

The FCC has become legislator, executive, and judge! It makes the law, it enforces it, it judges it, it condemns. It is the rule of men!

I have written you directly and I ask you now please to respond. I have been out in some great rallies recently and the people are waking up. Let these liberal and leftist forces, who thought they could win the day in this country by stifling and restricting freedom, find out that anyone who touches freedom in this blessed land of ours has made a tragic mistake. I have been fighting this battle day by day. It has been our number one burden. I have not written you for some time and now I ask your response! Please do not lay down this letter. Carry it around with you. Get out your check book. Deny yourself something that you were thinking about buying. I am crying as a prophet of old. I am asking for help. It is not my battle alone; it is yours, too. Let us fear God, in faith, in tears, in trust in our Saviour. Let us fight to the finish.

Some government officials are brazen, bold, insolent, intolerant. I say it knowingly. Long ago they would have stopped these procedures of persecution had there been the concern for liberty which they should have to serve the people.

I invite you to come to Constitution Hall, 18th and D., N.W., Washington, D.C. November 2, for the great debate. If Mr. Baker, or a member of his board as his substitute, does not appear, we shall have an empty chair with the words, "Baker for the FCC" upon it. May all America hear this debate. The Johnson administration must be held responsible for the FCC's restriction of speech and the free exercise of religion.

Oh, my friend, please write me a gracious, kind, considerate, affectionate letter. We love liberty.

I need you.
