

For years, MEN'S Liberation has been largely a projection of white middle-class downward-mobile American males upon the masses of minority and working-class men. This partial world-view distorts the greater reality of American male culture. Fortunately there is enough "room" for many diverse opinions and ideas. This NOTICE represents an alternative perspective based on a moderate, low-keyed, middle-of-the-road evaluation of men's roles in American society, particularly for minority and working-class men--we DO NOT advocate Marxist "revolution", "utopian socialism" or "radical feminist" solutions. Nor do we offer white feminists as the New Goddesses to be worshipped, feared and idolized like many "men's lib" groups unconsciously do.

We offer a space for men who are basically secure in their sexuality and masculinity to dialog on a broad range of issues.
