

20th CENTURY SERPENT TREADERS

God promised the Christians living in first century Rome that he would "shortly bruise Satan under their feet."

As time is measured in the downfall of nations and empires this was "shortly" accomplished in the demise of pagan Rome, which epitomized the secular wonder working power of Satan, that old serpent, so appropriately referred to in the Book of Revelation as the Dragon (another reptilian term for the prince of darkness).

Christianity marched onward through history over the prostrated Beast to gain fresh victories in new sectors throughout the world. The overturning of pagan powers continues, not without its temporary setbacks, in all ages, to the end that all kings will finally bow down before Him and the nations of the earth will serve Him. Christians need always keep this long range, divinely ordered destiny in sight.

The means to this end is the preaching of the whole counsel of God and restructuring of every sphere of society in terms of God's law-word. No hybridization of Humanism and Biblical Christianity can be tolerated, nor will it work. That amixed ideology may appear to be fruitful for a season is a clever deception of Satan which God ordains only to instruct us better in the way of strict and total obedience. All compromise, to the degree that it is compromise, is defection from the faith and sin against God.

To a more thorough trampling underfoot of the serpent, whether in the home, work, school, business, science, or in the Church -- is THE SERPENT TREADER dedicated.
