

Anishinabe Feminist Environmentalist

Winona LaDuke

"Native Women as Leaders for Environmental & Social Change"

Winona LaDuke is founder of the Indigenous Women's Network and the White Earth Land Recovery Project. She is a leader on her home reservation at White Earth, Minnesota, organizing marketing collectives, directing a Native-controlled High School, and coordinating the struggle for land rights. She is a recipient of the Reebok Human Rights Award.

Monday,
March 22
8:00 p.m.
List 120

Brown University
List Art Center, 64 College Street, Providence, RI.

Sponsored by: The Center for Public Service, The Center for the Study of Race & Ethnicity in America, The Inman Page Lecture Fund, The Native American Advocacy Group, The Office of the Associate Provost, The Office of the Chaplains, The Office of the Dean of the College, The Pembroke Center, The Resource Center, The Sarah Doyle Women's Center, The Third World Center, & The Wayland Collegium.