

Family Research Council has commissioned, with the cooperation of an American manufacturer, this beautiful new Christmas ornament. The three dimensional, brass ornament depicting the birth of Christ, will provide a visible reminder during this Holy Season that the freedom to bow down before Christ Jesus is not, unfortunately, universal. It will also provide you and your family with a lovely alternative to the many decorations made by hands that are not free to be clasped in prayer. FRC will use the net proceeds from the distribution of these ornaments for our informational and educational campaigns on religious persecution. We pray that this ornament will encourage you to join FRC in remembering those in distant lands who do not enjoy the same basic freedoms that we cherish.
