

O God, our sisters Maura, Ita, Dorothy and Jean went with your people of Central America until they died with them. In service to the poor, they gave up their lives in the hope that they might give life through the coming of justice. In their sacrifice, they have sealed forever a bond of brotherhood and sisterhood between the people of North and Central America.

Help us to receive the message of their witness and to become one people in faith with our Central American sisters and brothers. May we be faithful to this bond, in which we find your presence, through our own commitment to the work of justice and peace in our world. May we learn to walk with the poor in their struggle for life. Amen.
