

BROWN

ALUMNI MONTHLY

MAY, 1943 Vol. XLIII, No. 9

CAN YOU GIVE AS MUCH

Time

TO YOUR SECURITIES AS THEY DEMAND?

The chances are that the war has placed upon you many added responsibilities and duties which are taking much of the time that you would normally devote to the care of your investments. And the longer the war lasts the greater will be the demands on your time.

Yet, in these days, when we are in the midst of a complex war economy — when such sciences as chemistry, metallurgy and electronics are creating new methods and materials which may revolutionize many industries — is the time when your securities require all the attention and experienced management that can be brought to bear upon them.

For these reasons, more and more individuals who seek to conserve their time and energy are finding it to their advantage to place their investments in a Personal Agency Account with the Hospital Trust Company.

Our Trust Department, with a staff experienced in investment analysis and management, is prepared to take over for you. Why not talk over the details of this service with us?

 Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company
PAWTUCKET • PROVIDENCE • WOONSOCKET

BROWN

ALUMNI MONTHLY

PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND

MAY, 1943

VOL. XLIII

NUMBER 9

► ► The Commencement That Will Be

► ► TWO COMMENCEMENTS are to be noted as June 2 approaches on College Hill — the Commencement that will be and the Commencement that might have been. It would have been a major celebration, befitting the 175th annual observance, and it is not hard to imagine the special events and class activity that would have attended it.

But 3000 of the Brown alumni will have another pre-occupation on June 2, and other alumni, too, will have war-time engagement so pressing as to keep them at their jobs, even if they are not in the military. And travel restrictions and rationing will further minimize the gathering on the Hill. But there will be a few reunions, and hundreds of alumni will still join the tradition march down to the First Baptist Meeting House on Commencement Day—this time to enter with the graduating class and share in the ceremony.

Of the three graduations during the current academic year, the June Commencement is the one in which alumni participation is invited by the University. The Autumn one, following Brown's first full-fledged summer term, was given over largely to the undergraduates and was essentially the Convocation that opened the new semester. The February one, with most of the Class of 1943 receiving degrees at that time, was the Seniors', with orators, "Spring Day", and some of the relics of social activity and class functions that normally come in June.

► WHEN THE ALUMNI are invited inside the Meeting House on Commencement Day, it will be the first time in many years that it has been possible for them to witness the graduation exercises. Space will be available because the graduating class will not be large (probably 50 men from the College, a corresponding number from Pembroke, and a few candidates for advanced degrees.) President Wriston will be the speaker of the occasion, since the student orations were given in February.

As usual in the Commencement exercises baccalaureate degrees will be awarded by President Wriston as the Seniors are presented by Dean Samuel T. Arnold and Dean Margaret Shove Morriss. Candidates for advanced degrees will be presented by Dean R. G. D. Richardson, and honorary degrees will be conferred. A wartime note will be injected in the administration of the oath to Seniors who then become commissioned officers in the Navy.

Commencement Day will begin with a special meeting of the Associated Alumni in Sayles Hall at 9 o'clock. Its half-hour program will include announcement of election results, a preliminary report on the Alumni Fund, and other matters of especial alumni concern. President William P. Burnham '07, retiring from office at the end of his two-year term, will present his successor.

► THE COMMENCEMENT procession will form on the Middle Campus at 9:30, under the direction of E. Tudor Gross '01, Chief Marshal. Mr. Gross, who has performed the duties of Chief of Staff for many years, will have the honor attached to the top post this June, as he also did in February. He was recruiting his aides and class marshals early in May.

▲
THE NEW BROWN FLAG flies over the door of the Brown University Club in New York. Beside it, the flag of the Princeton Club, whose quarters we share at 39 East 39th St.

Since the alumni are invited to the graduation exercises and will there hear the President, there will be no Sayles Hall meeting in the afternoon as has been traditional. Nor, because of rationing difficulties, will the general alumni luncheon be held. A small luncheon will be given by the Corporation to the invited guests of the University, and a few modest class luncheons are anticipated.

► IN A FEATURE of the Commencement Day the two Army Air Forces Meteorological Training Detachments at Brown will conduct a review in connection with the ceremony of retreat at 4 o'clock Commencement afternoon on the Middle Campus. The American flag at the University is in the custody of these units, which observe daily reveille and retreat. The detachments will also march in the Commencement morning procession of the University, under the command of Major Arthur B. Campbell. The June meeting of the University Corporation is scheduled for that afternoon at 2:30.

Rev. Arthur Howe Bradford, D.D., minister of the Central Congregational Church of Providence, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon this year in the service to be held in the First Baptist Meeting House Sunday afternoon. May

THE COVER PHOTO: AFTER "LIGHTS OUT" studying is still permitted in the corridors of Hope College. This member of the Air Forces Meteorology detachment is taking advantage of this ruling.

30, at 3 o'clock. The pastor of the church, Rev. Albert C. Thomas, D.D., '08, will give the invocation. The service will be followed by a reception for the Corporation, Faculty, members of the graduating classes, and their parents and friends. President and Mrs. Wriston and other University officials and their wives will be in the receiving line on the terrace of Faunce House.

Ceremonies of Class Day will be held Tuesday afternoon in Faunce House Theatre, followed by a reception and tea dance in the Art Gallery. Pembroke will observe its Class Day Monday. Dim-out regulations which prevent illumination of the campus conspires with the small number of graduates to eliminate the traditional open air dance of Class Night again this June.

▶ WHILE MANY REUNION activities have been cancelled or curtailed, this phase of the Commencement season will not be missing. The Class of 1879 will keep intact a custom of 64 years' standing by meeting for its annual luncheon. Dr. Rose C. Munro of Boston, daughter of the late Dr. Walter B. Munro, will be host to the class at 272 Norwood Ave., Edgewood, on Saturday, May 29 at 1 p. m. Also prominent on the reunion schedule will be the luncheon on Commencement Day for the "senior alumni" in the classes up to 1890. Frank Hail Brown '85 is chairman of the committee arranging this affair at the University Club, for which accommodations are limited and reservations must be made well in advance of the actual day.

The 50-year class of 1893 will hold a dinner Tuesday night, June 1, at the Hope Club, with breakfast there on Commencement Day as well according to its annual custom. At the class tree, which the men planted on the Front Campus 50 years ago, there will be memorial exercises Tuesday at 4:30 for the men who have passed on. The '93 committee includes: President Edward B. Aldrich, Secretary Robert M. Brown, Edward H. Weeks, and J. D. E. Jones.

Otherwise, the class of 1923 seems to be the only one which will have an overnight reunion, going to Cold Spring House, Wickford, for Saturday evening and Sunday under the chairmanship of President Norman J. Paasche. Other groups are contenting themselves with a dinner or breakfast for local alumni, without attempting to get men back from a distance. Reunions are not scheduled for any of the most recent classes because of the high percentage of men in service.

▶ THE 25-YEAR-CLASS of 1918 has called off its big reunion "until a more appropriate time." In so doing, 1918 makes a decision similar to 1917's a year ago. The latter proposes to hold its biggest and best reunion whatever the anniversary—at the time of the Commencement which follows the Victory. Other classes have indicated that they will join in such a project, and what a Commencement it will be. Many of the classes are diverting their money and effort from reunion events this year to anniversary campaigns for the Brown Alumni Fund, which has stressed the University's unusual needs in wartime. 1918 will observe its 25th with a breakfast Commencement Day at the University Club at 7:45.

Of all reunions, most interest attaches itself to one which is scheduled for "somewhere in Africa." Capt. John E. Flemming wrote the Alumni Office to confirm the Commencement date so that eight of the Brunonians in Africa might celebrate the day together. They will not be alone among the 3000 men in uniform and others who will be thinking of Brown and the Commencement that might have been. We invite their nostalgic plans for the Commencement that will come when this war is won.

Men on a Ballot ◀

▶▶ BROWN alumni were voting this month on candidates for Alumni Trustee, general alumni officers, and a member of the Athletic Council. Three ballots were sent out in April.

Particular interest attached itself on the selection of two from a field of six nominees for Alumni Trustee in the first voting under a new agreement between the Corporation and the Associated Alumni. For the first time the election was not restricted to holders of degrees, and alumnae of Pembroke were also admitted to the franchise.

"Any graduate of said University," said the agreement, "including any holder of an advanced degree in course, and any person who has ceased to attend said University as a student after an attendance of not less than four semesters shall be eligible to vote. Eligible voters shall vote for not more than two candidates, and the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared the nominees of the Alumni for Alumni Trustees, provided that the number voting is not less than 25% of the number of holders of degrees in course."

The candidates for Alumni Trustee are: William Phineas Burnham '07 of Braintree, Mass., Secretary of French, Shriner & Urner, shoe manufacturers. James Saville Eastham '19 of Andover, Mass., General Counsel for Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates and affiliated companies. Joseph Francis Halloran '16 of New York, Vice-President of Davis & Catterall and Eureka Printing Co., cotton textile printing. Rowland Roberts Hughes '17 of New York, Comptroller of the National City Bank of New York. Carleton Doty Morse '13 of Needham, Mass., President of the Clearwater Laundry Co. Eugene William O'Brien '19 of Atlanta, Ga., Director and Vice-President, W. R. C. Smith Publishing Co., technical publishers, and Editor and Managing Director of Southern Power & Industry, currently Engineering Consultant to the WPB and the WMC.

In addition, the Brown alumni were asked to vote for a President and Treasurer of the Associated Alumni and for Regional officers. The nominees for President, all from Providence, are: James Cunliffe Bullock '02 Vice-President, Industrial Trust Co. Alton Charles Chick '19, Assistant Vice-President and Engineer, Manufacturers Mutual Fire Insurance Co. Henry Clay Hart '01, partner of the law firm of Hart, Gainer & Carr. Elmer Stuart Horton '10, senior partner of the advertising firm of Horton-Noyes Co. The single nominee for Treasurer is Fred Emil Schoeneweiss '20 of Providence, Assistant Secretary of the Title Guarantee Co. of R. I.

On the Regional slate are candidates for a Vice-President and Director in each district: for Vice-Presidents: New England—George S. Burgess '12, Wellesley, Mass.; Benjamin D. Roman '25, Brookline, Mass. Rhode Island—Stanley Henshaw, Jr., '35, Providence; Paul H. Hodge '28, Rumford. Atlantic-Midland—Newton G. Chase '09, New York City. Central—W. Russell Burwell '15, Cleveland. Western—Nathaniel Blaisdell '83, San Francisco. For Directors: New England—Joseph N. Ashton '91, Andover, Mass.; Ralph C. Knight '21, Melrose, Mass. Rhode Island—Stanley C. Paige '32, Warwick; H. Stanton Smith '21, Providence. Atlantic-Midland—Robert W. Burgess '08, Pelham Manor, N. Y.; John W. Fawcett '22, Upper Montclair, N. J. Central—Albert E. Dillingham '18, Cleveland;

Albert W. Marten '29, Cleveland Heights; Otto C. Pahline '13, Akron; Dale Wylie '17, Cleveland Heights. Western—Lawrence L. Larrabee '09, Los Angeles; Wentworth W. Mann '28, West Los Angeles.

Three names appear on the ballot for Athletic Council, where Paul H. Hodge '28 will be retiring June 30. The candidates for the three-year term are: George J. Holden '91, Holton W. Horton '29, and Lewis S. Milner '03, all of Providence.

A Fund Variant ◀

▶▶ FIRST contributions to the Alumni Endowment at Brown University have been received, following its recent proposal by the Trustees of the Alumni Fund and its establishment by the Brown Corporation. Sharing the distinction of being first to use this new instrument of benefaction were a Providence lawyer and a Cambridge clergyman, both of whom mailed checks on the same day. Largest was a memorial of $1000 for Henry R. Palmer '90 made by his three children, all Brunonians.

Gifts, especially bequests, to the endowment of Brown are now invited in the same way that the Alumni Fund for nearly 30 years has invited gifts to income. The Alumni Endowment, in the opinion of Arthur L. Philbrick '03, Chairman of the Fund Trustees, provides "a medium through which the modest legacy becomes more plausible and useful." He describes the Alumni Endowment as a permanent fund, held and administered by the University as a part of its general investment pool. The income properly attributable to the Alumni Endowment will be added each year to the ordinary contributions to the Alumni Fund but reported separately.

A bequest to the Alumni Endowment thus will earn an annual income thereafter, and this, added to the Alumni Fund, will increase by so much the Alumni Fund's unrestricted gift to Brown.

"The Trustees," Mr. Philbrick said, "believe that many a Brown man will wish to bequeath to the university through the Alumni Endowment an amount sufficient to capitalize his customary contribution to the Alumni Fund, continuing forever his belief and share in Brown's well-being."

"Experience at a sister institution which has a similar alumni endowment has shown that its alumni no longer hesitate to make small bequests, through a mistaken idea that they are useless or unwelcome, inadequate for specific purpose or overwhelmed in a great endowment."

"The Alumni Fund is impressive because it is made up of hundreds of individual gifts which might not otherwise have been made to Brown University. As an annual contributor to that important aggregate, the alumnus realized that his money has a power it would not seem to have alone. Each gift encourages other giving and fortifies the result of that giving."

The Providence lawyer who made the early gift to the Alumni Endowment said he did so with the feeling that he was creating his own "memorial gift." "Ordinarily," he wrote, "I would feel that the principal of such a small gift should be made immediately available for expenditure for current needs. But I am making this infinitesimal addition to endowment for a sentimental objective, for the purpose of perpetuating my annual contributions to the Alumni Fund."

► Engle's Bell Ball

IT'S THE NEW GAME developed at Brown by Coach "Rip" Engle and others, gaining national attention through such magazines as The Athletic Journal, through whose courtesy we reproduce the pictures above, taken in zero weather last winter. But there's action enough for warmth and simple equipment to recommend it for service use. That's a goal being scored at the top, with a player ringing the bell with a well-aimed shot. Centre, the man with the ball is tagged and must get rid of it. Bottom, Engle shows a point of technique.

Transit to War ◀

By WILLIAM K. SELDEN, Assistant Dean

▶▶ SINCE Pearl Harbor there probably have been more letters of recommendation written in University Hall than during all the other 171 years of its entire history.

In the past, letters of commendation have been written for men applying to medical schools, to law schools, for positions as teachers, for openings in industry and for many other purposes. But today's increase is a development with the war and a result of Brown's desire and attempt to help each student to be assigned to that position in the military effort in which he can be of the greatest service and from which he will derive the most satisfaction. Letters of recommendation are being written for each student as he leaves the University, letters which he will take with him into military service.

The end of February a letter was sent by Colonel Herman Beukema, Director of the Army Specialized Training Division, to inform colleges of the advisability of furnishing each student as he left college with a transcript of his academic record together with a statement of his personal qualities and abilities. Brown had already embarked on such a policy.

It was started for the undergraduates enrolled in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps. For each of these students, as they were called from the University to active duty, a letter of recommendation was prepared. These letters contain statements of fact regarding the individual's academic history and background, his extra-curricular interests and hobbies, undergraduate employment, and also mention of his outstanding personal qualities. They are prepared in duplicate, signed by Dean Samuel T. Arnold '13, and given to the student together with a transcript of his college record. They are to be presented when the man reports to the interviewing or assigning military officers.

In the request from Colonel Beukema for information, special interest was shown in five personal characteristics:

1. leadership—the degree in which he influences the opinions and actions of his associates, his force of personality.
2. intelligence—his common sense, his ability to reason soundly, his ability to grasp new ideas quickly and to understand new instructions readily.
3. sense of responsibility—his attention to duty, his ability and inclination to work conscientiously and with thoroughness, his fidelity to duty, and the degree to which reliance can be placed in him.
4. co-operation—the degree in which he is temperamentally inclined to work with others rather than self-defensively as an individualist.
5. physical stamina—his energy and endurance, his capacity for prolonged and severe exertion without undue fatigue.

▶ FORTUNATELY for the students, Brown had already been including comments regarding these very qualities in the letters of recommendation. When a boy enters the University a large amount of personnel information is obtained by Dean Bruce M. Bigelow '24 and Mr. Emery R. Walker, Jr. '39 in the Admissions Office. Additional information is accumulated in his personnel folder as he continues as an undergraduate. From this and from personal association it is possible to give a statement for each young man so as to help the classifying officers in their job of assigning him to the branch of the service where he may be of the most benefit to the country and to himself.

▲
WILLIAM K. SELDEN who tells what Brown does for the man en route to war.

The students are generally grateful to have such an interest voluntarily taken in them as they leave college. Both students and parents have written to express appreciation and the hope that these letters will be of assistance. It is too early to judge how beneficial these letters will be. But we do know that, if a soldier has the opportunity to prepare for a commission and he happens to be in Australia, New Guinea, Africa, England, or even later in Europe, it is not a simple matter to obtain a transcript and letters of recommendation in a brief space of time. Receiving these credentials upon leaving college and taking them with him until the need for their use arises will save many a worry and many a disappointment for a Brown man in service.

▶ IN addition to the letters written for students leaving Brown, many similar letters are written for those still in college. To apply for any of the reserves in the Navy, each candidate has been required to present three letters of recommendation and an official statement from the University attesting to the fact that he is in good standing. Similar requirements have existed for the Marine Corps, the Signal Corps in the Army and the Air Force, including Meteorology. For students who are in no reserve and who are enrolled in one of the several scientific fields of study, deferments may be granted by the draft boards providing the proper statements are furnished by the University.

All this has increased the work of the Dean's staff immensely. Each one in the department, as well as all the members of the Board of Counselors, is seeing students daily and giving them advice which may direct and influence the whole course of their lives. Before Professor Edward M. J. Kretzmann, Ph.D. '36, entered military service, he was devoting most of his time to advising students regarding their plans for military service. Dean Edgar J. Lanpher '19, now a Captain in the Air Force, was also assisting them with respect to their draft status. Dr. John W. Lederle, who has succeeded Professor Kretzmann, is now largely responsible for the dissemination of information to students as to the opportunities in the military service. In this work he is aided by Dean Arnold, Dean Bigelow, Mr. Walker and Dr. Charles J. Armstrong, who has taken charge of the duties formerly handled by Dean Lanpher.

Miss Helen L. Urquhart, Pembroke '22, the Recorder of the University, has added to the regular duties of the staff in her office the responsibility for preparing the transcripts for both undergraduates and graduates. Quite frequently telegrams will be received which read somewhat as follows: "Please send me by return mail a statement of my college record". Miss Urquhart sees that these requests are handled as promptly as possible. It is best, however, if the alumnus could anticipate the need for these statements and allow ample time for their preparation and transmission. The transcripts are photographed and usually require two days for their preparation.

► THE students are equally appreciative of another example of interest that is shown in them by the University. For each student, no matter how long he has been enrolled, who leaves Brown in good standing to enter military service, including the merchant marine, a certificate is prepared and sent to him. This certificate signifies that he has been a student at Brown but he has been unable to complete his academic work for a degree because of service to his country. It reads as follows:

BROWN UNIVERSITY

In Providence, in the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations.

To All to Whom These Presents Come, Greetings

John Brown

having been in residence at the University 1½ semesters but having entered the service of the United States before completing the requirements for a degree, is hereby awarded this certificate in recognition of academic achievement and patriotic devotion,

Signed by the Dean

Signed by the President

► How these certificates from Brown University were received by the men in service may be surmised by the reading of some sample quotations.

"It's a bit difficult for me to express my appreciation of the Corporation's fine gesture. Suffice it to say, however, that I was more than overwhelmed — and that it brought a lump to my throat. Most of all it made me think of how much I had gotten out of Brown and how little I had really deserved . . . I was lucky enough to have been assigned to a fighter squadron so am flying the Grumman F4F now. The way things look it won't be so terribly long before I will be out with the fleet trying to put in my two cents worth, but when this war is over, if I find myself in a position to do so, I will most certainly try to complete the work for my degree."

"Needless to say, I regret having been unable to complete the work for my degree but this certificate at least is second best. As you say, my experience in the Army will be of considerable value to me; I hope I am just as valuable to the Army."

"I wish to acknowledge the certificate from Brown to my son. I know he will appreciate the thoughtfulness behind this gesture. He is outside of the country now and we did not forward this to him but it will be waiting for him when he returns and we know he will always treasure it."

"I want to thank you, Dr. Wriston and the Board of Directors for your wonderful interest in undergraduates who have entered the armed service. I assure you it has brought back many remembrances of the pleasant yet brief time I spent at Brown and makes me even more desirous of returning to Brown and finishing my education. Let us hope that day is not far away."

"The certificate and recognition of time spent at Brown is deeply appreciated by both my parents and myself . . . There are four Brown men at the Signal Corps School where I am stationed. The highest ranking student in the advanced class is a recent Brown graduate — just one more proof of the fact 'you can't outshine Brown men.' It was indeed encouraging to receive the award and I shall try to prove worthy of it."

"Stretching somewhat the prerogatives of a parent over a minor child, I opened last week-end the small carton from Brown University addressed to Jack. I want to express my appreciation of the step taken by the University. I know that in all too many cases, where boys today intend to return and finish college, this return will not take place. In such cases his certificate will serve as a 'sub-diploma.' Needless to say, he hopes and plans to return to Brown when the fracas is over. He finishes his training as an Infantry Officer Candidate about June 1."

"I was starting the second semester of my first year at Brown and just beginning to find out what was going on when the Army ordered me out on active duty. It is with great pride that I answer Brown to anyone who wants to know what college I went to. I believe my unit is going into active operation very soon. We are getting the latest equipment so the entire Battalion is happy to be able to do its little bit to end the war."

"I will never forget the days I spent at Brown and hope to return again when the clouds of war have passed."

"I can't tell you how much I appreciate the diploma in recognition of one semester's work at the University. I hope that I may return to Brown after the war is over and resume my studies where I left off five months ago."

"As I contemplate returning to Brown as soon as possible after the war, I also appreciate the new rules allowing me a financial credit for the first semester after my return to the University." ◀ ◀

The Danger from Gas

► BROWN UNIVERSITY has been designated a gas identification centre in the Rhode Island Civilian Defense Organization, it was announced this month by Professor Norris W. Rakestraw of the department of Chemistry. Professor Rakestraw explained that Professor W. Walker Russell and he would work together with a group of students to establish the local organization to work in close conjunction with the Civilian Defense Council and with several other centres in the state.

In reference to the use of gas in modern warfare, Professor Rakestraw declared emphatically that the great danger in gas warfare is not with the gas itself but from the resulting panic and confusion where the people are not emotionally ready for the attack. He cited the last war as an example declaring that where gas was used the fatalities were relatively slight but the confusion resulted in serious military setbacks.

He intimated that gas would probably not be used alone if it were used, but might be accompanied by high explosives and incendiary bombs so that fire-fighting could be organized only under the greatest of difficulties.

"Unless our civil defense organizations have been carefully schooled in preparation for gas attacks, such attacks may tangle up transportation facilities of our large cities for hours, even for days. Danger from gas does not justify that amount of confusion," Professor Rakestraw said. ◀

A Judicial Promotion

► JUDGE ALBERT L. SAUNDERS '02 is the new Presiding Justice of the District Court of Western Norfolk County, Mass., having been installed last January. He was the appointee of Governor Leverett Saltonstall, with the approval of the Executive Council.

A practicing attorney for 36 years and a member of the firm of Perry, Saunders and Cheney in Boston, he had been an Associate Justice for more than a decade. Earlier in the war he served as chairman of his draft board, just as he did in the first World War. High in Masonry, he is also a trustee of two banks and former moderator of the town of Medway. ◀

Flying in This Man's War ◀ ◀

▶▶ PERIODICALLY and piecemeal, we've tried to tell you of some of the Brunomans who are flying in this man's war. Some of the assignments and exploits have been cited because they were so unusual, others because they were typical.

It occurs to us that the readers may have missed the extent and quality of what Brown aviators are doing. This month we're combining and consolidating a bit, covering all the theatres if we can, in the belief that you'll be impressed the more.

▶ FIRST Brown men to join the "Zero Club" were probably Parker S. Dupouy '39 and David McGovern '37, flight-classmates at Randolph and Kelly Fields. The latter went to England as an Air Forces observer, the former joined Chennault's American Volunteer Group—China-bound.

It wasn't long before Dupouy's name began figuring in the cables about that picturesque AVG. In one action last April when 18 of 27 Japs were shot down, Darrell Berrigan of the UP said, "The star of the action was Parker Dupouy of Seekonk, Mass., who has been in the thick of every big AVG battle over Burma." "Those Americans are just wizards," said an RAF observer. "It was the finest flying I've ever seen." The month before, Daniel DeLuce of the AP told how the engine of a Zero blew up like a firecracker in a dogfight with Dupouy. Then with seven other Japs hunting for shots of him, he had to break off the action and return to the field to reload his guns. Only one bullet penetrated his cockpit, although the whole thing had started when he and one other Flying Tiger jointly attacked a wave of 27 bombers at 13,000 feet. In the famous Christmas Day battle in 1941, Dupouy lost four feet of his Tomahawk's wing while getting his first Zero but returned safely. Liberty Magazine made a lot of that episode and other exploits in two articles last summer. It told of Vice-Squadron Leader Dupouy and 12 others of Hell's Angels Squadron going up after 150 Jap planes, getting at least 40 (at $500 bonus each, the author said). After that one, "Dupouy's P-40 surely looked like a honeycomb." He'd joined the AVG, his mother said, "to get action and be with his friends."

And if David McGovern was received by the King and Queen of England while abroad, Parker Dupouy served as aide to Madame Chiang Kai-Shek and was decorated by the Chinese Nationalist Government at Chungking with the Chinese Blue Banner award. Home to marry Miss Virginia L. Plummer last October, Dupouy found a Selective Service questionnaire waiting for him. More important was word that he had been accepted as test pilot at the Republic Aviation Corporation in New York where the Thunderbolts roll off the production line. These P-47s are quite a jump from the battered planes of Chennault's jungle which a British observer said he wouldn't fly even for a pleasure trip.

▶ SOME of us heard Capt. David McGovern's voice in a broadcast from Australia in July last when Dudley Legit interviewed some flyers of an American pursuit squadron stationed at an advanced base in the southern Pacific. The squadron, first to go into action against the Japs, Legit said, shot down 25 Zeros and several bombers in less than a month, got a number on the ground and damaged a lot more. McGovern said his first enemy plane was "almost a gift": "Tommy Jennison and I were leading a flight and here was a fellow straight ahead of us. We just met and he went down. But my best day was the day Casey took a Zero off my tail and saved my life. Six of us dived into 12 Zeros, and when I got through with them I looked back right into four blazing guns. Right on my tail blazing away was a Zero only 100 yards away. Casey came in and shot him down. When we landed, Casey said those tracer bullets seemed to tie the Zero and my plane right together."

▲
TOM LOHR:
OFLAG 21B

Altogether McGovern got five before he left New Guinea and came home to Providence in 50 flying hours for furlough. But all was not victory. Once he was forced down on a remote stretch of Australian beach when his fuel ran out after a long patrol mission. He was without food or water on that beach for three days. When an Australian plane sighted him, McGovern signalled his acute thirst, and the Aussie flew to a base for water. But when he returned, the tide had come in, making a landing difficult. "But he didn't hesitate a bit. He came right in, and as he landed his fighter plane, one of his wheels caught a wave which made him ground-loop and crash, killing him. As badly as I needed that canteen of water, I could hardly touch it when I realized this fellow had given his life to help me."

After further training in the South, McGovern received his Majority and last month was on the Coast as operational officer of a pursuit group.

▶ SOME fly farther than others. Lt. Joshua Rothstein '41 wrote in April: "I have just returned from a six weeks' overseas trip which took me all through Africa, Arabia, and India. As my plane landed in different parts of the world, I was greeted by a few Brown men who happen to be stationed at far-flung outposts. Among them were Lt. Paul Taylor '41, Operations Officer at an airfield somewhere in India; and Lt. Ralph E. Wagner '36, Operations Officer at a post somewhere in Arabia. Expect to be leaving for another overseas hop any day now. Will be looking forward to reading the ALUMNI MONTHLY upon my return."

Even more impressive is the brief note from Major John C. Henry '27, also accompanying a check for the Alumni Fund. "Since I wrote my 1942 check," he wrote, "I have served seven months overseas with the U. S. Army Air Corps. Two of these months were spent in Russia. During the remainder I touched every continent but Australia and flew 55,000 miles with the Air Transport Command. I found Brown men in several places around the world, including Moscow."

Major Henry is the former Washington newspaperman, President of the White House Correspondents Association when he resigned to enter the service.

► "FOR meritorious achievement" while participating in anti-submarine flights off the Atlantic Coast in 1942, Junior Barney '41 of Longmeadow, Mass., last month received the Air Medal awarded by the War Department. Lt. Barney, well known as a Varsity linesman on the 1938 eleven, had been attached to a Sea Search Squadron as a bombardier in the latter months of his year and a half of service. He came to Brown from Springfield Classical.

► As Brown well knows from its pre-meteorological unit, not all fly who serve our warplanes. But not all describe their work as did Clark T. Foster '40, who said, writing from New York this month: "I shall be commissioned in a few more weeks and then sent to parts unknown to consult local rain gods, rheumatic natives, and the infallible farmer in order to make forecasts for any wandering P-38 that happens to drop in."

► WHEN the Navy finally announced the sinking of the aircraft carrier Hornet, it was learned that Lt. (jg) Kenneth B. White '39 and Lt. (jg) James M. Nestor '41 had been aboard. Although Nestor returned to Providence on furlough earlier in the winter, he did not disclose even to his father, Dr. Michael J. Nestor, City Superintendent of Health, that the ship had been sunk. A naval Reservist while at Brown, Nestor shipped with the Hornet as a deck officer on Jan. 5, 1942.

Lt. White, of Diamond Hill, R. I., had won the Flying Cross for dive-bombing a cruiser in the Battle of Midway. In the Santa Cruz fight he had taken off from the Hornet with other members of his squadron for a bombing mission against the Jap fleet. On his return he found the Hornet under attack and was unable to land, finally coming down on another American carrier.

► ENSIGN Robert William Calhoun '43, named on the Navy's April 14 casualty list as missing, was the star goaltender on Brown University's 1940 soccer team. The son of John William and Irene Dorr Calhoun, he came to Brown from Classical High, Springfield, Mass. An outstanding player in schoolboy soccer, he tended goal for his Freshman team and easily took over the Varsity berth as a Sophomore. His play on a team that was otherwise but average was good enough to win him honorable mention on the all-New England squad for the year. He also swam for Leu Barry as a Freshman swimmer and did some work for the Brown Network. He joined Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

Long interested in aviation, he took C.A.A. work as a student. When he left college after two years, it was to enlist in the Naval Air Corps, taking training at Squantum and Jacksonville.

A fine boy, he lived up to all the high recommendations sent to Brown by those who knew him in Springfield.

► LT. WILLIAM T. HUMPHRIES '40 won the Air Medal for his part in the Africa invasion, but a lot of the excitement came on the ground. Trained as a navigator after signing up in November, 1941, he asked to go with the Army Transport Command, and Iceland was his destination last summer. After a stop in Labrador, they reached Greenland when they had to return because of an insufficient oxygen supply for high altitude flying. In August a cable announced his safe arrival in England.

The flight to Africa at the time of the invasion was the longest massed, unescorted troop-carrier non-stop hop ever achieved by the Army. Humphries' plane was one of those filled with paratroops and reached its objectives with the first of the unit. At the airfield which they were ordered to take, he had to take command and, under enemy fire, hold the position until the tanks arrived. "Never in my life was I so relieved as when I saw our tanks come in sight," he wrote afterward.

Promoted to 1st Lt., Humphries and his crew-mates were chosen to accompany the American Generals on their inspection tour of the North African area. They were royally received, and one high spot was an entertainment given by a sultan. The fliers were detailed to different Generals, the last for Humphries being Patton. Life magazine on March 8 showed him on the steps of Allied headquarters in Eritrea with General Somervell.

But Humphries asked to go back with the squadron. "Shaving twice a day was too much trouble," he wrote.

► LT. MATTHEW J. SOLTYSIAK '40, who hit Hawan "right on the nose" on his first major hop as a navigator, has been hitting the Japs the same way in recent months. The former Brown swimming captain personally accounted for some of the Japs in the big January air victory over New Guinea. Vern Haugland of the Associated Press and Frank Robertson, International

IN THE HOTTEST dog fight New Guinea's seen was Matt Soltysiak. His score—two.

News Correspondent, both described Soltys' part in the battle in their stories of it.

His bomber was high scorer for the day with four Zeros wiped out. Of them Soltysiak and the bombardier shared the destruction of one Jap fighter plane and the damaging of another. Their own plane went home on three motors, with wings, bomb bay, and nose badly battered. Soltysiak and his partner had brought down another Jap in a previous fight, the newspapermen reported.

It was the hottest dog fight ever to take place over the area, according to Robertson. "Allied bomber crews fired many thousand rounds of machine-gun bullets." Haugland spoke of the enemy's use, for the first time, of a new kind of aerial control tower technique. A silver Zero plane hovered 1000 feet above the scene of the air battle, directing the other Jap planes. It never left its "pressbox" to take part in the fight.

Soltysiak keeps right on with his swimming in the South Pacific area, where he has been shooting down Jap Zeros. In a letter to his old coach, E. Leo Barry, written early this year, Matt said: "Had my first swim in two months today. Water very clear, like Florida, but a little too tepid for a cold blooded New Englander." Matt said he was resting by the water while his ship had a new motor put in. "On our last business trip we ran into a little trouble—25 of them—" he went on. "Put my second zero up on the scoreboard in the ensuing battle."

Of one recent letter from Soltys, the censor let just enough through to whet our curiosity. Writing to Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow '24, he said: "Not till the outfit transferred to this field (APO 705, Postmaster, San Francisco) did I read a notice—a bulletin on censorship regulations and about all I am able to say is 'I am happy and hope you are, too.' Nevertheless I will write of a few incidentals that might be of interest. Christmas and New Year's were spent with no revelry to speak of, for most of the outfit was out on one of our frequent business trips and more than likely spent one of the holidays tucked in a fox-hole in safety from enemy raiders."

"One item that should be rewarded with at least a smile (and there follow five whole lines eliminated by the censor's brush) . . . outstanding item on this Jap is the upturned purple baseball cap he wears. Sincerely, Matt."

We'll all have to wait to get the answer on that one.

► "We saw smoke shoot up to a thousand feet, with flames 300 feet high," Lt. Robert Holrick Miller '43 reported after paying a visit to Japanese territory in New Guinea. He was co-pilot of a Bill Mitchel bomber which recently blew up Jap installations, setting huge fires to oil and ammunition dumps and shooting several Zero planes out of the skies.

Miller left Brown University in November, 1941, to take training at Randolph and Ellington Fields, Texas, and won his commission last May.

► THE Jap pilot was dead. That wasn't the most interesting fact. What caught the attention of Lt. Robert B. Downes '27 was a gold souvenir the Jap was wearing. Its inscription said: "Pineapple Bowl, 1-1-40, U. of Hawaii 6, Ore. State 39."

The Shield of Theta Delta Chi reports that Downes has seen much action. He has been awarded a service ribbon with two stars.

► LT. THOMAS LOHR '41, "Little Dynamite" on the Brown football field as an undergraduate, is a prisoner of the Nazis after one adventure too many in Flying Fortresses over Axis territory. One of the first Brunonians to bomb Germany, he made many a raiding flight from England beginning in the spring of 1942. At one time Sgt. Harris Smith '42, who was in the same bombing squadron, wrote: "Tommy is doing a grand job of 'flying the big ones.'"

Transferred to the African front, Lohr made the news stories first the day Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, leader of the Tokyo foray, was a passenger. As the Fortress fought off an attack by three German planes, Tom received a bullet wound in the right arm. Doolittle gave Lohr first aid, helped him away from the controls, and took his place as co-pilot. That was in November, and Tom wrote his family he was saving the bullet as a souvenir.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Recovered from his wound, he was back in active service. On Jan. 18 he was reported missing in action, subsequently listed as a prisoner of the Germans. In his last letter before that ill-fated engagement, he told his sister that he was to receive the Purple Heart and "some citation."

Last month his parents received a characteristic letter from an officers' prison camp in Germany (OFLAG 21B). "You can start planning meals for me when I get back—something which is more likely now than a month ago," Tommy wrote. "I hope every one at home has stood the shock as well as I have and feels as good as I do now."

Tommy, one of Tuss McLaughry's smartest halfbacks—he was really a scatback, he was so small and so fast—may not impress his German guards because of his size. But friends and classmates who know his spirit and courage are confident that Tommy will not be a docile prisoner. If there's a way out, he will find it—and let his captors toss him for a loss if they can.

Fraternities in Wartime

▶▶ AFTER Pearl Harbor there were fears that education for war could find neither time nor space for fraternity life at Brown. However, to date fraternity membership has maintained its traditional 50 per cent hold on college enrollment. At present 50.2% of the undergraduates are either members or pledges of the 16 active Brown chapters. A 30 per cent decline in University enrollment resulted in a similar decline in fraternity membership.

Pi Lambda Phi, though still active, temporarily closed its house at 70 Waterman St. following a February freeze-up. To cut expense five other houses, Delta Phi, Sigma Nu, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi, and Theta Delta Chi, have stopped serving meals in their dining rooms and now eat on a co-operative basis with other fraternities.

Below are the present figures on fraternity enrollment: Beta Theta Pi 31, Lambda Chi Alpha 31, Delta Phi 31, Delta Upsilon 31, Alpha Delta Phi 30, Pi Lambda Phi 29, Sigma Chi 28, Delta Kappa Epsilon 27, Phi Delta Theta 27, Zeta Psi 26, Sigma Nu 24, Phi Kappa Psi 23, Delta Tau Delta 21, Psi Upsilon 21, Phi Gamma Delta 15, Theta Delta Chi 6.

▶ FRATERNITIES were limited to five pledges as they rushed the February Freshmen last month. Commitments announced in the Herald were: Alpha Delta Phi—James Tillotson, 3rd, Warren C. Wilson, D. Carlton Shull, Robert Jahn. Beta Theta Pi—Clifford V. Harding, Jr., William E. Taylor, Maurice Carlson, Walter Kelly, and Upperclassmen Armando Rodrigues, Charles Alfieri, Walter Hay, Elmer Thompson, and R. R. White. Delta Upsilon—Robert S. Messinger, Robert B. Cook, Richard B. Werner, Hugh B. Allison, and Cecil Rhodes. Lambda Chi Alpha—John H. Bateman, William J. Roach, Edward R. Ryan, John D. Roberts, David M. Collins. Phi Delta Theta—Harold I. Chamberlain, Jr., Paul I. Hicks, William R. Rawson, Fredrick Morse, Alfred Rogers, D. Thornton, and Pierce Brereton, Jr., the latter three in second and third semesters. Phi Kappa Psi—Theodore Nelson. Psi Upsilon—Donald D. Dest. Sigma Nu—Manning D. Goldense, Donald J. Dunn. Zeta Psi—Alfred I. Miranda, Willard A. Stephenson, Robert A. Tillinghast, Robert K. McFadden, Donald Moore. Delta Phi—Charles Debler, Strate Coftas, Herbert Barlow, Jr., Frank Kane, and Daniel Fairchild, the last a fourth-semester man.

1916's Second General

▶ To the Class of 1916 goes the rare honor for an academic group of having two Brigadier Generals on active service. First to achieve this rank was Francis W. Rollins, of whose promotion and military career the ALUMNI MONTHLY told in November, 1942. Now comes William Curtis Chase, son of the late Ward B. Chase '85, whom President Roosevelt nominated in March to the temporary rank of Brigadier General in the Army. Both Generals Rollins and Chase belonged to the 103rd Field Artillery—Rhode Island's own—while they were undergraduates.

When he received his A.B. degree in 1916, Gen. Chase was a sergeant in Battery A, 103rd FA, which took part in the Mexican border campaign and went to France as a unit of the 26th (Yankee) Division. Transferring from artillery to cavalry, he advanced in grades in that branch and held the rank of Colonel at the beginning of this war. He is a graduate of both infantry and cavalry schools, the Army War College, and of the Command and General Staff School '31. He has taught military science and tactics at Michigan State College and has served at numerous military posts. News of his promotion to Brigadier General came a few days after his 48th birthday.

Citing Dr. Gamage

▶ IN a citation which also pays a compliment to Brown University, the International Associates have decreed a Diploma of Merit to Dr. Frederick L. Gamage '82, former headmaster of Pawling School, in recognition of 60 years as counsellor, guide and friend of American youth. The citation reads: "In the completion of more than a half-century in personal contact with thousands of American youth, he has illustrated successfully the philosophy of real education, not a pouring-in process, but a drawing-out, e-duco. This predicated two fundamental essentials, character and courage, so worthily displayed in his professional career. Thus he has eminently interpreted his technical and theoretical preparatory studies at Brown University, a necessary foundation on which he has built a notable life career."

25 YEARS AGO this service flag hung from University Hall. Today 3000 stars would be needed.

Brunonians Far and Near ◀ ◀

BY ALFRED H. GURNEY '07

1881

▶ ▶ "IF A PERSON is philosophical and has intellectual interests, old age is a very agreeable time," said former Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes the day before his 81st birthday on April 11. The AP also quoted him as saying, in reference to his age, "You can't beat the calendar," and went on to report that "he reads about six newspapers daily . . . magazine articles on national and international affairs and innumerable books. Not only does he range widely in history and biography but he has read most of the recent best sellers, both fiction and non-fiction." Morgan Brooks paid him a visit recently upon his return from the Southwest.

George B. Brigham's son, Prof. George B. Brigham, Jr., of the College of Architecture, University of Michigan, has been named to the Executive Council of the college in recognition of his work in modern architecture.

The Alumni Office has confirmed the report of the death of Rev. Joseph A. Bailey, retired Baptist minister, in Portsmouth, N. H., March 10, 1942, eight days before his 88th birthday. Rev. Richard D. Pierce, editor of the General Catalogue, 1826-1943, of Newton Theological Institution, has our thanks for his aid in getting this information about our late classmate, who studied at Newton after leaving Brown.

1885

▶ ORRAY TAFT, who gave up his house in Santa Barbara last summer, is living with his son, Orrey Taft, Jr., U. S. Consul at Calexico, Calif., on the border line between California and Mexico.

We record with regret the deaths of two members of the Class—Andrew McCorrie Warren, friend and counselor of scores of Alpha Delta Phi men, in Providence, March 20; and Charles Owen Dexter, mill man, in Sandwich, Mass., April 14, 1943.

1886

▶ THE Alumni Office received word last month that Thomas George Rees had died Jan. 21, 1943. His wife had died in 1941, and his only son, Lt. Col. Malcolm C. Rees, is with the American forces in Africa. Two grandchildren, Malcolm, Jr., and Eleanor Virginia, are with their mother at 51 Orchard St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.

1891

▶ REV. CHARLES A. MEADER, rector emeritus of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, East Greenwich, last month gave a 100-years old bell to Beneficent Congregational Church, Providence, in a brief ceremony tying in with the 200th anniversary celebration of Beneficent (Round Top) Church. The bell originally hung in the tower of East Greenwich Catholic Congregational Church, on the site of which St. Luke's stands today.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Helen Gelsey Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Taylor and our late classmate, Dr. Alfred S. Taylor, to Charles M. Frothingham of Boston, a Harvard graduate. Miss Taylor is a member of the choir of St. Bartholomew's Church, New York.

Abram Mendenhall is the recently ap-

The Pilots' Toothaches

▶ DIVE bombers are a headache to the men they attack. But the fliers who handle the bombers suffer severely from toothache. Which is worse is neither here nor there, but David B. Scott '39 has already begun a study of what causes the toothaches.

Graduate of the Dental School, University of Maryland, he is now in residence at the University of Rochester with his problem to find out—if he can—what is the reason for this new war symptom so that the Army doctors can work out a method to counteract it. Scott will visit air fields, talk with dive bomber pilots first hand, gather all the available data, and then give the problem his whole thought and time. He's a real pioneer, starting from ache, one might say.

pointed adviser and counsel relative to the return of the silver service set used on the old battleship Wisconsin and which will be given the new battleship Wisconsin. "Mendenhall, an authority on old silver," said the Milwaukee Journal news story, "will examine the silverware and make recommendations for its refurbishment as well as for any necessary replacements. . . . For many years he lectured throughout the Middle West on old silverware."

The Pilgrim Press of Boston is issuing "Music in Worship", a book on the principles and practice of church music, by Joseph N. Ashton of Andover, Mass., long recognized as an authority in this field.

1896

▶ DR. GEORGE A. MATTESON'S son, Lt. George A. Matteson, Jr., USNR, was home last month after having served 20 months in the Pacific.

Henry L. Smith is volunteer assistant on the local War Price and Rationing Board in his home town of Wallingford, Pa.

The Alumni Office has confirmed news of the death of Jesse Bell Owen, which occurred in Maplewood, N. J., March 18, 1942. Our late classmate, who came to college from Stonington, Ill., had been in the grain and retail lumber business in his native State throughout his life, and was manager of Owen-Huff Lumber Co., Stonington, previous to his last illness. He had gone to Maplewood to be with his son, who survives, together with a daughter and two brothers.

1897

▶ CHARLES WAYLAND TOWNE and Mrs. Towne, who have been spending the winter and part of the spring in Tucson, Ariz., will soon be heading for their home in Montana. Towne is using his leisure to write another book, material for which he has gathered during his years in the West. In a recent letter to Daniel F. Holmes he said he had been working "four or five hours a day" on it in Tucson, and was "getting on."

Dr. Gregory D. Walcott, Professor of Philosophy at Long Island University, is a member of the 50-year class holding reunion at Worcester Academy this month.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., not only has his Victory garden but has also had 10 acres of his Pocantico Hills, N. Y., estate plowed up for use by his neighbors there. The acres lie along the Sleepy Hollow road, familiar to all of us who know our Washington Irving.

Your Secretary records with regret the death in a Boston hospital March 4, 1943, of Rev. William John Ballou, pastor of the Congregational Church, Chester, Vt., for 23 years and one of Vermont's best loved citizens. "He had the faculty that all men envy of making any class or group of people glad when he entered," said an editorial in the Bellows Falls Times. To Mrs. Ballou and her son, William S. Ballou '25, we give our full sympathy.

1898

▶ GEORGE A. MELLEN is the recently elected treasurer of the Eagle-Tribune Publishing Co., Lawrence, Mass., and of Hildreth & Rogers Co., owners and operators of Radio Station WLAW.

Former President Richard R. Hunter of the Village Board of Scarsdale, N. Y., attended the induction of John K. Starkweather '13 as Mayor of Scarsdale last month and gave him best wishes for a successful term.

1899

▶ IRA M. CUSHING is with E. B. Badger & Sons Co., builders of oil refineries and chemical plants, with his office in Boston and his home at 20 Rawson Rd., Wollaston, Mass. Cushing retired from the Boston Edison Co. in January, 1942, after nearly 19 years of service, and spent the next 10 months with Jackson & Moreland, consulting engineers.

1900

▶ DR. FREDERIC V. HUSSEY'S stepdaughter, Miss Margaret (Peggy) Roblee, is driving a Red Cross mobile canteen on the North African front. She volunteered for the job, well aware of its risks.

1902

▶ S. FOSTER HUNT is president of the Providence Foreign Trade Club, under whose auspices Sir Girga Shankar Bajpai, Agent General for India and Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States, spoke in Alumnac Hall, Pembroke College, March 16, in connection with World Affairs Week.

James B. Littlefield's new law offices are at 740 Hospital Trust Bldg., Providence. One of his associates is Judge Benjamin W. Grim '99.

1903

▶ REV. M. E. VAN NOSTRAND'S son, Rev. M. Eugene Van Nostrand, Jr., is Chaplain, USA, with the rank of 1st Lt., and is stationed at Ft. Ethan Allen, Vt.

Chester H. Briden has retired, a correspondent reports, and is living in Oak Bluffs, Mass., where his mail address is P. O. Box 962.

Lt. F. W. Kinsley, USN, son of Frederic M. Kinsley and graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1935, is executive officer on a destroyer. He has been at sea almost continuously for nearly eight years.

1904

▶ MAJ. EDWARD S. SMITH is officer in charge of Storage and Issue Records at Baton Rouge, La., Engineer Depot, where his mail address is Box 991 Smith, on leave of absence as Professor of Mathematics at the University of Cincinnati, reported in July, 1942, to Ft. Knox, spent a month at Ft. Leonard Wood as Battalion Executive Officer, and then went to the Engineer Supply School at Columbus, O., before assignment to Baton Rouge.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

William Sandager, Jr., has been promoted to Lt., USNR, and is stationed at Norfolk, Va., as a naval aviation ordnance officer.

Arthur Upham Pope has written a biography of Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Ambassador to the United States, which L. B. Fischer Publishing Corp. of New York announces for publication June 16. "Although Mr. Pope has had the advantage of knowing Mr. Litvinoff personally, the biography is, none the less, wholly Mr. Pope's responsibility," the announcement says. Pope at present is chairman of the Committee for National Morale and is giving lectures on the subject of American-Russian relations.

After 26 years as principal of Olean, N. Y., High School, Herbert L. Sackett will retire in June. He's been active in Olean as president of the Little Theatre Guild, and Kiwanis, the Torch Club, and the Olean Men's Club. His son John is a private in the AAF.

1906

MAJ. GEORGE G. SHOR, who held similar rank in the AEF in the First World War, is with the Office of Strategic Services, Washington. He is on leave of absence as director of plan and research of American Weekly, New York.

Miss Natalie Russell Palmer, daughter of the Edward C. Palmers, and Lt. John W. Frost, AAF, of Chestnut Hill, Mass., were married in Sebring, Fla., March 26, 1943. Attending the bride was Miss Nancy Sackett Snow, daughter of the late Arthur C. Snow '07 and Mrs. Snow; and Cpl. Carter Palmer, USA, brother of the bride, was an usher.

Mrs. W. Wilder Burton wrote from Seneca, S. C., early last month that Bill was in the hospital, seriously ill, with three special nurses attending. His health has been poor for several years, and he has had to give up his college teaching. All of us will hope for more favorable news about him before reunion.

Henry R. Hobson was back in Providence last month, visiting old scenes and renewing old acquaintances. First man he met on the street after arrival was Dr. Peter P. Chase, who immediately took him aboard the Chase motor car and to the Rhode Island Hospital for a busy and interesting morning. At The University Club at lunch, Hobson found other Brown men with whom he talked of Brown today and yesterday. He was on the campus several times before returning to New York, where he is at the Phi Gamma Delta Club, 106 West 56th St.

1907

MISS MARY WEALTHY STREETER, youngest daughter of Rev. Merrick L. Streeter and Mrs. Streeter, and Rev. Irving F. Rose were married in Providence, April 5, 1943. Rev. D. C. Tuttle, brother-in-law of the bride, performed the ceremony. Rev. Mr. Rose is pastor of two rural Baptist churches in Rhode Island's South County. In a recent letter from San Francisco, where he is doing special war work, Merrick said:

Back to the Books

AFTER a 30 year wait, says the United Press under a Boston date line, Earle B. Delano '14 is again an undergraduate. In 1912 he left Brown to go into newspaper work. Now at 52, he is enrolled at Boston University as a candidate for a degree. He hopes to teach dramatics and speech when he is graduated. ◀

"Glad to see '07 holds its leading place in the Alumni Fund."

Carl S. Crummett's son, Staff Sgt. Clovis Crummett, is with a service training regiment at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., where Maj. C. W. Way, MC, is on the staff of the Station Hospital. Sgt. Crummett's hobby since boyhood has been photography, and Carl says "he has always wanted to make photography his career."

Claude R. Branch and his family have returned from Jacobs Hill, Seekonk, to live at 9 Stimson Ave., Providence. Claude has recovered from the injury suffered last fall when he was thrown from his horse at Jacobs Hill.

Dr. Ernest S. Reynolds reports a change of address from Webster Groves, Mo., to 667 Park Ave., Meadville, Pa.

The Thomas Laughlin Co., Portland, Me., of which Myron H. S. Afleck is chief engineer of the Engineering Department, recently received the Army-Navy "E" award in recognition of outstanding performance on war work. The Laughlin Co., which makes marine and industrial hardware, is observing this year the 75th anniversary of its founding. It has done work for the Navy for years, and under the current merchant ship program is sending its products to every big shipyard in the country. "We have increased our facilities so that we are turning out now approximately five times the volume of three years ago," Spike told us. "It's a lot of fun, believe me—and work, too!"

Z. Chafee, Jr., Langdell Professor of Law at Harvard Law School, again showed his vigor and versatility as a pamphleteer when in an article in the Providence Sunday Journal of April 18 he backed the Government in its suit against The Associated Press for alleged violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. Taking the other side was Prof. Frederick S. Siebert, Director of the School of Journalism, University of Illinois. The Sunday Journal played up the feature as "a controversy" and spoke of "two provocative papers... on a pending case that will make legal and journalistic history." The foreword described our classmate as "a leading exponent of liberalism, in the old fashioned meaning of the word—that is, deep concern with civil liberties."

Dr. Asa Sheldon Briggs's son, Sheldon A. Briggs '37, has gone into the Naval Reserve as Ensign.

1908

"If We Want More Food" was the three-column title of a forthright letter on the editorial page of the New York Herald Tribune, March 5. Writer was our own successful dirt farmer, George D. Taylor of Stamford, N. Y. "If we are serious about food, let us arrange our perspective and put first things first," said George, who gave facts and figures and set them forth in his trenchant style. Let the Government tell the farmer, he said, as it has told industry and labor, that "we want food and we are willing to pay enough so that you can afford to push production—put on a swing shift, but get production rolling," and the farmer would respond. "We now have the necessity," George concluded. "Add to that the magic touch of profit, and we could have another magnificent result. It is worth a try."

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Hotchkiss of Great Neck, L. I., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jean Hotchkiss, to Lt. John J. O'Connor, Jr., USA, son of former Representative John J. O'Connor and Mrs. O'Connor of New York. Miss Hotchkiss attended Wheaton College. Lt. O'Connor prepared at Phillips Academy, Exeter, for Dartmouth.

John G. Canfield is Regional Educational Director for P. F. Collier & Son Corp., with his house and mail address at 43 West 32nd St., New York.

Dr. W. W. Browne is giving a course in food sanitation in connection with the Division of Public Service Training, College of the City of New York. Bill, who is one of our best Alumni Fund agents, is also head of the program committee of the New York City Branch, Society of American Bacteriologists, and an active figure in Civilian Defense, too.

1909

LT. COMDR. WILLIAM DAVIS MILLER, USNR, has been re-elected a Vice-President of the Blue Cross of Rhode Island, which has paid approximately $625,000 in hospital bills and has provided care for 13,000 patients including 1500 maternity cases since it began operation in September, 1939.

The late Harold R. Curtis's daughter, Marjorie Elizabeth (Curtis) Staples, has our sympathy in the loss of her husband, Ens. Parker W. Staples, USNR, commander of a PT boat, who was killed in action in the Pacific late in the winter. Ensign Staples was a graduate of Rutgers '39, and a star on the Rutgers football and baseball teams. The Staples were married May 16, 1942. Mrs. Staples is living with her mother at 254 Lenox Ave., Providence.

Charles E. Hughes, Jr., last month appeared in the United States Supreme Court to argue against the "death sentence" in the 1935 Public Utility Company Holding Act, requiring interstate electric and gas holding companies to limit operations to a "single integrated" system. Charlie is attorney for North American Co., which contends that the section of the law including the "death sentence" is unfair and unconstitutional.

Dust of Africa

E. BURROWS SMITH, who received his advanced degree with the Brown Class of 1939, has another kind of dust to contend with in Africa. His mother sends the University excerpts from his letters which tell how, aside from his official duties, he is conducting French classes in the evenings for the soldiers. "Which means that I am tied up most evenings with irregular verbs and chalk dust."

"This would be an excellent place in which to vegetate in peacetime," he adds. ◀

Herb Sherwood's daughter Caroline was married April 6 to Benjamin T. Peck, 3rd.

Mose Crossley continues his good work in research and publication of the results thereof. Two articles appeared in the February issue of Archives of Biochemistry.

1910

► BILLY LYNN, playing the part of Tobias Twitch in Broadway's "Something for the Boys," is once more with a real hit and is consequently enjoying it. "Twitch is a Texas refugee," said Ed Sullivan in his column, Little Old New York, "a sly and malicious little man who knows why Ethel Merman is a walking radio set, but refuses to tell her. . . . The nasal tenor of William Lynn is ideal casting for the Twitch part, and you'll remember him as the hero of 'Three Men on a Horse,' the mild little writer of holiday greeting cards who also picks race track winners. . . . In the Merman show Brown University's Lynn is not frustrated, but a frustrator. . . . On any contest, he'd run away with the Best Supporting Performance of 1943."

Albert J. O'Connor is District Supervisor for Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., in East Pittsburgh, and is living at 808 Hill Ave., Wilkensburg, Pa.

The Benjamin Dwight Millers have announced the recent marriage of their daughter, Doris Rice Miller, Colby Junior College '39, to Harry Norris Forman '35, University of Wisconsin, at the Union Church in Waban, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Forman live in Waterbury, Conn.

1911

► WENDELL R. SWINT admits that his job as "Director of Foreign Relations for the DuPont Company has lost something in geographical scope during the past two years, but he added complexity affecting the remainder keeps me a little busier than ever. Before and after business hours and over week ends I'm trying to produce twice as much milk and 10 times as many hogs as last year." Swint is in Wilmington, Del., you know, with his office in the DuPont Building.

C. C. Maxson is with the U. S. Navy, supervising materials at the yards of Tampa Shipbuilding Co. His mail address is 608 Wensington Drive, Lakeland, Fla.

1912

► IN its column "It Happened Just 25 Years Ago" the Woonsocket Call on March 27 said: "Dr. John J. Gilbert has been commissioned 1st Lt. Medical Corps, USR. Lt. Gilbert has been assigned to the New London Base Hospital, where he will specialize in the eye and ear." John is now practicing in Providence, with his office at 209 Angell St.

William H. Dinkins is completing his eighth year as President of Selma University, Selma, Ala., where he has served as Acting President and as Executive Officer. He is also editor of The Selma University Chronicle.

1913

► WILLIAM M. HOWE and Mrs. Howe are at home at 35 Birch St., Marblehead, Mass., and Bill is back again with General Electric in Lynn after 15 years in the Chicago office of the company. He started with GE in Lynn right after his graduation from Brown in 1913.

W. Arnold White writes: "I have been temporarily located in Charlestown, W. Va., since February, 1942. Working as project engineer with Ford, Bacon & Davis,

DR. GEORGE RICE HOVEY '82, long President of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, whose death is mourned. Photo, courtesy the Watchman-Examiner.

Inc., on a butadiene plant for the Defense Plant Corp., one of the largest units in the synthetic rubber program." The Charles-town address of the Whites is 307 River-view Terrace.

Dr. Harold C. Tooker is the new Associate Medical Director of Linden, N. J., Division, Eastern Aircraft, General Motors Corp. Report is that Hal, successful as a practising physician, took over his present post in order to do his part in the war.

Norman S. Taber has been making a financial survey of the city of Newport, where the population has doubled since the war began.

Dr. Louis I. Newman spoke on "Peace and Then What" at the last meeting on March 31 of the public forum held in Tompkinsville under the auspices of the United Jewish Communal Organization of Staten Island.

Prof. Walter H. Snell is again serving as president of the Audubon Society of Rhode Island.

1914

► MAJ. C. L. BAGNALL, QMC, is on duty at the Office of the Quartermaster General in Washington.

Maj. F. R. (Fritz) Hazard, AAF, is out of the stamp business, at least for the duration, as he has sold his interest in the stamp store in Providence in which he was a partner.

Lt. Comdr. Paul P. Henson, MC, USN, is getting his mail in care of Navy 8245, Fleet P. O., San Francisco, Calif., Carl A. Terry '15 tells us. Henson, who practised medicine in Hyannis, Mass., before joining the Navy, would be glad to hear from classmates and others, Terry added.

Chester A. Files, somewhere in the Southwest Pacific area with the field artillery, has been promoted to Colonel. Chet trained with the 43rd Division at Camp Blanding, Fla.

Dr. Edward A. McLaughlin, State Director of Health, is President of the Rhode Island Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

Alexander (Larry) Gardiner asks that his mail be sent to One Park Ave., New York, where he helps edit The American Legion Magazine. "Missed too many notices from the Brown University Club in New York when my mail went to my home, 279 Sturges Rd., Fairfield, Conn.," Larry said.

1915

► CHARLES M. CLEGG's son, Charles (Chuck) Clegg, Jr., is Radio Technician, USNR. "One of this department's more reliable Federal city undercover agents," Lucius Beebe described him in the column "This New York" in the New York Herald Tribune, and told Chuck's lively story of "the head clock winder at Garfinckel's celebrated specialty store in Washington." Chuck was a Garfinckel executive before going into the Naval Reserve.

Henry F. Drake is State Fire Instructor with the Office of War Training Programs, New York State War Council. He's a fellow resident of President Roosevelt in Dutchess County.

1916

► RICHARD W. ROWAN, one of the country's foremost authorities on spies, saboteurs and espionage, spoke in mid-March at the Bridgeport, Conn., Sunday Evening Community Forum on "The Story of the Secret Service."

The Paul B. Metcalfs' son, Paul B. Metcalf, Jr., and Miss Camilla Leonard White, daughter of Comdr. James C. White, USN, and Mrs. White, were married in Boston, March 5, 1943. Paul was his son's best man. Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf will live at 38 Joy St., Boston, until Mr. Metcalf finishes his course at Harvard Medical School.

Herman M. Davis's son, Robert P. Davis, is a member of the Freshman Class at Brown, having entered in February of this year. He is enrolled in VI-G, USNR.

Col. H. Stanford McLeod, FA, and Lt. Col. Guy W. Wells, MC, held reunion in North Africa not long ago, Charlie Hill says. Neither Stan nor Guy had any idea that the other was in the neighborhood; so the meeting was as much of a surprise as it was a pleasure.

1917

► DR. CLARENCE H. WOODMANSEE is medical examiner for the 5th District Induction Headquarters, Providence.

Russ Tomlinson has the sympathy of the Class in the loss of his mother, Mrs. Emily Moss Tomlinson, who died in Providence, April 10. Mrs. Tomlinson had been a member of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church for 70 years and was a past president of Providence Post, Ladies Auxiliary, American Legion.

Dr. Francis H. Swett, Professor of Anatomy in Duke University Medical School, who died suddenly in his office on the Duke campus, February 10, 1943, was a native of Norway, Me., a graduate of Bates College, and an authority, the Duke Alumni Register said, "in the fields of experimental embryology and regeneration." Yale awarded him the Ph.D. degree in 1922. He taught at Tufts, Johns Hopkins and Vanderbilt Medical Schools before going to Duke in 1930. He took his A.M. at Brown while we were receiving our Bachelor degrees.

1918

► A/C MARK FARNHAM, JR., AAF, son of Mark Farnum of Georgiaville, took his early pre-flight training at Atlantic City, N. J.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

1919

► COMDR. PAUL S. CRANDALL, USN, is on active sea duty. His mail address is 685 Oberlin Ave., Berkeley, Calif.

Edward S. Porter is doing outstanding work in the Probation Department of New York's Court of General Sessions. Ed is Deputy Chief Probation Officer in the Division of Supervision, and is a recognized authority in his field.

Rev. Robert L. Weis is minister of the First Universalist Church, Harrisville, where he lives at One Steere St.

1920

► STANFORD L. LUCE is a volunteer officer at headquarters of the First Fighter Command, USA, at the Boston Control Center. He's standing regular watches, ruining sleep to some degree, and once a week patrols Boston harbor for a 12-hour night stretch as a Coast Guard Auxiliary. His son, Stanford, Jr., has joined Omicron Deuteron of Theta Delta Chi, Stan's fraternity, and his daughter Bette, the Class baby, is now happily married. Stan is secretary of the Wool Association of the New York Cotton Exchange.

Harold W. Lord is a new member of the Executive Committee of the Metuchen, N. J., Chapter, American Red Cross.

Robert A. Bogle, partner in the law firm of Swift, Buffinton, Crossley, Crowther & Bogle, reports a change of house address to 1915 Roberson St., Fall River.

Albert E. Lownes' treasured collection of rare books and first editions had a write-up all its own in the hobby section of the Providence Sunday Journal of March 28. Illustrating the story were excellent pictures of Al and his daughter Carol in the Lownes library at 16 Barberry Hill, and of pictures from some of the rarest books. Al began collecting 20 years ago; today he has "one of the finest private collections in the country." Books on science and technology are his special hobby, but "priceless volumes of almost every subject imaginable have joined the ranks," the Sunday Journal writer said.

Harry J. Graham is banker by day and part-time war worker by night. A fine picture of him appeared in the Providence Sunday Journal, March 14 carrying this caption: "While the sun is up he's assistant manager of the Woonsocket branch of the Industrial Trust Company. Come sunset he moves behind another desk in the Taft-Peirce office." Taft-Peirce is one of Rhode Island's big manufacturing plants engaged in 100 per cent war work.

Robert A. Kingsley is headmaster of Chestnut Hill Academy, Chestnut Hill, Pa., an old and well established school in which he has been teaching modern languages since 1927.

1921

► GEORGE MACREADY played the part of the schoolmaster in "Commandos Strike at Dawn," one of Hollywood's recent war films. Isn't this George's first break away from the stage to the "flicks"?

1922

► BLAIR MOODY of the Washington office of The Detroit News broke into the pages of The Saturday Evening Post this spring with a lively and altogether readable article, "Mr. Smith Doubles for Roosevelt." Blair's first book, "Boom or Bust," has had a good sale, and his newspaper column, "The Low-down on Washington," is one of the best of its kind. His son, Blair, Jr., is 14.

1923

► REV. WILLARD F. JOHNSON, new pastor of South Baptist Church, Worcester, Mass., is living at 597 Park Ave. in Worcester.

The Jacobs Press of Clinton, S. C., is publisher of "Handbook for Clubwomen," which the Winthrop Munros have written and of which we told in the March issue of the ALUMNI MONTHLY. "A concise, well written volume on a subject that holds the interest of most educated women today," said the reviewer of the Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser. "It belongs in the files of every constructive women's organization in the community."

1924

► CAPT. M. M. (Molly) MEIER, Fighter Command, APO 695, Postmaster, New York, told in a letter to Bruce Bigelow what he had been doing since leaving Harrisburg,

E. R. JOSLYN '23, retiring President of the Connecticut Valley Brown Club. The Equitable Agency items used this picture in its March issue along with announcement that Joslyn had for a second time qualified as a "Group Millionaire".

Pa., where Bruce wrote him: "Spent a few weeks in Washington and then on down here. Very tropical, very unChristmashike, very much fun, but very much lacking in real excitement at the moment. Just the place for me to polish off the theoretical rough spots through practical application, and we all live in hope of moving to the real thing—and soon."

John Monk has joined Lincoln Printing Co., 732 Sherman St., Chicago, and the company's announcement speaks of his "long experience and creative ability" in advertising and printing production. A recent note from Jack himself echoed satisfaction that "Brown seems to be taking the war in stride all right."

Ernest F. Schmultz is with Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. in Newport, where he lives at 33 Ayrault St.

James H. Barrett's wife, Kay Brown, was recently the subject of an AP feature story as the only woman Executive Vice-President in motion pictures. Eastern representative for David O. Selznick, she bought "Gone With the Wind" and "Rebecca" for the screen. She scouts for promising talent, helps in casting, and does other duties "with dispatch and efficiency that would do credit to a male tycoon." She's a graduate of Wellesley, has two daughters, Linda and Kate, and is proud of the fact that she never lets her professional work interfere with her home life.

Pvt. Ivan Half's family received word on March 20 of his safe arrival "at a destination in the Middle East."

Stuart D. Goulding, who did public relations for Rheem Mfg. Co. when that concern was running the shipyard at Field's Point, Providence, is continuing his work for Rheem at the company's Washington office.

Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow (always in demand) was the speaker at the assembly last month at Gorton High School, Warwick, when 11 Seniors were admitted to the Rhode Island Honor Society. Bruce's subject was "Curiosity," which he himself has always had a lot of.

1925

► "ON the way somewhere soon. Have been teaching in an Army Medical School, but want to see action," wrote Capt. E. Wade Bishop, MC, from the South, the last week in March.

Lt. Comdr. Norman V. Ballou, USNR, is Chief of Staff at the Naval Operating Base, Newport.

Maj. Arthur G. Rogers, CWS, is reported to be overseas. Rogers, who went from Brown to Harvard, graduating from there in 1926, was former teacher and coach at Lynn, Mass., Classical High School.

Wesley Davis, Yeoman, 3c, USNR, is at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, where he hopes to enter officer candidate school. Beyond the draft age, married, and the father of three children, he left his $6,500 a year post with New York State Supreme Court Justice George E. Brower to enlist. "He was my secretary for seven years," said Justice Brower, "and I found him a very valuable and capable man." Davis is a graduate of St. John's Law School, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Richard H. Anthony is working at the Appliance Plant, Sylvania Electric Products, Ipswich, and lives at 8 Crosby Ave., Beverly, Mass.

The Joseph Kaplans now have two children—Mindelle, who will be 8 next October, and Stanley Martin, who was born Sept. 16, 1942. Kaplan, practising lawyer since 1932, has his offices at 67 West 44th St., New York, and he and his growing family live at 615 Ft. Washington Ave.

Capt. Mortimer R. Salmon, DC, USA, died of a heart attack at the Army post on Governor's Island, N. Y., May 20, 1942. The belated news came to the Alumni Office a short time ago. Our former classmate was a graduate of the School of Dentistry, New York University, in 1926. He was in private practice six years before going into industrial dentistry, in which he had been successful. Mrs. Salmon and a son survive.

1926

► MAJ. ARTHUR S. HASSELL, FA, is with the American Army in North Africa. He left Providence early this year, after graduating from the Command and General Staff School, Ft. Leavenworth, in November, 1942.

Maj. Horace S. Mazet, USMC, on duty at the Marine Corps Air Station, Mojave, Calif., wrote early in April: "Just received word of a sale to This Week about the air war in China, and yesterday learned that my adolescent adventure book, 'Tigers of the Sea,' is to appear serially in a magazine called Boys' Today—my first fiction sale! A couple of articles recently to Flying and Air Trails also keep the presses hot. . . . Best to all the old gang."

Dr. Anthony E. Peters is head of the emergency medical organization in Portsmouth, N. H., where he has been practicing since 1939. He's X-ray chief at Portsmouth Hospital, president of Portsmouth Medical Society, and is counselor of the Radiological Society of North America in New Hampshire.

Matthew W. Goring is associated with Claude R. Branch '07 in the practice of law at 1042 Hospital Trust Bldg., Providence.

1927

▶ LT. ABRAHAM HELLER, AAF, is stationed in Alaska, according to a note from his brother Sam '28.

Dr. Edward M. J. Pease has been named head of the Department of Mathematics at Rhode Island State College, where he has been on the Faculty since 1936. During the past year he has been acting chief of the Department of Electrical Engineering.

Walter V. Brown is the active public relations supervisor for American Tel. & Tel. Co., in New York for a nine-months period. He's living at the New York Athletic Club.

Sherman Dennis, Jr., reports he will go on active duty in June, 1943. "I am a member of the Electronics Training Group, U. S. Signal Corps," he wrote. "Left my job six months ago to study at the RCA Institutes in New York." He's been married since last February, and his house address is 702 Pennington St., Elizabeth, N. J.

2nd Lt. Kirtland J. Keve wrote in mid-March he was attached to the Medical Section, QM Depot, Savannah, Ga. Keve, who left Brown at the end of Freshman year, won his law degree in 1929 at New Jersey Law School, and had been practicing law in New York.

Dr. Harry J. Degenhardt has changed his address from Long Island City to 8216 34th Ave., Jackson Heights, N. Y., and Earle E. Eldridge is getting his mail in care of Press Wireless, Inc., Hicksville, N. Y.

1928

▶ LT. ERNEST B. DANA, AAF, has been on duty at the Air Force Administrative School, Miami Beach, Fla., most of the spring. Headmaster of the Conant School, East Jaffray, N. H., he took the aeronautics course at State Teachers' College, Plymouth, last summer. Mrs. Dana will spend the summer with her parents on Hardy Hill, Lebanon, N. H.

Our announcement that John C. Hamilton was in the Army "is for the present incorrect." Sorry, John said, and so are we for the premature news. John is with the

Cliff for Short

▶ CLIFFORD AND CLIFTON GUSTAFSON, the look-alike twins, are knee deep in officer training at the Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn. The Providence Bulletin had a grand picture of the twins with the title "Reading from Left to Right—or Right to Left," and the battle cry we all know: "Call me Cliff for short." Now their Coast Guard teachers are trying to tell them apart.

A Hospital up from Orange Crates

▶ ▶ WHEN Lt. Col. Guy W. Wells, MC, '16 had his picture taken in North Africa with Martha Raye of the movies, he got a copy and immediately mailed it home to Mrs. Wells in Providence so there would be no misunderstanding. He sent a letter, too, saying that Miss Raye "put on a rip-roaring one woman show at the hospital" and that she was as funny a comedian as he had seen. He told how his hospital, "built from a few nails, pieces of bailing wire, and lumber from orange crates," was growing, and made pointed comment on the arrogance and cruelty of the Germans toward the native population. "The German way of life and culture, as they call it, is archaic and useful chiefly for the ashcan," he concluded.

He also urged more letters from home to the fighting men. "Hardships don't mean much," he wrote, after praising the ingenuity of the American soldiers, "but letters from home mean a lot. The day is made for the General down to the buck private when a letter from home comes in the day's mail."

Research Department, McCann Erickson Advertising Agency, 50 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, but he wants mail sent to his home, 55 Maolis Ave., Bloomfield, N. J.

Capt. John G. Getz, Jr., AUS, is doing special work for the Price Adjustment Board, War Department, with his office at 3D-631 Pentagon Bldg., and his apartment at 2127 California St., N. W., Washington.

Roger M. Scott is chief engineer for New England Butt Co., with which he has been associated since leaving Brown. Married in January this year to Miss Charlotte A. Champlin, he and Mrs. Scott are settled at 108 Charles Field St., Providence.

Although baseball scouts are trying to persuade Irving (Bump) Hadley to return to the big leagues, Bump said recently he would stick to radio broadcasting unless he had an offer he could not conscientiously turn down. If the Fraser Stars of Lynn, for which he pitched last season, field a team again this year, he will sign with them.

Dr. Frederick Behrendt, now Lt., USNR, has been assigned to a battleship, he said in a note last month to give his permanent address in care of L. B. Codington, South St., Murray Hill, N. J. Fred is in the Dental Corps.

Frank Singiser, news commentator with WOR, gave the introduction and the narration throughout to "Victory Short," a film about the Air Corps. "Frank has done a good job," was the comment of our correspondent who saw the film.

Irving Harris of Harcourt-Harris, photographers in New York, applied for commission in the USNR early in the year, and March 23 he wrote: "Yesterday I took my IQ tests, had a final interview, and now I am told that I have to sit back and just wait. So here I am waiting."

New address for Charles W. Battle—he moved from New York at February's end—is 111 Pemberton Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

1929

▶ CAPT. BRADFORD A. CLARK is attending the New Division Officers' Course, Field Artillery School, Ft. Sill, Okla. He went to Ft. Sill last month from Camp White, Ore. Before joining the Army he was a chemist for the City of Providence, where he lived at 61 Atlantic Ave.

Win Bucklin wrote last month: "Am still in the Canal Zone, being unable to get a release to go North. However, I still hope to go as far as Central America before long to work on a defense project."

1930

▶ ED SITTLER enlisted in February as a Voluntary Officer Candidate. Mrs. Sittler has gone to Akron, O., to live with her brother, and Ed's sister Ruth is with the Red Cross in Maine. His younger sister is secretary to the manager of Radio Station WSJV, Washington. Ed closed his letter to me with the remark he hoped he would be sent to New England for training.

Phil Lingham is a buyer for Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., in Lima, O., and his house address is 4 East Silver St., Wapakoneta (sounds like a college yell), near Lima.

"Bucky" Aldrich is busily engaged with his hardware store in Edgewood, R. I. His home address is 100 Norwood Ave., Edgewood. "Bucky" reports a son was born May 14, 1942, and named William Pine Aldrich. Those of you who knew him well may remember that "Bucky" married Prof. Henry B. Huntington's charming and efficient secretary, Elizabeth Pine. Hence the Pine in the title of the younger Aldrich.

A card from Bob Albisser tells us he is a safety engineer, and lives at 629 Shackamaxon Drive, Westfield, N. J.

Henry Adams, who took his M.A. at Brown in 1932, reports he is teaching U. S. History at Columbia High School, Maplewood, N. J. The most recent news in his family is the arrival of a second daughter, Karen, born Dec. 21, 1942. Henry has another daughter, Marcia, who is three years old.

While I was in New York recently, I inquired about Don Jordan who is with Best & Co. I found he was busy with his advertising work, and was sorry not to see him.

Bill Bennett is now located at 6505 Fulton St., Chevy Chase, Md. The American Brass Co. transferred him from the main office in Waterbury, Conn., to the Washington office. Bill reports the birth of a daughter, Marsha, Nov. 7, 1942. He has two sons, Bruce, six, and Barry, three. Bill adds that if anyone around Washington has a moment some time, he wishes they would look him up. . . . I hope Tod Shotten sees this note.

Curtis Brace, alias Albie Booth, Jr., is in the Army, stationed at Ft. Wallace, Tex.

1st Lt. Alfred N. Henschel, currently chief chemist of Clearwater Mfg. Co., Clearwater, S. C., is squadron commander CAP, Unit 442-1, Augusta, Ga., and instructor in safety engineering in the ESMWT course at the University of South Carolina. Al does his teaching at night and has classes in air navigation and the like. He has three sons, Al, Jr., Paul Sherwood, and John Kent, and we are sure they will head toward Brown in due time.

Lt. (jg) Aaron H. Roitman, USNR, looked in at the Alumni Office not long ago to tell us he is at the Amphibian Training Base, Chesapeake Bay "running a ferry service for the Army." During his indoctrination at Princeton he had two other

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Brown men in his class. Lts. (jg) John G. Akin '34 and Samuel H. Bryant '28.

Ens. Robert H. Rosenberg, USNR, has been commissioned at Boston and classified CC-V(S).

Metcalf Walling, administrator of the Public Contracts and Wage and Hour Divisions, U. S. Department of Labor, came back to his native New England in March to tell manufacturers of Western Massachusetts about the effects of recent wage orders on wartime production and to discuss in particular, the Springfield News said, "the provisions of the Walsh-Healy Act." The meeting was held at the Hotel Kimball, Springfield.

HAL CARVER

1931

► LT. W. F. MURPHY, MC, USNR, is the psychiatrist with Naval Mobile Hospital No. 9, Naval Medical Supply Depot, Brooklyn, N. Y., "after a very pleasant year and three months at Newport, R. I."

Maj. Ralph D. Richardson, MC, USA, is at Camp Edwards, Mass. Ralph left these parts early in the winter to join the 136th Station Hospital in Texas, stayed two days, and headed North again to Edwards and New England.

W/O John M. Moler, Hq. 7th CA, Ft. Tilden, N. Y., is working in Regimental Headquarters as Assistant Adjutant, "and will probably remain there," he said in a letter dated April 9, reporting his promotion to Warrant Officer. "We are in-between," John added, answering our query about warrant officers. "We are not enlisted men and not full-fledged commissioned officers. The Army Regulation says we are officers, and are entitled to all the privileges and courtesies of all officers." He also told us the men at the post were planning Victory gardens and that he had been designated as "head greenhouse man to prepare seedlings for transplanting."

Ernest S. Hawkinson has been named assistant to the traffic manager of Pan-American Airways at its eastern division headquarters, Miami, Fla. Ernie has been with the air line six years.

Lt. (jg) William M. Mackenzie, USNR, is at Ft. Schuyler, N. Y., for indoctrination. Bill left his law practice in mid-March and was sworn in at Boston.

Dick Day became Lt. (jg) Richmond A. Day, USNR, the first week in April. He's classified SC-V(S).

Ernest G. Hapgood, Jr., is with Frank H. Baxter Associates, managers of manufacturers associations, with his office at 370 Lexington Ave., and his apartment at 31 East 39th St., New York, a few doors from the Brown Club.

Leslie Eaton, Jr., is a supervising engineer for Curtiss Wright and Wright Aero plants in New Jersey. His new house address is 114 Hillside Ave., Verona, N. J.

Dave Cameron, member of the city staff of the Providence Journal, had a feature story in the March 14 issue of the Providence Sunday Journal about the Rhode Island Cash Sickness Insurance Program, the first of its kind to be tried out in this country.

1932

► LT. JOHN R. CAULKINS, AAF, "has reached his destination," his wife wrote March 7, after having received official word, as well as a cable from Jack. Mrs. Caulkins' address is 786 East 35th St., Brooklyn, N. Y., and Jack's is APO 3506, Postmaster, New York.

James H. Kenney, Jr., has been commissioned Lt. (jg), USNR, and classified A-V(S) at Boston.

Bob Hutton is assistant hull superintendent of Bethlehem Steel Co., Shipbuilding Division, Quincy, and lives at 8 Lincoln Heights, East Braintree, Mass.

Capt. Irving A. Beck, MC, USA, writing in March from somewhere in India to J. S. Temkin '26, said "we are located in jungle, but are not isolated. . . I am writing this by the light of a kerosene lantern with a headnet on. In the background I can hear the chatter of monkeys, all kinds of wild bird cries, and the continual tom-tom of the natives' drums, which never seem to stop and which remind you of the 'Emperor Jones'. In the distant background are sounds I hope are thunder." Beck went out with an evacuation hospital unit from Rhode Island.

Among the officers of the Evacuation Hospital are: Lt. Col. Herman A. Lawson '20, Chief of Medical Service; Capt. Walter S. Jones '26, Detachment Commander; Capt. Robert G. Murphy '28, Ward Physician, pictured in a recent news photo with natives and pith helmet; Capt. John S. Dziob '30, Assistant Surgeon; 1st Lt. Milton Korb '31, Assistant Neurosurgeon; Capt. Irving A. Beck '32, Chief of Laboratory Service; Capt. Edward Damarjian '32, Anesthetist; Major Abraham J. Meister '32, Executive Officer; Capt. Edward R. Squier '32, Dental Surgeon; and 1st Lt. Hubert Holdsworth '36, Ward Surgeon.

Jack Walsh is back in Providence as an executive of Walsh-Kaiser Corp., which has taken over the Rheem Mfg. Co. shipyard at Field's Point and is completing Liberty ships begun by Rheem before building a fleet of DE (convoy) ships—a new type combining the best features of a small destroyer and a corvette. Jack has been so busy since his arrival at the end of February that he hasn't had a chance to meet up with any of the '32 men still in Providence. He and Mrs. Walsh and their two sons are living in the Rosedale Apts., 1180 Narragansett Blvd., Cranston, not far from the shipyard. Jack's Uncle Tom is Henry J. Kaiser's partner in the corporation.

A. C. Fleuriel is a party chief for E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., Newport, Ind., and lives on Park Ave., North Terre Haute, Ind., he reports.

"My son, Dr. Joseph M. Zucker is somewhere in New Guinea," wrote Mrs. Mary E. Zucker March 25, enclosing a check on Joe's behalf for the Brown Alumni Fund.

"A great fellow and a regular guy," was Paul Mackesey's estimate of Clark Gable, former screen star, who was graduated in the same class with Paul at the AAF's Administrative Officer Candidate School, Miami Beach, Fla. Gable spoke for the graduating class. Paul, now Lt. Mackesey, entered the Army in February, 1941, and was Sergeant of a medical detachment at Westover Field, Mass., when he was named for OCS at Miami Beach.

Lt. (jg) T. Dexter Clarke, USNR, having shaken the snows of Hanover and Dartmouth from his shoes, is now at the NAS, Melbourne Beach, Fla.

1933

► CHARLIE WHITAKER and Mrs. Whitaker, interned by the Japanese in Manila, were well and safe, according to a cable the first week in March. The good news, the first to come since last September, was sent through the International Red Cross in Switzerland.

Andy Rougvie, Jr., wrote in mid-March: "On the 3rd of this month I completed my first six weeks in the AAFOCS at Miami Beach, Fla. The same day I left Miami Beach for Boston, and will finish my last half of OCS at the AAF Statistical School at Harvard. I'll be assigned to duty as a Statistical Operations Officer when commissioned." Andy hoped to get an overseas assignment.

Pfc. Bernard Cohen is reported to be at the Army Administration School, Huntsville, Tex.

Warren A. Miller has said it all in one sentence: "This is to notify you that I was forced to sell out my business, and I expect to enter the Army this week." The letter came March 12 from Fort Edward, N. Y., where Warren has been successfully running Miller's 5-cent to $1.00 Department Store, a member of the Ben Franklin League of Retail Stores.

Dr. Carl Lennart Carlson was ordained as deacon of the Protestant Episcopal Church by Rt. Rev. James DeWolf Perry, D.D. '12, honorary, Bishop of Rhode Island, at the Cathedral of St. John, Providence, March 3. Carlson, who has been teaching American literature at Colby College, will be deacon in charge of Calvary Church, Pascoag, where he has been serving as lay missionary since last fall.

Rev. Read Chatterton has written to ask about plans for our Tenth Reunion. Class Secretary Bill Gilhane has his inquiry, and Bill will probably have some announcement to make by the time this paragraph appears in print.

Providence National Bank

ESTABLISHED 1791

100 Westminister Street

CAPITAL $1,500,000
SURPLUS $2,000,000

OFFICERS

Thomas L. Pierce, Chairman of the Board
Rupert C. Thompson, Jr., President
George P. Buell, Vice President and Cashier
William H. Swift, III, Vice President and Secretary
Charles L. Eddy, Assistant Cashier
Henry H. Eddy, Assistant Cashier
Benjamin H. Cate, Assistant Cashier
Charles M. Smith, III, Trust Officer
Harry B. Freeman, Trust Officer
B. H. Lillibridge, Assistant Trust Officer

Directors

William Gammell, Jr. John B. Lewis
Moses J. Barber Charles C. Marshall
Edward P. Jastram Richmond Viall
A. Livingston Kelley Maxwell C. Huntoon
Wilson G. Wing Charles E. Rigby
Thomas L. Pierce William S. Allen
William L. Sweet Robert J. Beede
Frederick T. Moses Rupert C. Thompson, Jr.
Alfred Buckley

Member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

The Boxer Benefited

► ANTOINE SINGSEN '38 had an unusual item to use recently in his work as boss of the department of public information for the Connecticut Plan for Hospital Care. As he told Dan Mulvey, New Haven Evening Register sports columnist a Connecticut boxer left the ring with a broken jaw not long ago. The casualty found that $39 of his $45 expenses were paid for under the Hospital Plan. It was apparently "the first time a boxer hurt in a bout had benefited from such a scheme." ◀

Sergt. Maurice T. Taylor, QMC, is with a service unit at Ft. Wadsworth, Staten Island, N. Y., in charge of the clothing and equipage warehouse.

J. McCall Hughes, officer of Mercantile-Commercial Bank & Trust Co., St. Louis, Mo., since 1939, has joined Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York as administrative assistant to Alexander W. Patterson, executive vice-president. Mack began his career in New York with Bankers Trust Co.

Fred L. Hansen's new house address is 2288 Cranston St., Cranston. Fred was living in Edgewood; "his house burned down, so that is why he moved," was the note we had from a roving reporter.

1934

► 2ND LT. DONALD C. BOGERT, Inf., is down in Camp Maxcy, Tex., with a headquarters company.

Lt. Charles C. Fenno, Jr., USNR, was recently advanced to his present rank. Charlie received his commission as Lt. (jg) in March, 1941, and in February this year completed seven and a half months of sea duty. He is now assigned to the Naval Port Director's Office, Whitehall Bldg., New York. His house address continues to be 7 Colonial Rd., Old Oak Ridge, White Plains, N. Y.

Ens. Henry G. Carpenter, Jr., USNR, is now at sea as an executive officer, with his address in care of the Postmaster, New York. "Hear from Jim Doran, Jr. '33, occasionally. Jim has the same rank and the same job that I have on a similar vessel," Henry wrote earlier this year.

John T. Balmer won his commission as 2nd Lt. with the class graduating from the Adjutant General's OCS at Ft. Washington, Md., March 17.

Ens. John H. Pennell, USNR, was commissioned at Boston March 24 and classified CEC-V(S).

Rev. H. Campbell Eatough, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Westerly, was guest speaker at a special service held in the Baptist Church auditorium, Rutland, Vt., March 31. His subject was "Prayer Changes Me."

Henry E. Stanton and his family are living at 24 Rupert St., Springfield, Mass., where Henry is in the insurance business. When the Brown swimming team met Springfield College in January, Henry and Rev. Charles D. Kean '30 were on hand to welcome Coach Barry and to root for the Brown swimmers.

Harold L. Dean received his Ph.D. degree from Brown at the February Commencement—his third award for work on the Hill. His field of concentration has been English, and his thesis was "The New England Courant, 1721-1726: a chapter in the history of American culture."

1935

► LT. JOHN J. BOOKMAN, MC, USNR, has been a prisoner of war in the Philippines since May, 1942. His father, Dr. S. Bookman, 213 East 87th St., New York, has had no word from or about him since then.

Bob Weill is Vice-President of Skydyne, Inc., Port Jervis, N. Y., where he lives at 7 Reservoir Ave.

Dr. Victor M. Emmel, whose engagement is announced in another column, is instructor in anatomy at the School of Medicine, University of Rochester. Vic took his Ph.D. at Brown, you know, studied a year at Yale as a Fellow of the National Research Council, and went to Rochester in 1940.

Norman A. Smith has been appointed to the Faculty of Thornton Academy in Maine, where he will teach economics, U. S. history and world history. Norm, who received his Master of Education degree from Harvard a year ago, has been teaching this year at Hanover, Mass., High School.

Lt. Walter S. Peck, Jr., Chaplain Corps, USNR, is on duty at Roosevelt Base, Terminal Island, Calif.

Ens. Norman Zalkind, USNR, received his commission at Boston the last week in March and straightway reported to Ft. Schuyler, N. Y.

Hal Olsen became 2nd Lt. Harold O. Olsen, QMC, when his class was graduated at the Quartermaster School, Camp Lee, Va., at the end of January. Perhaps Hal will see this note and write to tell us where he is now on duty.

Ens. John J. Donovan, USNR, wrote us in mid-March from NTS, Princeton, saying his new mail address will be 2 Keer Ave., Newark, N. J. Previous report about Jack was that he was a seaman, 1/cl, and was on a ship up Newfoundland way. Good to hear he's going ahead.

Pfc. Bernard Oster, MC, is somewhere on the Tunisian front, "giving injections, bandaging, loading, and unloading ambulances." So he wrote his father last month. "The other day I gave a patient a transfusion of the famous Oster blood," he went on, and then told of Italian and German prisoners, Arab youngsters, and "the crazy kid Molotov who runs around without a helmet and carries six pistols." Bernie, science teacher at Bridgham Street Junior High School, Providence, has been in the Army a year.

Lt. Gordon McLaren, USNR, is on active duty with the Naval Air Transport Service, to which he went from the Northwest Airlines, Inc., New York, where he was Eastern Traffic Manager.

Howard F. Barker, Jr., is back in Providence again and lives at 48 Parkis Ave. He's been in Dedham, Mass.

1936

► LLOYD B. GILES'S latest address is Detached Medical Dept., Lawson General Hospital, Atlanta, Ga. Lloyd is instructor, he writes, in the Army X-ray School at the Hospital. He's also married, Mrs. Giles being the former Julia L. Lombard. Lloyd was on the sales staff of Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., Boston, before going into service.

Gerald M. Richmond is assistant geologist (Military Unit) with the U. S. Geological Survey in Washington. His house address is 4823 Chevy Chase Drive, Chevy Chase, Md.

Dick Hart is a member of the cast of the play "It's Up to You," which the U. S. Department of Agriculture is backing.

1937

► PVT. W. D. REYNOLDS, AAF, sent us a post card early in April from the Army Air Base, Salt Lake City, Utah, with the comment: "Left Chanute Field (had been leaving from day to day for a month!) for this base. Here for a few days—but not long. Had a swell trip coming out . . . and in North Platte saw a bar where Buffalo Bill used to drink (believe it or not)."

Ens. Charles M. Kenyon, USNR, is getting his mail in care of the Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif. Charlie married Miss Muriel Ann Vanderbilt last February 5, so it's congratulations and good wishes even if a little late. The house address (for your letters) is 34 Exeter Road, Short Hills, N. J.

Dr. Harold S. Barrett, admitting physician in the accident and admitting room at Rhode Island Hospital, is also physician in

Has your club,
lodge or industrial group
heard

BERT SHURTLEFF '22

in his

"WRESTLING REVELATIONS"

the inside story of the pro game.
Called, from Moine to California, "The funniest sports program in America."

B. L. SHURTLEFF

98 WILLIAMS AVE., E. PROV., R. I.

Tel. EAst Providence 3159-M

(If you mention this magazine in answering, five per cent of any resulting fee will be donated to the Brown Alumni Fund.)

Brown Alumni MonthlyPublished at Brown University by the Associated AlumniCHESLEY WORTHINGTON '23

Managing Editor

ARTHUR BRAITSCH '23

Business Manager

LOUIS B. PALMER '28ALFRED H. GURNEY '07*GERTRUDE ALLEN MCCONNELL
Pembroke CorrespondentSubscriptions, $2 a year. Single copies, 25 cents.
There is no issue during August or September.Entered at the Providence Post Office as second-class matter.

Vol XLIII

MAY, 1943

No. 9

the hospital at the Walsh-Kaiser shipyard, Providence.

Ens. Sheldon A. Briggs, USNR, received his commission at Boston April 9, and was classified D-V(S).

Lt. Harlan F. Latham, DC, USNR, is somewhere in the South Pacific area as dentist on a battle cruiser. He went into the Naval Dental Corps in May, 1942, studied at Newport, sailed on his first assignment to Casablanca and then transferred to the other side of the world.

Ben Darling writes his "bread and butter" job title is assistant supervisor of the machine shop, Reading Pratt & Cady Division, American Chain & Cable Co., Inc., Reading, Pa. . . . Now living at 1629 Delaware Ave., Wyomissing, Pa., and have a 4-months old daughter.

Len Robinson not only received his D.D.S. degree cum laude from Tufts Dental School in March, but also spoke before the student body on "The Professions of Democracy's Victory."

William G. Tyrell, we hear, is teaching at Columbia University and living at 459 73rd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Arthur G. Tufts reports he has moved from Providence to 103 Birch St., Lakewood, R. I.

Ens. Clement S. McPhee, USNR, is at the Submarine Chaser School, Miami, Fla., where his mail address is 1866 North Bayshore Drive. Clem was for five years with Wrigley before he quit selling chewing gum to join the Naval Reserve.

Lt. J. DeReu Crocker was attached to a tank destroyer battalion at Camp Bowie, Tex., when he wrote in March, reporting his marriage on March 5 to Miss Arline M. R. Brower. Crocker studied a year at Cornell Law School and another year at George Washington Law School before putting aside the books to enter the Army.

1938

▶ OUR hat is off to Alexander W. Keema, Jr., who was graduated in March from the Midshipmen's School in New York at the head of the class of 980. No doubt Alex blushed modestly when he received a sword from Charles Francis Adams, former Secretary of the Navy, as a reward for his high achievement. He is now on active duty at the school.

Ens. Harrie A. Coffin, USNR, lost most of his uniforms and other clothes when his cabin was the target of a direct hit during the fight off Casablanca. He's been home in Marblehead, Mass., since that thrilling episode and is currently on sea duty. Harrie prepared for duty at Notre Dame and Northwestern Universities, and has seen plenty of action with a destroyer flotilla.

John M. McSweeney's correct address (and why not write him?) is American Consulate, Accra, Gold Coast, and his mail should be sent in care of the Department of State, Washington, D. C.

Lt. Monroe E. Fagan, Jr., USNR — he was recently promoted, his father tells us — has been on duty in the Southwest Pacific since May, 1942.

Don LaVine is working as a personnel manager in Springfield, Mass., handling negotiations, evaluations, union grievances and safety engineering. Don took courses in industrial relations at Yale after we graduated. He worked for a time in the industrial relations department of U. S. Rubber Co., and trained for a year in factory management and principles.

Dr. Russell R. Jauernig is on the staff of Queens General Hospital, 161st St. and 82nd Drive, Jamaica, N. Y.

Rev. Wilbur E. Hogg, Jr., has begun his duties as rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Burlington, N. J., and chaplain of St. Mary's Hall in the same town — the girls' school of the Diocese of New Jersey. During the past year he has been priest in charge of the Church of the Advent, Cape May. "I should appreciate hearing from any of my classmates in the service and would be glad to correspond with them," he wrote.

Sam McDonald, Jr., is assistant employment manager at Lever Bros. Co., soaps and soap powders, Cambridge, Mass. "We had Ken Foote and several other Brown men on the payroll until the Army and the Navy borrowed them for the duration," Sam reports. He's out of active service because of poor eyesight, and he says: "I am now the most turned down man in the country, every branch of the armed services having rejected me. However, I did manage to become an auxiliary policeman in Boston a year ago, and have had many interesting experiences since then, including work at the Coconut Grove fire." Another cheering fact we may add about Sam is that he is engaged to Miss Ruth Allen Smith of Newton Centre, Mass.

Fred Ekeblad is instructor in education at the School of Commerce, Northwestern University, where he was formerly graduate assistant in statistics. He and Mrs. Ekeblad, the former Dorothy L. Sebbens, live at 824 Gaffield Place, Evanston, Ill.

Orlando Rodio went into the Army March 5 as a private. He's on limited service because of poor vision. He was inspector in the Providence Wage and Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor.

Ewan Fletcher is instructor in the Division of Engineering at Brown, with his Sc.M. from Harvard. He and Mrs. Fletcher live at 163 Bowen St., within easy walking distance of the campus.

Ben Chase is now Capt. Benjamin A. Chase on duty at Camp Joseph Robinson, Arkansas. Ben and Mrs. Chase, the former Frances Babcock of Providence, are living in Little Rock.

Two '38 men are at Camp Santa Anita, Calif. — 1st Lt. Robert M. Thomas and 2nd Lt. Myles Grover. Both Bob and Myles are with Ordnance (Army).

2nd Lt. Gabriel Geyer, Infantry officer "missing in action" in the African fighting, has been heard from. His mother sends his prison-camp address: "American P.O.W., interned at OFLAG 9 A/Z, Germany."

1939

▶ ONE for the book is that Dick Gates and Bill Eastman, Jr., were married on the same day — Jan. 23, 1943. Dick is with the Spare Parts Contract Administration, Douglas Aircraft Co., Inc., Santa Monica, Calif., where he and Mrs. Gates live at 749 17th St. Bill is 2nd Lt., QMC, on duty at 185th General Hospital, Spokane, Wash. He'd been studying for nearly three years at Columbia School of Library Service before he entered the Army.

Cress Given is 2nd Lt. J. C. Given, Jr., MHC, on duty at Camp Breckenridge, Ky. When Cress wrote early in March he had just received his lieutenant's bars and was at his home, 447 East 65th St., New York, before reporting to Breckenridge. "My best to all and to old Brown," he ended.

Bob Wyatt, Bob Lewis, and Ted Tetreault were graduated with the M.D. degree from the Yale School of Medicine on March 20. Their class was the first to go out from the school under Yale's accelerated program. Bob Wyatt, Ensign, USNR, is intern at U. S. Naval Hospital, Newport; and Bob Lewis and Ted Tetreault, who is 2nd Lt., MRC, are on the staff of Rhode Island Hospital, Providence.

"I'm back in college again!" was Pvt. Art Gurney's terse report after being transferred from CWS at Camp Sibert, Ala., to ASTU at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va. "Our schedule calls for 60 hours a week," he added. "Study in the barracks is compulsory every night (except Saturday) from 7:30 to 10:30. . . . What I want to know is: Am I still in the Army? It's such a far cry from Camp Sibert that it seems like a dream." A later postcard said the quizzes were tough, and were getting tougher.

Lt. Ernest E. Alderman, Inf., writing from somewhere in the Pacific, told us he hoped to be back in the United States "before many more months pass." Ernie has been away from home now nearly two years, and wouldn't mind seeing his family and friends again. "Our main topic of conversation nowadays," he went on, "runs in the trend of what the post-war conditions and situations will be regarding us disbanded soldiers."

"Working in the Intelligence Office," wrote Pvt. George L. Playe from Camp Gordon, Ga., where he is stationed with a MP battalion.

Charlie Gustavsen was commissioned Ensign, USNR, at Boston in mid-March and classified D-V(S).

Charlie Lemonier, Jr., is the owner of Lemonier, men's apparel, at 3216 Bergenline Ave., Union City, N. J. He and Mrs. Lemonier, the former Virginia H. Robinson, live at 7435 Boulevard East, Woodcliff, N. J.

Dr. Herbert Lobsenz has recently joined the staff of Bellevue Hospital, New York.

1940

▶ HOWARD HUNT, author of "East of Farewell", which still ranks as one of the best stories of this war, is war correspondent for Life magazine in the South Pacific. His present business address, as he wrote it is, "With Admiral Nimitz and the Fleet." He flew from Washington to Honolulu on the assignment that will probably keep him with the Navy until early summer.

Sam Gourse is now 1st Lt., attached to the Orlando Air Base, Fla.

Rev. Richard N. Pease is the new vicar of the Chapel of All Saints (Episcopal) at Whalom, Mass. His address has changed from Worcester to Wilder Rd., RFD No. 1, Fitchburg, Mass.

Dan Daly is Ensign Daniel W. Daly, Jr., USNR, according to Mrs. Daly, who reports that Dan "after receiving his law degree from the University of Pennsylvania was commissioned Ensign, USNR. . . . At present he is in active duty as gunnery officer in charge of a gun crew on the high seas."

"Just transferred to Air Corps, AAF Materiel Center, Wright Field, O.," Lt. Harry B. Henschel wrote a month ago. "Have had several letters from Lt. George Williams, who is with the Coast Artillery in Hawaii and learning to dislike pine-apples intensely. Have also heard from George Urban who is at Camp Shelby, Miss. Regards and greetings to all classmates and to everybody at Brown."

▶ WE hear from a friend that Bill McLaughlin was considered an excellent flyer at Pensacola and had 109 hours of Navy flying behind him when, on March 14, he was in one of two planes in a three-plane formation which collided in a crossover.

Ens. Henry G. Phelps, USNR, was commissioned April 1 at Boston and classified D-V(S).

Jim Cronkhite was commissioned 2nd Lt., AAF, March 3, after graduating from OCS at Miami Beach, Fla. His first assignment took him to Nashville, Tenn., so Jim is seeing the South. In fact, he began his war service in North Carolina and went to Seattle, Wash., before returning to Miami Beach.

Bob Clifford is with the AAFNS at San Marcos, Tex. — "Asst. Echelon Commander," he wrote when he filled out his Brown records blank early in April. Our congratulations to Bob on his marriage Feb. 17 to Miss Janet B. Fine.

George P. Sawyer reports a change of address from Baltimore to 4063 Teesdale St., Philadelphia, Pa., and David W. Borst writes he has moved from Schenectady to 706 Sanders Ave., Scotia, N. Y. "Scotia is across the Mohawk River from Schenectady, so the change in address does not represent a change in occupation," Dave explained.

Merton C. Barstow, Jr., "is off somewhere in the Pacific. He is a Navy flier," said his father in a recent note. We're checking on his rank.

1941

▶ A/C RAYMOND E. JOHNSTON is with a squadron in training at Boca Raton Field, Fla. Ray (he was married Feb. 13 to Miss Mary Hazel Reid) had been studying for the past two years at Rhode Island College of Pharmacy.

Pfc. Thomas P. Rockwell has been at Kellogg Field, Battle Creek, Mich., for the past four months as an airplane engine mechanic. "I've been to two Army schools, one on Long Island and one at the General Electric in Lynn, Mass.," Tom said, and ended with a good word for the News Letters he has received.

Lt. Norman S. Dike, Jr., Cav., is in the 13th Officers Basic Course, Cavalry, at Ft. Riley, Kan. He went out there from Camp Ritchie, Md. What's more, he is the happy father of a daughter, Barbara, born in New York in March and named after Mrs. Dike.

Bob Gosselin writes he is with OSRD (we are trying to figure that one out) on research "to study water and related topics in desert warfare."

Lt. C. Harrison Meyer, Jr., AAF, tells us his mail address has been changed to 575 Park Ave., New York.

Dick Brooks, commissioned Lt. (jg) USNR, is studying at Cornell University.

Ens. Frederick G. Barlow, USNR, was in Providence in mid-March, on furlough from foreign service.

Dick Hauck, writing from Boston, tells his simple story: "You may add my name to the list of Brown men who have joined the armed forces. I have been in the USNR since last September and my present rank is Ensign. My permanent mail address is 110 Grosvenor Ave., East Providence."

Win Fanning is staff photographer and associate editor of the Bulletin Index Magazine, 1000 Century Bldg., Pittsburgh, but he won't be there long. "As I am an Air Cadet for special photographic training," he wrote, "I have orders to report for duty July 9." Win is married, his wife having been Dorothy Mae Johnson '42, Pembroke College. "My wife will go to California when I enter training," he added, "and then I'll mail the card to the Alumni Office giving my war address."

Al Boutelle is supervisor of the Service School, Hamilton Standard Propeller Division, United Aircraft, East Hartford, Conn.

Dave Durfee is clerk and salesman with C. H. & N. B. Durfee, banking, real estate and insurance, Fall River, where he and Mrs. Durfee live at 133 Winter St.

Lt. Jerry Sokol, SC, was studying at a Signal Corps Officers School when he wrote us in February that he was married Jan. 24, 1943, to Miss Marion Elizabeth Sandy and was living on Lower Broadway, RFD No. 1, Freehold, N. J.

Peter Thorpe is a plant layout and industrial engineer for Douglas Aircraft, Santa Monica, Calif., where he lives at 1907 11th St.

Norman Newcomb is expeditor for General Electric Co., Schenectady, with his home in nearby Glenmont, N. Y.

Pvt. Allan S. Nanes, 23rd TSS (special), Ft. Logan, Colo., reported early in April that he was moving very soon. "It certainly is a pleasure to receive the ALUMNI MONTHLY," he said, "both to recall old associations and to see what a fine war record our graduates are making. News of the Hill will always be welcome."

Ens. George W. McAlpine, USNR, was graduated from the Naval Reserve Midshipman's School, New York, in March and came home to Hills Grove for a 10-day furlough before reporting for active duty. George enlisted as apprentice seaman on the anniversary of Pearl Harbor last Dec. 7.

2nd Lt. Lewis I. Schwartz, AAF, is attached to the Materiel Command, Wright Field, Dayton, O. He went to Yale in July, 1942, and received his commission last month.

1942

▶ E. J. KEENOY, JR., writes that he and P. R. Brown have finished a 10-months training period and are now test engineers in the 18-cylinder department of Wright Aeronautical.

Frederick C. Allgeier is now in OCS at Camp Davis, following basic training in the Quartermaster Corps at Camp Lee.

Bernard G. Ziobrowski is a Pharmacist's Mate 3/c.

Gene Coughlin has been at OCS, Camp Davis, according to Lt. John F. Dorrance '44, who visited the Alumni Office a few weeks ago.

Robert J. Vernon, Jr., took graduate work in Government at Harvard during the summer term but left in September for induction into the Army.

William C. Giles, Jr., wrote Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow a few weeks ago that he had been accepted for the AAF Administrative and Anti-Aircraft Artillery Schools by the OCS Board.

Ensign John D. Wallace, USNR, is in the Bureau of Ordnance. He served for a while as Physics Instructor at Amherst and is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Ens. George C. Rose has reported to a new PC boat for active duty in anti-submarine warfare. He went to Florida sub-chaser training school after getting his commission in December.

Pvt. Richard F. Hulme hears from several of the '42 Brown men every now and then and learns of others through the ALUMNI MONTHLY, but he hasn't seen any at Muroc AAB.

Howard B. Lyman was promoted to Cpl. Technician while at Fort Custer for two months of training in Occupational Military Police Work. "Almost all of us are college graduates who have had some language training," he wrote late in March.

Herman J. Sugarman is in the Freshman Class at Middlesex University School of Medicine.

THE BLACKSTONE CANAL NATIONAL BANK of Providence

ESTABLISHED 1831 • • 20 MARKET SQUARE

Capital $500,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits (over) $1,000,000

All Forms of Commercial Banking and Trust Service

MEMBER FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Winthrop R. Munyan has been at Camp Crowder for five weeks' basic training in the Signal Corps.

Edgar H. Greenhalgh expected to enter the armed services last month. Having been a member of the advanced unit of the ROTC unit at R. I. State, he was slated for OCS. Ed was with us for two and a half years, when his health broke down. Later entering State College, he shifted from his previous pre-medical studies to engineering, which meant commencing college all over again. But Ed's interests remain with Brown, and we were glad to tell him he is a member of the Associated Alumni in good standing.

Ens. Matthew J. Mitchell moved about quite a bit after leaving Harvard Business School in September but wound up in Washington. We're hoping he'll carry out his intention of writing "some news about classmates that has probably not circulated in Providence."

Among our flyers: A/C Harris L. Why-naught is at Pensacola after completing his primary flight training at Squantum. At Brown he logged 38 hours of flying time under CPT supervision before entering the Naval Reserve.

Norbert Aubuchon is also at Pensacola for advanced flight training after primary work at Anacostia and pre-flying at Athens, Ga. He was with the New York & Puerto Rico Steamship Co. in New York before volunteering for the Navy.

John Holden checked out of Pensacola in March, after being commissioned 2nd Lt. in the Marine Corps Reserve. Active duty at a Navy air operational training center precedes assignment to a combat zone.

Arthur T. Diprete was commissioned an Ensign in the Navy's air arm after flight training at Corpus Christi.

New addresses: W. S. von Arx, 235 Lincoln Place, Brooklyn, N. Y. Keith F. Brown, 66 Upper High St., Whitinsville, Mass.

Pfc. Charles J. Lincoln, who moved along from Parris Island to Quantico Marine Corps OCS in January has nearly completed the latter phase of his training. He shared in the distinction when his platoon was graduated with an average of 94.8% for the first part of the course.

1943

▶ ROBERT W. ELSNER, according to the Mount Hermon Alumni News, is in the

"Blimp" to Blimp

▶ TALK about your prophetic nicknames. They used to call Francis C. Wilson '42, former basketball star, by two, either "Tank" or "Blimp". He's not in the tank corps, but he has been designated as a blimp pilot. He's been commissioned Ensign, USNAC, following training at Lakehurst.

American Field Service, which has operated its ambulances in the Middle East and on the African front since November, 1941. Bob was with us only one year at Brown, leaving to spend the winter atop Mount Washington in the weather observatory. (Did you see the color pictures of him in the Saturday Evening Post at the time?)

Harry L. Halliwell entered Yale Medical School last month, with a commission as 2nd Lt. in the Army's medical reserves, the Woonsocket Call says.

Robert W. Drake is a research chemist with the U. S. Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh, doing work for the National Defense Research Council at Carnegie Tech, too.

Robert Kramer has entered the USNR Midshipmen's School at Notre Dame.

The Scranton Tribune reports Warren Wooster commissioned an Ensign, USNR.

Walter B. Lister is taking pre-flight training at the University of Vermont, prior to appointment as A/C, AAFFTC. He's living in Converse Hall, Burlington.

Russell J. Hall is an Army Cadet, commissioned Lt. His alumni blank came back with Tyndall Field listed as his "business address" but postmarked Cochran Field.

Anthony Buxton received his wings as Ens., USNRAC in February. He's still getting his mail at home in Providence—131 Irving Ave.

Robert R. Miller has informed the Alumni Office that his address is 717 Eleventh St., Waynesboro, Va.

Engagements

▶ ▶ 1934—MISS DOROTHY MAY POLSEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvanus E. Polsey of Pawtucket, to Pfc. William Arnold Wells, Jr., USA.

1935—Miss Mary Zilla Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm D. Clarke, of Washington and Wilmington, N. C., to

Ens. Walter L. F. Bopp, USNR. Miss Clarke attended the King Smith School in Washington.

1937—Miss Dorothy Frances Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evans Stewart of Edgewood, to Staff Sgt. Eugene Lawson Primm, Jr., Army Medical Corps.

1938—Miss Ruth Allen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford Endicott Smith of Newton Centre, Mass., to Mr. Samuel J. McDonald, Jr. Miss Smith was graduated from Dana Hall and from Bradford Junior College.

1938—Miss Mary Elizabeth Waite, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Slocum Waite of Philadelphia, to Mr. Charles Henry Rushmore. Miss Waite attended Scranton-Key-stone Junior College.

1939—Miss Eileen Condon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Condon of Ridgewood, N. J., to Mr. Charles T. Stone of Edgewood.

1940—Miss Hester C. Pfeiffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Pfeiffer of South Natick, Mass., to Lt. Henry A. Klie. Miss Pfeiffer attended Simmons College.

1940—Miss Martha Howell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Westcott Howell of Jamaica Plain, Mass., and Jeffrey, N. H., to Lt. (jg) Gardner Sabin Gould, Jr., USNR. Miss Howell is a graduate of Smith College.

1941—Miss Annette L. Lord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Lord, of Providence, to Mr. Willis B. Buck. Miss Lord was graduated from Pembroke in 1941.

1941—Miss Anne Elizabeth Maguire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Maguire of Providence, to Cpl. Albert S. Carpenter, USA. Miss Maguire is a graduate of Pembroke College and the Rhode Island Hospital Training School for Nurses.

1942—Miss Joyce Nevin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Benjamin Nevin of Providence, to Ens. Elton Wayne Cook, USNR. Miss Nevin is a graduate of the Mary C. Wheeler School, and is now attending the School of Horticulture, Ambler, Pa.

1942—Miss Cynthia Taylor Rich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilder M. Rich of Hackensack, N. J., to Lt. Robert Morse Wood, USA. Miss Rich was graduated from Pine Manor Junior College in 1942, and Lt. Wood was graduated from West Point Military Academy in January 1943.

1942—Miss Virginia I. Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson, Jr. of Edgewood, to Pfc. William H. Briggs, Jr., MC, USA. Miss Richardson attended Pembroke College.

1942—Miss Janet Louise Wellman, daughter of Mrs. Amos Buck of West Branch, Mich., to Lt. George W. Richardson, USAAC. Miss Wellman was graduated from the School of Business at Simmons College.

1943—Miss Doris Virginia Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Allen of Edgewood, to Mr. James G. Armstrong, Jr.

1943—Miss Betty Bernstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Bernstein of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., to A/C Bernard Lubarsky. Miss Bernstein is a member of the senior class at Pembroke.

1943—Miss Carol A. Taylor, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Will S. Taylor of Brown University, to Lt. C. Robert Carlisle, USA. Miss Taylor is a graduate of Pembroke in the February, 1943, class.

For The NAUTICALLY MINDED

This colorful chart shows how to "box" a compass . . . how to identify types and rigs of boats . . . how to tie knots. Explains ship's bearings, ship's watches, and ship's time. Illustrates storm warnings and identifies parts of a sail boat.

Enclose $1.00 with your order.

PRINTED IN 4 COLORS
HEAVY CONSTRUCTION
PRICE $1.00

E. A. JOHNSON COMPANY

71 Peck Street, Providence, R. I.

1943—Miss Margaret Varley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Varley of Port Washington, L. I., to Mr. Gordon Smith Kellogg. Miss Varley is a graduate of Pembroke College.

1943—Miss Elizabeth Jean Weller, daughter of Mrs. Spicer Weller of New Haven, to Mr. Richard Holt Colwell. Miss Weller is a Junior at the Rhode Island School of Design.

1943—Miss Josephine A. Swenson, daughter of Mrs. C. A. Swenson of St. Joseph, Mo., to Lt. Jesse H. Sanford, 3rd. Miss Swenson is a graduate of the Convent of the Sacred Heart.

E-S-41—Miss Natalie Cordery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Leslie Cordery of Edgewood, to A/C Charles T. Naylor, USAAF. Miss Cordery is a Senior at Colby Junior College.

Weddings

► 1927—Mr. SHERMAN DENNIS of Loch Arbor, N. J., and Miss Dorothy Stahl, daughter of Mr. Luther Stahl of Lewisburg, Pa., in Loch Arbor, Feb. 27, 1943.

1927—Lt. Kirtland J. Keve, USNR, and Miss Lilly Reichenbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reichenbach of New York City, at the home of the bride's parents, Feb. 2, 1943.

1931—Cpl. Benjamin J. Frucht, USA, and Miss Leonide J. Weinbaum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris J. Weinbaum of Mattapan, Mass., in Boston, Feb. 7, 1943.

1932—Capt. Richard D. Femino, USA, MC, of Providence, and Miss Amelia F. DePasquale, daughter of Mrs. Peter DePasquale of Providence, in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Mar. 22, 1943.

1934—Lt. Donald C. Bogert, and Miss Clare Elizabeth Stillwell, daughter of Mrs. Alexander Stillwell of Bloomfield, N. J., in Christ Episcopal Church, Bloomfield, Feb. 8, 1943.

1935—Lt. Gordon MacLaren, USNR, and Mrs. Marion Goff Cook, daughter of Mrs. Darius Goff of Pawtucket, in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, New York City, April 6, 1943.

1936—Cpl. Lloyd B. Giles of Belmont, and Miss Julia Bradford Lombard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Gibson Lombard of Atlanta, Ga., in the Unitarian Universalist Church, Atlanta, Jan. 23, 1943.

1936—Mr. David B. Stewart, Jr., and Miss Mildred Briden Spelman, daughter of Mrs. George Clark Spelman of Cranston, in Calvary Baptist Church, Providence, Feb. 27, 1943. At home: 321 Auburn St., Cranston.

1936—Capt. James Lee Whitcomb, SC, AUS, and Miss Mary Hill Brown, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Chenoweth Brown of Houston, Texas, in the First Presbyterian Church, Houston, April 15, 1943.

1937—Lt. J. DeReu Crocker, USA, and Miss Arline Brower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Brower of Antofagasta, Chile, at the home of Pres. and Mrs. Gordon G. Singleton at Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Jan. 2, 1943.

1937—Ens. Charles Moir Kenyon, USNR, and Miss Muriel Ann Vanderbilt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Ten Broeck Vanderbilt of Short Hills, N. J., in Grace Cathedral, San Francisco, Feb. 5, 1943. The bride attended Pembroke College.

1938—Mr. Ewan W. Fletcher and Miss Kathleen Moore Behre, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Herbert A. Behre of Edgewood in St. Pius Rectory, Providence, Feb. 20, 1943. At home: 163 Bowen St., Providence.

1939—Mr. Richard Samuel Gates and Miss Ruth Pearl Miller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alton L. Miller of Brookline, Mass., in the Brookline Baptist Church, Jan. 23, 1943.

1939—Cpl. Thomas F. Minuto and Miss Theresa Tremaglio, Pembroke '42, daughter of Mrs. Filomena Tremaglio of Waterbury, Conn., in the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, Waterbury, Feb. 27, 1943.

1940—Lt. Robert R. Clifford, USAAC, and Miss Janet Boitto Fine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Fine, Jr., at the residence of the Rev. John H. Robinette in Edgewood, Feb. 17, 1943. Lt. and Mrs. Clifford will make their home in San Marcos, Texas.

1940—Lt. John Byron Crosman, USAAC, and Miss Leila Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim T. Pomeroy of Orland Park, Ill., in Miami Beach, Jan. 20, 1943.

1940—Ens. John B. DeLuca, USCGR, and Miss Barbara Catherine Porter, Pembroke '40, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude G. Porter of Norwich, Conn., in Christ Church, Norwich, Feb. 6, 1943.

1940—Ens. William Freed Ducomb, USNR, of Detroit, and Miss Josephine Grinnell Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Grinnell Evans of West Medford and Harwichport, in Grace Episcopal Church, Medford, Mass., Jan. 15, 1943.

1940—Mr. Gordon Kiernan, and Miss Madeline Hedly, daughter of Mr. Arthur Hedly of Libertyville, Ill., in St. Chrysotom's Church, Feb. 13, 1943.

1940—Ens. John Hale Mason 2nd, USNR, of Barrington, and Miss Jean Cornwell, daughter of Mrs. Ray H. Cornwell of Edgewood, in Trinity Episcopal Church, Pawtuxet, Mar. 27, 1943.

1940—A/C Stephen W. Meader, Jr., USA, of Moorestown, N. J., and Miss Mildred A. Powell, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Clifford R. Powell of River Bank, Delanco, N. J., in Shaw Field Chapel, Sumter, S. C., Feb. 27, 1943.

1940—1st Lt. Henry L. Wilder, Jr., and Lt. Margaret Eloise Davidson, Army Nurses Corps, of Boonville, Ind., at the Base Chapel, MacDill Field, Tampa, Fla., Feb. 13, 1943.

1941—1st Lt. Robert F. Grabb, USAAC, and Miss Jean Margaret Wendt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey A. Wendt, in Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 12, 1943.

1941—Ens. Everett F. Greenleaf, USNR, and Miss Gladys I. Winlock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey F. Winlock of Lexington, Mass., in Hancock Congregational Church, Lexington, Mar. 27, 1943.

1941—Mr. Walter O. Jaeger of Caribou, Me., and Miss Marie Gregory, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Gregory of Caribou, Maine, in West Palm Beach, Jan. 20, 1943. The bride graduated from Regis College, Weston, Mass., in 1941.

1941—Mr. Raymond E. Johnston of Rumford, and Miss Mary Hazel Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Reid of East Providence in St. Luke's Church, Pawtucket, Feb. 13, 1943.

1941—2nd Lt. Jerry Sokol, USA, and Miss Marion Elizabeth Sandy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sandy of Freehold, N. J., in the Second Reformed Church, Jan. 24, 1943.

1942—Mr. Earl E. Brant and Miss Catherine M. Shatz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Schatz of Dorchester and Plymouth, in Pilgrim Congregational Church, Mar. 27, 1943. The bride is a graduate of Pembroke.

1942—Lt. (jg) Shailer R. Cummings, USNR, and Miss Virginia Randall Pierson, Pembroke '42, daughter of Mrs. Kenneth Oakes Pierson of Westfield, N. J., in Christ Church, New York City, Feb. 8, 1943.

1942—Ens. Eldredge H. Henning, Jr., USNR, and Miss Ruth J. MacFayden, daughter of Mrs. Edward J. MacFayden of Arlington, Mass., in Jacksonville, Fla., April 7, 1943.

1942—Pvt. Arnold Katz, USA, and Miss Gilda Kay Heller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Heller, in Brockton, Mass., Jan. 16, 1943.

1942—Ens. Alexander L. Logan, USNR, and Miss Jane Eggleston, Pembroke '42, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Eggleston of New Haven, Conn., in Dwight Memorial Chapel, Yale University, Feb. 21, 1943.

1942—Lt. Daniel H. Noonan, USA, and Miss Adrienne Elizabeth Bramley, daughter of Mrs. William A. Bramley of Westfield, N. J., at the home of the bride's mother, Jan. 25, 1943. The bride is a graduate of the Bouvé School, Boston.

1942—Mr. Alexander M. Watson of Cranford, N. J., and Miss Priscilla Morse Woodbury, daughter of Capt. Harold D. Woodbury, USAAF, and Mrs. Woodbury of Worcester, in First Baptist Church, Worcester, Mar. 20, 1943. The bride was graduated in February, 1943, from Pembroke College. Stanley Taylor '42 was best man and William Taylor '44 was an usher.

advertisers engraving company

126 DORRANCE ST. PROVIDENCE, R. I.

TELEPHONE GASPEE 7094

"Picturize your Product"

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

1943—Mr. Robert W. Drake and Miss Elizabeth Breese Macks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Macks of Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., in Trinity Episcopal Church, New York City, Feb. 13, 1943. The bride was graduated from Ward Belmont Junior College and Pembroke College.

1943—Mr. David W. Towler and Miss Margery DeWitt Stahl, daughter of Mrs. J. Darrow Adams of Provincetown, Mass., and David V. Stahl of Scarsdale, N. Y., in the Hotel Kenmore, Boston, Mar. 20, 1943. The bride is a graduate of Pembroke.

1943—Ens. E. Anthony Buxton, USNR, and Miss Lenna Alberta Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowe Palmer of Weymouth, Mass., in the Church of the Good Shepherd in Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 5, 1943. The bride attended Pembroke College.

1943—2nd Lt. Russell J. Hall, USAAC, and Miss Ruth Bragdon, Pembroke '41, daughter of Col. and Mrs. J. S. Bragdon of Atlanta, Ga., in the Cathedral of Christ the King, Atlanta, Jan. 18, 1943.

Births

► 1923—To Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lanpher of Providence, a daughter, Margaret Bartlett, on Mar. 21, 1943.

1923—To Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shaw Skilling of Evanston, Ill., a son, Shaw Frey, Aug. 17, 1942.

1925—To Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kaplan of New York City, a son, Stanley Martin, born Sept. 16, 1942.

1926—To Mr. and Mrs. William M. Smira of Providence, a daughter, Deborah Susan, Feb. 15, 1943.

1928—To Mr. and Mrs. Enos T. Throop of Lawrence, L. I., a son, Enos Thompson 5th, Mar. 18, 1943.

1930—To the Rev. Charles D. Kean and Mrs. Kean of Springfield, a son, William Lybrand, Feb. 5, 1943.

1931—To Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Demmler of Wilkesburg, Pa., a third daughter, Nancy Louise, Dec. 19, 1942.

1931—To Dr. and Mrs. Charles Potter of Providence, a daughter, Eleanor Jean, Mar. 25, 1943.

1931—To Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Schweikart of Gaspee Plateau, R. I., a son, Walter Arthur, March 7, 1943.

1933—To Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Vreeland of Little Falls, N. J., a second daughter, Pamela Hawley, Feb. 14, 1943.

1934—To Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Kingerly, Jr. of Cleveland, a daughter, Phyllis Reed, Feb. 20, 1943.

1934—To Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Stiles, Jr. of Portland, Maine, a son, their first child, Nov. 7, 1942.

1935—To Mr. and Mrs. William T. Broomhead of West Barrington, a daughter, Nancy Elizabeth, Mar. 29, 1943.

1935—To Mr. and Mrs. W. Wallace Buxton of Baltimore, Md., a second son, Donald Martin, Feb. 12, 1943.

1936—To Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Bedrick of Urbana, Ill., a daughter, Judith Ann, Dec. 12, 1942.

1936—To Mr. and Mrs. John H. Coogan, Jr., of Wyckoff, N. J., a second daughter, Elizabeth, Feb. 15, 1943.

1936—To Lt. and Mrs. J. Cameron Maiden of Glen Cove, N. Y., a daughter, Virginia Ann, Mar. 30, 1943.

1936—To Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Wilkens of Glen Cove, N. Y., a son, Robert George, Jr., Mar. 7, 1943.

1936—To Mr. and Mrs. Lauriston P. Winsor of Cleveland, a son, Chester Allen, Mar. 4, 1943.

1937—To Mr. and Mrs. A. Bennett Darling of Wyomissing, Pa., a daughter, Oct. 7, 1942, in Reading.

1937—To Lt. Clinton R. DeConti, USAAF, and Mrs. DeConti of Providence, a son, Clinton Read, Jr., Jan. 25, 1943.

1937—To Mr. and Mrs. Bud Sylvan Haskell of Pittsburgh, a son, John S., Dec. 1, 1942.

1937—To Mr. and Mrs. George T. Langdon of Wynnewood, Pa., a son, Mar. 21, 1943.

1937—To Mr. and Mrs. Graham White of Attleboro Falls, Mass., a son, Jeffrey Sheidow, Mar. 15, 1943.

1937—To Mr. and Mrs. Alan Vaughan Young of Providence, a son, Mar. 18, 1943.

1938—To Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lathrop, Jr., of Jackson Heights, a daughter, Charlotte Ann, Feb. 20, 1943.

1938—To Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Wilson of Providence, a second son, Richard Otis, born Mar. 20, 1943.

1939—To Mr. and Mrs. Holden S. Nicholson of Valley Falls, a daughter, Julia, on Feb. 14, 1943.

1939—To Lt. (jg) George G. Slade, USNR, and Mrs. Slade, of Arlington, Va., a son, Randall Elliott, Dec. 13, 1942.

1941—To Ens. Earl W. Harrington, Jr. and Mrs. Harrington of Edgewood, a daughter, Linda Elizabeth, Jan. 30, 1943.

1941—To Ens. and Mrs. Preston H. Hood, Jr., of Somerset, Mass., a son, Preston Hart, 3rd, Mar. 8, 1943.

1942—To Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Hayes of Springfield, Mass., a son, Henry W., III, Feb. 21, 1943.

Completed Careers

1872

► ► WILLIAM VAIL KELLEN, A.B., LL.D., last surviving member of his Class and on the Brown Corporation since 1892, died in Boston, Dec. 20, 1942. When he received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Brown in 1903, he was cited by President Faunce as "author and speaker, lover and helper of his Alma Mater, leader in private virtue and public spirit."

Born in South Truro, Mass., July 3, 1852, the son of Rev. William and Rosetta (Mervise) Kellen, he was both student and athlete on the Hill, winning Phi Beta Kappa and playing on his Class baseball team and rowing on the Class crew. From Brown he went to Boston University Law School, where he was graduated with the LL.B. degree in 1875. After admission to the Massachusetts bar in 1876 he commenced practice in Boston. He was a reporter of decisions of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, editor of "Parsons on Contracts," and author of "Index Digest of Massachusetts Reports."

He was a former President of the University Club, Boston, and of Rhode Island Alpha, Phi Beta Kappa. He became a Trustee of Brown in 1892, and a Fellow in 1914. He had also been a Trustee of Episcopal Theological School, and President of the General Theological Library of Boston. He served on the City of Boston Art Commission two years, was a councillor of the American Antiquarian Society, and a member of several historical societies. His fraternity was Delta Upsilon. He made gifts to the John Hay Library, one of which is a scrapbook history of the Class of 1872, and followed closely the work of the Corporation and of the University. His last important public appearance at Brown was at the inauguration of President Wriston.

On June 28, 1879, he married Ella Frances Sturtevant, who bore him three sons and four daughters. Surviving are three daughters and a son, Roger S. Kellen '15.

1897

► ALLEN HERBERT CHASE, Ph.B., retired cotton broker, born in Worcester, Mass., Sept. 3, 1875, the son of Frederic A. and Harriet A. (Lowe) Chase; died of pneumonia in La Jolla, Calif., Dec. 2, 1942. He played end on the Brown football eleven of 1896 of which his classmates Everett Colby and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., were respectively captain and manager.

A star football player in high school, he had to overcome a handicap of size and weight when he met college competition. As an end alternating with bigger and heavier team mates, he was aggressive, resourceful, and quick in diagnosing opponents' play. Like most of his fellow players in his day of long hair, shin guards, head bands, and informal coaching, he kept his interest in Brown football through the years.

As a boat owner on the Hill he was fond of sailing and belonged to the Brown University Yacht Club. He served on the Junior Prom Committee, and was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon. When he was graduated he went to work in a woolen mill near Worcester, Mass. Then he became treasurer of the Chase Pulley Co., Providence, dealers in pulleys and boats. In Boston he was assistant treasurer of Arthur C. Almy Co., and later head of A. H. Chase Co., cotton brokers, which he organized. He retired in 1927 and went to California to live.

On Oct. 18, 1900, he married Helen Richmond Granger of Providence, who died in March, 1917, leaving a daughter, Miss Harriet Granger Chase. His second marriage took place Nov. 12, 1928, to Mabel T. Loring, who survives, with the daughter, a brother, Frederic L. Chase, and a sister, Helen G. Chase. For many years he belonged to the Agawam Hunt and Hope Clubs.

1909

► EDMUND HUMPHREY MCCARTHY, A.B., lawyer, born Providence, Jan. 30, 1886, the son of John F. and Honorah J. (O'Leary) McCarthy; died at Rhode Island Hospital, Providence, Jan. 20, 1943. He had practised law since 1912.

At Brown he was a member of the Class baseball team in Sophomore year and of Junior Week Committee. His fraternity was Phi Kappa. "He hasn't made a big noise or grand splurge around college, but what he has attempted he has done well," Liber Brunensis said.

After a year at Harvard Law School, he continued his studies in a Providence office, and in 1912 became a member of the Rhode Island bar. On Sept. 22, 1920, he married Miss Viola M. Ashline, who survives, with two daughters, the Misses Viola M. and Anita F. McCarthy. He belonged to the Rhode Island Bar Association, and was a communicant of St. Paul's Church, Edgewood. ❖❖

Pembroke Chronicle

Vital Statistics

Engagements

- ▶▶ 1938—VIRGINIA MACMILLAN to A/C Donald Knight Trescott, USNR.
 1939—Rae Mulready to Dr. Arnold Samms, Jr., a graduate of Dartmouth and the Rochester Medical School. He is resident surgeon in Long Island College Hospital, Brooklyn.
 1941—Sylvia Estfan to Harold G. Josif, AAF, University of Chicago '41.
 1941—Annette L. Lord to Willis B. Buck '41. Mr. Buck is working for the Government in Pittsburgh.
 1943—Jean Andrews, daughter of Helen Daniels Andrews '15, to Theodore Francis Marble, a graduate of R. I. State College.
 1943—Betty Bernstein to A/C Bernard Lubarsky '43.
 1943—Frances V. Latson to Cpl. William Dinneen, USA. Mr. Dinneen, a graduate of Harvard, was a member of the Music Department at Brown and organist at Pembroke when he joined the Army.
 1943—Carol Taylor to Lt. C. Robert Carlisle '43, USA.
 1943—Carolyn Wakeman to Lt. David Curtis '43.
 1943—Rosale A. Schraybussen to Hayden Hankins '43.

Weddings

- ▶ 1932—EDITH BERGER and Lt. Abraham Sinelnikoff, Oct. 30, 1942. Lt. Sinelnikoff is overseas with the Signal Corps. Address: 292 Hillside Ave., Pawtucket.
 1934—Elizabeth Carey Brennan and Paul O'Meara Connly '36, USAAF, April 17 at the Sacred Heart Church, Pawtucket. Mr. Connly is stationed at Miami, Fla.
 1934—Dorothy Gay Gould and Ens. Raymond J. Walsh, USNR, a graduate of Wesleyan. Address: 19 Angell St., Providence.
 1936—Elizabeth Carr and Lt. Cameron Bacon Hosmer, Sept. 19 in St. John's Episcopal Church, Newport. Thelma Halverson Ebbitt '37 was her attendant. Lt. Hosmer, a graduate of Deerfield Academy and Dartmouth, is now in the Signal Corps in Arlington, Va.
 1937—Lt. Eunice Hodges Smith, ANC and Lt. Neil Alexander McNeil, USA, Dec. 19 in Rumford, R. I. Lt. McNeil is in Anti-Aircraft stationed at Camp Haan, Calif. Eunice is at the Station Hospital, Camp Edwards, Mass.
 1938—Lois May Allen and Julian Gerard Michel of New Orleans, USAAF. Address: 490D Angell St., Providence.
 1939—Thelma Simister and Dr. Benjamin Franklin Thomas, Jr. in the First Baptist Church, Warren, March 21. Alice V. Simister '42 was maid of honor for her sister. Dr. Thomas was graduated from the Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta and is an intern at Hillman Hospital, Birmingham, Ala. Thelma has a position in the laboratory of the same hospital.

1940—Virginia Anne Driscoll and Edward J. Quinton in East Greenwich, April 14. Mr. Quinton is a graduate of Providence College.

1940—Catherine Marie Schatz and Earl Evans Brant '43, March 27 in Dorchester, Mass. Address: 901 Clinton St., Philadelphia.

1941—Louise De Pietro and Robert E. Bossardt, a graduate of Mass. State College, Nov. 25. Address: 427 Brown Ave., R. No. 4, Attleboro, Mass.

1941—Sylvia Rose and Russell A. Pitnof, Middlesex University, March 21. Address: 912 Hudson St., Hoboken, N. J.

1941—Margaret Alice Smith and Henry L. Dursin '42, son of Mary Butler Dursin '16, at Mitchel Field, April 20. Address: 289 West 12th St., New York City.

1941—Frances Tompson and John E. Ottemiller on March 24 in Seekonk, Mass. Mr. Ottemiller, a graduate of Middlebury College and the School of Library Science at Columbia, is head of circulation at the John Hay Library. Address: RFD No. 4, Box 355, Attleboro, Mass.

1942—Georgia Brown and Lt. Philip W. Carson '44, USAAF, January 2 in Monroe, La. Address: 276 Benefit St., Providence.

1942—Margery De Witt Stahl and David William Towler, USNR, at the Hotel Kenmore, Boston, March 20. Mr. Towler is doing research work at M.I.T. Jane Stahl '40 attended her sister.

1943—M. Grace Aierstock and Ens. John H. Brubaker, Jr., USNR, in Bethany Evangelical Church, Lancaster, Penn., on March 28. Carolyn Wakeman '42 was one of the attendants. Ens. Brubaker is a graduate of Dickinson College.

1943—Judith Aultman and Lt. (j.g.) George Lincoln Rockwell '42, in St. John's Episcopal Church, Barrington, April 24. Lt. (j.g.) Shailer Cummings '42, husband of Virginia Pierson Cummings '42, was best man.

1943—Janina M. Barlowski and Corp. John D'Abate, April 10. Address: 210 Bloomsbury Ave., Havre de Grace, Md.

1943—Flora Mae Carlton and Walter M. Arnold, R.I.S.D. '38, May 1 in Cohasset, Mass. Address: 157 Cushing St., Providence.

1943—Claire M. Cohen and Stanley H. Teath '43, March 14 in Providence. Mr. Teath is a student at Boston University Medical School.

1943—Leota R. Cronin and Stewart M. Hill, M.I.T. '43 on Feb. 28.

1943—Hope Morley and Ens. Ross Hadden Gray '43, April 17, West Cheshire, Conn.

1943—Mary Streeter and Rev. Irving Francis Rose at the South Baptist Church, Providence, April 5. The ceremony was performed by her brother-in-law, Rev. Daniel C. Tuttle, who was assisted by her father, Rev. Merrick L. Streeter '09. Her sister, Harriet Streeter Tuttle '35, gave a cello recital preceding the ceremony and Dorothy Streeter Leach '38 was matron of honor. Lois G. Horst '31 was organist.

Rev. Mr. Rose is pastor of the Baptist churches in South Kingstown and West Kingston, R. I.

1943—Dorothy H. Vernon and John Seabrooke '43 in the Central Congregational Church, Providence, April 4.

1943—Priscilla Woodbury and Alexander Mackintosh Watson '42, in the First Baptist Church, Worcester, March 20. Leota Cronin Hill '43 was matron of honor and Betty Campbell '43 and Ruth Ferguson '45 were bridesmaids. Stanley Taylor '42 was best man and William Tyler '44 was an usher. Address: 406 Farmington Ave., Hartford.

Births

▶ 1928—To Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT F. MARSCHNER (Ida Noble), a second son, Richard Glenn, March 30. Address: 18427 Stewart Ave., Homewood, Ill.

1932—To Mr. and Mrs. A. Peter Ross (Ruth Berger), a son, Hilary, Nov. 27. Address: 292 Hillside Ave., Pawtucket.

1933—To Dr. and Mrs. Charles Potter (Lillian Kelman), a daughter, Eleanor Jean, March 25. Address: 71 Stanwood St., Providence.

1933—To Dr. and Mrs. Simon H. Bauer (Miriam Rosoff), a daughter, Linda Deborah. Freddy will be four in June. Address: 156 Cascadilla Park, Ithaca, N. Y.

1934—To Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bartlett (Barbara French), a daughter, Georgia, March 17. Address: 113 Rumford Ave., Mansfield, Mass.

1934—To Ens. and Mrs. John A. Priest (Legh Kennerley), a daughter, Morey, Feb. 3. Address: 4352 N. Henderson Rd., Arlington, Va.

1935—To Mr. and Mrs. Brainard Fancher (Natalie Basford), a son, Donald Alden, March 18. Address: 813 Sanders Ave., Scotia, N. Y.

1935—To Mr. and Mrs. William B. Galloway (Ruth Vaughan), a son, David, Jan. 13. Address: 215 Seaman Ave., New York City.

1935—To Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Kessler (Frances Hazard), a son, Alfred George, April 25. Address: 56 Summit Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

1937—To Mr. and Mrs. Howard De Vlieg (Priscilla Chase), a second son, Garrett Howard, Feb. 23. Daniel is 12½ months older. Address: 19,976 Ward Ave., Detroit.

1937—To Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton A. Robinson (Mary Emma Dull), a son, Gary Alexander. Address: 166 N. Dithridge St., Pittsburgh.

1937—To Mr. and Mrs. Milton G. Scribner (Dorothy Nutman), a son, Neal Mark, Nov. 29. Address: 49 Rochambeau Ave., Providence.

1937—To Mr. and Mrs. John O. Shepard (Margery Walton), a son, John O., Jr., Jan. 9. Address: 325 Bay View Ave., Edgewood, R. I.

1938—To Mr. and Mrs. George A. Mills (Dorothy Page), a son, Kenneth Brewster, March 12. Address: 1 12th St., Providence.

1939—To Dr. and Mrs. Henry F. Saunders (Marjorie Marx), a daughter, Sally Diane, Feb. 4. Address: 13633 Cedar Rd., Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

1943—To Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow E. Johnson (Leonte Gavriluk), a son, Frederick Michael, March 15. Address: 964 Ackerman Ave., Syracuse, N. Y. ❖❖

Americans are willingly adjusting themselves to wartime rationing, but every one will be happier when the need is over.

The burden is heaviest on Mother. She's getting a taste of the severe budgeting that could become permanent, if she were left with inadequate life insurance.

No man wants to ration his family for life—for lack of life insurance. With taxes and War Bonds, money for life insurance may be hard to save—but the effort is doubly worth while in wartime!

For life insurance premium dollars are fighting dollars. Through investment in basic war industries—and in Government Bonds—premium dollars support the war program, combat inflation, and provide protection for American families.

Talk things over today with a New England Mutual representative . . . so your family won't be rationed in the post-war world!

New England Mutual contracts meet present-day needs because:

- 1 DIVIDENDS begin at the end of the first year.
- 2 CASH VALUES begin at the end of the second year.
- 3 A PREMIUM LOAN is available beginning with the second annual premium.

New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston

George Willard Smith, President Agencies in Principal Cities Coast to Coast
The First Mutual Life Insurance Company Chartered in America—1835

Call another kind of conference!

A little study makes ration coupons go farther—and makes insurance dollars go farther, too.

But you don't need an adding machine, an abacus, and a family riddle to readjust your wartime insurance program. One able underwriter is enough.

A number of them are listed below. They're alumni of your college and they talk your language. They are also trained representatives of the First Mutual Life Insurance Company Chartered in America.

Out of their experience you'll get practical, constructive suggestions. They'll help you make the most of your limited life insurance dollars—help you protect your present policies with premium loans if necessary. Call an insurance conference and check your protection now when you need it most.

- | |
|---|
| FRED W. WOODCOCK , '91, Boston |
| PAUL O. CURTIS , '15, Gen. Agt., Boston |
| E. EVERETT HARKNESS , '05, Hartford |
| STEPHEN W. HOPKINS , '21,
New York City |
| HUGH ROBERTSON , '21, Boston |
| EDWIN A. COLE, JR. , '24, Boston |
| RICHARD W. PARTRIDGE , '24,
Gen. Agt., Boston |
| DAVID LANDOW , '31, New Haven |
| ALBERT H. CURTIS, II , '40, Boston |

If none of these folks is near you, you can get similar service at the New England Mutual office in your city. Or use the coupon below, and the Home Office will be glad to have a competent representative confer with you. There is no obligation, of course.

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON
Box J-3, 501 Boylston St., Boston, Mass.

Please have one of your representatives get in touch with me, without obligation on my part.

Name _____
Street _____
City _____
State _____

