

Summer Seminars at FEE

For the 26th consecutive summer, FEE will conduct its noted seminars in the freedom philosophy and the economics of a free society. Here, in the company of like-minded individuals, with experienced discussion leaders, and in a setting ideal for the calm exchange of ideas, is an opportunity for those who believe that the proper approach to economic problems is through the study of individual human action. These seminars continue to attract individuals from all walks of life who seek a better understanding of the principles of a free society and are interested in exploring ways of presenting the case more convincingly.

Each seminar will consist of 40 hours of classroom lectures and discussions in economics and government. In addition to the regular FEE staff, there will be a number of distinguished visiting lecturers.

The FEE charge for a seminar—tuition, supplies, room and board—is $500. Fellowships will be made available. High school and college teachers or administrators are given special consideration.

Individuals, companies, and foundations interested in furthering this educational enterprise are invited to attend or otherwise investigate the program and to assist with the financing of the fellowship grants.

The formal announcement, giving details of the seminars as well as information about fellowships, will be sent immediately on request.

Deadline for applications: May 1, 1988.

First session:	June 19–25
Second session:	August 7–13
