FOOT BALL MEETING.

Too much importance cannot be ascribed to the Foot Ball meeting, which occurs at 12 o'clock today. For the past few years there has been an enthusiastic and hearty support accorded the eleven and the financial part of the game has been easily taken care of. This year the expenses have been made greater than ever before and the response of the college men must increase accordingly. We feel sure that the students realize this fact and that the largest amount ever subscribed at any meeting of the association will bear witness to the interest and confidence which the work of the eleven has thus far inspired.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editors of the Herald:

Pardon me if I take the liberty of addressing a short communication to you with regard to foot ball at Brown. The recent notes on this subject in your paper, and my long interest in this sport at Brown University, impel me to write to you. I have watched foot ball grow in popularity from year to year for the last six years and I think that this sport, together with general field and track athletics, merits more attention, and is in need of more systematic effort for development, than any other sport in which the students of Brown University are interested. Base ball and tennis are now in a position, if I understand matters rightly, to support themselves. The work of the athletic team last spring certainly furnishes every encouragement to the supporters of general athletics, and next spring should certainly see Brown occupying a high place in the New England Inter-collegiate Association, if indeed they do not stand a most excellent chance of winning the championship.

In order that Brown may have a creditable foot ball team, no efforts should be spared to interest the students in a determined effort to bring out all the available foot ball material in the university. The continuation of the Inter-scholastic League this fall on the same general plan as that adopted last fall, is to my mind most important. It also seems to me that it is very desirable that the class foot ball teams should be well organized and that a series of games should be arranged for at once between the various classes. With this in view, I would respectfully suggest that a movement be started by the BROWN DAILY HERALD to raise a fund sufficient to provide for a prize, or prizes, for the class team winning the championship in a series of games between the various classes. In order to assist in attaining this object, if the BROWN DAILY HERALD is willing to take the matter in hand, and to raise a good sum with which may be provided either a class cup, which would be an addition to a collection of trophies to be placed in some selected portion of the gymnasium, or to purchase trophies for the individual members of the victorious team, I will be pleased to contribute the sum of $10, on the condition that not less than $25 in all be raised.

I am much pleased to learn that there is so much good material from which a good team can be organized, and if another suggestion from me might be pardoned, I would especially urge that this year an experienced trainer be selected for the eleven, and that he be a man of well-known experience in foot ball matters, and, if possible, be an old foot ball man from either Yale, Harvard or Princeton.

Yours very truly,
GARDNER COLBY.

S. O. Baldwin, manager of the Bowdoin foot ball eleven was at the college Thursday endeavoring to arrange a game with the Brown eleven.

The annual tournament for the inter-collegiate championship will be held on the grounds of the New Haven Lawn Club, on Oct. 4 and following days.

FOOT BALL PROSPECTS.

In view of the foot ball meeting which is to be held this morning, in order that the eleven may receive financial support, it is perhaps pertinent to consider the prospects of the team for the coming year. Never in the history of the game at Brown have so large and so promising a number of men appeared as candidates for positions.

To judge from present appearances we will be especially strong in the line, which place has, during former seasons, been rather weak. A center and guards picked from such weighty material as Call, Hastings, Smith, Lancey and Filmer should be able to break a strong opposing line. The only fault to be found with them is that they are slow and somewhat awkward. Hastings, the old Bowdoin player, is an exception to this rule however, and plays with a snap and dash that the others would do well to imitate.

The work with the tackling machine has been of great assistance to the eleven and a steady improvement in tackling of the men has been noticed since the first day's practice. The candidates who are most proficient in this point of the game, which is so difficult to acquire, are Bustard, Richards, Marvel, Matteson, '96, and Filmer. Several other men are not far behind, however, and push them hard for honors. In running, the big men show a rate of speed which is surprising, considering their weight. Those who generally lead at the finish are Casey, Marvel, Aldrich and Matteson. Casey has played upon the 'Varsity three years and is pretty sure of a position, as he is a good runner, a fine tackler, and keeps his opponent in the line guessing.

Among the candidates for half-back Robinson and McCarthy have shown up best, but they are not as fast as might be desired.

Bustard is an experienced player and in practice has demonstrated his ability as a good tackler. His kicking is still rather weak, as the ball generally takes a flight much too high for scientific foot ball.

ON THE TENNIS COURT.

The tournament to decide whether J. D. E. Jones or some other champion shall accompany Malcolm Chace to New Haven and represent Brown among the colleges, was continued yesterday afternoon. The first match was between George and Hinckley and resulted in an easy victory for the latter by a score of 6-2, 6-1. George was out of practice as he has played very little this summer, devoting all his time to base ball.

The second set was played immediately after the first and the contestants were Hinckley and Henshaw. Henshaw had it all his own way from the start and won the match 6-0, 6-1. Hinckley seemed tired and had great difficulty in placing accurately, driving out of the court and into the net repeatedly.

PROVISIONAL GLEE CLUB.

Of the twenty-five men selected by the committee as a trial club the following named gentlemen have been retained by the committee, assisted by Prof. Sprague, as a provisional club: First tenors, Messrs. Fox, Windsor, Hinckley, Llewellyn; second tenors, Macurda, Frost, Johnson, Hawkins, Stone; first bass, Cady, Keating, Nash, Chamberlain; second bass, Parker, Newell, Walker and Field.

The HERALD prints this morning in another column a communication from an alumnus, which contains a suggestion well worthy of consideration on the part of the students,
namely the organization of class foot ball elevens and inter-class contests
for the championship and a trophy.

The HERALD has often thought of this matter and has been tempted on several occasions to urge the formation of class elevens. We heartily coincide with Mr. COLBY in the belief that no efforts should be spared to bring out all available foot ball material in the university and believes, with him, that class games would in a great measure do this. The HERALD, furthermore, heartily endorses the suggestion of raising a fund for a suitable trophy, and will add $10 to the amount contributed by our correspondent.

With the interest now manifested in the sport there would be no difficulty in getting together elevens in the various classes.

We shall be pleased to receive suggestions and will acknowledge all contributions for the trophy.
