invited to submit questions for the quiz (preferably on Brown and Brown football). If the person questioned fails to answer correctly, the prize instead of going to him will go to the individual who submitted the poser. Questions should be mailed to the Quiz Master, Alumni Office, Brown University.

► J. HAROLD WILLIAMS '18, an experienced hand at public gatherings, known for his ready wit and his ability to keep things moving, has agreed to be master of ceremonies. It will fall to him to introduce some of the notables present who will not be taking an official part in the proceedings of the evening, among them Coach Stahley and his staff, Coach Fesler of Wesleyan, Bill Slater, sports ace who is to broadcast the game the next day, and others of alumni, athletic and journalistic fame. Provision is being made for plenty of music, some of it by the University Band, some of it by the diners, and other stunts will contribute to a swiftly-moving evening in lighter vein. A portion of the evening may be broadcast.

The dinner is not being restricted to Brown alumni this year. Among other friends of Brown present will be a sizable delegation of Wesleyan men, who have eagerly taken advantage of an invitation to attend, to meet their new coach, to participate in the fun and to hear an appropriate address from one of their most famous alumni, Henry Merritt Wriston. In addition to calling a meeting of the Rhode Island Wesleyan Club at that time, President Frederick Barrows also expects Wesleyan men from Worcester, Boston, and New Bedford.

Among the Brunonians a number of special reunions are planned in connection with the Alumni Day dinner. Prominent are reunions of the 1916 and 1906 football Varsities, two of Brown's most celebrated teams which will be observing the 25th and 35th anniversaries of successful campaigns. They'll be on hand to give the 1941 Varsity a sendoff.

Two motives prompt different classes to give special emphasis to the Alumni Day this year: One group includes classes which will hold major reunions next June. For them this is the launching of its reunion program, the first meeting to make plans. Another group of Brown classes is celebrating another sort of anniversary, that of its arrival on College Hill. For example, the Class of 1920 will be celebrating the 25th anniversary of its entrance into Brown in the fall of 1916.

► "You, Too, Can Hear," says a box in the lively mailing piece sent out by the committee in the form of a newspaper. It promises: "Adequate sound amplifiers are being installed in the gym, as the result of extensive investigations and practical tests, so that speakers can be heard easily in all parts of the room. This problem of acoustics is being met satisfactorily this year; no alumnus need strain his ears, regardless of his location."

The buffet supper will be served by Fred C. Broomhead '05, appropriate to the season of the year and the type of gathering. Almost all of your dollar will go towards the meal, other expenses being shared by the University, the Associated Alumni, and the Providence Brown Club.

Decorations, which will serve the double purpose of making a portion of the gym floor more intimate and attractive as a setting, are being planned by Louis A. R. Pieri '20. Trophies and pictures of past football seasons will be exhibited.

Informal luncheons at fraternity houses are being arranged for Saturday noon. The participation of parents of undergraduates in Alumni Day is also being solicited through special invitations. Faculty members, many of whom will attend the dinner, offer a cordial welcome to their former pupils, who may wish to visit them on campus during the weekend. A soccer game is also scheduled.

In New York, Boston and other alumni centres special committees have been set up to facilitate the distribution of dinner tickets and football game tickets. Providence alumni, too, have been asked to undertake individual hospitality for their out of town friends.

► TOWARD the success of all this, a willing committee has been at work through the summer. Much had to be planned well in advance because Alumni Day comes so early in the season, but it was obvious that the time to capitalize on the interest in a new coaching set-up was at the time of its debut, and Wesleyan will make a good opponent for the opening game. State and City officials and Army and Navy men will lend color to that inaugural.

Victor A. Schwartz '07, chairman of the 1936 Alumni Day committee, returned to head the committee for this year. Other members are: William P. Burnham '07, President of the Associated Alumni, Henry C. Aylsworth '20, Ralph R. Crosby '26, Elmer S. Horton, Fred A. Otis '03, Edward T. Richards '27, Alton C. Chick '19, Carleton Goff '24, Joseph A. Olney, Jr., '36, J. Harold Williams '18, A. W. Calder, Jr., '28, Ross A. deMatteo '35, Louis A. R. Pieri '20, Joseph F. Halloran '16, Charles J. Hill '16, H. Stanton Smith '21, Edward R. Place '24, Thomas W. Taylor '25, James H. Case, Jr., James W. Gurll '38, and W. Chesley Worthington '23.

One thing the committee did at the outset was to find out from the alumni what they wanted for an Alumni Day program. A miniature Gallup Poll was taken as part of this preliminary research. Once the preference was obvious, they set to work to provide an evening along the lines of the specifications. The early returns would seem to endorse their work. Nearly 150 tickets were sold as long ago as last June; first response this fall to the mail campaign continued to indicate that 1941 will see the highest and most successful of Alumni Days at Brown. ◀ ◀

The A. A. C. at Brown

► ► COLLEGES and universities should do their utmost to continue normally throughout the current crisis if they are to live up to their long-range value as citadels of knowledge, President Henry M. Wriston told the District I conference of the American Alumni Council during its convention at Brown.

"Our institutions of higher learning are primarily designed to conserve values from the past, interpret them in the light of today, and project them forward into the future," he said. "We must furnish leadership by laying hold of the eternal verities, the permanent values."

"If we take the sensible and sound view that the lessons of the past have something of great significance to contribute to the future of the world, then the university becomes a vital organization within the pattern of national defense."

President Wriston pointed to research as one of the fundamental ways in which colleges and universities have contributed to knowledge and human welfare, and described how achievements in the laboratories have been used for national defense. He cited Brown's program in applied mechanics as a two-fold effort for defense and for the use of peace-time industry.

Universities have always been democratic and an example of classless society, where students with a wide diversity of character and interests can make of themselves whatever they choose, President Wriston said. He described such an opportunity as one which "no money can buy and which no birth can achieve."

"It is not a perfect society but it is as democratic as any yet achieved anywhere," he said, "and our alumni sometimes lose that classless concept."

The speaker declared that the military aspects of the current crisis are essentially an interlude, and that efforts should be made to absorb the interlude rather than to allow it to become "a dominant and disturbing force in a student's life."

► NOT only were Brown University and Pembroke College hosts to the 14th annual conference of District I of the American Alumni Council, but Brunonians had prominent places on the program arranged for the delegates, who came from Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Brunswick, New Hampshire, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Rhode Island and Vermont. The three days of the conference were Sept. 8-10.

Gertrude Allen McConnell, Alumnae Secretary at Pembroke, and James W. Gurll, Alumni Fund Secretary at Brown, received many compliments for the affair, which represented so much hard work on their part and that of District Chairman Joseph W. Morton of Tufts.

In addition to President Wriston, Dean Morriss and Vice-President Adams joined in greeting the delegates on the opening day. President Leonard Carmichael of Tufts, former head of the Brown Psychology Department, told of the colleges in national defense service at the formal dinner, while James H. Case, Jr., Brown University's Secretary, gave the address at another luncheon. Among Brunonians who spoke were W. Chesley Worthington, Acting Director of Alumni Relations, and George Hurley, Alumni Fund Trustee, and Mrs. McConnell and Mr. Gurll presided at important meetings. Stanton P. Nickerson, Alfred H. Gurney and Alumni President William P. Burnham also attended.

Other speakers were: Herbert L. Connelly of Wesleyan, Sidney C. Hayward of Dartmouth, Geraldine Murphy of Regis, Philip S. Wilder of Bowdoin, Eugene S. Wilson, Jr. of Amherst, Frank E. Dunn of Mount Hermon, Marjorie L. Shea of Simmons, George D. Vaill of Yale, Edgar J. Wiley of Middlebury, Kathryn Moss of Connecticut, Eugene K. Auerbach of New Hampshire, and Albert I. Dickerson of Dartmouth. Other committee members included: Helen L. Mansfield of Wellesley, Dorothy R. Coates of Katharine Gibbs, Harold W. Rowe of Bates, May Hammond of Smith, and Muriel D. Maker of the Brown Alumni Office.

The Council is made up of professional alumni workers—alumni secretaries, fund officers, and magazine editors and managers. ◀ ◀

The Friends of the Library

► NEW Chairman of the Friends of the Library of Brown University is Albert E. Lownes '20 of Providence, who succeeds Carleton D. Morse '13 of Boston. Mr. Lownes, editor of the society's popular publication, Books at Brown, has been active in the organization since its foundation. Other officers for 1941-1942 include: Honorary Chairman—Dr. Henry B. Van Hoesen, Librarian of Brown University; Vice-Chairmen—W. Easton Louttit, Jr. '25, Rabbi Louis I. Newman '13 of New York, Frederick S. Peck of Barrington, Clarence H. Philbrick '13 of Providence and Kirk Smith '14 of Providence; Secretary-Treasurer—George L. Miner '97.

On retiring from office, Mr. Morse was the recipient of warm praise for his enterprising service to the Friends, which have grown to an organization of 363 persons in 17 States and three foreign countries under his leadership. The Librarian's reports can show how helpful the society has been to Brown; the members' own programs and the fellowship of bookmen is assurance that they have had fun in this association with the University. A stimulating year is in store for 1941-1942. ◀ ◀

► ► AN enrollment of about the normal 1400 is expected when Brown University begins its 177th academic year on Wednesday, Sept. 24, with opening chapel exercises in Sayles Hall at 9 o'clock. President Henry M. Wriston will address the entire undergraduate body and members of the Corporation and Faculty. An academic procession across the Middle Campus will precede the exercises.

Freshmen arrived on College Hill during the week-end of Sept. 13-14 in time for a full schedule of activities to acquaint them with life at Brown. Freshman Week began on Sept. 15 and continued for the next 10 days. Freshmen and upperclassmen will register for the new year on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 22 and 23.

As the newcomers arrived, the first summer courses held at Brown since World War days ended. Fifty high-school graduates of last June have been busy with intensive engineering training; 30 undergraduates are enrolled in summer courses leading to Bachelor of Science degrees; and 59 industrial technicians and others have been taking Brown's special program in applied mechanics.

The summer program in applied mechanics, the first full-time venture of its kind, has been carried out "with gratifying success," Dean Roland G. D. Richardson of the Graduate School reports. The program was introduced last June as another of Brown's contributions towards national defense. Experts in various fields of applied mechanics have been in charge of special courses designed to apply mathematics to problems in various defense industries, especially aviation.

► DEAN SAMUEL T. ARNOLD says that he anticipates a normal enrollment of about 1400 undergraduates this year. The draft will probably reduce the enrollment of the Junior and Senior classes, he said, but the Sophomore class will remain about the same.

The Freshman class will be larger than in recent years, according to Dean Bruce M. Bigelow, Chairman of the Committee on Admissions. About 425 or 430 are being admitted in order to make up for the smaller upper-class enrollment. Dean Bigelow said that the class is "an exceptionally fine one in every respect."

University officials agree that most students at Brown are anxious to continue their educations rather than to drop out in an attempt to find work. They pointed out that all dormitories are filled to capacity and that there is a waiting list for rooms. Defense industry jobs, however, will reduce the enrollment of the Graduate School "to a marked degree," according to Dean Richardson. He said that there has been a sharp drop in the number of applicants who want to do advanced work in the sciences.

The program for Freshman Week, beginning Sept. 15, found the first year men confronted with batteries of aptitude, placement and proficiency tests, as well as conferences with Faculty Advisers. A series of Orientation Lectures was also scheduled, dealing with various aspects of life at Brown.

The lighter side of the week's activities brought the Freshmen together for informal suppers, mixers, rallies and a dance with Pembroke's Freshmen. The yearlings were to meet campus leaders, members of the faculty and the coaching staff at various gatherings. High-point of the social program will be the annual week-end outing at Camp Yawgoog on Sept. 20 and 21. ◀ ◀

The Bear Takes to Stahley Football ◀ ◀

►► It's been a good many years since interest in Brown football was as high as this fall, with Coach "Skip" Stahley and his aides pressing preparation for their first season on the Hill and with an attractive Alumni Day game with Wesleyan providing the inaugural on Sept. 27.

After what many observers deemed the best of spring practices in Brown history, the candidates were recalled to Aldrich Field on Sept. 3, three weeks before the start of classes, and the same spirit carried over. A checkup on casualties from defense or scholastic difficulties showed most of the squad dependables had returned or would be available, and it would be a group of about 40. Public curiosity is high as to what the Stahley regime would do with them.

The general situation was summed up as follows in the book of football data prepared by the new athletic publicity director, Edward R. Place '24:

"The loss of 16 of last year's lettermen leaves many positions to be filled on the 1941 Brown football team. Hardest hit was the backfield, where seven of the nine lettermen were graduated. A loss of such proportions in experienced men cannot be quickly remedied. On the Varsity squad there will be a great number of last year's Freshman team, which had a record of four wins and two losses. A new system is being installed under the new head coach, so consequently the early season progress of the team will depend entirely upon how quickly Sophomore operatives learn the system.

"Outstanding veterans returning are Capt. Ernie Savignano and Dick High in the backfield; Bill Crooker at centre and Arnie Soloway, Don Corzine and Jay Fidler at the tackles. Both High and Savignano should rate with the best in the East in their respective positions, fullback and blocking back.

"Although it will be an inexperienced team, Brown is looking forward to its difficult schedule with the reasonable expectation of a hard-driving and well-drilled team that should win its share of games."

► THE character of the "Stahley system" remains to be seen under fire, and spectators on Alumni Day will have an extra interest in watching it. But apparently the team will continue to use the single wingback with new variations, probably with more open ball handling and emphasis on power when in scoring territory.

The squad admits that "Skip" is a driver and a stickler for precision, but the men swear by him already. Well-liked, too, are his assistants, also new to Brown. Varsity line coach is Donald Lee Hensley, former All-American centre at Pittsburgh and assistant to Jock Sutherland there. A former teammate and fellow Rose Bowl star is Frank S. Souchak, the Varsity end coach, who also aided Sutherland for a year. A golfer good enough to qualify for the National Open in 1938, he has been a figure in Rhode Island tournament golf this summer. When the Freshmen report for work, they will practice under Head Coach Harold W. Kopp, who played for Stahley at Western Maryland and was head coach of Northeastern. His colleague will be Backfield Coach "Tippy" Dye who, despite his 138 pounds, was a nine-letter man at Ohio State. Dye is also scheduled to coach Varsity basketball. The five make a great team of coaches, and are already popular with alumni following their appearances before the various Brown Clubs.

► WHAT have they to work with this fall?

The lettermen lost to the squad are: Ends—Earle B. Dane, Jr., John R. Marsolini. Tackles—John Occhiello, Amos G. Taylor, Raymond J. Stark. Guards—Arnold R. Eggert, John A. Kidney, Robert T. Steinsieck. Centre—Walter J. Mullen, Jr. Backs—Harold B. Detwiler, Louis J. Duesing, Peter A. Laudati, Jr., Thomas F. Lohr, John F. O'Leary, William A. Sheehan, Jr., Bronislaw J. Stepczyk.

Available lettermen are: Ends—George P. Delaney '43, Robert B. Priestley '42. Tackles—Donald E. Corzine '43, Arnold M. Soloway '42. Guards—Anthony J. Rotelli '43, V. Lloyd Sheehan '42. Centre—William I. Crooker '42. Backs—Richard T. High '42 and Captain Ernest T. Savignano '42.

Among the other players invited back for the early practices were 15 numeral men and three other members of last year's Freshman squad, together with 16 reserves from the 1940 Varsity. Their names: Ends—Richard P. Donovan '42, Russell J. Hall '43, Steward T. MacNeill, Jr. '43, Oscar G. Milner '43, David J. Haweeli '42, Charles C. Bentley '44, George M. Hindmarsh '44, Joseph V. McManus '44. Tackles—Jay W. Fidler '43, David B. MacAusland '43, Dana H. Gallup '44, Thomas H. Davenport '44, W. S. Maxwell Montgomery '44, Ormond T. Muzroll '44. Guards—Arthur W. Miller '43, Howard E. Russell, Jr.

'43, Charles Klatt, Jr. '44, Richard J. Stark '44, Sherman A. Gates '44, Franklin D. Volpe '44. Centres—Henry L. Ashley '43, Christy Karafotias '43, Lewis Sherman, 3rd '43, Edwin H. Richards, Jr. '44. Backs—Eugene J. Coughlin '42, James H. Gregory '43, Cal T. Murphy, Jr. '43, Henry J. Pilote '43, Henry Margarita '44, John H. Pattee '44, E. Bruce Remick '44, Daniel G. Savage '44, Domenic J. Scavongelli '44, William W. Townson '44.

▶ BUT when the men reported for the first drill, some of those names had to be stricken from the squad list: Karafotias, who was advised to take an operation when the physical check-up revealed a defect; Donovan, who was with a Naval unit and probably won't be available for football; Gallup, who will return to college but won't be a candidate for the team; Townson, former Andover captain, wasn't expected back in college; nor was Hall, rated No. 1 of yearling ends last year; nor Miller, a reserve from last fall. Sherman and Davenport reported but subsequently left for Naval reserve duties that will prevent football work. Sheffe, basketball star whose football experience is limited, came out as an end candidate "on his own," and so did Senior guard, Joe Kelly.

On paper it looked like a strong eleven, with a fair amount of reserve material but not too deep. Much seemed to depend on the ability of a promising group of Sophomore backs to make the grade. In that regard, here are some comments from the press book: Margarita: "Starred in every yearling game; rated as good Varsity material. He may be the answer to the search for a break-away runner." Pattee: "Outstanding Freshman player, captaining his team and playing in every game. Looks like good Varsity blocking back material." Remick: "Played in every Freshman game." He packs a lot for his weight. Savage: "Outstanding Freshman player. May step into major role; good ball carrier." Scavongelli: "Numerals last year in football and basketball; outstanding player in both sports." They seemed likely to inject more speed than in last year's offense.

▶ AT the annual meeting of the University Club in Providence Coach Stahley gave the first hint of starting line-ups since the commencement of practice. He predicted that the team would be "trouble" for any team about 2 o'clock any Saturday afternoon "as long as we stay clear of injuries." "If we run into injuries to our key men," he said, "naturally we are going to look bad."

He thought it looked like "a slashing team, with plenty of drive." "We won't win all our games," he said. "That

Top ends he thought might be Priestley and MacNeill on the left, with Delaney and Haweeli on the other side. Fidler, Soloway and Corzine were the principal factors in the tackle picture. At centre the battle is between the veteran Crooker and the Sophomore Richards.

The guard situation was far from resolved. Rotelli was late in reporting due to pre-med exams, and Sheehan was late from summer school studies under the defense set-up. Dick Stark, Sophomore, looked like a possibility for one berth, but Stahley was experimenting with Milner, a converted Sophomore back, and Murphy, a transfer from Lehigh eligible this year and originally an end candidate.

▶ "OUR backfield squad is better off than our linemen," the coach said. "For instance, we have Dan Savage at right halfback with Roy Swingler next in line. Swingler missed spring practice, but he is trying hard, and has all the markings of a fine back. At left half there is Henry Margarita, with Gene Coughlin giving him a battle."

"We're fortunate in having two good blocking backs in Capt. Ernie Savignano and Jay Pattee. Savignano has the advantage of more varsity experience, but Pattee is a good boy, who will go far. There's just as bright an outlook at fullback, where we have moved Dick High, a highly capable back, and have Bruce Remick, who is not so heavy, but is plenty fast."

The variability of the performances showed the following Saturday in a tough game scrimmage when Pilote outshone all the other backfield aspirants. Bentley, who played a brilliant end as a Freshman, is also receiving attention as a backfield possibility, having played there in high school when he won all-State honors in Rhode Island. Of the passers Savage, Margarita and Pilote were showing to best advantage, while Margarita, Pilote and Swingler were the steady punters. High, who occasionally boots the ball a mile, is getting plenty of coaching attention, too. Coughlin, given six months' draft deferment, also passes and kicks.

▶ WHEN the squad reported in Providence, Coach Stahley wasted no time in getting down to hard work. The first day, set aside for "light" preliminaries, saw the squad going through blocking, kicking, passing, pass defense, and calisthenics, followed by blackboard study. Line scrimmage started on the second day, and team scrimmage followed on the third, which must be some sort of a record. As with the spring sessions, Stahley followed his carefully planned timetables rigidly each day.

A casual visitor would find the practice set-up transformed this year, for the Varsity squad is working on a gridiron in the northeast corner of Aldrich Field. A second gridiron is available directly south of the first along Cole Ave., while the Freshmen will work adjacent to those gridirons nearer Elmgrove Ave., and the soccer team will take over the old Varsity football practice field. After the first few days, practice sessions were held behind canvas and closed gates.

After the first kickoff against Wesleyan in Providence, the Varsity will journey to New York for its Oct. 4 game with Columbia, the last opponent of the 1940 season. Other games on the 1941 schedule are: Oct. 11—R. I. State at Providence. Oct. 18—Tufts at Providence. Oct. 25—Lafayette at Easton, Pa. Nov. 1—Yale at New Haven. Nov. 8—Holy Cross at Providence. Nov. 15—Harvard at Cambridge. Nov. 20—Rutgers at Providence. ◀ ◀

▶▶ "NEW YORK CITY'S Brobdignagian Daily News (1,948,759 daily, 3,483,616 Sunday) has finally identified its most popular feature. Its research cost $45,000 and took a year during which 500-odd different readers were polled every week. Away out in front in the reader-interest race: the Inquiring Fotographer column conducted by Jimmy Jemal on the editorial page."

So did Time Magazine on July 21 of this year commence an article on the member of the class of 1918, who will be one of the featured contributors to the Alumni Day program at Brown on Sept. 26. The article was displayed with a photograph of Jimmy, camera in hand, which bore the caption: "Kissing questions can be dangerous."

Such questions will be out when Jemal does some "inquiring" at the dinner in Marvel Gymnasium, but he will have some other good ones, more appropriate to the occasion and his subjects. The Alumni Day committee, grateful to Jemal for his willingness to co-operate, has asked us to print the rest of the Time sketch, which appeared under the heading "Accosting on the Street":

▶ "During the past two decades underslung James Jemal, '47, tipping his hat and toting his 2¼ by 3¼ Speed Graphic, has accosted, questioned and photographed at least 150,000 people. More than 50,000 of his pictures, six to a column and each accompanied by its 50-word answer to the question of the day, have been published.

"Typical question: 'Do you agree that a woman is ugliest when drunk?' Typical answer: '... if a woman is one-half or two-thirds drunk she can be a very amusing companion and entirely agreeable. Just don't give her any more liquor. And send her to me.'

"On an average of once a week Jimmy throws his contributors a serious question on current affairs, but usually his queries are pretty jaunty.

"Once he inquired: 'What aid to feminine beauty do you detest most?' Prompt was the answer of a frustrated male: 'Bust developers made of sponge rubber.' On another occasion he posed the question: 'Did you ever kiss a man with a beard, and what reaction was there?' A girl replied: 'Yes, when I was young and having my teeth straightened. Some of his whiskers caught in my wire brace, and he said "ouch".'

▶ "KISSING questions have sometimes caused Jemal trouble. Working the public square of a large New Jersey town, Jimmy was arrested and thrown into a psychopathic ward for asking a middle-aged woman: 'Do you remember your first kiss, and how did you enjoy it?'

"He still carries a large lump in back of his left ear from approaching a pretty girl in Times Square during the '20s. 'Good afternoon, madam—' he had no more than begun when, blam!, something pile-driving hit him from behind. Jimmy turned over and literally threw a punch from the pavement. After the cops had pulled Jimmy out of the crowd and heard his explanation, they told him to heat it and returned to chafing the wrists and temples of the girl's escort.

"On another occasion in Times Square he inquired of an ornate damsel sitting in the back of a limousine with the top down: "Is the shimmy a moral and proper dance?" She answered in vehement affirmative. Her name turned out to be Gilda Gray.

"Objection was once made to the high literary content of the questionees' responses. Insisted a superior: 'That taxi driver you ran this morning looks straight out of Sing Sing and you have him talking like Nicholas Murray Butler. Just put the words down as they come out of their mouths.' Jimmy obeyed, not sparing a single dese, dem or dose. Poses of furious questionees stormed the News, and the management frantically ordered Jimmy back to word-painting.

"Son of a shoe manufacturer, Jimmy was born in Beirut, Syria and brought to the U. S. as a child by his parents, who chose Newport, R. I., as a new home town. Times were tough, and on Jimmy's graduation from grammar school his father told him he could not continue his education, must become an apprentice harber. Instead Jimmy worked his way through high school, won an appointment to Annapolis. He signed to enter Brown, where he became a four-letter athlete, received All-America mention from Walter Camp. During World War I he returned to the Navy, was at one time Admiral William Sowden Sim's decoding aide.

"Throughout all journalism's history, Jimmy is the only janitor ever to become a columnist in a single day. In the spring of 1921, broke, he answered a News want ad for a copy boy who would sweep out on Sundays. On his first Sunday at work, Phil Payne, then city editor, asked him who he was, recognized his name as a famed footballer, gave him the Inquiring Fotographer assignment. The column was a transplanted Chicago Tribune feature, but it had always been assigned more or less at random to a staff writer accompanied by a cameraman, and Jimmy was the first ever to make it a solo career. He now owns three Greenwich Village apartment houses. Total income with News salary: around $12,000 annually.

"'Jemal' in Arabic means 'admirable,' and so admirable does his boss, Captain Joseph Medill Patterson, consider Jimmy that under way is a campaign to sell the column nationally." ◀ ◀

"ADMIRABLE" IN ARABIC: Jimmy Jemal '18, former Brown All-American, will brighten the Alumni Day dinner with one of his adventures as an "Inquiring Reporter."

► ► Brown Men in the Military Service

► ► MANY more than the 300 Brown alumni listed below are in the service of the country in one form of defense activity or another. We publish this list in its present form, however, to call attention to the fact that the Alumni Office is undertaking such a compilation.

This list will be out of date and incomplete by the time it is printed, for it is constantly growing, constantly changing. We acknowledge its limitations, especially the fact that it does not yet include the names of civilians (including Faculty members) who are contributing to the defense effort through personal service.

But this is a beginning. We ask, therefore, that all Brunonians who know of men in the armed services or other defense activity co-operate by forwarding details to the Keeper of Graduate Records, Brown University. These will assist greatly in the preparation of supplementary lists planned for the future.

Card questionnaires have been sent to all men known to be in service. If you have not received such a card, please notify the Keeper of Graduate Records, who will promptly send one. We request all information of this sort which can be sent us for our files. If we are asked to regard certain information as confidential, we are respecting such requests and are as grateful for such data as we are for data we have leave to publish. ◀ ◀

Signal Corps Reserve

▶ THE Signal Corps of the United States Army has announced that commissions in the Signal Corps Reserve for eventual duty in aircraft warning units will be given to a limited number of qualified applicants.

Applicants must be unmarried and without any dependents; they must be not less than 21 nor more than 36 years of age; they must possess a college degree or its equivalent in electrical engineering or physics, with intensive courses in radio or electronics. In addition, they must be able to meet the physical standard prescribed for reserve officers. Applicants must agree to accept active duty outside the continental United States and to make periodic airplane flights.

Additional information may be obtained from President Wriston's office or from the Chief Signal Officer, Washington, D. C. Informal applications may be submitted by letter direct to the latter, giving name, address, age, military status, if any, and an outline of technical qualifications and experience. ◀

The Brown Clubs

Battle in Chicago

▶ THE Chicago Brown Club made an early start on its 1941-42 season by giving a hearty send-off to the city's representatives in the Brown Class of 1945. The annual sub-freshman luncheon was held Sept. 5 at the University Club.

Through the courtesy of one of the club's officers, William Seymour, the members were invited to the studio of WBBM to attend the broadcast of the North Side-South Side Brain Battle radio program on Sept. 8. All the contestants were Brown men and Pembroke girls.

New York

▶ A BANNER year is the prospect for the Brown University Club in New York which started its program with a sendoff to undergraduates Providence-bound and planned to capitalize on the Brown-Columbia football game in New York on Oct. 4.

A new slate of officers, elected at the annual meeting last June, have taken over the conduct of the club: President—Joseph F. Halloran '16; 1st Vice-President—Rowland Hughes '17; 2nd Vice-President—Philip A. Lukin '24; 3rd Vice-President—T. Wendell Prestwich '06; Secretary—Allen B. Sikes '23; Treasurer—Joseph A. O'Neil '31; New members of the Board of Governors—Paul H. Burns '99, Ralph M. Palmer '10, Wayne M. Faunce '21, Arthur W. Packard '25, Donald V. Reed '35; New members of the Admissions Committee—C. E. Hughes, 3rd '37, C. P. Ladd '18, Myron Sulzberger, Jr. '26.

North Shore

▶ HERBERT J. SOMERS '24 of Marblehead, Mass., was elected President of the Brown Club of the North Shore at its annual meeting at Calico House, Marblehead, in July. Dinner followed a cruise around Marblehead and Salem harbors.

Other officers for the coming year include: Vice-President—William Dee '26 of Danvers; Secretary-Treasurer—S. Abbott Hutchinson '31 of Marblehead; Directors—L. E. Werner '30, Ernest T. Clough '20, and Samuel Klivansky '23. ◀ ◀

Scientific Philosophy

► PROF. C. J. DUCASSE last summer saw another book come off the press, "Philosophy as a Science," published in New York by Oskar Piest.

A foreword says that the reason for this book is the fact to which Descartes pointed in his famous "Discourse on Method" that philosophy has been cultivated for many ages by the most distinguished men, and that yet there is not a single matter within its sphere which is not still in dispute. "For ages the natural sciences were in no better case, and the author believes that when philosophy masters, 'as it eventually will,' the method fruitful of knowledge in its sphere, and clearly discerns what is and what is not comprised in this sphere, its progress from the state described by Descartes will be rapid.

The first part of the book is given to a critical examination of a number of recent conceptions of the proper subject and method of philosophy. In the second part Prof. Ducasse outlines what he conceives to be the truth of the matter. He contends that philosophy, like the sciences, aims at genuine knowledge and that its method, therefore, should be no less scientific than theirs.

Portions of the book have previously appeared in the Journal of Philosophy, Ethics magazine, and the Philosophical Review. Prof. Ducasse also speaks of his obligation to colleagues and graduate students who have lent their comments. ◀ ◀

ON THE PROGRAM for the Alumni Day weekend is the annual Alumni-Undergraduate Dinghy Regatta. Here's part of the fleet that will be used.

Gardner B. Willis has retired from his duties as teacher of American History and American Government in the Mount Pleasant Senior High School of Providence after having served for 44 years with the Providence Senior High Schools and 48 years as a teacher. He believes in a determined effort of work in order to succeed, together with a fair amount of intelligence and some good common sense.

It is his philosophy, a newspaper interviewer was told, that education consists in learning that learning requires effort; that the strengthening of character is a part of learning and should be a product of it; that the development of character consists in the development of the ability to overcome obstacles and to resist temptation. To the vitalizing of these principles the Public Schools should be dedicated, he says.

Dan Hey's father, Daniel Chase Hey, owner of a Providence printing house, died this summer. The class's sympathy went to Dan in his loss.

Serious illness prevented Dr. Wallace Lisbon of Providence from going into active service with the Medical Corps of the Army when ordered to Camp Edwards last summer. He is a 1st Lieutenant in the Reserve. His health was much improved at last reports.

Prof. Harry Shulman of the Yale Law School Faculty was a special representative of the Defense Meditation Board in the discussions which led to the settlement of the Marlin-Rockwell Corporation wage dispute with the United Automobile Workers. The Board accepted Shulman's recommendations as its own.

When Hal Larson wrote us in great pride to tell about the birth of twins in his family, he couldn't say too much in praise of former Iron Man Orland Smith, who had been the doctor.

Ronald B. Smith has bought a new house at 66 Catlin Ave., Rumford, R. I., and moved in with his family during the summer.

The Modern "Thinking Machine"

▶ ▶ DR. ARTHUR UPHAM POPE '04 art connoisseur and leading world authority on Iranian art, heads the "Committee for National Morale" which now, after months of research, makes known it has discovered and identified Hitler's "secret" weapon. As Dr. Pope explains it, the device is the precise scientific mastery of impelling scientific forces by which you can make men think and act as you want them to.

One of the last books of the late Jacques Futrelle, who went down on the Titanic, was "The Thinking Machine." It was about an old professor who discovered what Dr. Pope's committee thinks it has now learned. He finally dominated the world. The theme of the book was that any man who masters certain definite psychological formulas, and employs them diligently, will own and operate mankind.

That is exactly what the Germans have been doing, according to the committee, just now issuing a 155-page brochure describing its research and its findings.

The committee, which began work last July, includes many of the leading social scientists and psychologists of the United States. It delivers not only a detailed description of the German psychological mass-pressure techniques, but it concludes that we have abundant knowledge and skills with which to meet it. But it will be no hit-and-miss job of agitating. It will be a campaign of psychological warfare as carefully contrived as an air battle.

Dr. Pope has long been a distinguished figure in the world of both art and philosophy, a magazine article remarks, but always on John Ruskin's terms: "Fine art is that in which the head, the heart and the hand go together." His collection of Persian art is considered foremost in the world. ◀ ◀

Edward R. Place, (Place it with Place) was appointed as Athletic Publicity Director at the University.

Dr. Hans J. Gottlieb was named by the recent graduating class of Hofstra College as the "most popular professor on the campus." He won the honor because of "his fairness, cooperativeness and humor." The humor, according to some students, "is dry — on the jocose side and is never with any sarcasm or barb." In an article titled "Personalities" which appeared in the Hempstead Sentinel Dr. Gottlieb's love of Vermont, cocker spaniels, gardens and music were revealed.

New home addresses for members of the class have been reported: Walter Olsen, 1025 Ingleside Ave., Macon, Ga.; Kern Metzger, 8203 Brecksville Rd., Brecksville, Ohio, and Johnny Lyman, 404 Oakwood Ave., Webster Groves, Missouri.

Y., who left recently for active duty as a dental surgeon at the Naval Air Base Hospital in Jacksonville, Fla. MacMillan is a lieutenant commander in the U. S. N. R. Dr. Salmon's home address is Freeport, N. Y., and he will commute between both offices while his classmate is in service.

Capt. Charles H. Morhouse of the Army Medical Corps was thousands of miles away when his daughter was born last month at Station Hospital, Fort Devens, Mass. Ti was on duty as Flight Surgeon at Nichols Field, Rizal, P. I. Mrs. Morhouse and their son were evacuated from Manila last May and will be with her parents, Col. and Mrs. Eley P. Denson at Fort Devens, until Ti returns from duty.

Doran Hurley, novelist, had published recently in the Providence Journal a moving story from the life of his "Uncle John" and how he braved the Spanish fire to lead in cutting the vital cable at Cienfuegos. A new destroyer bears his name. Doran's career has seen him as a reporter on various New England newspapers and as assistant city editor of the Nassau Daily Review. In 1927 he went to Station WJZ as a radio announcer. He has presented to the radio audience many famous entertainers. It was his voice that announced the arrival of Lindbergh and the Spirit of St. Louis at Le Bourget. He has more recently been a free lance contributor to the New Yorker and kindred magazines under the pen name of McGregor, to Colombia and other publications under his own name.

Jack Hunt is a buyer for the Western Electric Co. at its New York office. Recently he moved to 99 Kensett Road, Manhasset, N. Y.

Bill Halewood, an engineer for the Petroleum Heat and Power Co. in New York, informs us that he has moved out to Chap-pagua, N. Y., Box 856.

Wilfred E. Seymour left his bride behind him last month when he went to report for work as an engineer on the Trinidad Base. He hoped to have Mrs. Seymour join him shortly, however.

Harold E. Conrad came into the Alumni Office last month while he was in the East to teach at the Boston University Summer School. He is now Dean of Men as well as Chairman of the History Department at Ottawa University, Ottawa, Kan., and has moved into a new house at 823 South Hickory St., Ottawa.

Dr. Everet H. Wood, practicing in Auburn, N. Y., laments the fact that he hasn't seen a Brown man for ages or heard any news except what we have printed. But he gave some about himself. He is to give a course of instruction in 1929 angioscotometry at the meeting of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology to be held in Chicago this October.

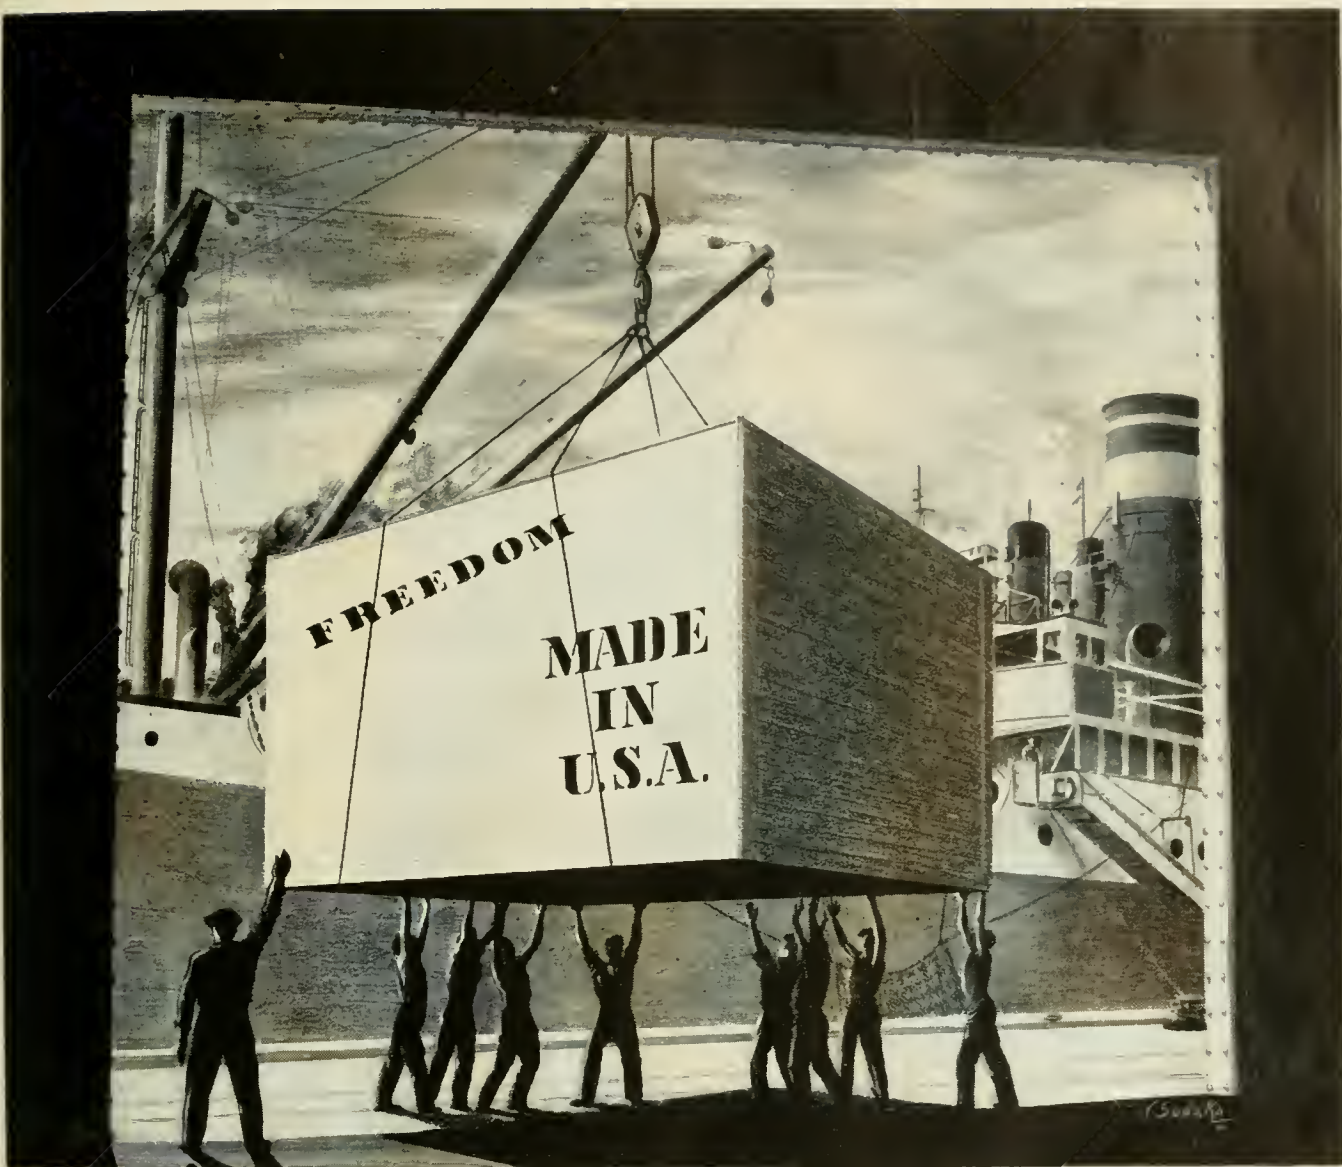

Eric Wendelin has climbed another rung in his meteoric rise in the diplomatic service. Eric is now second secretary of the Embassy at Buenos Aires. He may be remem-

Shortwaves from Each Side

▶ ▶ If Prof. Arthur F. Newell '12, President of the American Outpost in Britain, was listening on the night of Sept. 15, he could have heard the voice of his son, Arthur F. Newell, Jr. '38, over the shortwaves from America. Young Newell, news broadcaster for the Providence Journal and Evening Bulletin over Station WJAR off and on since 1937, was to take up his new work last month as announcer and assistant news editor for WRUL in Boston, the international shortwave station of the World Wide Broadcasting Foundation.

WRUL is the station which acts as the unofficial mouthpiece for America in Europe and Latin America, broadcasting in 16 different foreign languages. In its new quarters it is the most powerful shortwave station in the Western Hemisphere and if a power increase now planned is carried out, it will be the most powerful in the world.

Now there will be Newells on international broadcasts on both sides of the Atlantic, for Prof. Newell often speaks on the Overseas Service of the British Broadcasting Corporation in London. ◀ ◀

ON THE WHARVES of Liverpool and Singapore, in a freighter's hold halfway across the Atlantic, in a truck on the Burma Road, you will find them—three words stencilled on a thousand boxes and bales: "Made in U.S.A."

Yesterday, three big words to look for. But today they stand for more than the unequalled engineering and production that have made them familiar on every dock and pier in the world. They stand for the productive strength of a free people—a productive strength that cannot be matched; they stand for a determination to "deliver the goods"—a determination that will not be thwarted. And in the ports of the world's embattled democracies, where men are hourly risking their lives to take delivery, they stand for freedom itself!

To keep this great flood of goods moving is the most important job in the world today. Wherever it moves, General Electric helps to provide motors and propulsion equipment to keep it moving. In trains hauling ore to America's factories; in factories building guns and tanks and planes; in ships carrying oil to Britain and food to China; in destroyers and cruisers and battleships patrolling two oceans—the words "General Electric" stand beside "Made in U.S.A." General Electric Co., Schenectady, New York, U.S.A.

BY HAL CARVER, 75 Federal St.

Louis W. Rubinstein, who writes under the name of Louis Urban, has written a number of songs for B.M.I. One of them is the fairly well known "Here's My Heart." Louis lives at 201 West 89th St., New York.

Hal Prescott is now associated with the U. S. Engineer Office, Providence, as a Junior Civil Engineer. He recently moved to 103 Wood St., Oakland Beach, R. I.

While the writer was busy interviewing the members of the Class '31 at the University Club he was roundly accused of getting in some Fifth Column work, but reports the following:

Ed Wertheimer, known in the Geology field, is busy with the Continental Bakers and according to Lee Marshall is really busy. He is happily married and is still living in Bronxville.

Sam Henry although he is a member of the Class of 1931, wishes to return to the arms of 1930 which shows your correspondent's Fifth Column work was successful in one instance. Sam's address is 1718 20th St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Mal McCulloch now living in Northampton, Mass., associates with 1929 although he was originally a member of the Class of 1930.

During the month, Johnny Dziob wrote in that he is plenty busy due to his association with Dr. Wilfred Pickles in the practice of surgery, and is also a surgeon in the Division of University Health at Brown.

His offices are at 184 Waterman St., Providence.

Checking up on the medical world we find that Steve Harris is now a full-fledged Doctor and is a Resident in Urology at the University of California Hospital.

Mal Winkler is now practising Dermatology at Providence.

John's report also included the news that Dave Freedman is practising surgery in the fair city of Providence, is married and has one daughter who is the apple of Dave's eye.

We also hear that Ralph Anderton has made a success as an Insurance Salesman in Providence.

Bobby Raymond is married and has a growing family. He is also classed as a successful Insurance Salesman in Providence which means that city must be good territory for these hard-working gentlemen.

Lloyd Dennis came in over the wire with a detailed report of his activities since he left school. He is now with the Columbia Broadcasting System at station WMSV at the Earle Building in Washington, D. C. He tells us that he has built a home in the country situated on the south side of the Potomac River and opposite the seventh hole of the Washington Golf and Country Club. Lloyd says his golf is improving and will be in Washington for some time, God and the European situation permitting.

We received the news that Tod Shotton is with the Edgar Morris Sales Co. in Washington, who are agents for Westinghouse. Tod was laid up in the hospital for some time with a serious operation. We all hope he is up and around again.

Lloyd, our Washington correspondent, tells us that Sam Henry was formerly with the National Association of Broadcasters but is now handling radio for the Vincent Tutching Agency.

Saw Phil Lingham and learned that he is back to baseball, but it is softball that he is now taking up.

Samuel Vigo is now living at 97 Kilsyth Rd., Brighton, Mass.

Before the 1940-41 campaign closed we received a very good letter from Gil Williams who says he enjoys the ALUMNI MONTHLY very much. He has just moved into his span new home, "The Birches," at Flat Rock Park, Easton, R. F. D. No. 1, Bridgeport, Conn. Gil is still and has been for 11 years with the Berkshire Chemical Co. of Bridgeport. As a salesman his travels take him through most of New England and New York. He has two children attending school, Shirley Anne, aged 9 and "Buddy," or Gilbert Junior, aged 4½. Gil gets to Providence about twice a month and ► ► COL. HENRY BRAYTON ROSE, A.B., who as either adjutant or Chief Marshal took part in 42 consecutive Commencement processions, died in Stanfordsville, N. Y., July 21, 1941. Gracious, efficient, even-tempered, he was beloved by all his aides and admired by graduates, old and young, who followed in his train from the campus to the First Baptist Meeting House.

His graciousness and genuine ability also characterized him as secretary of the Providence School Committee for 44 years, as secretary in perpetuum of his Class, as officer of the several societies at which his presence was always a delight. "His efficiency and reliability in all his undertakings in life have been demonstrated beyond cavil," said his colleague and friend, Albert A. Baker '84, at the testimonial dinner given in 1933 when he retired as the school committee's secretary.

Col. Rose was born in Rangoon, Burma, May 30, 1859, the son of Rev. Abram Taylor and Mary M. (Brayton) Rose. At Brown he played on the 1881 baseball team, was on the first Brown football team, and a leading spirit in Phi Epsilon, the chief purpose of which was to annoy the Freshmen, play pranks on members of the Faculty and otherwise keep the shadows of academic life from becoming dark and melancholy.

In 1889, after eight years in insurance and real estate, he became secretary of the Providence School Committee. In good times and bad, in political strife and stress, through changes of personnel, administration and system, he kept the even tenor of his way. He was counselor as well as recorder; he had the knack of doing "the small, homely things" with dignity and an agreeableness that induced respect and co-operation.

Shortly after he left college he enlisted in the Rhode Island Militia, won a commission in 1885, and finally went on the retired list as Lieutenant Colonel. He was president and trustee of the Gen. Nathaniel Greene Memorial Association, governor of the R. I. Society of Colonial Wars, director of the R. I. Society, Sons of the American Revolution, president of the National Association of Public School Business Officials, member of the R. I. Society of Mayflower Descendants, Society of Colonial Wars, Delta Kappa Epsilon, and a former member of the University Club, Wannamoisett Country Club, and Providence Central Club.

On Aug. 12, 1890, he married Florence E. Slade, who died July 30, 1935. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Constance B. Long, A.M. '19, and two grandchildren. Col. Rose's grandfather was Durlin Lee Brayton, 1837.

► EDWARD WHITTEN SHEDD, Ph.B., A.M., retired civil engineer, born Brookline, Mass., June 2, 1860, the son of J. Herbert and Julia A. (Clark) Shedd; died in East Providence, Aug. 17, 1941. His father, chief engineer of the Providence Water Works from 1869 to 1890, received the honorary degree of A.M. from Brown in 1894.

The son followed in his father's footsteps, becoming a partner of the engineering firm of Shedd & Sarle and specializing for many years in hydraulics. The firm had offices in Providence and Worcester; from 1888 to 1903 Shedd was the senior member. Then he carried on alone as a civil and hydraulic engineer in Providence and Charlotte, N. C. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Boston and American Societies of Civil Engineers, and the Providence Engineering Society. His direct contact with Brown was through the advisory committee, Department of Mathematics, once a useful source of alumni interest.

On March 30, 1886, he married Jessie Dexter, who survives, with a daughter and four sons. One son is Thomas Clark Shedd '13, Professor of Structural Engineering, University of Illinois, and an authority on structural design in steel. Another son is Whitten D. Shedd, special student with '13. The late Charles E. Shedd '78 was a brother.

► ELMER ELLSWORTH SILVER, A.B., A.M., banker, insurance man, public citizen, born Bloomfield, Vt., Oct. 19, 1861, the son of Albert A. and Sarah J. (Warren) Silver; died in Woburn, Mass., July 7, 1941. He was president of the Woburn Five Cents

Savings Bank, the first and only president of Choate Memorial Hospital, and the founder and president of the Woburn Charitable Association.

When he left Brown he worked a year as New England agent of J. H. Butler, educational publishers. Then he and his brother, Edgar O. Silver '83, founded Silver, Burdett & Co., publishers, with offices in Boston. Music books for school and Sunday school were a specialty of the company, of which Elmer Silver was treasurer and, later, a director. In 1904 he became general agent of Equitable Life Assurance Society, and in 1907 general manager of the Boston office of Union Central Life Insurance Co. of Cincinnati. President of this last-named company from 1921 to 1928 was the late John D. Sage '99.

Silver was a devoted member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, and was president of the New England Alumni Association of the fraternity. He was vice president of the Brown Club of Boston, and the Vermont Association of Boston; trustee of Derby Academy, Warren Academy, Shaw University, New England Baptist Hospital; and a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, New England Historical Genealogical Society, and the Union, Merchants, and Engineers Clubs of Boston.

On June 24, 1891, he married Anna T. Brown, who survives, with a son, Elmer E. Silver, Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Silver Greene, wife of F. Hartwell Greene '15. Albert A. Silver, Jr., '89 is a brother.

► ALFRED SCOTT JOHNSON, A.B., lawyer, born Brookfield, Mass., March 18, 1866, the son of Pliny F. and Phebe E. (Mann) Johnson; died in Providence, July 12, 1941.

Brown awarded degrees to three of his brothers. Arthur P. Johnson '88, the late Ernest H. Johnson '91, Edgar M. Johnson '93, and to a sister, the late Mrs. Evelyn O. Bullen '99.

Alfred Johnson, excellent student who was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, entered the law office of Dexter B. Potter after graduation, became a member of the Rhode Island bar in 1893, and practised with his brother, Arthur P. Johnson, until retirement. His extra curricular interest was in Masonry. He was a 32nd degree Mason, having been raised in Rising Sun Lodge, East Providence. He also belonged to Calvary Commandery, Knights Templar, Palestine Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, and to other Masonic bodies.

He served several terms on the Board of Governors, Rhode Island Country Club, and was a member of Delta Phi, the University Club, and the Brown Club of Providence.

On April 24, 1894, he married Amy W. Stacy, who survives, with his brothers Arthur and Edgar, and a sister, Mrs. Alice S. Lombard.

► WILLIAM JUDSON BROWN, A.B., LL.B., retired lawyer, born Tiverton, R. I., Nov. 20, 1872, the son of Isaac and Mary E. (Grey) Brown; died in Providence, Aug. 1, 1941, after a long illness. One of his forbears was the Rev. Adoniram Judson, 1807, pioneer Baptist missionary to Burma.

In college he was an editor of Liber Brunensis. On graduation he entered the Law School, Boston University, won his LL.B. in 1895 and commenced practice in Providence. In early years he was a member of the firm of Burbank & Brown. When he retired several years ago he had his own office in the Turks Head Building. His fraternity was Delta Kappa Epsilon, and he was a former member of the University Club and the Rhode Island Bar Association.

On June 9, 1897, he married Harriet S. Borden, who died in March, 1898. His second marriage took place Oct. 14, 1903, to Pauline E. Tappan, who survives, with two daughters, a son, a sister, and a brother.

nate colleges throughout the country, and from members of the Association of American Universities will be invited to participate.

A reception for distinguished guests, alumnae and friends of the college and a concert by the combined glee clubs of Brown University and Pembroke College, with interpretative dancing by the Pembroke Dance Club, are being planned for May 15. This program will be held in the new auditorium of the Rhode Island School of Design.

The feature of the May celebration will be an academic convocation in the First Baptist Meeting House. Alumnae Day, which customarily takes place on the Saturday preceding Commencement in June, will be held May 16. All classes will hold luncheons and reunions during the afternoon and will meet together for the 50th anniversary alumnae banquet in the evening.

► LECTURES are planned by the Committee on Lectureships in recognition of the Fiftieth Anniversary. This committee will bring to the University four outstanding women scholars to deliver the Charles K. Colver Lectures and three of the Marshall Woods Lectures. The lectures will be open to alumnae and the general public.

Dr. Cecilia Payne Gaposchkin, Phillips astronomer of the Harvard College Observatory, will present this year's series of the Colver Lectures. Lectures in the Marshall Woods series will be given by Miss Nadia Boulanger, eminent French musician; Dr. Margaret Mead, assistant curator of ethnology in the American Museum of Natural History; and Dr. Marjorie Hope Nicolson, professor in the Graduate School of Columbia University.

Prof. Raymond C. Archibald, chairman of the Committee on Lectureships, has announced that this year the Brown University Lectures will be called The Elisha Benjamin Andrews Lectures on Democracy and the Individual. They are named in honor of Dr. Andrews, president of Brown at the time of the founding of Pembroke College.

► DEAN MORRIS is vice-chairman of Dr. Wriston's Semicentennial Committee. Committee members include Stephen O. Metcalf, Albert L. Scott, Harold C. Field, William Gammell, representing the Corporation; Vice-President James P. Adams, James H. Case, Jr., Dr. Albert D. Mead, Prof. Archibald, Prof. Theodore Collier, Prof. Ben Brown, Prof. Sharon Brown, Miss Eva A. Moor, Miss Mary L. Finch, representing the Administration and Faculty of Brown and Pembroke; Dr. Woolley, Miss Ollie A. Randall, Mrs. John S. Murdock, Mrs. John H. Williams, Mrs. David P. Moulton, Mrs. Leslie E. Swain, Mrs. Nelson B. Record, Miss Ruth P. Harris, Miss Mary E. Driscoll, Miss Nancy B. Herr, Mrs. Gertrude Allen McConnell, representing the alumnae.

Students at Pembroke are represented by Miss Marjorie Moore and Miss Jane G. Wheeler, Mrs. Philip H. Mitchell is the representative of the R. I. Branch, American Association of University Women. Members-at-large include Mrs. Murray S. Danforth, Herbert M. Sherwood, Mrs. Henry D. Sharpe and Mrs. John Nicholas Brown.

Pembroke's Jubilee ◀ ◀

► ► MORE than 4000 alumnae, Faculty and Corporation members and their wives, and members of the Rhode Island Society for the Collegiate Education of Women have been invited to attend the celebration of Pembroke College's Semicentennial during the coming academic year. Issuance of the invitations on Sept. 2 coincided with the 50th anniversary of a Corporation decision, considered the official founding date of Pembroke. It was on Sept. 2, 1891, that the Corporation voted that "young women may be admitted to examinations in Brown University." The action culminated years of agitation.

Prominent in the program announced by Dr. Henry M. Wriston, President of Brown and chairman of the Pembroke Semicentennial Advisory Committee, is the academic convocation, to be held in Alumnae Hall at 11 a. m. Wednesday, Sept. 24, opening the celebration. Principal speakers will be Dean Margaret Shove Morriss of Pembroke, Dr. Mary Emma Woolley, president emerita of Mt. Holyoke College and only sur-living member of the Class of 1894, and Dr. Wriston.

The eight living members of the class of 1895 will be given seats of honor on the platform during the exercises. They are Mrs. John S. Murdock, Providence; Mrs. Horace G. Bissell, Providence; Mrs. Walter G. Everett, Providence; Mrs. Ralph Kinder, Philadelphia; Miss Beatrice J. Barker, Eugene, Ore.; Mrs. Leonard W. Williams, South Hartswell, Me.; Miss Emogene M. Manning, Norwood, Mass., and Mrs. Nathan R. Wood, Arlington, Mass. Also on the platform will be three faculty members who taught these first students.

Later, Dr. Woolley, members of the Class of 1895, and the three faculty members will be honored at a luncheon in Metcalf Hall and at a reception for alumnae and friends of the College in Alumnae Hall at 4 p. m.

► A MAJOR part of the Semicentennial observance will be a two-day celebration on Friday and Saturday, May 15 and 16, 1942. Delegates from all universities and colleges in New England and the Middle Atlantic States, from women's colleges and co-ordi-

Class Notes

▶▶ 1897 RUTH DEVEREUX EDDY's sampler to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the founding of Pembroke College, is calling forth enthusiastic comment from everyone who sees it. It is a work of art which depicts University, Manning, Sayles and Rhode Island Halls and the First Baptist Meeting House. A picture of it appeared in the Evening Bulletin with an interesting story. At the bottom of the sampler are the names and degrees of the six members of Mrs. Eddy's family who received Brown degrees. In addition to herself they are: her late husband, William H. Eddy '92; her sister, Alice Devereux '01; her daughter, Ruth '32; her son, Robert '35; and her daughter-in-law, Sarah Frost '38.

1898—Winifred Austin, a teacher at Ogontz Junior College in Pennsylvania, entertained the members of her class at her home in East Norton, Mass. after Commencement. Nine members were present and they were particularly delighted to have among their number Katharine N. Schmadl, who has been ill for many years but now hopes to be a regular attendant at the reunions. Miss Austin gave a delightful talk on her travels and exhibited her many souvenirs from various parts of the world. A delicious supper was served on the lawn.

1898—M. Lillian Blanchard entertained at a special reunion luncheon at her home on Alumnae Day. She is now the proud possessor of SEVEN grandchildren and asks "Who can boast any more?"

1899—Harriet Utter Gnuse of Memphis, Tenn. was injured in an automobile accident in Rehoboth, Mass. and has been in the Lane Brown Hospital in Providence since July 2nd. She will probably be there for several weeks more.

1899—Caroline Briggs MacWhinnie, who has lived for many years in Seattle, is now head of residence at Salisbury Hall, Bryant College, Providence.

1900—Ethel Westcott has the sympathy of the alumnae in the loss of her mother.

1902—Amey J. Cook is an exchange teacher in the Thomas Jefferson High School, San Antonio, Texas, where she is teaching Spanish. She is on leave of absence from the Mt. Pleasant High School, Providence. She is living at 334 Donaldson Avenue in what sounds like a super-luxurious apartment.

1905—Bertha Clark Damon's writings were included in two college textbooks this spring. One book is "Present Tense," edited by Prof. Sharon Brown and published by Harcourt, Brace & Co. The other is entitled "A College Book of Prose" and is published by Ginn & Co.

1909—May Hall James made a trip to Canada to visit government officials and study their program for defense. She took her research assistant with her and will lecture on the information this winter. Her schedule will take her as far afield as Texas, to which she will travel by airplane.

1909—Grace Hartman Brigham, executive housekeeper of the Biltmore Hotel, flew out to St. Louis this summer in connection with her work as a member of the Board of the National Executive Housekeepers' Association. She has been made vice-president of the Providence Altrusa Club.

1911—Dr. Eva Magoon Somerville has our sympathy in the loss of her mother.

1918—Janet Williamson Kingsbury, who has been at Cornell for many years, is now living at 612 North St., Chapel Hill, N. C.

1923—Frances Wright of Elmira College taught physics this summer at the Sayre centre of the Penn State Engineering Defense program. She was one of the two physics teachers in the entire program, which comprised 96 centres.

1925—Amy Spencer Cappelli's humorous poetry appeared in the August 9th issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

1926—Anna H. Blossom spent part of the summer at the Audubon Nature Camp in Maine and the remainder at her camp at Mattapoisett, Mass.

1926—Elizabeth Stillwell Ripton is living at 242-31 51st Ave., Douglaston, L. I.

1927—Nellie Morton Krall taught mathematics this summer at the York Centre of Penn State's Engineering Training Defense program.

1927—Lucy Burnham Seward has been working as a member of the office staff of Penn State's Engineering Defense Training program. Her husband, Dr. Ralph P. Seward, taught chemistry.

1928—Ida Noble Marschner and her husband are occupying their new home at 18427 Stewart Ave., Homewood, Ill.

1929—Estelle Martin spent the summer in Rhode Island and has now returned to her work with the Family Consultation Centre in Cincinnati.

1930—Dorothy Miller has been appointed to the newly created post of continuity supervisor for the Westinghouse Stations WBZ and WBZA. She has been with the Boston office for six years. She is also a dramatic actress, possesses a trained contralto voice, and an unusual gift for melodious whistling. She has been taking the part of Mrs. Spoolcircle in the radio skit "Harvey and Dell" on the NBC blue network at 8:45 a. m.

1931—Dr. Hester Hastings is a professor in the French Department at Randolph Macon College, Lynchburg, Va.

1932—Dorothy W. Budlong has a position with the Providence Governmental Research Bureau and is now living at 435 Morris Avenue.

1932—Mary Lou Hall is teaching English and music in the Calvin Coolidge School in Melrose and lives at 62 Florence St. during the school year. Her home address has been changed to 584 Riverdale St., West Springfield.

1932—Beulah Morris Martus has a new address: R. F. D. Middlebury, Conn.

1933—Dorothy Hanson Hughes and family have moved to 19 Windmere Place, St. Louis, Mo.

1933—Helen F. Mulvey spent her vacation in Mobile, Alabama and is now doing graduate work at Radcliffe.

1933—Winifred Mayock O'Hara and family have changed their residence to 49 Wollaston St., Auburn, R. I.

1934—Dorothy Lovett has the sympathy of the alumnae in the loss of her father. She flew on from Hollywood for a brief stay in Providence.

Not all Protection Wardens wear tin hats!

Green-grocers and bookkeepers by day . . . helmeted heroes at night . . . the men of Britain's Air Raid Precaution Service have made a magnificent contribution to their country's defense.

HERE in America, busy men with plain felt hats in place of tin ones provide protection day and night for countless homes.

They're not digging wounded children out of debris—but they are sending thousands of healthy children through school and college.

They're not snuffing out incendiaries on neighboring roofs—but they are helping the families under those roofs to carry on, after death has struck without a warning siren.

Who are they? They are the trained and experienced life insurance men and women of America, who are helping countless families to set up defenses that are certain in uncertain times.

From coast to coast, New England Mutual's group of Career Underwriters is eminently qualified to render intelligent counsel on personal insurance problems.

Representing the first mutual life insurance company chartered in this country, they are equipped with a variety of unusually liberal contracts that may be written to suit your particular needs.

A friendly consultation may be had without obligation on your part.

THE FIRST MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY CHARTERED IN AMERICA—1835

Call on these men for careful counsel on family defense

Below is a list of "protection wardens" from your own college.

They have chosen life insurance as a career because it means personal independence, and carries with it the satisfaction of rendering constructive service—freeing families from fear—selling investments that no buyer ever regrets.

They have chosen New England Mutual as a company because it is old in years but young in spirit. Because it's the first mutual life insurance company chartered in America, with modern policy contracts which are noted for their flexibility.

If you're not near enough to any of these fellow-alumni for a personal conference, look in the telephone directory for the New England Mutual office in your city. You will find carefully trained, experienced men, largely with college backgrounds, who will be glad to talk to you, whether or not you are in the market for insurance.

1941 looks at 1916

THINGS have changed a lot in 25 years and yet there is much that is the same.

In 1916 it was Preparedness; in 1941, National Defense. But now the scale is bigger, the pace faster. There was pressure on the telephone business then. The pressure is infinitely greater now. New training camps; new aviation fields; new munitions plants—all need telephones. Every one is moving faster and when a Nation hurries it does it by telephone. The Bell System spent 94 millions on new construction in 1916. It is spending more than 420 millions in 1941.

The entire Bell System organization is giving “first call” to defense. We believe you would want it that way.
