WHY ARE THEY SAYING THESE THINGS ABOUT US?

"FPS is certainly a mature and quite professional magazine. Should be required reading for all teachers and librarians and it certainly will be welcomed by most junior high and high school students."

• Bill Katz, Library Journal, 11/15/75

"Student and Youth Organizing ought to get into the hands of every high school student, organizer and teacher in the nation..."

• Jonathan Kozol, education writer

"How to Start a High School Underground Newspaper is one of the most valuable and energizing First Amendment documents I have seen in a long time."

• Nat Hentoff, 3/78

"Young People and the Law is a clear, comprehensive introduction to the rights of young people. I strongly recommend it for students, teachers and lawyers interested in the rights of young people."

• Gabe Kaimowitz, young people's rights lawyer

"The young people who have contributed essays, poems and cartoons [to Youth Liberation: News, Politics and Survival Information] are unusually articulate. They certainly do have a case [against the establishment] and they state it clearly and dramatically."

• Publisher's Weekly, 11/18/72

"Growing Up Gay is an eloquent account of the kind of pain and beauty that every young homosexual lives with from day to day."

• People Soup, publication of Liberal Religious Youth

"Youth Liberation does much work that is laudable — its encouragement of students to get involved in the structure of public education and to understand their individual rights may help develop students who will become knowledgeable and involved in the process of government and the protection of civil rights."

• American School Board Journal, 2/76
