

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

1943-1944

BROWN

LUMNI MONTHLY

SUMMER ISSUE

JULY, 1943

Vol. XLIV, No. 2

Do Wartime Duties Mean

Neglect

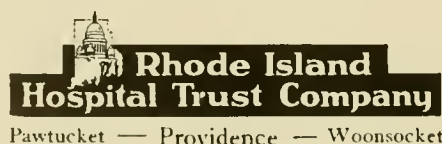

For Your Investments?

THE pressure of wartime duties is making it impossible for many individuals to give their investments proper care. Yet, we are going through a period when securities require closer supervision than ever before. Economic, governmental and social changes are taking place which are affecting, in one way or another, every investment you own.

The management of securities requires time, organization and facilities for constant analytical study of the many factors which affect their value and earning power. These essentials are provided under Personal Agency Service, together with the physical care of securities, the collecting and remitting of income, the keeping of complete records of all transactions, the making of periodic reports and advising on changes and reinvestments as circumstances dictate.

This service which the Hospital Trust Company has been performing for many years is proving particularly valuable to those who at this time are especially burdened. It is designed for all who believe that safety of principal should be the primary object of investment management, and who look for a stable return.

Why not see what Agency Service can do for you? Our officers will be glad to discuss it with you, without obligation.

► ► Introducing the New Brown Men

BY BRUCE BIGELOW, '24

Associate Dean of the College

Chairman, Committee on Admissions

► ► IF YOU HAVE a friend, Joe Blow, who has recently arrived at Brown, and if you wish to write him a letter, you would address it in one of three ways. If he is an Apprentice Seaman on active duty, the envelope might read:

J. D. Blow, A.S., U.S.N.R.
Caswell Hall, Room 37
Brown University
Providence 12, Rhode Island

If he is in the pre-meteorology program of the Army Air Force Technical Training Command, you would use an address like the following:

Pvt. Joseph Blow, Flight 6
Training Detachment
A.A.F.T.T.C. No. 12
Hope College
Brown University
Providence 12, Rhode Island

If he were a civilian student, or possible already in the armed forces but still on inactive service, you might simply write to:

Mr. Joseph Blow
Room 200
54 College Street
Providence 12, Rhode Island

One must know whether the student wears Navy blue, olive drab, or is still in tweeds (or dungarees). Regardless of what this well-dressed college Freshman is wearing, he is a Brown man. He studies in ancient Brunonian halls, saunters (or canters) on the campus walks under the braided branches of the elms, wonders whether or not Professor Blank is going to spring a surprise quiz, thinks about a date for Saturday night, and sings Brown songs. Uniforms may change the boy's appearance, daily inspections may provide a greater incentive for neatness, military indoctrination may be responsible for the use of more "Sirs," but uniforms do not change personality and character. Joe Blow, at Brown, whether a civilian or in the Army or Navy, is still Joe Blow with all the distinctive markings that make him an individual.

A large Army group arrived late in May, the new civilian students started Freshman Week in late June, and the Navy trainees reported July first. To find room and board for all, and to counsel, examine, and register them was a colossal task for the administration and faculty. The total Navy group numbers over 600, the Army detachment around 400, and the civilians about 350.

About 45% of the Navy trainees had not previously enrolled at Brown and only a dozen of the Army group are former Brown Undergraduates. The Freshman entering as civilians number 156. For the first time since the early days of the University, more than half of the Brown student body is made up of new students. These boys are already learning to like Brown, and to like one another, regardless of their uniforms or titles—an indication of both the adaptability of youth and the strength of Brown traditions. We may also salute the officers of the University and the commanding officers of the Army and Navy units for their efforts in promoting esprit de corps.

► WE BELIEVE that Brown's policy on civilian admissions is sound. We are eager to admit as many qualified candidates as our facilities permit. During the past few months we have tried to remember the needs of the boy below dratt age. We also wished to counsel the youth who already was—or was soon to be—eighteen and who would not reach college until the war ended. It was estimated that Brown could adequately care for around 150 Freshmen. Never before, therefore, was it quite so essential to keep an accurate daily count of prospective Freshmen, but never was it so difficult to determine the exact number who might enter.

Scores of boys applied to Brown, eager to secure their tickets of admission, but fully conscious of the likelihood that they would enter an Army Reception Center before they came through the Van Wickles gates. We issued these admission certificates to those who qualified, and boys have already written from camp expressing their appreciation for the University's interest. We, therefore, have today throughout the States—and soon over the globe—many boys who consider themselves to be Brown men of the future. It will be a happy year when they return from the fronts and climb College Hill.

It is also a University policy to permit any boy who has been accepted for admission to enter, even though his college days may be brief. Boys and school men appreciate this point of view. For sentimental and practical reasons the young man wishes to get started in college. If he does get a start, there is a better chance of his pursuing a college education when the war is over. The eighteen-year-old is also aware that his chances for Officer Candidate School and for the Army Specialized Training Program are somewhat enhanced by his acceptance for admission at a good college and even more so, by his matriculation.

We have already said goodbye to a few of our Freshmen. Two Milwaukee boys entered Brown as civilians and were here only a few hours when Navy V-12 orders caught up with them. Like many others, they expected to be called to active duty in November instead of in July and they, therefore, wished to gain as much college experience as possible before that time. Their orders may have been late but they were definite; one took a train back westward to the University of Wisconsin and the other was sent northward to Dartmouth. A few others—also not in the present count of 156—took their Army induction examinations after entering Brown, passed successfully and then returned to college to gather up their belongings and secure their refunds.

► IT IS RATHER surprising, and very gratifying, that we still have a geographical spread among civilian Freshmen in spite of the war. Naturally, it is not as wide as in peace time, but it is satisfactory. One city that I should mention again is Milwaukee for it is a strong Brown "base." Three schools—Milwaukee Country Day School, Milwaukee University School, and Shorewood High School—have in the past decade sent many a topnotch lad to Brown. One might wonder, therefore, why there is no Brown Club of Milwaukee. The fact is that the great majority of these young men entered during the past ten years, and although most of them have since settled in their home city, they are now serving their country in far-away places. Milwaukee, however, should have a Brown Club with alumni of youthful vigor when victory comes.

Approximately 70% of the civilian Freshmen hail from New England, and 30% from outside New England. Over many years Massachusetts has provided about 20% of the incoming class. "There she stands." Connecticut and New York are the other "steadies" for their percentages seem always to be around 7 and 15 respectively. Freshman classes usually have a third of their number from Rhode Island; in war time the increase is approximately 10%. War always seems to bring about a rise in the number of AUTHOR BIGELOW is always assured an alumni audience, especially when he is writing of newcomers to the Brown campus. His article has unusual interest today.

Freshmen coming from public schools. Ordinarily at Brown it is a 50-50 proposition—a happy distribution—but now and figures show that about 70% are from public schools and 30% from private schools. Few high school graduates are now able to spend a transitional year in a preparatory school.

Another change brought about by war, and also affecting the school distribution, is the average age of our Freshmen. For many years before the war the average age was between 18 years and 6 months and 18 years and 10 months. Today, however, the average age of the July entrants is 17 years and 8 months. They seem young, but we must remember that war thrusts the responsibilities of manhood upon these lads while they are still in their teens. The boy whose mother still thinks the apron strings are attached, and the father who admonishes his son to take care in putting the car in the garage may soon read of their youngster piloting a Liberator worth a quarter of a million dollars, and being responsible for the lives of his boyish crew. We have great confidence in this younger generation which loves the music of Harry James and hates the policies of Tojo.

Eighteen young men in this July class are sons of Brown alumni. Their fathers are spread from the classes of 1898 to 1925. Four fathers were 1922 and two, 1924. (Makes me feel old.)

There are few changes of note in vocational preferences. It may be a bit significant that until the war about 10% of each Freshman class was headed for law whereas today the percentage is five. I am also wondering what is happening to the teaching profession. Only three civilian Freshmen listed this occupation as their first choice. Medicine, on the other hand, is popular with this class for 17% of the students are pre-meds.

► MY HAT GOES OFF to this civilian group. It is not easy to enter college in 1943 without a uniform. The glamor of youth naturally goes to the Army and Navy, and the civilian student has to be made of strong stuff in order to go to college at 17 and continue his studies seriously while waiting patiently for Uncle Sam to tap him on the shoulder. This is true, regardless of the comradeship that exists on the campus between the military and civilian students.

Many boys feel that they "must get into it right away." In one college a brilliant boy, deferred in order to complete his scientific training, asked his draft board for immediate induction. He wanted to be in uniform. At Camp Devens, however, he scored so well in the General Classification Test that he was put into intelligence work, and the nature of his duties were such that he was kept in mufti. Disconsolately, he returned to see his friends, but all he could show them was an automatic pistol, a card stating he was a Private, and a pair of glasses (for his pocket, not his eyes) which he could show and say, "4-F," when some nice old lady asked him why he wasn't in the Army.

▶ ALTHOUGH the University officers did their best to make the civilian Freshmen comfortable and their orientation rapid, the Freshmen found their new Alma Mater to be a very busy old lady with too many children to feed, house and care for.

All of the fraternities offered their chapter houses to the University and leases are being negotiated. No fraternity was coerced to adopt the University plan, but all were given an opportunity. Alumni know the condition of fraternity houses at the close of a college year and can understand the problems of a University Housekeeper in putting them quickly in readiness for use as dormitories. Alumni can also understand what a Freshman meant when he saw one house before the Housekeeper's department got there first, and remarked, "I know now where the Shadow lives."

Rooms had to be numbered, personal belongings of boys now at war had to be stored, and an inventory had to be taken of each piece of furniture. The age-old question, "what do you do with a drunken sailor?" is easy compared to what do you do to a fraternity house to get it ready in one week to be used as a Freshman dormitory. And there were 16 chapter houses, most of them filled with old notes, records, books, beds, pictures, desks, clothing, golf clubs, skis, and almost anything you can think of, including the kitchen sink—which was usually out of order.

Ten houses are now in use as civilian dormitories, housing 200 undergraduates. They are: Alpha Delta Phi, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Phi, Delta Tau Delta, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Nu, and Zeta Psi. Two houses will be used as civilian Dining Halls: they are: Delta Upsilon and Sigma Chi. Four houses, less easily adaptable for use as dormitories, are at present closed, but may be used later for whatever—the University sees fit: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Psi Upsilon, and Theta Delta Chi.

It is the definite aim of the Administration to assist the fraternities during the war period. Alumni organizations, and the few undergraduate chapter members remaining on the campus, are fully aware of the serious situation that college fraternities are facing today, and are grateful for the University's policy. Alumni have been extremely co-operative. The fraternity system at Brown can be saved, but only by far-sighted planning and determined effort. Pledging of new members—civilian or Navy—will be permitted, but during the war the incentives for joining are less powerful than in days of peace. It was expected that many of the Navy transfers to the Brown V-12 program would be members of fraternities having chapters on the campus. Only one such boy was discovered, and thus another hope for the fraternities was smashed.

TEARS ON COLLEGE HILL. One phase of Army Air Force training at Brown was introduction of the pre-metereologists to gas. A tent which served as gas-chamber was pitched on the lot on the south side of College Hill, familiarly known as Adams Park. Soldiers entered it with gas-masks on, then removed them.

▶ ALUMNI MAY BE interested in a few more details concerning the service groups on the campus. The personnel of the Navy College Training Program, all now designated as V-12, comes from four different sources:

1. V-12. These students have been selected by the Navy for college training only recently. They come mostly from secondary schools and have undergone a rigid succession of screenings—mental tests, physical examinations, interviews, etc. A few have previously been on active duty and in combat with the fleet.

2. V-1. These students come almost entirely from junior and senior colleges; many are from civilian ranks at Brown. They joined the Navy as Freshmen or Sophomores before last March and were kept on inactive duty until their recent orders placed them at Brown in uniform and under military discipline.

3. V-7. These students joined the Navy as Juniors or Seniors, but, except for this difference, they have been and are now in exactly the same position as those who were in V-1. They should, of course, be an advanced academic group, and should soon have their commissions. Quite a number of these have been undergraduate civilians at Brown.

4. Naval ROTC. Brown is one of 27 American colleges and universities having Naval Reserve Officers' Training units. The Brown unit was started in 1940, and all of the 200 students now enrolled in it are regular Brown undergraduates.

The newcomers in the Navy College Training Program number about half the total V-12 enrollment. Forty colleges are represented, and the sailors come from 14 states, mostly New England, Middle Atlantic and Middle West. Seven of the Navy group are sons of alumni and several more have brothers and uncles who are Brown men. These legacies were happy when their Navy orders read "Brown."

The Navy eats in Faunce House Dining Rooms, they attend classes with civilians, they may participate in extra-scholastic activities such as the Brown Herald, Sock and Buskin, fraternities and athletics. Their day is a busy one for the program of studies is rigorous. Reveille comes at 0600, breakfast at 0700, classes, labs, or study hours most of the morning and early afternoon, physical training, recreation and athletics from 1630 to 1830, dinner at 1835, and lights out at 2230. (Incidentally, the entire University is now operating on a 24-hour clock, and many of us are still subtracting 12 from the afternoon and evening hours in order to find out what time it is.)

It would be redundant to say that the V-12 students have made a good impression on the campus. Indeed we cannot imagine College Hill without Navy uniforms, since before Pearl Harbor we have had a Department of Naval Science. The Commanding Officer is Captain Henry M. Briggs, USN, and to him and Dean William K. Selden, the liaison officer between the administration and the naval unit, go much of the credit for the smoothness with which the V-12 program got under way.

Other newcomers at the University are in the Army Air Force. (The so-called B unit began its studies last winter and will remain at Brown until September.) The C unit arrived in late May and is now singing Brown songs with the same gusto with which it sings and marches to the Army Air Force Song. This unit will be here for a 12-month program. The C unit soldiers come from 69 different colleges, and although each will debate with his roommates about the merits of his own institution, all agree that at least Brown is second best. The war does encourage a blending of loyalties. Three privates were housed together by accident, one from Harvard, one from Yale, and one from Princeton. No casualties are yet reported. Major Arthur B. Campbell, the Commanding Officer, and Professor Gilbert E. Case '25, liaison officer for the University, have our hearty praise for a splendid job of administration.

► BROWN MEN come and go, in peace and in war. The college on the Hill may have a different complexion. There is more Navy blue and Army khaki than ever before. There is more excitement—and yes, many more problems. Nevertheless, it is still the old college which has lived through every war in our nation's history and it is still a place where boys "work and play, get tired and rest, lay plans and dream of years to come." ◀ ◀

With the National Research Council

► DR. WILLIAM H. KENERSON '96, formerly chairman of the Department of Engineering at Brown, was last month elected Executive Secretary of the National Research Council, with headquarters in Washington. Dr. Kenerson has been in the Capital for two years, originally as executive secretary of the Council's Division of Engineering and Industrial Research. Since the death of Dr. A. L. Barrows last winter, he has been acting as Executive Secretary. ◀ ◀

A Wriston Sampler ◀

An excerpt from President Wriston's new book, "Challenge to Freedom", due on the book stalls July 29. (Harper & Brothers, $2.)

► ► THE MOMENT HAS COME for a great resurgence of faith in democracy and in its essential instrument, public opinion. Democracy is so vital that the ideal flourishes in very barren soil. Let us take two examples.

Russia could not become a democracy in one swift step from Czarism. The Russians could not compress into twenty years the long experience of the Anglo-Saxons from Magna Charta to Abraham Lincoln. But when the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics drew a new constitution, Stalin proudly boasted that it was "the only consistently democratic constitution in the world." We concentrated our attention upon the fact that its democratic principles were not put into full operation, overlooking the endorsement of democracy by the most successful totalitarian in the world. Whatever his practices, he recognized democracy as the ultimate ideal of government—a rare tribute, indeed.

No one who knows anything of modern China would think of calling it a mature democracy, but all report that the people are yearning for democracy; that is their ideal. T. V. Soong, China's Minister for Foreign Affairs, put the matter explicitly: "No Chinese patriot, however blinded by his devotion, will claim that China has fully realized her own democratic faith. . . . We had to try to develop in a few years from a medieval empire to a modern democracy against incessant intrigue and finally military attack of a Japan who wanted no democracy in Asia. But for all our mistakes and difficulties our democracy made us a unified nation."

Asked how his people could progress to the goal, Dr. Soong said: "If I could sum it up in a sentence I would say that what they want . . . is a revolutionary faith on your part—revolutionary faith in yourselves and in the possibilities of democracy and your democratic allies—faith enough to let yourselves and the other principal United Nations start now—realistically—to build the kind of democratic world that can stay democratic after this conflict is over."

Surely it is a paradox that the United States, which has most nearly achieved the democratic goal, appears the most discouraged about it. Should not Americans, to whom the institutions are available, have as much faith in their ideal as the Russians or the Chinese or our other distant Allies to whom the rich fruits of democracy are still unattainable?

► THE TIME IS RIPE for resurgence of faith in public opinion. The world is sick of the brutalities of power politics. The people are weary of the arrogance of bureaucracy. They are tired to death of the multiplication of pronouncements and orders and the confusions of documents and reports. The moment has come to reverse that trend, which has been bipartisan but foolish. The need is to recover our faith in the power of reason and in the ultimate significance of the individual.

The moment is not only opportune; there is no time to lose. For now we are fighting and the war cannot be won upon defeatist assumptions. If we cannot produce, we cannot win. If democracy will not work, victory is sterile. If individualism is dead, then courage is nothing but an excess of adrenalin in the blood stream, nothing but a physical fact, and of no spiritual significance. If individualism is invalid, then life is really no more than meat, nor the body than raiment, and we had best yield up the struggle at once. But if we are going to win this war and the peace that follows, the defeatist trend of twenty years must be reversed.

ALUMNI RANKS are the poorer for the death of Zechariah Chafee '80, beloved member of the Board of Fellows since 1929. He was one of four who had served the Brown Corporation to die within a month's span. (The others: Charles R. Adams '80, Dr. Hermon Carey Bumpus '84, and Everett Colby '97.) They will be the subject of an appreciative article in the next issue of this magazine.

We must go back to certain great, simple alternatives and make a conscious choice. Issues long evaded now come into sharp focus. The time is past for foggy methods of compromise; we have before us the fateful choice of life or death. This war is a war between reason and authority. It was almost lost by default, so that in France—that France which once was so close to us, that France which meant so much in the foundation and early life of this nation—reason was sold down the river for authority by the men of Vichy, with tragic consequences.

This war is a war between individualism and statism. It is a war between the American dream on the one hand and Hitler's system on the other. Statism makes the citizen a slave; individualism makes the state the servant of the citizen. It is a war between the ideal of justice and the ideal of force; however imperfectly we attain justice, that is, at least, our purpose. This is a war, to put it in a single phrase, between freedom and slavery.

Already there are evidences that the ineluctable quality of that alternative is grasped by the public mind. The law to draft eighteen-year-olds was passed by sweeping majorities. The real decision was reached by the people before it was reached by either the President or the Congress, which is as it should be. It was a triumph of the common sense of the man in the street and not a triumph of authority—something Adolf Hitler will never be able to understand.

The right decision was made, but let us stop for a moment and ask who makes this demand upon youth. It lays an obligation unprecedented in our history. They are to go into the front lines. It was said with much candor by the Secretary of War and the Chief of Staff that the young men would be the combat troops because they have the necessary resiliency.

A GENERATION OF DOUBT

► THE GENERATION who makes this unique demand is the same one that has talked incessantly about security, safety first, isolation—all the gestures which look to escape from risk. It is a generation that accepted bureaucratic stagnation rather than endure the hazards of freedom. It is a generation that sought to run away from its responsibility; it defaulted its gold contract and cut the dollar; not content with that, it saddled its extravagances upon the future by piling debt upon debt until men began to doubt they would ever be paid. It is a generation who declared that never again would the blood of American boys be shed upon foreign soil, and now we have scattered expeditionary forces over the face of this globe in a number and on a scale that would have passed the imagination of mankind ten years ago.

It is a generation doubtful of its own children. It was fearful of their competition; it sought to keep them off the labor market, passing laws to deny them economic experience, accepting limitations upon apprenticeship imposed by private groups, erecting barriers to the trades and professions in ever-increasing number and ever-growing height, all in the name of "security." Then it asked the schools to establish courses in vocational guidance—a poor synthetic substitute for the only valid economic education there is, the life of experience.

Wholly inconsistent, though fearful of its children's competition, this generation showed itself doubtful of their capacity. It has made the work of the primary and the secondary schools easier and easier. It has gone so far that 150 school systems of America have prohibited the grade of failure because the children "cannot take it."

It is a generation doubtful of its children's courage. Among my possessions is a letter from a prominent newspaper editor asking me to prepare an article explaining why the youth of this generation did not believe in anything enough to fight for it! Is it because we have bred "soft" young men that they prefer the air forces and the Marine Corps; doubtless those are the places that put safety first!

Briefly, this has been a generation doubtful of its destiny, defeatist in its economics, escapist in its politics, sentimental in its humanitarianism. Now it asks eighteen-year-olds to accept the responsibilities it has shuffled off, to accept risk when it has talked security. Of course, this has to be done, but as we ask our children to take the supreme risk, surely we cannot do less than accept the hazard attendant upon freedom and stop babbling endlessly about security. In short, the consequence of defeatism and its attendant demand for escape into security is always to transfer the risk to the next generation, which fights the wars brought on by the sins of its elders. The new program should be framed in the light of that realization. ♦ ♦

With the Armed Forces ◀ ◀

PROMOTIONS AND CHANGES OF ADDRESS

1908—Winslow, Sydney S., Col USA, CAC, McClellan Fld, Calif.
1911—Howard, Jacob M., Maj CE USA, Aloe Army Air Fld, Victoria, Tex.
1912—Marble, Wiley H., Capt USA, Winterich, John T., Col USA, Bur of Pub Relations, War Dept, Washington, D. C.
1914—Bartlett, Arthur E., Comdr USN, USNTS, Norfolk, Va.
 Files, Chester A., Col USA APO 43, c/o PM, San Francisco.
 Wolf, Maurice A., Lt Col USA, CO Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif.
1915—Burnell, Ray L., Col Inf USA, San Antonio, Tex.
 Staff, Edgar J., Maj SanC USA, Jamaica Plain, Mass.
 Tenney, Parker G., Col USAAC, CO Jefferson Bks, Mo.
1916—Chase, William C., Brig Gen USA, CO Cav Brig, Ft. Bliss, Tex.
 McLeod, H. Stanford, Col FA USA, APO 306, c/o PM, NYC.
 Rollins, Francis W., Brig Gen USA, CO Div Arty, Camp Blanding, Fla.
1918—Butner, John C. Jr., Col USA, FARTC, CO Tng Regt, Ft. Bragg, N. C.
 Flick, Lawrence G., Lt Col CE USA, War Dept Bldg., Washington, D. C.
 Higgins, William H., Lt SupC USNR, c/o Chf of Nav Opns, Washington, D. C.
1919—Crandall, Paul S., Comdr USN, Lewis, George W., Lt Col USAAC.
 Peters, Russell M., Lt Col USAAC, Tinker Fld, Oklahoma City, Okla.
 Smith, Watson, Capt USA, APO 502, c/o PM, San Francisco.
 Young, Courtney P., Lt Col USA, CA, Ft. Eustis, Va.
1920—Harriman, John W., Capt USAAC, AAFTTC, Denver, Colo.
1921—Lord, Royal B., Col CE, Massanisio, Francis P., Comdr, MC USNR, Navy Yd, Philadelphia.
 Noyes, Robert G., OC, OCS, U of Fla, Gainesville, Fla.
1922—Gerstenlauer, Robert D., 1st Lt USAAC, Morrison Fld, Fla.
 Holt, W. Stanley, Maj USA, Louisville, Ky.
1923—Addams, Robert M., Capt USAAF, Andrews, Justin M., Lt Col USA, APO 605, c/o PM, Miami.
 Gleason, Kenneth P., Pvt USMC, Parris Island, S. C.
 Gulian, Mian, OC, AAA Sch, Camp Davis, N. C.
 Horne, Charles E., Lt CEC-V(S) USNR, c/o Flt PO, NYC.
 Petersen, Edward B., 2nd Lt SC AUS, Drew Fld, Fla.
 Reynolds, Harvey S., Lt USNR, c/o Flt PM, NYC.
 Simmons, Thomas G., 2nd Lt QMC, Ft F E Warren, Wyo.
1924—Mazet, Robert Jr., Comdr MC USNR, USN Hosp, Oakland, Calif.
1925—Bennett, Kingsley L., Lt A-V(S) USNR(Avn), USNAS, Hutchinson, Kan.
 Bishop, E. Wade, Capt MC USA, Ft Bliss, Tex.
 Brown, Stuart D., Maj USA, 1st Serv Com, Boston, Mass.

Brown, Wilton, Lt USNR, Actg OinC, Navigation Div, NAS, Grosse Ile, Mich.
 Husker, George W., Sgt USAAF, APO 635, c/o PM, NYC.
 Rogers, Arthur G., Maj CWS USA.
1926—Gurney, Joseph G., Lt(sg) USNR, USNAS, Ottumwa, Iowa.
 Hassell, Arthur S., Maj USA.
1927—Bartlett, Harry H., Lt(sg) A-V(S) USNR, NAS, Quonset Pt, R. I.
 Case, Roger H., 2nd Lt FD AUS, FO, US Army, Boston.
 Heller, Abraham, Lt USAAC.
 Hudson, Gardner C., 1st Lt USAAC, AAFSAT, Orlando, Fla.

Weedon, John C. Jr., Lt USNR, Bur of Aeronautics, Washington, D. C.
 Wiener, Frederick B., Lt Col, JAGO, War Dept, Washington, D. C.
1928—Behrendt, Frederick, Lt DC USNR, c/o Flt PM, NYC.
 Smith, Dean D., Lt MC USNR, Navy 603, c/o Flt PM, San Francisco.
 Smith, Stanley H., Jr., Lt USA.

1929

Child, John P., Lt(sg) USNR, Dist Op O, NOB, Norfolk, Va.
 Clark, Bradford A., Capt USA, FA Sch, Ft. Sill, Okla.
 Shakin, George, Cpl USA, OJA, Columbia, S. C.
 Simeone, Fiorindo A., Maj MC USA, APO 519, NYC.

A Guide to Service Abbreviations

▶ ▶ AAASch—Antiaircraft Artillery School. AAB—Army Air Base. AAFNS—Army Air Force Navigation School. AAFTS—Army Air Force Training School. AAFTTC—Army Air Force Technical Training Command. AAFPFS(P)—Army Air Force Pre-flight School (Primary). AB—Air Base. AC—Air Corps. A/C—Aviation Cadet. Acad—Academy. ACISch—Air Combat Intelligence School. Actg—Acting. Adj—Adjutant. AF—Air Force. AFRTC—Armored Force Replacement Training Centre. AFS—Army Flying School. AGD—Adjutant General's Department. AGS—Aerial Gunnery School. Amphib—Amphibian. AOTC—Air Operational Training Command. APO—Army Post Office. Arty—Artillery. AS—Air Station. AS—Apprentice Seaman.
 BM—Boatswain's Mate. BOQ—Bachelor Officers' Quarters. Br—Branch. Brig.—Brigade. BTC—Basic Training Centre.
 CA(AA)—Coast Artillery (Antiaircraft). CAC—Coast Artillery Corps. Capt—Captain. CBM—Chief Boatswain's Mate. CCM—Chief Carpenter's Mate. CEC-V(S)—Construction Corps Volunteer Specialist. CE—Corps of Engineers. CEC-V(S)—Civil Engineer Corps Volunteer Specialist. CGM—Chief Gunner's Mate. ChC—Chaplain Corps. Chf—Chief. CMP—Corps of Military Police. CO—Commanding Officer. Col—Colonel. Comdr—Commander. CWS—Chemical Warfare Service.
 DC—Dental Corps. Det—Detachment. Div—Division.
 Eng—Engineers. Ens—Ensign.
 FA—Field Artillery. FARTC—Field Artillery Replacement Training Centre.
 FD—Finance Department, Fld.—Field. Flt.—Fleet. FO—Finance Office. Ft.—Fort.
 HA—Hospital Apprentice. Hq—Headquarters. Hosp—Hospital.
 Inf—Infantry. IRTC—Infantry Replacement Training Centre.
 JAGO—Judge Advocate General's Office. JASec—Judge Advocate's Section. Lt(jg)—Lieutenant junior grade. Lt(sg)—Lieutenant senior grade. Lt Comdr—Lieutenant Commander.
 Maj—Major. MB—Marine Barracks. MC—Medical Corps. Med Adm C—Medical Administrative Corps. MP—Military Police. M/Sgt—Master Sergeant.
 NAB—Naval Air Base. NACOISch—Naval Air Combat Officers' Intelligence School. NAS—Naval Air Station. NAS(LTA)—Naval Air Station (Lighter than air). NATC—Naval Air Training Centre. NATS—Naval Air Training School. NCTC—Naval Construction Training Centre. NOB—Naval Operating Base. NTS—Naval Training Station. NTSch(I)—Naval Training School (Indoctrination). NTSch(LD)—Naval Training School (Local Defense). NTSch(WR)—Naval Training School (Women's Reserve).
 O—Office, officer. OC—Officer Candidate. OCS—Officer Candidate School. OinC—Officer in Command. OJA—Office of the Judge Advocate. Op—Operations. OQM—Office of the Quartermaster General. OTS—Officers' Training School. O-V(P)—Ordnance Volunteer Probationary.
 Pfc—Private first class. PhM—Pharmacist's Mate. PM—Postmaster. PMG—Provost Marshal General. PMSec—Provost Marshal's Section. PO—Petty Officer. Pt—Point. Pvt—Private.
 QM—Quartermaster. QMC—Quartermaster Corps. QMSch—Quartermaster School. QMTR—Quartermaster Training Regiment.
 R—Reserve. RCAF—Royal Canadian Air Force. Regt—Regiment.
 S—Seaman. SanC—Sanitary Corps. SC—Signal Corps. SCTC—Sub Chaser Training Centre. Sp—Specialist. S/Sgt—Staff Sergeant. SupC—Supply Corps. Supr—Supervisor.
 TD Bn—Tank Destroyer Battalion. Tng—Training. TSS(Sp)—Technical School Squadron (Special). USCG—United States Coast Guard. USMC—United States Marine Corps. USN—United States Navy. USNATB—United States Navy Amphibian Training Base. UNACSB—United States Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board.
 WO(jg)—Warrant Officer junior grade.
 Y—Yeoman. Yd—Yard.
 1c, 2c, 3c—First, second, third class.

Sinauer, Alan B., 2nd Lt USAAC, APO 3638, c/o PM, San Francisco.

1930

Henry, Samuel J., Jr., Lt USNR, NATS, NAS, Corpus Christi, Tex.
 Roitman, Aaron H., Lt(jg), USNR, USN ATB, Solomons Br, Washington, D. C.
 Smith, H. Adrian, 2nd Lt QMC, Ft. F. E. Warren, Wyo.
 Stein, Karl E., Lt(jg) USCGR, c/o Flt PO, NYC.

1931

Davey, Ralph H., Jr., Lt Col USA.
 Frucht, Benjamin J., Cpl USA, Hotel Buckminster, Boston.
 Harson, Frederick L., Lt USNR, USN-ACSB, 150 Causeway St., Boston.
 Korb, Milton, 1st Lt USA, APO 689, c/o PM, NYC.
 Leonard, William B., Lt USA, APO 708, c/o PM, San Francisco.
 Moler, John M., WO(jg) CA USA, Ft. Tilden, N. Y.
 Moulton, Westcott E. S., Lt(jg) USNR, Armed Guard.
 Murphy, William F., Lt MC USNR, Brooklyn, N. Y.
 Nickerson, Stanton P., Lt(sg), USNR, Washington, D. C.
 Richardson, Ralph D., Maj MC USA.
 Rupprecht, Wilfred, 2nd Lt USAAC, Orlando AB, Fla.
 Williams, Edward B., Jr., Maj USAAC.

1932

Bowie, Donald E., Pvt ASTU, Rutgers U, New Brunswick, N. J.
 Caulkins, John R., Lt USAAC, APO 3506, c/o PM, NYC.
 Dolan, John R., Capt CA, USA, Ft. Wetherill, Jamestown, R. I.
 Fagan, Leroy J., Pvt. CA USA, Ft. Williams, Me.
 Femino, Richard D., Capt. MC AUS, APO 439, c/o PM, Los Angeles.
 Holleb, Eugene M., Capt MC USA.
 Johnson, Herbert B., Capt MC USA, Walter Reed Hosp, Washington, D. C.
 Mackesey, Paul F., Lt USAAC, Kearney, Nebr.
 Simon, Morton J., Ens USNR, SCTC, Miami, Fla.
 Smith, Warren J., Jr., Lt(jg) USNR, Armed Guard.

1933

Flemming, John E., Capt AGD, APO 306, c/o PM, NYC.
 Hastings, Joseph M., Lt(jg) USCGR, c/o Flt PO, NYC.
 Hoberman, Maxwell G., 2nd Lt ATC, Camp Luna, Las Vegas, N. M.
 James, William H., Lt USAAF.
 Langdon, Courtney, Lt(jg) USNR, Ft. Schuyler, Bronx.
 Mitchell, Preston B., Lt(jg) USNR, Navy Yd, Pearl Harbor, T. H.
 Rougvie, Andrew W., Jr., OC USAAC, AAF Statistical Sch, Harvard Bus Sch.
 Schulson, H. A., Pvt AF, AAFAFS, Dodge City, Kan.
 Sinclair, Edmond B., Maj MC, APO 306, c/o PM, NYC.

1934

Balmer, John, Lt AGD.
 Caldwell, E. Davis, Lt(jg) USNR, SCTC, Miami.
 Clement, Conrad C., Lt MC USN, Flt Surg, c/o Flt PO, San Francisco.
 Fenno, Charles C., Jr., Lt(sg) USNR, 3rd Nav Dist, NYC.
 Gershman, Isadore, Capt MC USA, Camp Carson, Colo.

For Service Men

Brown is Co-operating with the College Registration Service (Headquarters: 19 West 44th St., New York City), which endeavors to bring college alumni in the armed forces in touch with other alumni during leave. Registers will give names of registrants and other information at the Operating Centers listed below:

OPERATING CENTERS, JULY 7, 1943

Ames, Iowa
 Atlanta, Georgia
 Atlantic City, New Jersey

Baltimore, Maryland
 Biloxi, Mississippi
 Buffalo, New York
 Burlington, Vermont
 Chattanooga, Tennessee
 Cleveland, Ohio
 Dayton, Ohio
 Denver, Colorado
 Fresno, California
 Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
 Indianapolis, Indiana
 Jacksonville, Florida
 Kansas City, Missouri
 Lexington, Virginia

Long Beach, California
 Los Angeles, California

Louisville, Kentucky
 Miami, Florida
 Monroe, Louisiana
 Nashville, Tennessee
 Newark, New Jersey
 New Brunswick, New Jersey
 New London, Connecticut
 Norfolk, Virginia
 Old Point Comfort, Virginia
 Providence, Rhode Island
 Rochester, New York
 St. Louis, Missouri
 San Francisco, California
 Seattle, Washington

Savannah, Georgia
 Springfield, Massachusetts
 Tampa, Florida
 Honolulu, Hawaii

Memorial Union, Iowa State College
 AWVS Headquarters, 294½ Peachtree St., N. E.
 Philco House, Central Pier Building, Tennessee Ave. and Boardwalk

Emerson Hotel
 Chamber of Commerce Building
 Hotel Statler, Niagara Square
 Hotel Vermont, Main St.
 Read House
 Location of center to be changed
 Biltmore Hotel, 210 North Main St.
 Brown Palace Hotel
 Hotel California
 Penn Harris Hotel
 Claypool Hotel
 George Washington Hotel
 Continental Hotel, 11th and Baltimore Sts.
 Washington and Lee University, Main Building, Front Lobby

Hilton Hotel
 (1) U. S. O. Club Offices, Pacific Mutual Building
 (2) Biltmore Hotel
 (3) Ambassador Hotel
 (4) Union Terminal
 Brown Hotel, Fourth and Broadway
 Columbus Hotel
 Hotel Frances
 Hermitage Hotel, 6th Avenue North
 Robert Treat Hotel
 Hotel Roger Smith, Livingston Ave.
 Mohican Hotel
 Monticello Hotel
 Chamberlain Hotel
 Providence Biltmore Hotel
 Hotel Seneca
 A. W. V. S. Headquarters, 215 Coronado Hotel
 The Palace Hotel
 (1) Service Men's Club, 1322-2nd Ave.
 (2) Officers Information Service, 417 University St.
 De Soto Hotel, U. S. O. Headquarters
 Kimball Hotel
 Tampa Terrace Hotel
 Waikiki Beach, Moana Hotel

Haas, A. Frederick, Jr., Lt(jg) USNR, Bur of Aeronautics, Washington, D. C.
 Lewis, William A., Lt(jg) USNR, BOQ, NAS, Alameda, Calif.
 Littlefield, Bancroft, 1st Lt AUS, Washington, D. C.
 Paine, Stanley W., Ens USNR, NTSch, Princeton, N. J.
 Smith, Roy H., Jr., 1st Lt Inf, APO 3935, c/o PM, NYC.

1935

Batchelder, Richard A., Ens USNR, c/o Flt PM, NYC.
 Bijur, William, 2nd Lt SC, Arlington Hall Sta, Arlington, Va.
 Cullen, Joseph H., Jr., 2nd Lt USAAC, Columbus AFS, Miss.
 Cyckevich, Joseph, M/Sgt QMC, Camp Lee, Va.
 Donovan, John J., Ens USNR, NTSch, Princeton, N. J.
 Firsching, John G., Lt Inf, APO 27, c/o PM, NYC.

Joslin, Alfred H., Lt USNR, USNAS (LTA), Weeksville, N. C.
 Landman, Amos, Sgt, BTC 7, Atlantic City, N. J.
 MacLarden, Gordon, Lt(sg) USNR, c/o Vice Chief of Nav Operations, Washington, D. C.
 Nachman, Fred A., Jr., USNR, Amphib Forces, Camp Gordon Johnston, Fla.
 Peck, Walter S., Lt ChC USNR, NAS, Roosevelt Base, Terminal Island, Calif.
 Richards, William A., OC, OCS, Ft Belvoir, Va.
 Silton, Robert J., 1st Lt SC, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.
 Silvestri, Anthony, Lt USA, Ft Sill, Okla.
 Spicer, G. Thurston, A/C, AAFTTC, N.Y.U.

1936

Connly, Paul O'M., Pfc USAAC, Base Weather Sta, Box 831, Miami, Fla.
 Field, David L., Capt DC USA, APO 700, a/c PM, NYC.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Guerin, Edmond H., Ens O-V(S) USNR, Navy 1115, c/o Flt PO, New Orleans.
Howard, John E., Lt USAAF.
Jackson, Ralston S., Ens USNR.
Maiden, James C., Jr., 2nd Lt USA, Omaha, Nebr.
Myer, John C., Lt MC USN, c/o Flt PM, NYC.
Oakes, William R., 1st Lt MC USAAC, Smyrna AB, Tex.
Payne, Leon M., A/C USAAF, Roswell AFS, N. M.
Sherman, Donald S., Pvt, TTS(Sp), Atlantic City, N. J.
Wagner, Ralph E., 2nd Lt AC, APO 608, Miami.
Whitcomb, James L., Maj SC, PO Box 31, Houston, Tex.
Wilkins, Robert G., 2nd Lt MP.
Yacavone, Joseph A., 1st Lt DC, Camp Edwards, Mass.

1937

Carey, Henry B., CGM USN.
Condon, David F., Jr., Capt USMC.
Crocker, J. DeReu, 1st Lt, TD Bn, Camp Bowie, Tex.
Daniels, Donald L., Pfc. USA, Baton Rouge, La.
Darman, Morton H., Lt USA, Base Adj, Morris Fld, N. C.
Eckert, William S., Ens USNR, ACISch, USNAS, Quonset Pt, R. I.
Ensign, Powell H., Lt USNR, US Nav Hosp, Philadelphia.
Humes, Arthur G., Ens USNR, Navy 217, c/o Flt PO, NYC.
Kenyon, Charles M., Ens USNR, Flt PO, San Francisco.
Latham, Harlan F., Lt(jg) USNR, c/o Flt PO, San Francisco.
Lippman, Herman F., Ens USNR.
McGovern, David R., Maj AC, March Fld, Calif.
McPhee, Clement S., Jr., Ens USNR, USSCTSch, Miami.
Mann, Jay D., 1st Lt USA, APO 923, c/o PM, San Francisco.
Morcom, Alfred B., Ens A-V(N) USNR, NAS, Sanford, Fla.
Nanes, Harvey R., Y3c USNR.
Ostergard, Warren A., Ens USNR, NAS, Quonset Pt, R. I.
Reynolds, William D., Pvt USAAC, Gowen Fld, Boise, Idaho.
Tarpy, Martin L., Ens USNR, AOTC, NAS, Jacksonville, Fla.
Watson, Thomas J., Jr., Capt AF, Washington, D. C.
Widnall, Douglas S., Ens USNR, c/o Flt PM, Morgan Annex, NYC.

1938

Brent, Allan R., 1st Lt AF, ASC, March Fld, Calif.
Carpenter, Leonard R., 1st Lt Inf, Camp Howze, Texas.
Chase, Benjamin A. II, Capt USA, Camp Joseph Robinson, Ark.
Coffin, Harrie A., Ens USNR, c/o PM, NYC.
Edgren, John C., Lt(jg) USNR, NACOI-Sch, NAS, Quonset Pt, R. I.
Fagan, Monroc E., Jr., Lt(sg) USNR, c/o PM, San Francisco.
Gilbreth, Frederick M., 2nd Lt AC, Oakland Municipal Airport, Calif.
Grinnell, King A., 2nd Lt QMC, AAB, Millville, N. J.
Gurll, James W., Lt(sg) USNR, c/o Flt PM, San Francisco.
Harvey, John B., 1st Lt USA.

Hueston, Roland A., Jr., A/C USAAC, TSS, AAFTTC, Grand Rapids, Mich.
King, Howard H., Cpl USA.
McLaughlin Philip H., Ens USNR, c/o Flt PM, San Francisco.
Muller, J. J. Henry III, 1st Lt AGD, Ft. Lawton, Wash.
Noyes, Shelton C., Sgt JASec, APO 502, San Francisco.
Onderdonk, Dudley, Jr., 2nd Lt CWS, Paterson Fld, O.
Petrone, Victor G., Lt USA, Spence Fld, Ga.
Rich, Edward A., OC, Ft. Belvoir, Va.
Springer, George H., Ens USNR.

1939

Allison, George G. 2nd, Ens USNR, NAS, Memphis, Tenn.
Beasley, Herbert C., Jr., Lt(jg) USNR, c/o Flt PM, San Francisco.
Comstock, Frank P., Ens USNR, c/o Flt PM, NYC.
Davis, Foster B., Jr., Ens USNR, USN Sec Base, Choctaw Pt, Mobile, Ala.
Davison, John S., Ens SupC USNR, Boston, Mass.
Dodge, Theodore L., Jr., 2nd Lt SC, APO 851, c/o PM, NYC.
Eastman, William F., Jr., Lt QMC, Walla Walla, Wash.
Given, J. Cresson, Jr., 2nd Lt Med Adm C, Camp Breckinridge, Ky.
Gurney, Arthur S., Pvt, ASTU, V.P.I., Blacksburg, Va.
Gustavesen, Charles W., Jr., Ens D-V(S) USNR, NTSch, Harvard.
Herron, Douglas G., Lt(jg) USCGR, c/o Flt PO, NYC.
Hull, David V., 1st Lt Inf, APO 79, Tenn.
Kaffenberger, Karl G., Jr., 2nd Lt AC, Romulus, Mich.
Knowles, E. Sheldon, 1st Lt FA, APO 43, c/o PM, San Francisco.

Korb, L. David, Sgt USA, Aberdeen, Md.
Landman, David, Capt Inf, APO 93, Shreveport, La.
Macdonald, Arnold D., Cadet USCGR, New London.
Playe, George L., Pvt MP, Camp Gordon, Ga.
Rhodes, Frederic H., Jr., 2nd Lt, Ft. Mason, Calif.
Slade, George G., Lt(jg) USNR, Arlington, Va.
Steiner, Leonard D., Cpl, Med Det FA, APO 27, San Francisco.
Tomlin, Hollier G., Lt(jg) USNAC, c/o Flt PO, NYC.
White, Kenneth B., Lt USNR, NAS, Miami.
Wilmot, David B., 2nd Lt USA.

1940

Anderson, Samuel H., Capt AF, APO 634, c/o PM, NYC.
Bates, William H., Lt SupC USNR, Newport, R. I.
Beir, Robert L., Ens USNR, Navy 100, Flt PO, NYC.
Berman, Philip, Lt AC, Miami Beach, Fla.
Boudreau, Alfred H. O., Jr., Ens USNR, NAS, Jacksonville, Fla.
Boyd, Raymond, Jr., Lt(jg), USNR.
Brand, Daniel J., Lt USNR, NAS, New Orleans.
Brown, Jonathan W., 2nd Lt AC, LVAGS, Las Vegas, Nev.
Canner, Leonard E., Ens USNR.
Clapp, Kenneth D., Lt(jg) USNR, London.
Cronkhite, James R., 2nd Lt, Nashville AAC, Nashville, Tenn.
Crossman, John B., Lt AF, Wright Fld, O.
Curran, Raymond F., Ens USNR, c/o Flt PO, NYC.
DeLuca, John B., Ens USCGR, 1st Nav Dist USCG, Boston.

They Gave Their Lives ◀ ◀

▶ ▶ ADAMS, Henry A. '42, 2nd Lt, US-MGR—killed May 20, 1942, in plane crash in Chula Vista, Calif.
Bacharach, Lester '39, Pvt—died in Walter Reed General Hospital, June 3, 1942.
Benjamin, Alfred H., Jr. '35, S/Sgt, AUS—killed in action in North Africa, March 8, 1943.
Bessels, Edgar C., Jr. '38, A/C, AUS—killed in plane crash Dec. 6, 1942, in Mojave Desert in California.
Davis, Carl H. V. '43, Lt (jg) USNR—killed in an accident at Long Beach, Calif., June 10, 1943.
Donaldson, William N., Jr. '39, A/C, USAAF—killed in mid-air crash at Kelly Field, San Antonio.
Downing, Franklin C., Jr. '36, Pilot Officer, RCAF—killed in combat over France.
Edson, Forrest H. '41, Lt CA(AA) USA—killed in the North African area, May 2, 1943.
Erickson, William P. '41, Lt, USAAC—killed Nov. 9, 1942, in a crash over France in a raid on German positions. He was awarded the Purple Heart and is buried in England.
Fahnestock, A. Bruce '35sp, Lt AUS—died Oct. 18, 1942, in New Guinea.
Fenley, Robert H. '40, A/C, USNR—killed Feb. 10, 1941, at Pensacola Naval Air Station.

Hand, Joseph E. '43, 2nd Lt, USAAC—killed in plane accident at Key Field, Meridian, Miss., Aug. 24, 1942.
Hanisch, Charles F. '43, RCAF—died Feb. 20, 1942, at Trenton, Ontario, Canada.
Kernan, Edward F. '34 1st Lt, USAAC—killed in plane crash, Jan. 5, 1943, at Fort Myers, Fla.
Knesal, Philip M. '40, 2nd Lt, USAAF—died Mar. 23, 1941, in Station Hospital, Fort Lewis, Tacoma, Wash.
McLaughlin, William C., Jr. '40, A/C, USNR—killed in plane crash at NAS, Pensacola, Fla., Mar. 14, 1943.
Mawhinney, George L. '40, Lt (jg), USNR—killed in plane crash at NAS, Quonset Point, R. I., Mar. 10, 1943.
Randall, Gardner D. '36, Lt (sg), USNR—killed in plane crash at sea while on duty with USS Hornet in the Pacific, Apr. 21, 1942.
Sovatkin, Stanley B. '38, Capt, MC USA—died Nov. 13, 1942, in San Francisco.
Trudell, Henry P. '40, Capt, USAAC—died June 13, 1943, from illness contracted at Dow Field.
Vail, William H. II, '34, 1st Lt, MC USA—died in Army airplane crash Sept. 19, 1942, near Blairstown, N. J.
Young, Courtland H. '40, 1st Lt, USAAF—died in European area May 7, 1943. ◀

Edinburg, Joseph M., Ens USNR, Flt PO, San Francisco.
 Gould, Gardner S., Jr., Lt(jg) USNR, Squantum, Mass.
 Gould, Glenn L., Ens USNR, NAS, San Diego, Calif.
 Gourse, Samuel M., 1st Lt QMC, AAB, Orlando, Fla.
 Henshel, Harry B., Lt AC, Wright Fld, O. Horton, Richard W., S/Sgt USA.
 Humphries, William T., Jr., 1st Lt AC, ATC, APO 650, c/o PM, NYC.
 McCulloch, Raymond C., Lt USA, Camp Wheeler, Ga.
 Mignone, Robert J., Sgt, Madison, Wisc.
 Mullen, William B., Lt(jg) USNR, c/o Flt PM, San Francisco.
 Norton, Ronald A., 2nd Lt USAAF, Hamilton Fld, Calif.
 Poole, Robert T., 1st Lt AF, APO 634, c/o PM, NYC.
 Prodggers, John D., Capt AC, AAF Contract Flying Sch(Prim), O of the CO, Souther Fld, Ga.
 Records, John M., S/Sgt AF, Victorville AFS, Calif.
 Riley, Benjamin J., Lt USA.
 Schwartz, Victor B., Lt(jg) USNR, Navy 120, Flt PO, NYC.
 Verdery, Eugene F. III, Lt(sg) USNR, PO Box 7, NAS, Banana River, Fla.
 Wilcox, Myron E., Jr., 2nd Lt USMCR, MB, Quantico, Va.
 Wilder, Henry L., Jr., 1st Lt FA, Camp Shelby, Miss.

1941

Bijur, Arthur H., 1st Lt SC, APO 43, c/o PM, San Francisco.
 Brandt, Robert, Jr., Ens USNR, Miami, Fla.
 Brooks, Richard F., Lt(jg) USNR, USNT Sch, Cornell U, Ithaca, N. Y.
 Brown, Arthur T., Sgt T-4, USA, c/o PM, NYC.
 Buffum, William P. III, Ens USNR, c/o PM, NYC.
 Carpenter, Albert S., Sgt SC, AAB, Casper, Wyo.
 Cleveland, Sidney E., Ens USNR, Bainbridge, Md.
 Cohn, Robert S., Pfc AF, Minter Fld, Calif.
 Conard, George P., 2nd, Lt(jg) USNR, Navy Yd, Boston.
 Dike, Norman S., Jr., 1st Lt Cav, Ft. Riley, Kans.
 Emery, Richard S., S1c, QMSch, NTS, Newport, R. I.
 Fallon, Robert P., 1st Lt, APO 525, c/o PM, NYC.
 Grabh, Robert F., 1st Lt AC, Hq AAB, Kellogg Fld, Mich.
 Hibbert, Norman L., Ens USNR, Navy 8125, c/o Flt PO, San Francisco.
 Jackson, Frederick H., Cpl, Lowry Fld, Colo.
 James, John W., 3rd, 2nd Lt SC, Langley Fld, Va.
 Love, Richard O., Lt(sg) USNR, c/o Flt PO, San Francisco.
 MacEwen, Giles A., Lt USA, APO 464, NYC.
 Mould, George F., 1st Lt QMC, APO 681, NYC.
 Mustard, William C., Jr., Sgt Inf, APO 708, c/o PM, San Francisco.
 Nanes, Allan S., Pfc. AC, Davis-Monthan Fld, Tucson, Ariz.
 Nestor, James M., Lt(jg) USNR NNS & DD Co, Newport News, Va.

A Soldier of Brazil

► TRAJANO PUPO NETTO wrote Dean Selden this spring that he was waiting his turn to be called into active service in the Brazilian Army. "It is always with great pleasure," he said, "that I recall the days I spent in Brown University, and I only hope that when this war is over (may it be soon!) I shall have a chance to go back to the States and pay a visit to my good friends at Brown."

Pupo (his classmates soon learned that "Netto" was the Brazilian equivalent of our "Third") was at Brown as a special student during 1940-1941. As leader of the national federation of Brazilian students he was and is an important figure in the life of the State. ◀

Occhiello, John, A/C, USNR, NATC, Corpus Christi, Tex.
 O'Melia, Harry K., Cpl, Daniel Fld, Augusta, Ga.
 Pease, Charles H., Jr., Lt(jg) USNR, NAS, Moffett Fld, Calif.
 Rockwell, Thomas P., Pfc USA, Kellogg Fld, Mich.
 Sands, James H., 1st Lt USMC, APO 913, c/o PM, San Francisco.
 Schuetz, George A., Jr., 2nd Lt AC, AAF AFS, AAF, Eagle Pass, Tex.
 Sears, Burton N., Sgt USA, Camp Pickett, Va.
 Schwartz, Lewis I., Lt AC, Tech Data Lab, Eng Div, Wright Fld, O.
 Sicard, Raymond J., M/Sgt MC.
 Sokol, Jerry, 2nd Lt SC, Asbury Pk, N. J.
 Stege, Harold A., Lt USMC, c/o Flt PO, San Francisco.
 Stepczyk, Bronislaw J., A/C USAAC, AAFPPS(P), Maxwell Fld, Ala.
 Stone, Stephen G., Jr., 1st Lt AC, Rapid City AAB, S. D.
 Viall, Charles C., Sgt, APO 939, c/o PM, Seattle, Wash.
 Volk, Austin N., Ens USNR, CO, Navy 223, c/o PM, San Francisco.
 Wilson, Francis C., Ens USNR, NAS, Richmond, Fla.

1942

Allgeier, Frederick E., 2nd Lt CA(AA), Camp Davis, N. C.

Aubuchon, Norman, A/C USNR, NATC, Pensacola, Fla.
 Baxter, Richard R., Cpl AF, Ft. Logan, Colo.
 Benton, Donald F., Lt USA, APO 633, NYC.
 Burgess, Leonard R., 2nd Lt, Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.
 Case, John W., 1st Lt FA, c/o PM, NYC.
 Clarkson, Walter B., 2nd Lt AGD, Boston.
 Colnes, Robert A., 2nd Lt USA, Ft. Monmouth, N. J.
 Coughlin, Eugene J., Lt CA (AA), Camp Stewart, Ga.
 DiPrete, Arthur T., Ens USNR, NAS, Corpus Christi, Tex.
 Dolley, Stephen H., Ens SupC USNR, Navy 71, c/o PO, NYC.
 Donovan, Richard P., Lt(jg) USNR, c/o Flt PM, NYC.
 Dunn, Richard G., Cpl FA, FARTC, Ft. Sill, Okla.
 Echeverria, Charles M., Jr., Ens USNR, NAS, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.
 Fisher, Calvin, Jr., Ens USNR, Box 27, Bldg 711 NAS, Jacksonville, Fla.
 Fisher, Earle W., Sgt Eng, APO 708, c/o PM San Francisco.
 Goodman, Frederick R., A/C, Majors Fld, Greenville, Tex.
 Gould, George J., Jr., Sgt, APO 929, c/o PM, San Francisco.
 Greene, Kenneth M., 2nd Lt Inf, Camp Wheeler, Ga.
 Grout, Richard A., Pvt Eng, Ft. Belvoir, Va.
 Harman, John A., Lt(jg) USNR, c/o PM, NYC.
 Holden, John E., 2nd Lt USMC, MAB, Cherry Point, N. C.
 Hulme, Richard F., Pvt USA, Muroc AAB, Calif.
 Kaner, Jay P., Pfc Eng Amphib Com.
 Katz, Arnold, Cpl SC, Ft. Monmouth, N. J.
 Klein, Peter J., A/C USNR, NAS, Corpus Christi, Tex.
 Leach, Douglas E., Ens USNR, SCTC, Miami.
 Lewis, Roland A., Lt(jg) USNR, NAS, Jacksonville, Fla.
 Lyman, Howard B., Cpl MP, PMG Sch, Ft. Custer, Mich.
 Marrin, Oswald W., Jr., Lt USMC, c/o Flt PO, San Francisco.
 Mitchell, Matthew J., Ens USNR, Washington, D. C.
 Munyan, Winthrop R., Pvt. SC, Camp Crowder, Mo.
 Noonan, Daniel H., 2nd Lt USA.
 Paine, Thomas O., Ens USNR, Quarters "D", Sub Base, New London.
 Perry, Bradley T., Ens USCGR, c/o Dist CG Officer, Boston.
 Pevoto, Robert N., 2nd Lt, Hq 8th Serv Com, Dallas, Tex.
 Potter, William R., Ens USNR, c/o Flt PO, San Francisco.
 Rockwell, G. Lincoln, Lt(jg) A-V(N), USNR, c/o PM, NYC.
 Rose, George C., Jr., Ens USNR, c/o Flt PO, NYC.
 Saunders, William K., A/C, AAFNS, San Marcos, Tex.
 Senter, George D., 2nd Lt CA(AA), APO 986, c/o PM, Seattle, Wash.
 Sincoff, Philip L., Sgt, FA, OCS, Ft. Sill, Okla.
 Smith, Donald B., Ens USNR, c/o Flt PO, San Francisco.
 Spear, Harvey M., Lt USMC, 14th Nav Dist, Flt PO, San Francisco.

Spicer, William A. 3rd, Sgt PM Sec, APO 302, NYC.
 Staley, Richard N., Ens USNR, General Delivery, Flt PO, San Francisco.
 Swanezy, Edward F., A/C USA, Box 469, M.I.T. Dorms, Cambridge, Mass.
 Taylor, Mynderse H., A/C, USA, APO 838, c/o PM, New Orleans.
 Terry, Willard R., Jr., Lt, USA.
 Thayer, Arthur L., Ens USNR, Norfolk, Va.
 Whynaught, Harris L., A/C USNR, NAS, Pensacola, Fla.
 Wochomurka, Adolph C., A/C USNR, NAS, Pensacola, Fla.
 Ziobrowski, Bernard, PhM3c USNR, USN Hosp, Bainbridge, Md.

1943

Alger, Jarvis H., A/C USAAC, AAFTTC, Grand Rapids, Mich.
 Bistline, Roy M., A/C, Ellington Fld, Tex.
 Bliven, George F., Jr., Ens USNR, NAS, Corpus Christi, Tex.
 Bohl, Leighton T., Jr., 2nd Lt USMC, Quantico, Va.
 Buffum, David, Jr., S/Sgt MC, AAFTTS, Gulfport Fld, Miss.
 Bumpus, William N., Ens USNR, NAS, Seattle, Wash.
 Buxton, E. Anthony, Ens USNR, Pensacola.
 Cate, Stanley E., Cadet, USCG Acad, New London.
 Cooper, David B., Pfc USMC, MB, Parris Island, S. C.
 Fournier, Roland O., Pvt USA, Atlantic City, N. J.
 Hall, Russell J., Lt USAAF, Cochran Fld, Ga.
 Johnson, Robert A., Jr., 1st Lt AC, APO 520, c/o PM, NYC.
 Leeb, Peter L., Pfc USMC, Quantico, Va.
 McLellan, Walter J., Cadet USNAC, USNRAB, Squantum, Mass.
 Mayhew, John W., Jr., Ens USNR, NAS, Jacksonville, Fla.
 Meily, John J., Jr., Pfc USMC, MB, Parris Island, S. C.
 Miller, E. Eliot, Pvt USMC, MB, Parris Island, S. C.

Miller, Robert H., Lt AC, APO 929, c/o PM, San Francisco.
 Murphy, David W., Cadet, USAAF.
 Parker, William N., Pvt USA, Camp Upton, N. Y.
 Ricketson, Flint, Pfc USMC, OCS, MB, Quantico, Va.
 Smith, George W., A/C USNR, Room 303 Lewis Hall, USN Pre-Flight Sch, Chapel Hill, N. C.
 Towler, David W., A/C USAAF, Boca Raton Club, Fla.
 Truelson, John R. H., Lt USMC, Quantico, Va.
 Washburn, Ralph S., Jr., A/C USNR, AB, Anacostia, D. C.
 Wooster, Warren S., Ens USNR, Nav Research Lab, Washington, D. C.

E-S-40

Bruno, Charles F., A/C USNR.
 Capouch, Francis J., A/C USNR, NAS, Pensacola, Fla.
 Carson, Philip W., Lt AF.
 DelGuidice, Robert C., USAAC.
 Dorrance, John F., 2nd Lt CA(AA), Camp Stewart, Ga.
 Dowe, Marshall C., A/C USAAC, Maxwell Fld, Ala.
 Flynn, George B., Pvt USA.
 Goodchild, Charles H., A/C USNR, NAS, Pensacola, Fla.
 Harbach, William O., CBM USCG, Staten Island, N. Y.
 Hines, William M., Sgt USA, Tyndall Fld, Fla.
 Holmstrom, Fritz M. G., Pvt CA, Ft. Andrews, Mass.
 Kenny, Frank J., Jr., Pvt CA.
 Lawton, Francis W., A/C USNR, Jacksonville, Texas.
 McCabe, Benjamin Y., Pfc USA, Grand Rapids, Mich.
 McCarthy, Clement, Pvt FA.
 McDonough, Frank V., Pvt Inf, Camp Maxey, Texas.
 Naylor, Charles T., A/C AC, AAC, Nashville, Tenn.
 Peck, Charles C., Jr., Pvt AF, Sheppard Fld, Texas.

Newly Decorated

► ANDERSON, Samuel H. '40, Capt USAAF—awarded the Order of the Purple Heart, April 1943; awarded three oak leaf clusters, May 1943.
 Humphries, William '40, Lt, USAAC—awarded Air Medal, April 1943.
 Miller, Robert H. '43, Lt, USAAC—awarded Air Medal in New Guinea, May 4, 1943.
 White, Kenneth B. '39, Lt (jg) USNR—awarded Air Medal for exploits in the South Pacific, announced May 4, 1943. D.F.C. previously received.
 Burbank, Walter W. '37, Lt, USAAF—awarded Air Medal for anti-submarine patrol flights over the Atlantic Ocean, announced May 22, 1943.
 Horn, William P., Jr. '37, 2nd Lt, USAAF—awarded Air Medal for anti-submarine patrol flights over the Atlantic Ocean, announced May 22, 1943.

Strachan, Richard W., A/C USNR.
 Zinke, John A., A/C USNR.

E-S-41

Ahern, Walter G., Pvt AC, AAFTTC, Atlantic City, N. J.
 Barrows, Richard H., Pvt AC.
 Blacher, Donald L., PO3c, USNTS, Newport, R. I.
 Bliven, John S., A/C USNR, NAS, Pensacola.
 Bradford, William J., Jr., Cadet US Merchant Marine Acad, King's Pt, L. I., N. Y.
 Brown, Harrison A., Jr., Pvt AC, Jefferson Bks, Mo.
 Burke, William E., A/C USNR.
 Burnham, Frank J., Sgt Inf APO 1, NYC.
 Carmichael, Raymond, S1c USNR, NTS, Newport, R. I.
 Carroll, James A., Jr. BM1c 2551 USCG, Navy Yd, Portsmouth, N. H.
 Chick, Alton C., Jr., Pfc AF, Grand Rapids, Mich.
 Clafin, Robert C., S2c USN, NTSch, Portsmouth, Va.
 Donahue, Thomas H. III, A/C USNR.
 Johnston, William S., A/C USAAC, San Antonio, Tex.
 Macdonald, Linford S., Lt FA, Camp Hood, Tex.
 Mills, Richard F., S2c USN, c/o Flt PO, NYC.
 Naylor, Charles T., A/C USAAC, Monroe, La.
 Piper, David A., Pvt AF, Atlantic City, N. J.
 Radnovich, Gerald F., A/C USNR.
 Robertson, George W., Pvt Med Bn, Camp Blanding, Fla.
 Samos, William J., S2c USCG, Boston.
 Shakespeare, George, Pvt AC, Miami Beach.
 Simons, Jerald M., Pvt CA, Ft. Andrews, Mass.
 Smith, Browning W., A/C USNR, USN Pre-flight Sch, Chapel Hill, N. C.
 Stoops, William A., Jr., A/C USNR.
 Styles, Martin H., Midshipman, Mass Maritime Acad, Hyannis, Mass.
 Terry, Michael H., USN, Boston.
 Tobelman, James G., USA.

Lives in Suspension ◀ ◀

Missing or Prisoners

► BATES, Milton M. '22—civilian prisoner, at one time reported living as usual at his hotel in Shanghai.
 Bookman, John J. '35, Lt (jg) MC USN—prisoner of war in the Philippines.
 Burnham, George E. '07—civilian prisoner in the Philippines.
 Calhoun, Robert W. '43, Ens USNR—reported missing in action Apr. 13, 1943, by the Navy Dept.
 Conzelman, Clair M. '31, Lt Col USA—Japanese prisoner of war in the Philippines.
 Cook, Howard E. '29—held civilian prisoner in Shanghai.
 Cooke, Elton W. '42, Ens USNRAC—missing in action, presumably in the Alaska area.
 Coone, Herbert W. '34, Capt MC USA—Japanese prisoner of war in the Philippines.
 Corp, Henry W. '07—civilian prisoner in Manila.

Gever, Gabriel '38, 2nd Lt USA—American prisoner of war in Germany; interned at OFLAG, 9 A/Z, Germany, 4396.
 Gorski, Alexander A. R. '38, Ens USN—reported missing May 11, 1942, after Manila Bay capitulated.
 Johnson, Harlow E. '38, Sgt RCAF—reported missing in action for some time, June 3, 1942.
 Lohr, Thomas F. '41, 1st Lt USAAF—prisoner of the Germans.
 Nason, Burton C. '42, Lt (jg) USNR—reported missing in action in the Pacific area.
 Raymond, William H., Jr. '37, Capt USAAC—interned in Spanish Morocco for the duration of the war.
 Whitaker, Charles H. '33—American Vice Consul in the Philippines; reported a prisoner and interned in Manila May 21, 1942.
 Williams, W. Birkett '42, 1st Lt, USAAF—missing in action in Africa since Jan. 11, 1943.

Walser, Theodore D., Jr., Pvt USA, Ann Arbor, Mich.

E-J-42

Bailey, William U., Pvt USMC.
Barnes, Robert C., Pvt AC, AAF TTC, Atlantic City, N. J.
Bates, Earl K., Jr., Pvt AC, Scott Field, Ill.
Blanchard, Edward P., Jr., A/C USNR.
Cate, Allen P., S2c USN, USNTS (Signals), U of Ill, Urbana, Ill.
Farnham, Joseph H., Jr., Pvt USMC.
Fradley, Frederick M., Pvt AC, TSS (Sp), Atlantic City, N. J.
Hailer, Frederick C., Jr., Pvt SC.
Holzinger, Richard J., Pvt AF, AAF TTC, Miami Beach.
Jacobsen, Robert F. A., Pvt AF.
Krise, Edward F., Pvt, FRTC, Ft. Knox, Ky.
Provost, Cornelius W., AS USNR, USN-TS, Newport, R. I.
Selmer, Edward N., Pvt AC.
Shaw, Robert W., Pvt AF, Atlantic City, N. J.
Thierry, Richard R., Pvt USMC.
Thompson, Robert M., Pvt AC.
Ulich, Harold B., Pvt AC.

E-O-42

Badamo, Donald J., Pvt MC, Camp Robinson, Ark.
Cook, Robert R., Pvt USA, Camp White, Ore.
Lewis, Robert J., AS USN, NTS, Newport, R. I.
Shea, Joseph F., Jr., Pvt Inf, San Luis Obispo, Calif.
Watson, Franklin J., AS USN, NTS, Newport, R. I.

Not Previously Listed

1906—Shor, George G., Maj AUS, Office of Strategic Services, Washington, D. C.
1907—MacLean, Donald, Lt Col SC, USA, Ft. Monmouth, N. J.
1915—MacLeod, C. Gordon, Maj AUS, Ft. Monroe, Va.
1918—Eden, Charles H., Capt AA AUS, Ft. Eustis, Va.
1920—Bitting, Kenneth H., Lt Col USAAC, ASC, Patterson Fld, O.
1923—Fisher, Jerome, Pfc AUS, Daniel Fld, Augusta, Ga.
Grunewald, Eugene F., Lt Col GSC AUS, 39 Whitehall St., NYC.
Stanley, Philip E., Lt USNR, NATC, Corpus Christi, Texas.
Thibodeau, George F., Lt Comdr CEC-V (S), USNR, NCTC, Camp Peary, Va

A.F.S. Volunteers

► THE new Roster of American Field Service Volunteers, 1939-1943, gives the names of Brunonians in the company of those who have served in the various units. First to join up was Windsor Lewis '39, who was en route to France aboard the S.S. Exeter, which turned back in mid-ocean at news of the French armistice. Unit I in the Middle East with the British and Fighting French included E. Freeman Hersey '38. Others have been: Unit II—William R. Hirschberg '44; Unit XXVIII—Burton G. Shevelove '37; Unit XXXII—Robert W. Elsner '44; Unit XXXVII—Byron Mason Bowen '43 and Conrad Brown '45.

His Italian Prisoners at Atterbury

► ► LT. COL. J. LINDLEY GAMMELL '16, commanding officer of the 1537th Service Unit, "which guards and administers the Internment Camp", was pictured in the June 25 issue of The Camp Crier of Camp Atterbury, Ind. The same issue published a photo of several hundred Italian prisoners of war attending outdoor mass, celebrated by Bishop John O'Hara, vicar ordinariate for Army and Navy Chaplains. He "expressed complete satisfaction with the prisoner of war setup in Atterbury."

The Colonel's biographer in The Camp Crier described him as a veteran field artillery officer of the Regular Army who was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action in World War I, during which he took part in four major engagements. "Col. Gammell came here from Ohio State University where he was on the ROTC staff as professor of military science. He is a graduate of Brown University, the School of Fire at Ft. Sill, and the Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth. He also attended Oxford University in England, and was a newspaperman and football official for many years. For a time during the last war he served with the French army."

Troppoli, Daniel V., Lt Comdr MC, USNR.

1924—Half, Ivan, Pvt AUS, Hq Det, APO 3422, c/o PM, NYC.

1925—Ballou, Norman V., Lt Comdr, USNR, Aide to the Comdt, NOB, Newport.

Brown, Paul J., USCGR.

Dana, Newton T., Lt, USNR, Navy Yd, Boston.

Davis, Wesley, Y3c, USNR, NTS, Great Lakes, Ill.

French, John A., Pvt, AUS, Med Det, Ft. Belvoir Va.

Greenwood, Walter R., Lt(jg), USNR, NTSch, Harvard Univ, Cambridge.

Hoffman, Harry L., Pvt, AUS, Camp Hale, Colo.

Hukill J. Spencer, Lt, USNR, Rm 1210, Navy Bldg, Washington, D. C.

1926—Hardy, Ralph J., S1c, USN, Miami, Fla.

MacDonald, Milton T., Capt, USA, APO 611, c/o PM, NYC.

Viault, George, Maj, USAAF, Washington, D. C.

1927—Heller Abraham, 2nd Lt, USAAC, APO 942, c/o PM, Seattle, Wash.

Keve, Kirtland J., Lt, AUS, Savannah QM Depot, Savannah, Ga.

Marcus, Alan D., 2nd Lt, CMP, NYC.

Meyers, Harold R., Jr., Capt, MC, AUS, Camp Medford, Oregon.

1928—Bryant Samuel H., Lt(jg) USNR.

Getz, John J., Jr., Capt, AUS, War Dept Price Adjustment Bd, Washington, D. C.

Heffernan, John M., Pvt, AUS, Grenier Fld, Manchester, N. H.

1929—Bearce, Prescott K., Capt, CWS.

Heller, Hyman, Lt(sg) MC, USNR, Navy Yd, Boston.

Larkin, Samuel B., S1c, USN, NAS, Quonset Pt, R. I.

Stevens, Shirley E., CCM, USN, USNCB c/o Flt PO, San Francisco.

1930—Hodge, Hubert C., BM1c (T) USCGR, New Haven, Conn.

Rosenberg, Robert H., Ens CC-V(S) USNR, NTSch(I), Ft. Schuyler, Bronx, N. Y.

Weiss, C. S., HA1c USNR, NTSch(WR), Cedar Falls, Iowa.

1931—Day, Richmond A., Lt(jg) SC-V(S) USNR.

Fisher, Kenneth S., Lt(jg) USNR, Ft. Schuyler, Bronx, N. Y.

Mackenzie, William McA., Lt(jg), USNR, NTSch(I), Fort Schuyler, Bronx, N. Y.

Skinner, Oscar E., Jr., Lt USNR, NOB, Norfolk, Va.

1932—Clarke, T. Dexter, Lt(jg) USNR, NAB, Melbourne Beach, Fla.

Johnson, Robert E., Capt USMC, USMC AS, El Toro, Calif.

Kenney, James H., Jr., Lt(jg) USNR.

Pearce, Warren A., Lt(jg) SC-V(S) USNR.

1933

Beach, Eliot F., Capt AUS, APO 8898, c/o PM, San Francisco.

Cohen, Bernard I., Pfc, AUS, Dale Mabry Fld, Tallahassee, Fla.

DesLauriers, Norman A., 2nd Lt, AUS, Camp Crowder, Mo.

Mahler, Carl H., Lt AUS, APO 832, c/o PM, New Orleans, La.

Merkel, Daniel R., Lt(jg) USNR, NTSch, Harvard Univ, Cambridge, Mass.

Miller, Warren A., Pvt CA(AA), AUS, Ft. Sheridan, Ill.

Semmes, William A., Lt(jg) USNR, NTSch(LD), South Boston, Mass.

Taylor, Maurice T., Sgt QMC, Ft. Wadsworth, S. I., N. Y.

1934

Akin, John G., Lt(jg) USNR, USNATB, Solomons Br, Washington, D. C.

Ames, Knight, 1st Lt QMC, OQMG, Washington, D. C.

Bogert, Donald C., Lt AUS, APO 102, Camp Maxey, Texas.

Branch, William F., Pvt AUS, IRTC, Ft. McClellan, Ala.

Carpenter, Henry G., Jr., Ens USNR, c/o PM, NYC.

Kurtz, Harry R., Lt(jg) SupC USNR, NAS, New Orleans, La.

Pennell, John H., Ens CEC USNR, Camp Peary, Va.

Thoresen, Philip B., A/C USAAC, AAF-TTC, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Whitney, George C. II, Lt(jg) A-V(S) USNR.

1935

Richmond, Howard, Ens USNR, NTSch, Ft. Schuyler, Bronx, N. Y.

Sherman, Robert S., Lt AUS, APO 668, c/o PM, NYC.

Zalkind, M. Norman, Ens USNR.

1936

Adams, Frederick, Pvt AUS, Camp Swift, Texas.

Dodds, William G., 1st Lt AUS.

Eddy, Warren H., 1st Lt MC AUS, Camp Roberts, Calif.

Gallagher, John J., Ens USNR, Naval Flt Instrs Sch, Bloomsburg, Pa.

Hand, Edward F., Ens D-V(S) USNR.

Pottle, John F., Ens USNR, Quonset Pt, R. I.

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Putnam, David B., Lt. USAAF.
Stevens, Frederick A., Jr., AS USNR,
OTS, Cornell Univ, Ithaca, N. Y.
Wallace, Walter A., BM1c USNR, Navy
231, Flt PO, NYC.

1937

Briggs, Sheldon A., Ens D-V(S) USNR.
Campbell, David S., 2nd Lt AUS, BOQ,
Morrison Fld, West Palm Beach, Fla.
Hanson, John C., Ens USNR, Sch of Com,
Harvard Univ.
Kavanagh, James L. G., Ens SC-V(S)
USNR.
Shaulson, Philip, Cpl AUS, Rock Island,
Ill.
Strong, Fred E., USAAC, APO 775, c/o
PM, NYC.
Watters, William M., Sp2c USNR, c/o
USN Motion Pict Liaison Office, 20th
Cent Fox Film Corp, Beverly Hills, Calif.

1938

Cain, Charles C. 3rd, Pvt AUS, Camp
Niantic, Conn.
Cooper, Joseph I., Ens USNR, USN Forces,
London.
Covert, John H., Pvt CA(AA) AUS, APO
929, c/o PM, San Francisco.
Fiore, John S., Actg Cpl AUS, Ft. Wadsworth,
N. Y.
Fontaine, Edward A., Cpl, AUS, Ft. Monmouth,
N. J.
Forbes, Frederick A., AUS, Camp Hood,
Texas.
Keema, Alexander W., Jr., Ens D-V(G)
USNR, USNR Midshipman's Sch, NYC.
King, Howard H., Cpl AUS.
Lemaux, Irving W., Jr., 2nd Lt AUS, APO
464, c/o PM, NYC.
Lincoln, Robert L., Cadet USCGR, USCG
Acad, New London.
McGann, Paul W., Ens USNR.
Rodio, Orlando, Pvt AUS, Camp Niantic, Conn.
Tucker, William A., Pvt USAAC, AAFTS,
Sioux Falls, S. D.
Wessel, Lewis, 2nd Lt, USAAC, OAB,
Orlando, Fla.
Zang, Leroy L., 2nd Lt AUS, Camp Merced, Calif.

1939

Bieluch, William C., USCGR, USCG
Acad, New London.
Connor, Thomas H., Cpl AUS, APO 612,
c/o PM, NYC.
Creighton, Philip M., Cpl CE USA, Lexington, Ky.
Jaburg, Henry K., Jr., Pvt CA(AA), San Diego, Calif.
Leland, John C., Pfc AUS, APO 929, c/o
PM, San Francisco.
O'Brien, William J., Pvt AUS, Ft. Monmouth,
N. J.
Phelps, Henry G., Ens USNR, c/o Supvr of Shipbldg, Forc River, Mass.
Robinson, Justin, Lt USAAC.

1940

Bailey, John R., OCS, Ft. Washington, Md.
Berkelhammer, Cyril L., Pvt AUS, Ft.
Devens, Mass.
Cousin, Jacques, 2nd Lt Med Adm C, Camp
Blanding, Fla.
Daly, Daniel W., Jr., Ens USNR, Armed Guard.
Hynes, Ralph E., Ens USNR, Fleet PO,
San Francisco.
Joslin, Robert L., Pfc, Ft. Devens, Mass.
Reiss, Bernard C., Pvt AUS.
Urban, George T., QMC, Camp Shelby,
Miss.

Army-Navy "E" to Gilbane's

► TOM GILBANE '33 as President-Treasurer and Bill Gilbane '33 as Vice President take a bow together (as they have usually been in the habit of doing) as a result of the award of the Army-Navy E to the Gilbane Construction Co. for work well done on big contracts in and near Newport. The Gilbane firm is the third New England construction company to win the coveted letter. Tom is the responsible head in the field as successor to his late father.

1941

Batchelder, Clayton E., Ens USNR, Amphib Flt PO, NOB, Norfolk, Va.
Cranston, John A., Ens USCGR, Flt PO, NYC.
Drenan, James W., Pfc AUS, Ft. Bliss, Texas.
Epstein, Hans J., Cpl, Camp Richie, Md.
Ferguson, Allen R., USAAC.
Green, Oliver H., Pvt SC, Ft. Monmouth, N. J.
Hanczaryk, Edwin W., Pvt AUS, AAFTTC, Miami Beach, Fla.
Hauck, Richard T., Ens USNR, Boston.
Hopkins, Robert, Pvt USAAC.
Johnston, Raymond E., A/C USAAF, BTC No. 1, Boca Raton Fld, Fla.
LeGros, Emile A., Midshipman USNR, NYC.
McAlpine, George W., Ens USNR.
Mars, John R., T/5, Med Det, Ft. Benning, Ga.
Pearce, William C., 2nd Lt, USAAC.
Rothstein, Joshua A., 2nd Lt, PO Box 686, Memphis, Tenn.
Union, Robert B., Cox USNR, USNAS, Quonset Pt, R. I.
Vierling, Arthur J., A/C USAAF, Cambridge, Mass.

1942

Bliss, Donald T., Ens, D-V(S).
Bernardo, Aldo S., Sgt AUS, Ft. Logan, Colo.
Cummings, Stanley L., Pvt, Camp Hale, Colo.
Gould, Maughan, Ens USNR, NTSch (LD), South Boston, Mass.
Hammett, Charles E., Pvt, USA, FARC, Ft. Briggs, N. C.
Orentlicher, Norman B., Pvt, 2nd QMTR, Camp Lee, Va.
Peirce, Richard C., USA.
Simmons, Desmond L., Ens CEC-V(S) USNR, OTS, Camp Peary, Va.
Spencer, Charles E. III, AS USN, Naval Hosp, Newport, R. I.
Szarko, Joseph E., A/C USAAF, Ocala, Fla.
Vernon, Robert J., Jr., Pvt USAAF, Reed Colg, Portland, Ore.

1943

Alger, Jarvis H., A/C, USAAC, AAFTTC, Grand Rapids, Mich.
Armor, Paul C., 2nd Lt AUS, 506 Kingsley Arms, AP Area, Ft. Monmouth, N. J.
Blackburn, Walter L., Pvt USA, Univ of Vt, Burlington, Vt.
Bohl, Leighton T., Jr., 2nd Lt, USMC.
Carlisle, C. Robert, 2nd Lt, USA.
Cooke, James A., 2nd Lt SC, AP Area, Ft. Monmouth, N. J.
Cook, Joseph E., Jr., Pvt, USA, AAFTTC, Atlantic City, N. J.
Cooney, Francis X., 2nd Lt USMC.
Finn, Daniel F., Pvt QMC, Camp Lee, Va.
Kramer, Robert, Midshipman USNR, USNR Midshipman's Sch, Notre Dame.
Laubach, Jack H., Ens O-V(P) USNR.
MacAusland, David B., YM2c, USN, Flt PO, NYC.
Prehluda, Warren S., Pvt. USAAF, Atlantic City.
Schmalz, Robert D., Pvt. USAAF.
Sen, John J., Pvt, AFRTC, Ft. Knox, Ky.
Sneider, Richard, Pvt, USA.
Tamburri, Thomas N., Cpl SC, Ft. Monmouth, N. J.
Traill, Robert, Jr., 2nd Lt USMC.
West, George T., Ens USNR, NTSch, Cornell U, Ithaca, N. Y.

E-S-40

Berry, Robert G., USA, Ft McClellan, Ala.
DeWitt, Theodore A., A/C USNR, U of NC, Chapel Hill, N. C.
Dolbashian, Edward M., Pfc USA, Camp Campbell, Ky.
Fernald, Willard B., Pvt. USA, AAFTTC, BTC 9, Miami Beach, Fla.
Greenberg, Lee M., ASTP, Ga Sch of Tech, Atlanta, Ga.
McConnell, Allen, Pvt USA, Bowdoin Colg, Brunswick, Me.
Simpson, Philip A., Ens USCGR, c/o Flt PM, NYC.

E-S-41

Bliven, John S., A/C USNRAC, NAS, Pensacola.
Carroll, James A., Jr., BM1c USCG, Navy Yd, Portsmouth, N. H.

E-F-42

Greene, Harold W., Pvt USMC, MB, Paris Island, S. C.
Silverman, Sheldon, Pvt USAAF, AAF-TTC, BTC 4, Miami Beach.

E-J-42

Briggs, Charles W., AS USN, USNTS, Newport, R. I.

Reunion in Baton Rouge

▶ ▶ "WHEN clippings about the unusual reunion of seven Brown men in Africa reached us here, we were reminded of our own larger Southern reunion," Pfc. Leonard S. Sutton '44 from Baton Rouge wrote early this month. "Sixteen former Brunonians from far-flung Army posts met once again at another collegiate crossroads at Louisiana State University.

"The entire group swarmed into Baton Rouge June 29 to celebrate our meeting. Before long we had cornered the tables and, as we had done so many times in the past, renewed our memories of all that had gone by and looked forward to the days to come. It wasn't long before the strains of 'We Are Ever True to Browo' were ringing through the city and turning the heads of passers-by.

"The majority of the fellows are stationed at the Army Administration School Enlisted Branch No. 4, which has been set up at the University. Their program of study is devoted to instruction in the administrative and technical duties of a specialized clerk. Upon graduation the men will be assigned to larger headquarters units for personnel or orderly room work. The men include: Louis V. Jackvony, Jr., '44, Robert O. Case '44, Wm. Austin McCabe '43; Abraham Ehrenhaus, Thomas M. Walker, James J. Tyrell, Milton Machlin, Robert G. Kerr, and John A. Maloney, who entered in September '41; Robert J. A. Thacker and William J. Alpern, who came to Brown in '42.

"The remainder of the group, numbering five Brunonians, were recently graduated from Arkansas State College as administrative and technical clerks. Having earned the rating 'commando typists', we were sent to L. S. U. to await advanced classification in the Army Specialized Training Program. After assignment we will be transferred to other colleges to study specialized fields: engineering, languages, medicine."

The group has already been dispersed, we learn from other sources. ◀ ◀

▶ ▶ Who Is That Nazi?

▶ ▶ WHO is this Charles Flick-Steger?

The question is asked each time he is mentioned in the American magazines and newspapers, usually as a "graduate" of Brown University and always as a turncoat American serving the Nazis. The latest reference was in Louis P. Lochner's article, "Eight American Traitors," in Look, which was accompanied by a photograph of the fellow and this caption, "Composer, writer, Brown University graduate, now a German citizen and Nazi party member, he masterminds in China."

Lochner, describing the unbelievable experience of being in Paris in 1940 as the guest of the German — not the French — army on Bastille Day, wrote:

"As if to add to the unreality of it all, I encountered a man whom I had always considered an American. In the fashionable Hotel Scribe in downtown Paris I saw Charles Flick-Steger in the uniform of a German second lieutenant. He was clicking heels, vociferously shouting, 'Heil Hitler,' to the German officers who acted as our guides. He is now in charge of Axis propaganda in Japan-controlled China, probably working from Shanghai.

"I had met Charlie early in 1936 when he was dividing his time between composing music and writing feature stories for an American syndicate. He acquainted me with his opera 'Leo and Editra' which had just had its premier in Krefeld in the Rhineland.

"Apparently his musical genius did not impress itself favorably upon the Nazis. But they seemed to believe that this ingratiating intellectual, who once lived in Saylesville, R. I., and attended Brown University, might make a good radio propagandist. So he was accepted into the Nazi party, given an officer's commission, and admitted to full German citizenship probably about the time war began. When we met him in Paris he was doing so-called eye witness broadcasts from the German front."

▶ ACTUALLY, this "graduate" was at Brown for one year, as an infantry private in the S.A.T.C., a special student in 1918-1919. Born in Saylesville, R. I., and named Charles L. Flick, he was a graduate of Pawtucket High School. He went to Europe soon after the war, studied at the Berlin State Academy of Music in the master class from 1921 to 1924, and previously at the Vienna State Academy of Music in 1920. He had studied, too, in Boston, Brussels, and Munich.

Biographical sketches in various musical publications speak of him as composer of lieder, concert songs, compositions for violin and piano, a symphonic poem, a violin concerto, a string trio, two operas, an operetta (produced in Holland in 1924), arias, ballads, etc. An NBC broadcast for July 4, 1938 included a concert performed by the Bad Orb Symphony Orchestra in Bad Orb with him as conductor. This was part of the "official White House program", carried coast to coast in this country, and including a new composition by Flick, "the inspiration for which came to him during a visit to Independence Hall in Philadelphia in 1936." In that year a new opera of his was broadcast over American radio stations from Germany.

Flick was Berlin correspondent of Universal Service beginning in 1930. Quentin Reynolds '24, in Berlin during some of that same period for the UP, says he was glad he never knew Flick had ever had anything to do with Brown. A writer in the Saturday Evening Post also said Flick was the most disagreeable Nazi he ever knew, which is quite an accolade. Flick married Aline Sanden in 1925, presumably a German. When he became a Nazi citizen and party member, the German propaganda mill made a fuss over him as the first American to renounce his citizenship and turn German.

Some months after the German occupation of France, Flick popped up in the Orient. Newsweek wrote on Feb. 17, 1942: "As yet unpublishized has been the recent use of Shanghai as a proving ground for German radio propaganda. The Nazis have inaugurated there a program in English called 'Mack and Bill', modelled after the Berlin programs of 'Fritz and Fred', 'Jimmy and Johnny', etc. First broadcast over a neutral station, it has since been shifted to the German station there. Participants in 'Mack and Bill' are Charles G. Flick, a former Rhode Islander, and a New York Chinese-American named Herbert Moy." Again on March 17, Newsweek "unmasked" him in a roundup of individuals who figure on Nazi or Fascist broadcasts aimed at the American listening public.

The second half of the hyphenated name Flick-Steger now employs in his mother's family name. His brother, a good Brown man and loyal American, served overseas with the AEF in the first World War, rising from Private to 2nd Lt. in the Field Artillery. Divisional manager for International Business Machine in Providence, New Haven, and latterly in St. Louis, he returned to active service in the United States Army with a commission as Major this year. ◀ ◀

In the MailThose Fund Pleas

June 26, 1943

Dear Sir:

Having put my contribution to the Brown Alumni Fund into the mail today, I am impelled to write you to ask why it was necessary for the Fund to send me so many communications during the Spring months. I figure they spent between 75 cents and a dollar in order to get in my contribution. This seems wholly unnecessary when it was my intention, right from the start, to make my gift.

BRUNONIAN

EDITOR'S NOTE: We asked the Alumni Fund Office to answer this inquiry. The reply follows:

"Your correspondent is absolutely right. It ought to be unnecessary to send so many

Sub-Sinker Off Buna

▶ LT. RAYMOND LEARY '42 was captain of a PT boat which probably sank a Japanese submarine five days before Christmas at the mouth of the Kumusi River, it was revealed only this month in a copyrighted Chicago Daily News dispatch by George Weller. The feat was part of the successful Allied attack on the Buna-Sananda front in New Guinea. Leary and his crew also successfully attacked a Japanese freighter in a later stage of the Buna campaign. Anti-aircraft guns had been mounted on the ship after it was driven on a reef. ◀ communications to an alumnus who intends to make a contribution. He can save us all that solicitation very simply. The point is that the Fund Office does not know of a man's intention to make a gift, if he does not tell anyone of that intention. In the case in question, we did not know that he was going to contribute until June 26, a week before the end of the campaign.

"The very first request for a contribution which he received was accompanied by a reply envelope, postage postpaid, in which he could easily have indicated his intention to contribute if he did not wish to send his gift at once. With his intention thus recorded, he would not have been solicited further. Many alumni like a reminder of a pledge at a date they indicate; such reminders are sent, of course. The campaign expense would be appreciably reduced if each contributor sent his gift early or made a pledge early. We recommend that thought to your correspondent.

"He was loyal enough not only to send his gift and also to show his interest in our campaign methods. We are very grateful to him. It was such loyalty that made the 1943 the extraordinary success it was.

"Incidentally, the Fund spent 45 cents—not 75 or a dollar—in getting the contribution of this good Brown man. It included all expenses, not just the mailings. A prompt response would have saved nearly a quarter."

* * *

The "Central" Brown Men A Plaint and a Reply

Dear Sir:

I have nothing against the five gentlemen from Ohio whose names appeared on the Alumni ballot as candidates for Vice-President or Director from the Central Region. But this region is also supposed to include—according to the information on that ballot—the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas.

What about the balance of these States being represented? It is too bad such a large territory should be represented only by Ohio. There are too many from one small section.

I recommend that the Central Region be split three ways—East, West, and South.
ALUMNUS.

► EDITOR'S NOTE: "Alumnus" is really six different gentlemen from Chicago, and the letter is a composite of their several comments as written on their ballots. Their criticism of the slate suggests that it would be helpful to explain the procedure of nominating regional officers in the Associated Alumni.

The quotes are from the By-Laws of the Associated Alumni (Article V, Section 2): "Prior to February of each year in which officers and Directors are to be elected, the Executive Committee, acting as a Nominating Committee, shall recommend to the Advisory Council candidates for nomination as follows . . . (c) At least two candidates for the office of each Regional Vice-President and for each Regional Director, unless the committee by unanimous vote recommends only one candidate in any particular case. Such candidates shall be nominated from among those recommended to the Executive Committee by the Brown Clubs of the respective regions (the italics are ours) prior to the meeting of the Executive Committee at which the nominations are to be made, provided that if less than two such recommendations are made for each Vice-President and Director, the committee may make its own nominations.

"A plurality vote of the committee present at a meeting called for that purpose shall constitute a recommended nomination. Except in the cases of the Regional Vice-Presidents and Regional Directors, other nominations may be made from the floor at a meeting of the Advisory Council."

This year, as usual, the nominations for regional officers were solicited from the officers of all the Brown Clubs. In the Central Region no nominations were received except from Brown Clubs in Ohio. Since the autonomy of the regions is specified in this regard, and there were a sufficient number of Directors nominated, the Executive Committee could not name additional candidates, even for greater representation among other States in the region. In the case of the Vice-Presidential slate, the Executive Committee did not exercise its privilege of nominating a second candidate and by unanimous vote recommended only one candidate, the one whose nomination had been received. The latter procedure is also in accord with the By-Laws, as noted above.

We suggest that the alumni who have a desire for wider geographical representation among regional candidates make sure that their clubs present nominations when those are solicited.

As for the increase in the number of regions, to permit the formation of three regions from the present territory of the Central Region, this should be sought through an amendment of the By-Laws.

Another means of spreading representation throughout the regions is provided in the following opportunity given to the Regional Vice-President: "He may in his discretion call an annual Conference of these Clubs or their officers (in his region) to consider ways and means of increasing the effectiveness of the organization and work of the Association in his District. He shall have power to appoint a Regional Secretary or other Regional Officers to assist him." The Associated Alumni had studied this extension of regional activity and had hoped to proceed with a series of regional conferences about the time America entered the war. Nothing further has yet been done about such a program. Under present travel restrictions, it is perhaps undesirable to act further. Perhaps, on the other hand, the appointment of additional regional officers becomes correspondingly important.

A "Robbie" Collection ◀ ◀

May 28, 1943

To the Editor
BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY
Providence, Rhode Island
Dear Sir:

From the autumn of 1892 to the year 1926, Edward N. Robinson of the Class of 1896 was very closely identified with athletics at Brown University.

First, as an active undergraduate player in baseball and football, then, later, for a period of nearly 25 years, as head coach of the football team.

He never had available at his command a squad of more than 30, oftentimes, less, but year after year he turned out football teams playing very difficult schedules; and, unquestionably, over that time, year in and year out, he was the leading football coach among the smaller colleges of the country.

Recently, a group of Brown Alumni have secured a collection of books relating to athletics. Formerly, they belonged to the Boston Athletic Association and several other clubs and institutions; and, as Edward N. Robinson's efforts in behalf of athletics at Brown have never been suitably recognized, his friends desire to establish an athletic library to be named the Edward N. Robinson Collection of Books Relating to Athletics. Several hundred volumes will be available immediately, together with a modest sum with which to endow the gift.

However, the Alumni, generally, are requested to add to this collection anything in the form of books about athletics, which would be of interest, and they will be received with thanks. Among the items suggested are the following:

Old football and baseball rules; old football and baseball programs; pictures of some of the football and baseball groups, say previous to 1910 (identify them, if possible); and any other literature or material concerning athletics at Brown or elsewhere.

In closing this letter, the writer feels that our efforts may be of special interest to Brown Alumni who were in college from 1892 to at least 1930; and that the true memorial to Edward N. Robinson rests in the hearts and minds of the alumni who were fortunate enough to be associated with him and thus taught by him courage, fair-play, the meaning of discipline and the will to work with others.

Respectfully yours,
The Associated Alumni of Brown University
William P. Burnham,
President

Red Wing and a Prayer

► ARTHUR DALEY wrote it in his column "Sports of the Times" in the New York Times for July 12:

"A unique ball player is the Rev. Bert Humphries (Brown '34) of the Baldwinville, N. Y., Presbyterian Church. He recently signed with the Rochester Red Wings to pitch during his summer vacation, and in his first mound start twirled scoreless ball for 5 2/3 innings against the St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition. Bert financed his way through divinity school by pitching in the minor leagues. Of him it rarely can be said, 'All he has on the ball is a prayer'."

► ► Brunonians Far and Near

By A. H. GURNEY '07

► ► REV. GIDEON A. BURGESS, Superintendent Emeritus of the R. I. Congregational Christian Conference, was one of the members of Beneficent Congregational Church, Providence, recognized at a special service last month in connection with the church's 200th anniversary. Our classmate headed the list of a score of men and women, all living, who have gone out from Beneficent to make Christian service their life work.

1883

Nathaniel Blaisdell, President of the Brown Club of Alta California who came back to the Hill for his 60th reunion last month, was host at a luncheon at the Biltmore Hotel before he headed westward again to his San Francisco home. Present were Classmates Walter W. Burnham and Emeritus Professor Henry P. Manning; his brother, Bertram S. Blaisdell '89; Professor Charles A. Kraus and Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow '24 of the Faculty; Leonard Bacon, poet who has taught at the University of California; and A. H. Gurney '07, former Alumni Secretary.

1886

Emeritus Professor Edmund B. Delabarre and Mrs. Delabarre have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ens. Barbara M. Delabarre, USNR., to Ens. Richard B. Stephens, USNR, of Oak Park, Ill. Ens. Delabarre is stationed at the National Naval Medical Centre, Bethesda, Md.

Calvin Huntington Bottum, who died in Bennington, Vt., May 22, 1943, was a member of the Class in first half of Freshman year. A native of Shaftsbury, Vt., he went West as a young man, became a banker in Lincoln, Neb., and came back to South Shaftsbury about 20 years ago to live. He was a gentleman farmer for a while, and then retired. He never married.

1888

The Charles E. Dennis award, highest honor of Hope High School, Providence, was given at the 1943 Honors Day exercises to Charles Thomas and Elizabeth Emily Evans, whose brothers are Rev. David E. Evans '39 and Rev. John H. Evans '40. Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow '24, Director of Admissions at Brown was guest speaker. The award, in memory of our late classmate who was principal of Hope High many years, is made annually to the senior boy and girl who "have attained honors in loyalty, leadership, scholastic ability and initiative."

1890

Two days after Rev. William T. Green had the honorary degree of D.D. conferred upon him by Alma Mater, the Northern Baptist Convention cited him in this felicitous manner: "For 50 years pastor of the Baptist Church in Natick, R. I.; modest but effective servant of God and man, pursuing the tasks of pastor and teacher of a loyal and grateful flock from the first days of his ministry, without selfish ambition or sound of trumpets; of scholarly mind and pure tastes, known and honored in wide areas of Rhode Island and New England for his interest in and assistance to many causes of social and religious importance." The citation was signed by Rev. Clarence M. Gallup, D.D., '96, Recording Secretary of the Convention.

She Bears His Name

► ONE of the growing fleet of Liberty ships launched in Maine shipyards is the John Holmes, named after John Holmes of the Class of 1796, one of Maine's first two United States Senators. Holmes, lawyer in Alfred, served in both branches of the Massachusetts Legislature and in the national House of Representatives as a Massachusetts man. After Maine was separated from Massachusetts he went to the Senate from Alfred for one whole term and part of a second term. As an American commissioner he helped divide the islands in Passamaquoddy Bay with New Brunswick, and was United States District Attorney when he died one hundred years ago this month, July 7, 1843.

1893

Thomas P. Corcoran's son, Howard F. Corcoran, has been Acting U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York since early June. According to the news stories, he will soon follow his predecessor, Matthias F. Correa, into the armed service with a commission in the Navy.

Charles A. Selden, prevented by illness from attending the 50th anniversary reunion of the Class, is reported in good health again and back at home on his beloved Nantucket.

1894

"Preeminent leader in secondary education," President King of Amherst characterized William Colver Hill in conferring upon our classmate the honorary degree of L.H.D. at Amherst's Commencement in May. "For 33 years principal of the Classical High School in Springfield," President King went on. "Amherst College, in common with her sister colleges in New England, knows at first hand the high quality of your performance. And as a graduate of your school of an earlier era, I take pride in my privilege of welcoming you into the Amherst fellowship."

The late George S. Ellis's grandson, John Ellis Ranks, received his diploma in electrical engineering at the University of Maine in May, and early last month went to work for Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., East Pittsburgh, Pa. "I hope he may find the same joy in a job well done that his grandfather and parents did," Mrs. Ellis wrote.

"Batting for the Army and Navy today is Fred Tenney, Boston baseball hero of yesteryear," said a caption under a fine picture of Tenney in the Boston Evening American, June 7. He was sitting behind a typewriter, looking as nonchalant as a sports editor, and the caption added: "An insurance executive, he's one of 100 sales experts urging business houses to sell one out of four typewriters for war needs."

Your Secretary records with regret the death of James Frederick Estes, newspaperman, in Walpole, Mass., June 6, 1943, and extends to Mrs. Estes and the family our earnest sympathy.

1896

Dr. Clarence M. Gallup has completed 15 conscientious and constructive years as Recording and Statistical Secretary of the Northern Baptist Convention, the responsible post he took over after 20 years as pastor of the Central Baptist Church, Providence.

Your Secretary records with regret the death of James Helme Rickard, lawyer and former President of the Rhode Island Bar Association, in a Boston hospital, June 20, and gives to the family the sincere sympathy of the Class.

1897

Rev. Dr. Joseph C. Robbins, President of the Northern Baptist Convention, was principal speaker at the Denominational Night meeting in connection with the 100th anniversary celebration of the First Baptist Church, Elizabeth, N. J., in late May.

1898

After 39 continuous years as teacher and principal at Classical High School, Providence, Charles E. Paine retired last month. At a special assembly June 14 the Thespians, undergraduate alumni dramatic society, presented to the school a wall portrait of their principal, counselor and friend.

Dr. Albert A. Barrows' son, 2nd Lt. Albert A. Barrows, Jr., has been graduated from the Air Chemical Officers Course at Edgewood Arsenal, Md.

Providence National Bank

ESTABLISHED 1791

100 Westminster Street

CAPITAL	$1,500,000
SURPLUS	$2,000,000

OFFICERS

Thomas L. Pierce, Chairman of the Board
 Rupert C. Thompson, Jr., President
 George P. Buell, Vice President and Cashier
 William H. Swift, III, Vice President and Secretary
 Charles L. Eddy, Assistant Cashier
 Henry H. Eddy, Assistant Cashier
 Benjamin H. Cate, Assistant Cashier
 Charles M. Smith, III, Trust Officer
 Harry B. Freeman, Trust Officer
 B. H. Lillibridge, Assistant Trust Officer

Directors

William Gammell, Jr.	John B. Lewis
Moses J. Barber	Charles C. Marshall
Edward P. Jastram	Richmond Viall
A. Livingston Kelley	Maxwell C. Huntton
Wilson G. Wing	Charles E. Rigby
Thomas L. Pierce	William S. Allen
William L. Sweet	Robert J. Beede
Frederick T. Moses	Rupert C. Thompson, Jr.
Alfred Buckley

Member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Brown Alumni MonthlyPublished at Brown University by the Associated AlumniCHESLEY WORTHINGTON '23
Managing EditorARTHUR BRAITSCH '23
Business Manager

LOUIS B. PALMER '28

ALFRED H. GURNEY '07

GERTRUDE ALLEN MCCONNELL
Pembroke CorrespondentSubscriptions, $2 a year. Single copies, 25 cents.
There is no issue during August or September.Entered at the Providence Post Office as second-class matter.

Vol. XLIV SUMMER, 1943 No. 2

1899

Miss Nancy Grim, daughter of Judge Benjamin W. Grim and Mrs. Grim, and Ens. George W. McCleary, USNR, of Longmeadow, Mass., were married in Providence, June 18. The matron of honor was Mrs. Richard W. Lisle, the bride's sister, and Robert H. Grim was an usher.

There has already been discussion of plans for our 45th reunion in June, 1944. Between now and time for the next issue of the ALUMNI MONTHLY in October world events may give us a line on whether to go ahead or to delay definite action until later in the year. But remember, 1944 is our major reunion year.

Judge Charles A. Walsh, chairman of the Providence Salvage Committee, has shown the way to other localities by providing for a continuous collection of scrap metal in the Providence area through the aid of the city's highway department.

Richard Roy Perkins has sent us a change of address to 2479 Cedar St., Berkeley, Calif.

1900

Rev. Dr. M. Joseph Twomey has been serving as interim pastor of the First Baptist Church, Portland, Me. The church calendar has carried his picture, with this caption in part: "The members and friends of the First Baptist Church wish to thank you, Brother Twomey, for your willing and faithful service as under-shepherd of this people during the hour of our need."

Leonard M. Patton retired last month after having been teacher and principal in the Boston schools since 1905. During the past 15 years he has been principal of William Barton Rogers Intermediate School. The graduation number of The Jolly Rogers, the school publication, gave account of Patton's career as teacher and citizen and said: "Mr. Patton has kept the human and sympathetic touch in his dealings with both pupils and teachers." At a dinner in May his colleagues praised his many-sided work and presented him with a gold watch and chain, and an order for travelers' checks.

Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard of Sierra Madre, Calif., was among the men and women given special recognition at the June 20 service of Beneficent Congregational Church, Providence, as members of the church and parish "engaged in some form of full time Christian service." The recognition ceremony was part of the 200th anniversary program of the church.

2nd Lt. Henry C. Bacon, USA, son of Dr. and Mrs. Willard H. Bacon of Westerly, and Miss June D. MacKnight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. MacKnight, were married in Auburn, R. I., June 22.

Your Secretary records with regret the death of Frederic Vinal Hussey, M.D., surgeon, in Providence, June 15, 1943, and extends to Mrs. Hussey and her daughters the deep sympathy of the Class.

1901

Henry C. Hart's election as President of the Associated Alumni for the next two years is gratifying to all of us men of '01 who are familiar with our classmate's unflagging interest in alumni work through the years. He has served with distinction on the Executive Committee, as Regional Vice President, as officer of the Brown Club of Providence and in other capacities. Then, too, he has had one term as Alumni Trustee of the University and has been a member of the Athletic Council.

"Dr. Harvey N. Davis, is an American educator in whom we put a great deal of faith," said a recent editorial in the Providence Journal and Evening Bulletin. "But when he says that every four years the citizen of tomorrow will be trading in his all-paper house for a new one, we hope he's wrong, because that's going to make us even more restless and discontented than we are, especially if Mr. Sikorski joins Dr. Davis with his helicopter."

Roy H. Smith has written us that Frank H. Westlake died March 3, 1943, and that he has seen no report as yet in the ALUMNI MONTHLY. Regrettably this is the first news that we have had, and we are now trying to learn the details from our late classmate's survivors.

Although Thomas H. Kenworthy, assistant principal of Buckingham Junior High School, Springfield, Mass., has reached retirement age, he will continue in service for the duration. He is the first Springfield teacher to retain his post under the emergency act passed by the Massachusetts Legislature in January, 1942.

1902

Arthur W. Pinkham was chairman of the Greater Lynn, Mass., War Bond and Stamp Committee during the spring campaign.

Rev. Wesley A. Paige of the Rhode Island State Baptist Convention is interim pastor of Second Baptist Church, East Providence.

When the Argentine revolution took place, our thoughts were with Lewis E. Young, a resident of Buenos Aires at Avenida Roque Saenz Pena 567. We were glad to have word from him mailed June 7.

She Found Us Skinny

► PHILOMENA HART, columnist for the women's pages of the Providence Sunday Journal, is conducting a campaign for the Improvement of Reading in Doctor's Waiting Rooms. Among items in her own doctor's periodical collection was "a copy of the BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY, not exactly thrilling reading to a non-Brunonian, but gossipy and newsy and with an occasional mention of a familiar name . . . rather skinny for a rapid reader, though." ◀

Botanist in the Air

► WITH 150,000 dried plants, 7000 photos, and many movies, Dr. T. Harper Goodspeed '09 has returned from his third trip to the Andes since 1935. Thirty thousand miles of his travel was by air, and he roved from the Equator to Patagonia on his errand as Director of the Botanical Garden at the University of California at Berkeley.

During his year and a half in Latin America, he also represented the Committee on Inter-American Artistic and Intellectual Relations. He showed color movies and gave 200 lectures in Chile, Peru, Colombia and Argentina.

We'd like to have seen him going through customs on his return. ◀

1903

Robert Aldrich, veteran of the First World War, is back in uniform again, this time as Boatswain's Mate, 2nd class USCGR. He is second in command of Hen and Chickens Lightship, Buzzard's Bay, after a tour of duty at Ft. Nathaniel Greene, R. I.

Rev. William M. Macnair, pastor emeritus of Prospect Congregational Church, Cambridge, Mass., was the preacher at Beneficent Congregational Church, Providence, June 20. When he was a boy and during his years at Brown he was a member of Beneficent, now observing the 200th anniversary of its founding.

1904

Award of the Samuel E. Lincoln Trophy "for outstanding excellence in scholarship and athletic achievement" at East Providence High School went this year to John Melvin Sharp.

1905

Rev. George D. Allison is chairman of the Council on Finance and Promotion of the Northern Baptist Convention. The Northern Baptist World-Times of June 5 printed George's picture "at the head of the table," with Rev. Dr. Joseph C. Robbins '97, President of the Convention, at his left.

W. Granville Meader's two sons are in the armed forces and his daughter's husband is also in uniform, giving the Meader family a rating of approximately 100 per cent.

1906

Dr. Charles C. Tillinghast, headmaster of Horace Mann School for Boys, New York, will continue to serve in 1943-44 as a vice-chairman of the Northern Baptist Convention.

C. Douglas Mercer is a vice-president of the Brown University Club in New York for the current year.

1907

Election of William P. Burnham as Alumni Trustee of the University gives the Class three members of the board. Bill's colleagues are Claude R. Branch and Homer N. Sweet. Incidentally, Bill is the third '07 man to serve as President of the Associated Alumni, which office he left last month after a successful two-year term. His predecessors are Henry G. Clark, 1925-27, and Victor A. Schwartz, 1929-31.

Dr. Asa Sheldon Briggs's two older sons are now in the armed forces, Ens. Sheldon A. Briggs, USNR, (Brown '37), and Pvt. Francis D. Briggs, Inf., on duty at Ft. Devens, Mass.

Rev. Dr. Eugene C. Carder, who resigned as associate minister of The Riverside Church, New York, the first of this month, has become the General Secretary of the Protestant Council of New York City, the purpose of which is "to serve as an instrument for expressing united Protestant thought and for united Protestant action in civic and community affairs."

Henry G. Clark was re-elected President and Treasurer of R. I. Electric Protective Co. at the annual meeting last month. Dr. Asa Sheldon Briggs is a director.

Carl S. Crummett's son, Staff Sergt. Clovis Crummett, SC, received commission as 2nd Lt. at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., in May, and Carl and Maj. C. W. Way, MC, on duty at Monmouth, held reunion at the time. 2nd Lt. Crummett enlisted in the Signal Corps two years ago. He's been a photographer ever since he began to walk.

Lloyd W. Josselyn, writing from the Albert A. Wells Memorial Library in Lafayette, Ind., sent a message of greeting at Commencement time. He added, "It's disappointing year after year not to be able to get back to the campus, to old friends, and to the spirit of youth."

Henry W. Corp, interned by the Japanese in the Philippines, is "all well and safe", according to a shortwave radio message received by his sister, Miss Francis J. Corp of Danielson, Conn. The address on the message was Santo Tomas Camp. Mrs. Corp, their daughter and son-in-law, Mrs. and Mr. Mons Hokanson, are at the same camp.

1908

Rev. Roland C. Ormsbee is rector of the Church of the Nativity (Episcopal), Mincola, N. Y.

Robert R. Gleason is with Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp., Bethpage, N. Y. Robert C. Nason has given us this news, saying: "I used to see Bob daily at Bethpage, as he and I worked near each other."

Lt. Col. C. Hill Griffith, Cav., USA, and Mrs. Griffith are living at 55 Glenbrook

Road, West Hartford, Conn. "I hope I won't be ordered away from Hartford before we can harvest the vegetables which I plan to plant as soon as it stops raining long enough to plough," he wrote shortly before Commencement. Owing to illness in the family as well as office duties, he couldn't come to the 35th reunion.

Rev. Dr. A. C. (Tommy) Thomas of the First Baptist Church spoke over Station WJAR, Providence, the night of May 29 in connection with the mass demonstration and memorial meeting held next day on behalf of "the persecuted Jewish people of Europe."

S. Eugene Jackson was gradually recovering (as we wrote this note June 20) at his Cooke street home in Providence after an illness that took him off the active list just before our 35th reunion.

Asking for copies of President Wriston's Commencement address, William C. Bittling, Jr., writes from Baltimore, N. C.: "He has 'a way', too uncommon today among self-styled 'best people', of recalling those words over 75 years ago of Mrs. Phillips of Boston: 'Now, Wendell—don't shilly-shally'."

Duties as an airplane spotter in the early morning hours give C. LeRoy Grinnell an unusual opportunity for reflection in preparation for writing his editorials. Roy has been getting a fine response from his experiment in having a Brown, 1908, Department in his weekly newspaper, the Newport County Sentinel. It was in his paper that the Alumni Fund had the unique experience of receiving a front-page editorial.

1909

Reg Cocroft's son, Reginald B. Cocroft, Jr., graduate this year of the United States Military Academy, West Point, is 2nd Lt., FA, on duty at Ft. Sill, Okla. He was married June 10 to Miss Nancy Cochran, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Hugh Cochran of Palo Alto, Calif. Reg, Sr., is Col., FA, now serving with the War Department's Manpower Board in San Francisco.

Clarence W. Bosworth was re-appointed superintendent of schools of Cranston for two years at a meeting of the Cranston School Committee, June 15.

Dr. Billy Buffum was elected Secretary of the Rhode Island Medical Society at the 132nd annual meeting in Providence last month. Billy is also chairman of a committee of the Children's Heart Association of Rhode Island to study "the existing facilities in the State for convalescent care of children with heart disease and recommend additional facilities."

► ► Scholarship Holders

► ► LAWRENCE G. VAN HORN, outstanding as a student at Belleville High School in New Jersey and also at Peddie School, is the recipient of the Club Scholarship from the Brown University Club in New York. He arrived at Brown with the summer Freshmen with plans leading to chemical engineering.

Van Horn came highly recommended. One of the top five scholars and a cum laude graduate of Peddie, he also played varsity football and baseball. His membership in the orchestras at Belleville and Peddie was a natural result of his proficiency and promise as a violinist.

New York's scholarship committee is headed by Jeffrey S. Granger '13, with the following membership: Dr. Bruce M. Bigelow '24, Walter Deady, Jr., '14, Wayne M. Faunce '21, J. McCall Hughes '33, Harvey D. Jones '25, Robert C. Litchfield '23, Lawrence Richmond '09, Howard C. Sweet '20, and Thomas C. Watson, Jr., '19.

► OF scholarships awarded in 1942-1943, the following were of particular interest to the alumni because they were established by classes or in honor of Brown men:

Frank Edwin Winsor (1891) Scholarship, to John Edward Scott of East Providence.

George Woodley Hogg (1894) Scholarship, to William G. Weston of Providence.

Class of 1895 Scholarship, to Steward T. MacNeill, Jr., of Newton Highlands, Mass., son of Steward T. MacNeill '16.

E. Benjamin Andrews Scholarship, founded by Class of 1898, awarded to Elliott E. Andrews of Easthampton, Mass., a great nephew of the one-time President, Brown 1870.

Class of 1902 Scholarship, to Gurdon S. H. Pulford of Highland Park, Mich., brother of Rex R. Pulford '42.

Class of 1903 Scholarship, to Frederick W. Easton, III, of Pawtucket, son of Frederick W. Easton, Jr., '14.

Class of 1905 Scholarship, to George P. Delaney of Newton, Mass.

Lester L. Falk (1906) Scholarship, to Robert H. Mareneck of Lombard, Ill.

Class of 1907 Scholarship, to Donald E. Corzine of Milwaukee.

Class of 1908 Scholarship, to Robert G. Walker of New Bedford, Mass., son of the late Frank A. Walker '08.

Eliot Loomis Collins (1910) Scholarship, to Lloyd W. Cornell, Jr., of Providence.

Chester Thomas Calder (1911) Scholarship, to Donald E. Andersen of Hamden, Conn.

Robert James Yorkston Meckel (1912) Memorial scholarship, to Edward H. Winsor, Jr., of Cranston, R. I.

Class of 1912 Scholarship, to Stephen C. Collins of Great Barrington, Mass., son of Sheldon Chalkley Collins '12.

Carleton F. Sims (1913) Scholarship, to William F. Case of Bridgewater, Mass.

Perry Edson Faunce (1919) Scholarship, to David G. Fernald and Willard B. Fernald of Upper Montclair, N. J., son of Charles B. Fernald '01.

George W. Berriman (1920) Scholarship, to C. Robert Carlisle of Monroe, N. H.

Class of 1925 Scholarship, to Henry Margarita of Medford, Mass.

Class of 1933 Scholarship, to Charles C. Bentley of East Providence.

THE BLACKSTONE CANAL NATIONAL BANK of Providence

ESTABLISHED 1831 • • 20 MARKET SQUARE

Capital $500,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits (over) $1,000,000

All Forms of Commercial Banking and Trust Service

MEMBER FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

Dr. Moses Crossley discussed the importance of chemotherapy in war at a joint meeting of the University of Virginia Chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma chemical fraternity and the Virginia Section, American Chemical Society, at Charlottesville in May.

Lt. Col. Joe Church is in command of the Military Personnel, which means practically the bulk of the enrollment, and has supervisory control of their education in the University of South Dakota. His son is Master Sergeant in the 326th Glider Infantry and his son-in-law a Major of Engineers in North Africa.

A. K. (Westy) Westervelt, who has been banker and farmer since he went from Brown to his native Iowa, is Town Clerk of Webster City.

Dean John W. M. Bunker's Commencement address at M. I. T. is a feature of the current Technology Review. His topic was "Community Endocrenes"; his thesis, harmony among controlling groups is as essential to strength in public affairs as in the life of the body.

1910

Henry B. Thacher, superintendent of the grounds and buildings of Amherst College since 1921, received the honorary degree of A.M. at the Amherst Commencement. "In summer sun and winter blizzard, in flood and hurricane you have maintained continuous operation of the college plant," his citation read in part. "No detail has been too small for your vigilant eye. And with unfailing patience you have met or parried the demands of Faculty and Faculty wives."

Dr. Albert Farnsworth's hobby of collecting little known facts about his adopted city of Worcester, Mass., was the subject of a special story in the Worcester Sunday Telegram not long ago. "He knows more about the history of Worcester than nearly anyone else in the city," said the writer, "and has written a book, as you might expect, about some of the most important facts in the city's history." Farnsworth is Professor of History at Worcester State Teachers' College and vice-chairman of the Worcester School Committee, of which he has been a member 18 years. His book, in which George B. O'Flynn collaborated, is "A Story of Worcester, Massachusetts." The Worcester schools use it as a text book.

Rev. Clifton H. Walcott, D.D., has completed 17 years as pastor of the First Baptist Church, Lincoln, Neb., and is still going strong. "My daughter Jane is married and lives in New York," Cliff wrote. "My son David was graduated this spring from the University of Nebraska with an A.B. degree, is in training and headed for OCS at Ft. Sill, Okla. It's a great life if you don't weaken!"

Ralph M. Palmer has again been chosen as a director of the Graduate School Association of the Alumni Federation of Columbia University.

Daniel W. Abercrombie's son, Lt. (jg) Daniel W. Abercrombie, 3rd, USNR, and Miss Margaret Van Dyne Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Smith, were married in Paterson, N. J., June 12. Lt. Abercrombie's grandfather was Daniel W. Abercrombie '83, honorary, principal of Worcester Academy for 36 years.

Billy Lynn goes on his merry way as the meanie Tobias Twitch in "Something for the Boys," musical hit of the season on Broadway. "I'm so mean I'm contemptible," he says. "A worm that turned," Rowland Field characterized him in a story in the Newark News and added: "He gloats and glories in his (stage) meanness, and is now contemplating a future career of Uriah Heeps, Draculas, Frankensteins and other characters of ill repute." The show had its 200th performance June 28.

1911

The Alumni Office has confirmed report of the death of William Henry Jenney in Plainfield, N. H., Feb. 13, 1943. Although long ill, our late classmate continued to operate his farm and to serve as Town Clerk and school treasurer. He leaves his wife, the former Susie M. Freeman, two daughters and a son, a sister and three brothers. His fraternity was Chi Phi, now Sigma Chi.

1912

Gerald Donovan's second son, William A. Donovan, received award for excellence in scholarship and athletics at the Culver Military Academy graduation last month.

Dr. W. Randolph Burgess, vice-chairman of the board of National City Bank, is the new chairman of the New York State War Finance Committee. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., named him last month in a move to unify the war bond selling groups in New York City and State.

Dr. H. Carey Bumpus, Jr., has the sympathy of all of us in the loss of his father,

The Athletic Council ◀ ◀

▶ ▶ ACCESS of three new members to the Brown University Athletic Council July 1 saw the attendant retirement of three others, including Chairman Clinton C. White '00, who "has been through every phase of athletic development in Brown and in addition has figured in a number of major projects in Brown athletics."

Writing of Mr. White's retirement as a Corporation member of the Council, Joe Nutter '24 in the Providence Evening Bulletin pointed out that he had been manager of varsity baseball as an undergraduate in an era where a manager's responsibilities were heavy. He made the schedule, planned the trips, and carrying much of the load today borne by coach or graduate manager of athletics. His most notable achievement, perhaps, was in heading the stadium committee which financed and built Brown Field.

The three-year term on the Council which he has just completed was a lively one. On the agenda during that time were such events as the departure of an entire football coaching staff, the assembling of a new, the illness and later departure of the athletic director, the appointment of two acting directors, the onrush of the war with increasing restrictions on travel for players and spectators, schedule complications, summer terms, and military service. Even physical fitness programs and war gardens have entered the picture.

Mr. White left office with the praise of his colleagues and other followers of Brown athletics sweet on his ears. He had proved a capable leader during a period of great stress and greater uncertainty, keeping in mind the reputation of the University, its academic fundamentals, the financial implications of athletics, and the responsibilities to undergraduates.

Succeeding Mr. White as Corporation member and as chairman is Albert H. Poland '09, Providence investment counsel who has been active in a number of important Rhode Island civic enterprises. He is the son of the late Prof. William C. Poland '68.

The new alumni member is Lewis S. Milner '02, retired Providence business man, a close follower of Brown athletics, especially football, and a benefactor of the University in many ways. He succeeds Paul H. Hodge '28, former Iron Man and line coach now practicing law in Providence.

Another change in the Council membership involves the retirement of Prof. Robert F. Chambers '09 and the appointment of Dr. John W. Lederle, Assistant to the Dean of the College. Prof. Chambers has had an association with the direction of athletic policy pre-dating the formation of the Athletic Council. He was a leading figure on the special committee concerned with promotion and publicity. ◀ ◀

If your book or gift shop hasn't a copy,
Send $1.00 to

An ideal gift for a friend in the Navy or Coast Guard

Shows Mariner's compass, how to tie knots, storm warnings, identifies ships, parts of sail boat, ship's bearings, watches and time.

E. A. JOHNSON COMPANY
71 Peck St. Providence, R. I.

Dr. Hermon Carey Bumpus '84, one of Brown's best known alumni, who died at Carey's home in Pasadena, Calif., June 21.

Earl W. Bates's son, John W. Bates '43, who left college to join the AAF, won his wings as pilot in March, Earl writes.

Highway Engineering is the field of Prof. Walter J. Emmons of the University of Michigan. His address: 1224 East Engineering Bldg.

President William H. Dinkins of Selma University, Ala., was the Commencement speaker at Snow Hill Institute, Chilton County Training School, and Kintibish School.

1913

Judge Ira Lloyd Letts has been elected as a director of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co., which operates pipe lines carrying natural gas from the Texas Panhandle to Detroit, Mich.

Otto C. Pahline is doing his part in war work as manager of the Flooring Department, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, O., where he lives at 156 Elmdale Ave.

1914

Judge Joseph E. Cook of the District Court in Denver, Colo., writes that his son and namesake has finished his basic in the Army Air Corps and expected to enter Cadet training late last month.

John L. Sperry's new address is 3260 Redwood Drive, Riverside, Calif.

1915

Harvey G. Denham is now with California Commercial Co., Inc., subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of California, with his office at 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York.

State Representative Harold W. Tucker gave the address at the dedication of the Barrington, R. I., service honor roll on the green in front of Barrington Town Hall Memorial Day. The roll lists nearly 600 names, most of them of soldiers not yet born when Harold was overseas with the 26th (Yankee) Division in 1917-19.

Harold M. Taylor's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Olin P. Taylor of Meshantick Park, Cranston, observed their 50th wedding anniversary, June 29.

W. J. Phillips has a son in Naval aviation flying a P-51. Rusty saw him get his wings in Texas last May. Phillips also gets a glimpse of the war on the Mount Union campus in Sebring, O., living only a block away. His company is the Limoges China potters.

1916

Dr. Wilbour E. Saunders, headmaster of Peddie School, received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Dickinson College in May. That makes three honorary degrees for him—Ed.D., from Brown, and D.D. from Colgate being the others.

"Have been in Washington with the War Production Board since March, 1942," Irving C. White reports. "Present position is assistant to the Director of the Automotive Division, Room 4038, Railroad Retirement Bldg."

1917

Howard D. Corkum is director of research for the American Thread Co., with his headquarters at the Willimantic plant and his home in South Windham, Conn.

When Albert E. Watjen retired last month as chairman of the Board of Deacons of Warren Baptist Church he was publicly thanked for his able and conscientious work by Rev. Raymond L.

Of Redskins, for Auckland

► IT'S A CASE of a shoemaker being able to return to his last, briefly at least.

Although currently an Army Captain, S. Watson Smith, III, '19 is professionally an archaeologist. What more natural then than that he should visit the Auckland Museum when he had some leisure hours during his military duties in New Zealand? And what more enterprising than that the museum authorities should ask him to lecture on a topic in which he is well founded? The result was a series of talks given by him on the American Indian, a subject on which he is an authority following study and research in the American Southwest.

His fiancée—the engagement is announced elsewhere—is an associate of the Auckland Museum. ◀

Anti-Aircraft Artillery. His new address: Camp Wallace, Tex.

1919

Comdr. Paul S. Crandall, USN, is in command of a ship of the Pacific fleet, a correspondent tells us. "He's doing a real job, too," he reports. "Paul's oldest son is also with the fleet as an Ensign. Both were at Pearl Harbor."

Fred B. Perkins has been re-elected as President of the Rhode Island Universalist Convention, which went on record at its annual meeting in Providence last month in favor of legislation prohibiting the advertising and sale of liquor in war time. An added honor for Fred is his advancement from Trustee to Fellow of the Brown Corporation. On the Board of Fellows only John Nicholas Brown is his junior.

Don Millar is the newly elected First Vice-President of the Brown University Club in New York.

1920

After 18 years with the New York Telephone Co. in Albany, Robert K. Dewey has transferred to Syracuse, where he is Dial Loading Engineer with the same company and where his mail address is 409 Onondaga Ave. "I have two daughters, 10 and 14," Bob wrote. "Hope to be back for my 25th reunion in 1945 if this foolish war is over."

President Walter Hoving of Lord & Taylor is chairman of the Committee to Balance the Budget Through Sensible Economics to which Mayor La Guardia of New York has taken a lively and outspoken dislike as a result of the Committee's criticisms of his budgetary activities. Wherefore the verbal tilts between the Mayor and Hoving are getting plenty of space in the New York newspapers. "Big Chief Rising Cloud pay no heed squaw man," said the Mayor on one of his warmer days last month. And Hoving came right back, suggesting "Big Chief Setting Bull" as a better name, as "Rising Clouds and a Rising Sun are a bit out of fashion these days."

Raymond E. Palmer is the new manager of the Boston office of Aluminum Co. of America. He took over last month after having been a general salesman for the company since 1925.

Your Secretary records with regret the death of Reuben Tyler Palmer in Hartford, Conn., May 12, 1943, and extends to Mrs. Palmer and her two sons the sympathy of the Class. Palmer, who left us in 1917 to enlist in the USNR, was head of R. T. Palmer Co., West Hartford, sales representative in New England of B. C.

Spoerri, the pastor. Al served two years as chairman.

1918

John S. Chafee is the newly appointed director of the Tool Division, WPB, in Washington. John left the vice presidency of Brown & Sharpe Mfg. Co., last November to become deputy director of the division.

John F. Isaacs is Mayor of the incorporated village of Plandome Heights, Manhasset, N. Y., chairman of the Manhasset Park District Commission and on the Civilian Defense Committee of the area. In his regular working hours he's sales engineer with Armstrong Cork Co., New York.

The Class extends its sympathy to Maj. Charles B. Malone, FA, whose mother, Mrs. Emily Briggs Malone, died in Providence last month. Charlie, assigned to the Gunners School at Ft. Knox, Ky., was able to visit Providence at Commencement time, a week before his mother's death.

Bertil A. Johnson is a civil engineer with the U. S. Navy on duty at Camp Endicott, R. I. He's living at 195 Sackett St., Providence.

Miss Elizabeth R. Sweetland, daughter of John Sweetland and Mrs. Sweetland, and William G. Musgrave were married in Providence, June 26.

After six months with 2nd Hq. Special Troops, Third Army, at Camp Claiborne, La., Lt. Col. Z. R. Bliss, CAC, has been transferred from Field Artillery to the advertisers engraving company

126 DORRANCE ST. PROVIDENCE, R. I.

TELEPHONE GASPEE 7094

"Picturize your Product"

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Ames Co., dial indicators and gauges. He was vice chairman of the American Society of Tool Engineers, an executive officer of the Hartford Society of Measurement and Control, and member of several clubs and Psi Upsilon. He came to Brown from New London, Conn., where he was born Feb. 26, 1899, son of Reuben Tyler Palmer, Jr., and Lilly (Nichols) Palmer. As Boatswain's Mate, first class, he commanded U.S.S. Kingfisher in the First World War.

1921

Lt. Comdr. Edward J. Dempsey, Jr., former member of the law firm of Dempsey & Dempsey, Cincinnati, O., is attached to the Judge Advocate General's Office in Washington.

1922

President Theodore A. Distler of Franklin and Marshal College gave this year's Commencement address at Blair Academy, Blairstown, N. J., where he is one of the popular visiting speakers.

J. Wilbur Riker's son, Joseph Wilbur Riker, Jr., was a speaker at the graduation exercises of Hope High School, Providence, last month. Young Riker was active in dramatics, and one of the popular members of his class. He came at once to Brown as a Freshman.

John W. Fawcett has begun another year as the efficient secretary of the Brown University Club in New York.

Rev. F. Walter Williams, recently assistant rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church at Oakland, Calif., has accepted the call to St. Mark's Church, Denver. In California he was on the faculty of the Divinity School of the Pacific at Berkeley, was head of young people's work for the California diocese, and secretary of the diocesan army and navy committee. He is a member of the joint commission on church music of the General Convention of the Episcopal church.

1923

Twelve New Yorkers, curbed by transportation restrictions from joining the reunion party at Wickford May 29, had their own reunion at the Brown University Club in New York June 15. They sat down at lunch upon notice from Robert C. Litchfield and Allen B. Sikes, the latter being President of the New York club. The affair was so successful that future gatherings of the same sort are proposed. Among those present: Charles H. Appleby, Everett R. Alden, John B. Applegate, Herbert S. Farnilton, Edward J. Gorman, Arthur R. Nelson, Milton P. Newsome, Hugh F. Rennie, W. Charles Roux, Robert H. Spelman, Litchfield and Sikes.

Jack Applegate had planned to be at Wickford but sent the following telegram to explain his absence: "Johnnie breaks leg. Father breaks date. Whole thing breaks heart. Best regards to everybody."

Red Bleakney also changed his plans, because his son was home from the University of Maine for his last few days before reporting for Army service.

Dr. Milton I. Rose is Medical Director, Pacific Area, for the American Red Cross, and has his office in the Civic Auditorium, San Francisco. His house is at 490 Santa Rita Ave., Palo Alto, Calif.

The Class sends its sympathy to Bob Adams, whose father, Charles R. Adams '80, died June 16. Mr. Adams, former Alumni Trustee of Brown and friend of many Brown men, was visiting his daughter Mary (Mrs. E. R. Joslyn) in Longmeadow, Mass., at the time of his death. Bob is now living in Weston, Mass., at 709 Boston Post Road and is currently in charge of stock for Raytheon Mfg. Co., Waltham.

LEE of Conshohocken was proud when its associate, Seth K. Mitchell '15, was named President of the Rotary Club of Conshohocken, Pa. The cut is used through the courtesy of the house organ, "LEE-dership."

Two of Dwight Bartlett's three sons are in Exeter these days, on the way to Brown like their father and grandfather.

1924

Rev. Paul L. Snyder is pastor of the Methodist churches in Sheldon, Sheldon Springs, and Rice Hill, Vt., with his home in Sheldon. The Troy Methodist Conference made this appointment in May, transferring him from Williamsville, Vt.

Philip Lukin is a vice president of the Brown University Club in New York for 1943-44. Phil gave faithful service as secretary of the Club for years, and has always been a grand Club worker. He has a son in the Freshman Class this summer.

Hobert D. Haskins was approved as an Army VOC, but was not inducted, owing to the order that came through at the time against accepting men "over 38." He is on the sales staff of The Foote System, Caldwell, N. Y., "a service of continuous, direct mail, public education, and fund raising furnished to non-profit social service agencies, particularly hospitals." He and Mrs. Haskins and their two children live at 15 Smull Ave., Caldwell.

City Solicitor S. Everett Wilkins, Jr., of Cranston made his first appearance last month in Eighth District Court as police prosecutor.

Wyndham Hayward of Winter Park, Fla., the Secretary of the American Amaryllis Society, is again an important contributor to Herbertia, the society's annual. The latest edition to reach the Alumni Office shows Hayward as winner of a large number of firsts in the National Amaryllis Show at Orlando, Fla.

Rev. Paul Dulliver Wilbur is the new Episcopalian chaplain at Lowry Field, Denver.

1925

Lt. Col. Marshall S. Brown, Jr., MC, USA, is in command of a new base hospital in England, according to report from his home city of Yonkers, N. Y. He was promoted to his current rank last May.

Dr. Rowland T. Bellows is a specialist in neuro-surgery at Charlotte, N. C. He was recently elected a member of the Harvey Cushing Society.

1926

Duncan Norton-Taylor has been at Noumea in the Southwest Pacific on special assignment to the Naval Task Forces for Time magazine, which used his photo and qualifications in a recent house advertisement.

Tax Collector George C. Cranston of North Kingstown has been elected to the board of incorporators of the Wickford Savings Bank.

J. Robert Bergh, late of the faculty of St. Dunstan's School in Providence, is now Field Representative in Personnel Service with the American Red Cross (North Atlantic Area) at 300 Fourth Ave., New York. His home address: 165 Seaman Ave., New York City 34, N. Y.

1927

Edward Bromage, Jr., achieved a cherished ambition when he was graduated last month with the LL.B. degree from Boston College Law School. Owing to the war, the class was the smallest in the school's history. Ed has worked by day in Providence and studied law at night, making the trip to and from Boston with a minimum of absences over a period of several years.

Alexis Gaidash reports he has been working for Lion Match Co., Long Island City, N. Y., since early May.

Gordon Dewart was in Providence last month, expecting to begin on a new job in a war industry and proud of his daughter's academic honors as a student at the Wheeler School.

Charles W. Goulding was a Providence visitor for a few days last month before reporting to Ft. Schuyler, N. Y., for Naval indoctrination. "On the faculty at Culver

Anderson's Cross

► CAPT. SAMUEL H. ANDERSON '40, who recently completed his operational tour of 25 sorties over European areas, was named in the Fourth of July list of officers and men in the 8th Army Air Force who received Distinguished Flying Crosses for "extraordinary achievements in the European theatre of operations." The New York Herald Tribune said Anderson had told his mother (Mrs. Violet Anderson, 2 Alden Place, Cranford, N. J.) that he had been appointed command navigator for the 8th Army Bomber Command.

Capt. Anderson, commissioned a year ago on July 4, was the navigator of the lead ship of the squadron which bombed the U-boat yards at Vagesack, near Bremen, in March. Three days later he was slightly wounded in a raid over Wilhelmshaven, and later received the Air Medal, three Oak Leaf Clusters, and a Purple Heart.

Military Academy as a teacher of mathematics," Joe Nutter '24 wrote in his Evening Bulletin column, "the old Brown wrestling ace has been teaching jiu-jitsu and other tactics on the Culver course where the Army has been sending its men for special training."

1928

"Have been busy supplying Uncle Sam with fresh packed apples," Paul Thomas wrote from East Wenatchee, Wash., not long ago. "Also still active in the domestic trade, now that all exports except to Cuba have ceased. Recently talked with Bill Fanning '27 on the telephone from Vancouver, Wash., where Bill was in the Army. Then a letter came, saying he was out—over age—and was returning to New York. This is the finest part of the United States . . . and a great place to raise my three boys, all of whom I hope some day to send to Brown."

Vernon C. Stoneman, lately of Washington, has returned to Boston, where he is practising law at 49 Federal St.

William G. Halewood is back in Providence to work for Hammel-Dahl Co., oil burning systems, of which a partner is Bradford G. Woolley '29. Bill and his newly augmented family live in a University-owned house at 135 George St., and have a Victory garden under way. He renewed acquaintances with the Providence engineers at their meeting Commencement night.

Lt. Roy E. Randall, USMCR, is assistant to his old coach, Maj. D. O. (Tuss) McLaughry, athletic director of the Marine Base, Parris Island, S. C. Red transferred from Camp Pendleton, Calif., in April. He's doing a fine job, Tuss says, and it's like old times having him on the post.

Capt. Dixwell Goff, according to a note in the Providence Evening Bulletin in mid-June, completed an extensive survey for an advanced Army base in the Solomon Islands and thereby won "the commendation of his commanding General."

The Providence Medical News for July reports Lt. Seebert J. Goldowsky, MC, continuing maneuvers with an evacuation hospital. His address: APO No. 403, Annex, c/o Postmaster, Shreveport, La.

► ► These Are Obstacles

► ► A COUPLE of months ago we ran as our cover a photo of some of the Brown students going over one of the obstacles in the "commando course" now set up on the lower campus, once known as Lincoln Field. We've been asked of what it consisted.

There are two courses, really, the other one indoors in the Lyman Gym, and occasionally the two are combined for an extra special workout. The indoor course is no gentle warm-up: It starts out with a 20-foot rope climb, is followed by 75 feet of tumbling on mats, an indoor adaption of the standard culvert through which the student has to crawl, a stair climb, and two laps on the gym's indoor track. Then, the boys perform a handwalk on parallel bars, take 10 strokes on the rowing machines, chin themselves several times, and romp another lap of the track before a handswinging the length of a 100-foot ladder suspended from the ceiling. Five minutes is the minimum allowed.

Frederic R. Knipe is now General Manager of Knipe Bros., Inc., manufacturers of men's Goodyear Welt Shoes, Whitney Ave., Ward Hill, Mass. He's living at 11 Brockton Ave., Haverhill, with Mrs. Knipe, the former Martha Winship Ginn of Winchester and one-year-old Elizabeth.

Stephen I. Hall is with the War Production Board at 112 State St., Albany, N. Y.

1929

"Al Cornsweet is on the post as a psychiatrist and I see him every day," wrote Maj. D. O. (Tuss) McLaughry, USMCR, in a recent letter from Parris Island, S. C. "Physically, Al is in just about as good trim as he was 16 years ago and takes a hard workout each day at noon." We've also heard that Al has lost most of his hair since he took up psychiatry in a serious way.

Lt. Col. Charles W. Schott, AAF, is overseas. An AP story from "somewhere in Southwestern England" in early June mentioned him as chief of air support of a unit engaged in invasion maneuvers. Schott, commissioned at Kelly Field, Tex., was with American Airlines before being recalled to service.

Dr. Herbert H. Uhlig and his family are now living at 1170 Oxford Place, Schenectady, N. Y., where Herb is carrying on important research at the General Electric laboratory.

Where Private Schools Are Strong

► ► PRIVATE schools are a vital force for this country, the Very Rev. J. Hugh Diman, O.S.B., recently told a New York World-Telegram interviewer. Their chief advantage, he pointed out, "is the liberty they enjoy owing to their freedom from State control and, in such case, independence from the slightest touch of political influence. This freedom permits them to draw upon all the educational forces, spiritual, intellectual and material that help to mold complete manhood."

Their great weakness, he went on, "is that they have to depend upon his tuition charges for support. . . . But I have never ceased to hope that they might become schools for the rank and file of our people, with a fair sprinkling of the definitely rich and definitely poor on either side of this general average. This I am sure would be the best thing that could happen to American education."

Father Diman, graduate of Brown in '85, knows whereof he speaks. He was founder and headmaster of St. George's School, Middletown, and founder and headmaster of Portsmouth Priory School, of which he is now headmaster emeritus. An old St. George's boy said not long ago that he considered Fr. Diman one of the truly great headmasters of all time in this country. ◀ ◀

New address: Charles Youngstein, 639 Barrett St., New York 51, N. Y.

Eric Wendelin's diplomatic assignments have been lively ones. At the American Embassy in Buenos Aires during the Argentine coup d'etat, he has now seen two successful revolutions, for he was, of course, at the embassy in Madrid during the civil war siege.

A new son, born to the Walter Ensigns June 29, had not been named as this was written. The announcement consequently does not appear with those of other births in this issue.

David J. Colbert is at Columbia for six weeks' study this summer. He expects to return to Albany, N. Y., about Sept. 1 for the new term at Siena College, where he is Professor of Mathematics and Accounting. He has taught at Brown, Michigan, St. Bonaventure, and Hunter; has studied at Brown (where he was G.A.R. Fellow), at Michigan (on his Morgan Edwards Fellowship), and at Fordham. His summer address is 440 E. 141st St., New York.

1930

Most of the news this month is about the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, change of addresses, and the like.

Don Allmon is officially known as Lt. Donald Allmon, Navy Advance Base, Navy 140, c/o Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif. Mrs. Allmon reports that his home address is 20 Fox Meadow Road, Scarsdale, N. Y., but it looks as if Don would be a long time hitting that address.

Howdy Post dropped me a card from Spencerville, O., saying he was leaving for the Army. It was rather cryptic, but it was just like Howdy to say what he wanted to quickly and to the point.

Bill Almy's address is indefinite and will be for some time, but he didn't say whether or not he was in the Army. All we can report is that he is out of mail circulation for the time being.

From a note on the bottom of a letter I sent him, Archie MacDonald says he will be in the Army shortly.

Dick Clarke reports he is a Lt. (AV(g)), USNR, at Quonset Point. He has been there since just before Christmas. He is Personnel Officer of the Operations Department and he says his office is like a greenhouse overlooking the training field. His wife and two boys, Richard age 10 and Craig age 5, are there with him.

A letter sent to Taunton to Lloyd Dennis brought back a note from Mrs. Dennis. Lloyd is now a Lt., USNR. He is a staff commander of the Amphibious Force, SW

BROWN ALUMNI MONTHLY

Pacific, c/o Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, California. They have one son Jeffrey Holt, who has just seen his second birthday. Lloyd joined the Reserve three years ago but did not go on active duty until Dec. 8, 1941, when he left his position as Program Manager of Columbia Broadcasting System in Washington. He left Christmas day for the Pacific.

From a letter from Mrs. Snyder and two V-Mails from Marshall Snyder, we note that he is busily engaged in repairing damages done in the Tunisian Campaign. His address is Captain Marshall L. Snyder, 298th General Hospital, A. P. O. No. 508, c/o Postmaster, New York. He says in his letter that he met some of the boys over there and hopes to find more of them.

Brick Frohock in April went to the Navy's Indoctration School, Fort Schuyler. He said he would let me know when he went on active duty, but as yet we have heard nothing.

Don Hunt wrote a newsy letter from Headquarters 125, A. P. O. No. 446, Camp Chaffee, Arkansas. He is a Pfc. He said he caught up with my Alumni Fund letter as a result of a short furlough at home. He apparently is facing active duty in the near future from the tone of his letter.

The only semi-military note for the month was a report from Dan Polsky who is located in Washington and working for the Board of Economic Warfare. According to Mrs. Polsky he expects to go into foreign service sometime in the near future. His present address is Hotel Ambassador, Washington, and hopes some of the boys will look him up.

2nd Lt. H. Adrian Smith, QMC, is an instructor in the Motor Operations School, Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyo. "Graduated from OCS in December, 1942, am still doing sleight of hand, and have done over 40 performances for the soldiers here," he wrote in a recent letter to friends in his home town of Riverside, R. I.

Woody Carpenter has been elected as a trustee for three years of the R. I. Universalist Convention of which his fellow lawyer, Fred B. Perkins '19, is President.

Carroll Rickard has the sympathy of all of us in the loss of his father, James H. Rickard '96, well known as lawyer and citizen in Woonsocket.

Jeff Werner has left his position as head of the English Department at Washington College, Chestertown, Md., to do his share in the Naval Reserve. He's Lt. (jg) H. O. Werner and is at NTS (1) USNAS, Quonset Point, R. I.

HAROLD P. CARVER

1931

Headmaster Roy W. Howard took his boy choristers of St. Dunstan's School to New York in early June for an appearance at the Stage-door Canteen. The boys had 1500 soldiers and sailors to cheer them on and "they stopped the show," wrote Jack Martin, the Providence Journal correspondent. "The place has not been so quiet and its audience so attentive during the two years the Canteen has been in existence." Next day the choristers had an audition before members of the Community Concert Association, and then toured Radio City.

Lt. Warren S. Davidson, who celebrated his first year in the Air Corps, is in charge of a ground aviation school in Panama.

Winfield T. Scott, for some time "acting" Literary Editor of the Providence Journal, is now the full-fledged successor to the title.

Gordon H. Ingerson has the sympathy of the Class in the loss of his mother, Mrs. Alice (Hills) Ingerson, who died in East Providence, June 14.

1932

Lt. Col. Joseph E. Cannon, MC, USA, is on duty with the Alaska Defense Command. Joe, graduate of Tufts Medical College, was interne at Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, when he was appointed to the Army Medical Corps.

Miner T. Patton, commissioned Lt. (jg) USNR at Boston, has put aside teaching and coaching for the duration.

Charles H. Spilman of the city staff of the Providence Journal contributed a statistical chapter to "Fighting Ships 1943," which Critchell Rimington edited and Dodd, Mead published in late May. The book was designed to give the general public "a comprehensive view of the world's sea forces," and Charlie says the Navy liked it so well it bought "hundreds of copies."

Richard Salomon's business representative at "Charles of the Ritz" in New York

Exploring the Brown Bear

▶ THE BROWN BEAR continues to be on the map, this time in a novel way. Nicholas Volk, New York insurance broker, tells about it as he writes of his son, Ens. Austin N. Volk '41 in a letter to John A. Anderson, Treasurer of the B. C. A. Graduate Committee:

"Austin has been in the Solomon Islands for the past five and a half months as Commanding Officer of an L. C. T. boat. He has had quite some experience in moving from island to island, but he wrote to his mother and me recently that he had a little time off. So he used one of the small Japanese folding boats which they captured from the Japs at Guadalcanal. Attaching an outboard motor to it, he made an exploration trip up one of the rivers, which he discovered was uncharted and unnamed. I believe he intends to name the river 'Brown Bear', as a compliment to Brown University."

writes to say that Dick is in the Army, without giving further details. It was our first word of him in service.

1933

2nd Lt. Andrew W. Rougvie, Jr., AAF, won his commission last month on graduation from the AAF Statistical School at Harvard. Andy has two brothers also in service.

Alvin Natelson, in the advertising department of Women's Wear Daily, New York, writes he has moved from Brooklyn to 100 Bennet Place, Amityville, N. Y.

Don MacLeod has arrived in North Africa as an assistant field director of the American Red Cross. Before he went into service he was with Kimble Glass Co., Vineyard, N. J.

Ed Donahue, writing appreciatively of what Brown has meant to him and his brother, Donald J. Donahue '42, says he has just been appointed Chief Storekeeper (AA) with the Naval Construction Battalion at Camp Peary, Va.

Al Hiron has been transferred from Station WNAC in Boston to WAAB in Worcester as production manager. WAAB is one of the Yankee Network stations, in the State Mutual Building in Worcester. Al is living at Elm Park Manor, 58 Elm St

1935

Bob Fuller won his commission as 2nd Lt. at the graduation exercises of the Tank Destroyer OCS, Camp Hood, Tex., June 4. "A course which demands the utmost in leadership, scholarship, and stamina," said Bob's commandant, referring to the intensive training which totaled 550 hours of instruction in the latest combat methods.

Dan Ferry is with Gilman Fanfold Corp., 200 Madison Ave., New York, selling continuous forms in the metropolitan area. There's a new daughter, Susan Elizabeth, at the Ferry home in Midland Park, N. J., to take the spotlight temporarily away from her brothers, Jerry and Tom.

Pfc. William J. Karaban, AAFU, is attending the PMG (Provost Marshal General) School at Ft. Custer, Mich.

Rev. Richard B. Goodier, awarded the A.M. degree in Sacred Theology by Drew Theological Seminary in May, is pastor of the Sound View Presbyterian Church, The Bronx, N. Y.

Al Bloomingdale was co-producer of "Early to Bed," a musical show which arrived on Broadway last month "after a slight brush with the Boston censors."

Dr. Nicholas Sholler is at the Bridgeport Hospital in Bridgeport, Conn.

1st Lt. Dan Anthony is on the staff and faculty of OCS at Ft. Washington, Md. He's been teaching Army Personnel Classification at the Adjutant General's School there for the last nine months. We're sorry to hear there's been illness in his family.

Rev. Harold C. Johns was recently elected Moderator of the Niagara-Orleans Baptist Association of the New York State Baptist Convention. He is Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Akron, N. Y.

1936

2nd Lt. Buenos A. W. Young, USMCR, was graduated from Reserve Officers Training Class, Quantico, Va., June 16, and was awaiting assignment when he heard from him. He won his commission in April, after having been in the Marines since last December. Mrs. Young is the former Winifred Arens '37, Pembroke College, and there's a two-year old daughter, Jean Margaret.

2nd Lt. Louis P. Willemin, Jr., received his commission with the June graduating class at the Adjutant General's OCS, Ft. Washington, Md.

Theodore Tannewald, Jr., who left his private law practice in May, 1942, to join the Lease-Lend Administration in Washington as principal legal consultant, has changed his address from Arlington, Va., to 233 South Fulton Ave., Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Mt. Vernon is Ted's old stamping ground, and it looks as if he might be resuming practice as a lawyer on his own.

Lt. William J. George, USNR, and Thomas J. Hogan were graduated last month from Boston College Law School with the degree of LL.B.

Ens. Frederick A. Stevens, Jr., USNR, is with a motor torpedo boat squadron.

Prescott W. N. Gustafson was graduated and commissioned as Ensign from the U. S. Coast Guard Academy ROTC at New London in March, two months before his brothers, the twins in 1941. Assigned to the Civil Engineering Dept., he is living with his wife at 131 Oakdale Terrace, Suffolk, Va.

Lt. Leon M. Payne delivered the graduation address when his class received its wings in the Army Air Corps at Roswell, N.M. Assigned to a B-17, he will stay on for his extra training.

Gardner E. Wheeler, Jr., is application engineer in the Fractional H. P. Motor Division of the General Electric Co. in Fort Wayne, Ind. He is living at 533 Home Ave., but gives us 64 Marvel Road in New Haven, Conn., as his permanent address. He has the rating of Motor Machinist's Mate, 2/cl, in the temporary Coast Guard Reserve.

1937

Dr. S. James Beale, interne at St. Luke's Hospital, Jacksonville, Fla., since last July, has been asked to stay another year "as senior interne." "That's if Uncle Sam doesn't want me more than the hospital does," Jim added. "We like Florida very much in spite of having come from New England, and I think I'll settle here eventually." Jim has two sons, Dan and Sam, who will be ready for Brown about 1959 and 1960, respectively.

Walter V. Brown received the Ph.D. degree from Duke University at the 1943 Commencement. His thesis was titled: "Cytological Studies in the Panaceae."

Dick Holt is agent of the Northeast Airlines, Inc., with his office at Commonwealth Airport, East Boston, and his home at 742 Washington St., Canton, Mass.

Harold Hassenfeld passes on some news of '37 men. He hears from Lt. Jay D. Mann, currently with a Station Hospital in Australia. Harold, T/4 with the 40th General Hospital ASF, UTC, is in New Orleans. He spent some time recently with Don Daniels, who at that time was in Baton Rouge.

Theodore H. Friend is an Ensign (D-V-G) and Executive Officer of his SC. He'd heard recently from Lt. Bob Hallborg of the Navy Med. Corps, surgeon at the Naval Hospital at St. Albans, N. Y.

Frank P. Eldredge was a visitor to the New York Brown Club last month. He is a Lt. Royal N.V.R., with G.P.O., London, as his mail address (better use his family's though—112-03 68th Ave., Queens, L. I., N. Y.). Reticent about his experiences, he did disclose the fact that he had seen action on a British cruiser and two destroyers to which he had been assigned.

Lt. (jg) William E. Ryan, writing from the Naval Air Station at Pasco, Wash., is a flight instructor "in this small desert town near Spokane." "Plenty of wild west and wide open spaces," he writes, adding, "Plenty interesting to read in the ALUMNI MONTHLY about where all the fellows are and what they are doing."

1938

Ens. Paul W. Welch, USNR, is a communications officer on active duty aboard a battleship.

Bulletins You Didn't Read About the War

▶▶ THE Navy did not report these consequential events in any of its communiques:

1. One of the platoons of the Navy Unit at Brown solved a problem in an effective way. An agreement was reached voluntarily to facilitate matters during the rush in the short period of time allowed the students for their morning shaves. The blonds are required to shave at night and the brunets in the morning.

2. In a lecture on Naval Organization, the V-12 students were told that holding a Pembroke girl's hand was no excuse for not saluting an officer.

3. A request was recently received from the secretary of one of the large Providence churches, asking Brown to furnish ushers for a Naval wedding since the groom knew no men in the Navy here who were available. The Commander of the V-12 Unit did not authorize such an extra-curricular activity.

"Had a visitor, Lt. James W. Gurll, USNR, my former roommate, and we had a nice game of golf together," wrote Chuck Gaffney late last month from San Pedro, Calif., where he lives at 1140 West 20th St. (We suppose that refers to sometime before Jim went to Australia.)

Ens. Edmund R. East, USNR, is at the Naval Indoctration School, Ft. Schuyler, N. Y. Ed is on military leave from the Pennsylvania Industrial School, Camp Hill, where he is Director of Classification. We're happy to add that his engagement to Miss Charlotte Eves Shaffer of Harrisburg, Pa., graduate of Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va., has recently been announced.

Ed Lovering is now Lt. (jg) Edwin F. Lovering, MC, USNR. Ed won his medical degree at Tufts Medical College, but had not commenced practice when he joined the Naval Reserve. He was married last month, we hear.

Bob Burgess, Mrs. Burgess and Miss Joan Tucker Burgess are back in Providence and live at 94 Congdon St. Bob has been doing advanced work at the School of Social Service Administration, University of Chicago.

1st Lt. J. J. Henry Muller, III, is reported overseas by Ted Friend '37. Muller is a 1st Lt. in the Army's AGD.

1939

Lt. Albert B. Coop, Jr., USNR, was last reported in New Caledonia, supply officer of his Section Base there. When he left Boston last February he was Lt. (jg). His first letter home brought news of his promotion and word that he had already met Howie Hunt, special correspondent in the Southwest Pacific for Life magazine.

Dr. David T. Dresdale is interne at Presbyterian Medical Center, New York, and for the past three months has been doing "shock research work." He is 1st Lt., MC, USA. In the National Board Examinations for Physicians, Dave received the highest grade in the country in obstetrics and gynecology, and his average for the whole group of exams was the country's second highest. He won his M.D. at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia, where he was elected to Alpha Omega Alpha, honorary medical society.

Pfc. Arthur S. Gurney, ASTU, assigned since last March to Virginia Polytechnic Institute, was author of an illustrated article "Chemical Warfare," which the Virginia Tech Engineer published in its May issue with a neat foreword about Art's training at Brown and his work as chemical engineer before the Army took him.

Lt. Frank McEvoy, Inf., reporting a change of address from Camp Polk, La., to California, added the postscript: "Not yet overseas. Going to California (from Texas where we've just finished maneuvers) for some desert training."

Ens. Earle A. Nason, Jr., graduated last month from the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, has reported for temporary duty at Jacksonville, Fla.

Dr. Frederick C. Eckel is back in Providence as interne at Rhode Island Hospital. He wrote a classmate shortly after his arrival: "It seems strange and wonderful to be back in Providence again. In spite of being at Brown only one year, I feel more attached to Brown than to Syracuse University."

John M. Volkhardt has been promoted to office manager of Vitamins Plus, division of Vick Chemical Co. After his marriage to Miss Doris Elizabeth Thomson of Hartsbrouck Heights, N. J., he expected to take up residence at Apt. 6-G South, Scarsdale Manor, Scarsdale, N. Y. He had signed up George Keller '40 as one of his ushers.

Ens. R. Arnold Matteson, USNR, is serving on destroyer duty in the North Atlantic.

Charles E. Mercer, night telegraph editor for the Associated Press in New York City, has just gone into the Army we're told.

1940

Capt. John Prodggers, AAF, is the new commanding officer of Camp Americus, Ga. He has moved up from Maxwell Field, Ala., where he was a staff officer.

Rev. Alan H. Moore and Rev. Daniel Partridge, Jr., were graduated from Boston University School of Theology the last week in May. Al received his degree, magna cum laude, and won the Roswell R. Robinson Fellowship for a year of graduate study either here or abroad. Dan has begun his work as pastor of Methodist churches in Bolton Landing and Lake George, N. Y.

Rev. John H. Evans, assistant rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Pittsfield, Mass., is in charge of the Young People's Fellowship program and assistant in the church school.

Jack Bailey is now 2nd Lt. John R. Bailey. He received commission early last month as a graduate of the Adjutant General's OCS at Ft. Washington, Md.

Norman S. Case, Jr., recipient of the LL.B. degree from Yale Law School in February, is continuing his law study in Washington, where he lives at 4706 17th St., N. W.

Bertram H. Buxton, Jr., married June 5 to Miss Lois Lindblom '43, Pembroke College, is in his third year at Harvard Medical School. He's a member of Boylston Medical Society and the Lancet Club.

Lt. John J. McLaughry, Jr., USMCR, is an officer with the Negro Battalion at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Seymour Berkman is Chief Weather Observer and student forecaster at the AAF- AFS (TE), Turner Field, Albany, Ga., and reports the work very interesting. He occasionally sees F. K. Wood, who, he says, is Captain and CO at Dorr Aero Tech, the Primary Flying School in Albany. "Very popular and probably the youngest officer entrusted with running a flying school," Berkman says.

1941

Stanley J. F. Johnson has received a citation for translating the Soldiers' Handbook into the Norwegian language. Stan is stationed at the 36th Street Airport, Miami, Fla. The sympathy of the class goes to Stan in the loss of his father, Capt. Peder A. Johnson, veteran of 41 years in the Maritime Service, who was lost when his vessel was twice torpedoed off the Atlantic coast last month. Gordon Johnson '45, now in the Merchant Marine, is another son.

Dave Ebbitt is back on the Hill as instructor in English of the Army's "C" Meteorological group. "I was married Dec. 28, 1942, to Wilma A. Robb," he tells us. "I've been periodically drafted since that time, but am still teaching. . . . My wife too, is instructing in English here at Brown." The Ebbitts have an apartment at 134 Benefit St., and Dave says he is eager to hear from old acquaintances "who are probably leading more exciting, though perhaps less pleasant, lives than I am."

Walt Juszczyk is pitching for the Pawtucket Slaters of the New England Victory League and in this fast company is showing the stuff that made him a winner in a Brown uniform.

Dick Sonis (engaged, a correspondent tells us) is studying at the Dental College, Northwestern University, and is enrolled in the USNR.

Mrs. George F. Affleck writes that her husband, a graduate of the Submarine Chaser Training School at Miami with an Ensign's commission, is "somewhere in the Southwest Pacific."

When Bill Askue wrote June 24, he was expecting to be a Private in the Army's Specialized Training Program shortly. He's been in medical school, (Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia).

Irwin Tobin, who received his advance degree with the class, is now on the Faculty of Rhode Island State College, but remains as Director of the World Affairs Council of Rhode Island.

Another graduate student, Dr. John G. Herriot, is an instructor in mathematics at Stanford University.

Now that Richard W. Hubley has his commission of 2nd Lt. as a bombardier in the Army Air Corps, he's "just hoping for the chance to get over there and take up where Bill Erickson left off." "It's coincidental the way our choosings followed each other," he points out. "We were both DKE's in the Class of '41, both were on the VC and Brown Key, and both dropped out at the end of our second year. It was a great shock to read about his death, and hard to believe. I first saw it in an article called 'Clay Pigeon Squadron' in the Saturday Evening Post."

Clifton S. Gustafson and Clifford S. Gustafson graduated and were commissioned as Ensigns from the U. S. Coast Guard Academy ROTC at New London May 19. The twins continued their cooperation by sending a joint gift to the Alumni Fund. Clifford commanded the Coast Guard contingent which drilled on Aldrich Field preparatory to the baseball game for service men in which the St. Louis Cardinals played the Boston Coast Guard team July 13.

Jim Cunningham has his commission as a Marine flyer, following work with land based bombers at Corpus Christi. He ran into several Brunonians there: Bill Paine, also a Marine Lt., and P. J. Klein '42, now an Ensign, "and of course Big John Occhiello, who is now an Ensign at Instructors School, Rodd Field, NATC Corpus Christi."

1942

Ed Donahue '33 writes that his brother Don, who left Brown at the end of his Junior year to accept his USNR commission, is now a Lt. (jg) on active duty.

There are few better correspondents than Ens. John Sapinsley. "It was good to hear from the campus," he writes. "I can say I'm in North Africa, in command of a vessel, as is Ens. Al Shea '42, who is here with me now. I have seen Lt. Giles MacEwan '41, Ens. Phil Porter '41, Ens. Len Blazar '42, Pvt. Mike Cooper '42, Lt. Jack Dorrance '44 here and have heard Lou Duesing is here, too." "Is anybody at Brown a civilian student getting a liberal education?" he asks, "or are they all in Reserves and taking prescribed courses?" We hope that question is answered satisfactorily elsewhere in this issue.

Earl F. Luther won his Navy "Wings of Gold" and his commission as Ens., USNR, late in June at Pensacola. Designated a Naval Aviator, he was to go on active duty at one of the Navy's air operational training centres before assignment to a combat zone.

Ens. Elmer Grillo, an October graduate, is in the Supply Corps, USNR, and is stationed at Newport. He was commissioned in January, according to his brother Hermes C. Grillo '44.

A/C John Stanley Hanse, who had had CPT and logged 40 hours, has moved on to Pensacola after finishing training at the Navy's primary flight school at Squantum. He has two brothers in the service, too.

John Lomartire, living at 71 Prospect Sq., Cumberland, Md., is now a chemist at the Celanese Corporation of America.

According to his brother Bill (Brown 1941), V. Lloyd Sheehan is a Lt. Instructor in the Amphibious Training Centre, Camp Gordon, Fla. At present he is training troops and officers in hand to hand combat, such as knife fighting, judo, and street fighting.

1st Lt. Robert M. Wood is an officer in the Regular Army of the United States, with an armored engineer battalion, overseas. His address APO 257 c/o Postmaster, Los Angeles.

1943

Ens. Arthur W. Drew, Jr., USNR, graduate of the USNR Midshipmen's School in New York, is at the Sub Chase Training Centre at Miami. His bride of June 16, the former Mary C. McGann, is living with him at 177 NE 50th St., Miami.

L. M. Hoyle is with the Financial Statistics Division of the Boston Federal Reserve Bank.

Frederick W. Allen, Jr., upon graduation from the USNR Midshipmen's School in New York, was married to Elizabeth L. Main before returning to duty as Ens., USNR. His home address reaches him: 120 Laurel Ave., Providence.

Adolph I. Snow can be addressed at the Chemistry Building, Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, where he is doing research.

2nd Lt. Clinton Robert Carlisle, married May 9 to Carol Ashby Taylor, continues his study in the field of radar-electronics as a Signal Corps officer.

Vital Statistics ◀ ◀

Engagements

▶▶ 1919—Miss LUCY CRANWELL of Auckland, New Zealand, to Capt. S. Watson Smith, III, USA.

1937—Miss Yvonne Calhoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Calhoun of Forest Hills, Pa., to Dr. Leslie G. Joyner of Pittsburgh. Miss Calhoun is an alumna of Pitt.

1937—Miss Mary Ellen McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. McCormick of Providence, to Robert T. Ryan 1937—Miss Eleanor P. Regan, daughter of Mrs. Edward F. Regan of Pawtucket, to Ens. James F. McCoy, USNR.

1938—Miss Jane R. Hollen, Pembroke '40, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Hollen of Providence, to 1st Lt. John H. Slattery, U. S. Med. Adm. Corps.

1938—Miss Dorothy Mohn, daughter of Mrs. Earl J. Mohn of Pittsburgh, to S/Sgt. William J. Vilsack, USA.

1938—Miss Charlotte Eves Shaffer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Shaffer of Harrisburg, Pa., to Ens. Edmund R. East, USNR. Miss Shaffer is a graduate of Mary Baldwin College.

1939—Miss Mary Elizabeth Saunders, Syracuse '40, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald B. Saunders of Syracuse, to Lt. (jg) Robert H. Wyatt, USNR.

1940—Miss Barbara Clark, Colby Junior College '43, of Putney, Vt., to 2nd Lt. Myron E. Wilcox, Jr., USMCR.

1941—Miss Roberta Tripp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tripp of Fairhaven, Mass., to Alvin H. Hanson.

1941—Miss Helen Winna Silverman, R. I. State College '43, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Silverman of Providence, to Richard H. Sonis, USNR.

1942—Miss Jane Anne Bleyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bleyer of New York City, to Cpl. James Van Raalte, USA.

1942—Miss Mary L. Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Crawford of East Providence, to Lt. V. Lloyd Sheehan.

1942—Miss Mildred A. Hintz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Hintz of Parsippany, N. J., to Richard S. Baldwin.

1942—Miss Ethel M. Larsen, daughter of Mrs. Ethel V. Rackley of St. Augustine, Fla., to Ens. Richard T. High, USCGR. Miss Larsen attended Florida State College for Women.

1942—Miss Dorothy Robinson, Pembroke '43, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius G. Robinson of Providence, to David Golner.

1942—Miss Lois Elizabeth Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Taylor of Pawtucket, to Richard Phillips Cook.

1942—Miss Priscilla Parker Thomas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Thomas of Spring, Brook, Morristown, N. J., to Irving W. Patterson, Jr. Miss Thomas attended Pembroke.

1943—Miss Doris S. Fain, daughter of Mr. B. Alfred Fain of Providence, to Cpl. Norton Hirsch, USA.

1943—Miss Phyllis J. Larkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Larkin of Sharon, Conn., to Ens. Thomas D. McKone, USNR.

1943—Miss Betsey Jane Merrill, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Merrill of West Newbury, Mass., to Lt. Leighton T. Bohl, Jr., USMCR.

1943—Miss Barbara H. Morton, Pembroke '45, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron P. Norton of Duxbury, Mass., to 1st Lt. Henry C. Adams, USA.

1943—Miss Joan Snell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Snell of St. Albans, Queens, to Ens. Richard W. Paland, USNR.

1944—Miss Eleanor M. Whatmough, daughter of Mr. John Whatmough of Pawtucket, to David M. Greenwood, USNR.

Weddings

► 1884—ALBERT A. BAKER and Mrs. Arthur H. Beatty, both of Providence, in St. Stephen's Church, June 9, 1943.

1904—John F. Woodman, and Mrs. Viola M. Hammer, daughter of Mrs. M. J. Mason of Gypsum, Kan., in Gypsum, May 5, 1943.

1932—Cpl. Leroy Fagan, CA, and Miss Winifred Whelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Whelan of Waterbury, Conn., in St. Margaret's Church, June 16, 1943.

1933—Dr. Robert R. Chace, and Miss Olive Tuck, daughter of Mrs. Alaric R. Tuck of Providence, in Central Baptist Church, July 7, 1943.

1936—Cpl. John P. Tsitos, and Miss Clara Daeris, daughter of Mrs. Stravroula Daeris of Dover, N. H., in the Chapel, Camp Hood, Texas, Apr. 10, 1943.

1937—Ens. Bruce R. Gordon, USCGR, and Miss Jean V. Ledden, daughter of the Rev. W. Earl Ledden of Trinity Methodist Church of Albany, and Mrs. Ledden, May 17, 1943.

1937—Cpl. William D. Reynolds, USAAF, and Miss Marion Arlene Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Bowman of Falmouth, Mass., in Boise, Idaho, June 1, 1943.

1938—Lt. (jg) Edwin F. Lovering, MC, USNR, and Miss Virginia Parr, daughter of Mrs. George Parr of Pawtucket, in the Pawtuxet Baptist Church, June 8, 1943.

1938—2nd Lt. Frederick C. Quinn, Jr., and Miss Catherine T. O'Connell, niece of Miss Mary E. O'Connell of Providence, in Sacred Heart Church, June 7, 1943.

1940—Pvt. Bertram H. Buxton, Jr., and Miss Lois Lindbloom, Pembroke '43, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels O. Lindbloom of Riverside, in Central Congregational Church, June 5, 1943.

1940—Lt. (jg) Gardner S. Gould, USNR, and Miss Martha Howell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William W. Howell of Jamaica Plain, and Jaffrey, N. H., in St. John's Church, Jamaica Plain, May 28, 1943.

1941—Fred M. Drennan, Jr. and Miss Betty Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bancroft Lloyd of Providence, in St. Martin's Church, June 26, 1943.

1942—Sgt. Richard R. Baxter, USAAC, and Miss Harriet N. Latson, Pembroke '42, daughter of the late Lt. Col. Harley Latson, C.E., and Mrs. Latson, May 29, 1943 at Fort Logan, Col.

1942—Lt. Robert A. Colnes, USA, and Miss Charlotte Borod, daughter of Mrs. Hillel Hassenfeld of Providence, June 20, 1943.

1942—Ens. John A. Goulding, USNR, and Miss Alice L. Angell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Angell of Gloucester, in Central Congregational Church, June 27, 1943.

1942—Ens. Gustave Hill, Jr., USNR, and Miss Hope Evelyn Clary of Pawtucket, in Rumford, May 12, 1943.

1942—Lt. (jg) Roland A. Lewis, USNR, and Miss Florence S. Farnham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton E. Farnham of Winchester, Mass., in All Saint's Chapel, Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, June 18, 1943.

1942—Ens. Lawrence J. Morin, USNR, and Miss Barbara Ann Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brookes Porter of East Providence, in the rectory of St. John's Church, New Haven, May 8, 1943.

1942—William M. Pfeifer, and Miss Helen L. Armbrust, daughter of Mr. and Gottlob Armbrust of Edgewood, in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, May 13, 1943.

1943—Lt. James E. Ball, 3rd, and Miss Mary F. Featherston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Featherston of Richmond, Va., in Joplin, Md., Apr. 29, 1943.

1943—Richard M. Field, and Miss Janice E. Hough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Hough of Providence, at "Buttonwoods Gardens", May 5, 1943.

1943—Ens. Haydn L. Hankins, USNR, and Miss Rosele A. Schrayssshuen, Pembroke '45, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schrayssshuen of Providence, in Central Baptist Church, June 3, 1943.

1943—James G. Anderson, Jr., USCG, and Miss Jane Beverly McAvoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. McAvoy of Margate, N. J., at the home of the groom's parents in West Medway, Mass., Apr. 10, 1943.

1943—Lt. James M. Keck, USAAC, and Miss Barbara B. Fleck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fleck of Edgewood, in the Church of the Transfiguration, June 2, 1943. Lt. Keck graduated from West Point in June.

1943—Ens. Frederic W. Allen, Jr., USNR, and Miss Elizabeth L. Main, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Joseph H. Main of Providence, in St. Martin's Church, June 18, 1943.

1943—Ens. Arthur W. Drew, Jr., USNR, and Miss Mary McGann, daughter of Mrs. Grace W. McGann of Providence, in St. Martin's Church, June 17, 1943.

1943—Ens. Edwin Wilks, 3rd, USNR, and Miss Doris M. Tabor, daughter of Mrs. Albert K. Tabor of Slatersville, in the Slatersville Congregational Church, June 17, 1943.

1943—Ens. Earle A. Nason, Jr., USN, and Miss Julia McCaskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. McCaskey of Lancaster, Pa., in Lancaster, June 19, 1943. Mr. Nason graduated this spring from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

1943—Lt. R. Grant Arnold, USAAF, and Miss Cynthia Anne Taber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington P. Taber of West Warwick, in the Centreville Methodist Church, June 26, 1943.

1944—J. Benjamin Nevin, Jr., USAAC, and Miss Lorna Hidden, granddaughter of Mrs. Walter Hidden of Providence, in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Albany, Ga., May 22, 1943.

Births

► 1925—To Lt. Albert F. Cappelli, USA, and Mrs. Cappelli of Edgewood, a daughter, Rufina Spencer, May 19, 1943.

1925—To Mr. and Mrs. William D. G. Oldham of East Providence, a second daughter, Merle Alera, June 2, 1943.

1925—To Mr. and Mrs. Henry Welch of Silver Spring, Md., a son, David Dickey, March 26, 1943.

1928—To Dr. and Mrs. Edward V. Famiglietti of Providence, a son, Edward Virgil, Jr., June 2, 1943.

1928—To Capt. Dixwell Goff and Mrs. Goff of Providence, a daughter, Jennifer Dixwell, June 18, 1943.

1929—To Lt. Comdr. F. C. Hanson, MC, USNR, and Mrs. Hanson of Middletown, R. I., a daughter, Carol Joy, June 13, 1943.

1932—To Major Leo V. Levins and Mrs. Levins of Fort Slocum, N. Y., a second daughter, Irene Barbara, May 16, 1943.

1933—To Dr. and Mrs. Alex M. Burgess, Jr. of Lansdowne, Pa., a second son, June 25, 1943.

1933—To Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gardner of Rumford, a daughter, Mary Sheridan, May 16, 1943.

1934—To Mr. and Mrs. Coburn A. Buxton of Dallas, a son, G. Edward Buxton, 3rd, May 24, 1943.

1934—To Mr. and Mrs. Douglas G. Percy of Buffalo, a son, Thomas Love, born Apr. 22, 1943.

1935—To Mr. and Mrs. D. Gerald Ferry of Midland Park, N. J., a daughter, Susan Elizabeth, May 26, 1943.

1937—To Ens. Sheldon A. Briggs, USNR, and Mrs. Briggs, a son, Sheldon Alexander, II, June 22, 1943.

1937—To Dr. and Mrs. Freeman D. Love of Norfolk, Va., a son, Francis Walton, May 8, 1943.

1938—To Lt. Edward A. Fontaine and Mrs. Fontaine of Salem, Ore., a daughter, Nancy Jean, May 9, 1943.

1938—To Ens. John A. Priest, USNR, and Mrs. Priest of Arlington, Va., a daughter, Morey, Feb. 3, 1943.

1938—To Ens. George H. Springer, USNR, and Mrs. Springer, a son, Jonathan Herbert, in Memphis, May 27, 1943. ◀ ◀

HENRY MERRITT WRISTON

Challenge To Freedom

A Book That Will Be Of Immediate Interest
To Everyone. A Book Every Brown Man In Particular Will Want to Read by

PRESIDENT WRISTON

We Are Able to Offer Autographed Copies at $2.00 each to Brown Men. Please Send Us the Coupon Below.

UNIVERSITY STORE

FAUNCE HOUSE
BROWN UNIVERSITY
PROVIDENCE, R. I.

UNIVERSITY STORE:

Please Mail Autographed Copies of "Challenge To Freedom"

To _____

Street _____

City _____

State _____ I enclose $ _____

