

ABOUT AWF

Founded in 1961, the African Wildlife Foundation 501(c)3 is the leading international conservation organization working solely in Africa. Based in Washington, DC with a fully staffed field office in Nairobi, Kenya, AWF supports more than 35 field projects in Africa including the Amboseli Elephant Research Project.

For more information on how you can help the elephants of Amboseli, please write to the:

AMBOSELI ELEPHANT RESEARCH PROJECT
c/o African Wildlife Foundation
1717 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Suite 602
Washington, DC 20036
Phone 202-265-8393, Fax 202-265-2361.
E-mail: awtfwash@igc.apc.org Web site: www.awf.org

I very much would like to support the research work of Cynthia Moss and the Amboseli elephants. (Indicate your interest by marking the appropriate box):

☐ Amboseli Research "Sponsor" $100
☐ Amboseli Research "Partner" $500 (Please select one of the named Amboseli elephant family groups listed and write here:)
☐ Other amount: _____
☐ Name an Amboseli Elephant. I am very interested in learning more about this. Please contact me with information.

Name: _____
Address: _____
Telephone: _____
Please list your telephone number so we may contact you promptly to answer your questions.
☐ Check payable to African Wildlife Foundation
☐ Visa ☐ MC ☐ AmEx
Card # _____ Exp. date _____

Design & Production of this brochure by Powell Tate, Washington, DC.
Photography Credits:
Cover: Cynthia Moss; page 1, Martyn Colbeck; pages 2,3,4, Cynthia Moss

1996

“Today elephants are in great peril. If elephants are to survive, human beings will have to be convinced that these magnificent, intelligent creatures are entitled to retain some share of the living space left on earth. There could be no more persuasive argument for them than that provided by Cynthia Moss.”

SIR DAVID ATTENBOROUGH