
WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE

BETWEEN CAPITALISM AND COMMUNISM?

Communism is out to destroy Capitalism. The East-West struggle between Communism and Capitalism, tyranny and freedom, is the major conflict of our day.

Communism is determined to dominate and control the world. This is essential to a totalitarian nature. Capitalism requires freedom for the individual.

The struggle is otherwise said to be between Communism and Christianity. Communism denounces Capitalism and Christianity alike. There is a basis in the Christian concept of man in the world for Capitalism, but there is no basis for Communism.

Communism is atheistic, materialistic, and views man as the tool and convenience of the State. Man has no soul, no destiny. Man has no God, no Christ, no hope, no hell, no Heaven. Communism offers a utopia conditioned upon all men becoming slaves of the state. There is no evil, sin, or Devil except as the Communist determines. Good is evil, light is darkness, all is relative. "Dialectical materialism" alone gives revolutionary progress. Capitalism, on the other hand, rests upon a recognition of God and certain di-
