

everything from you, and you have become a robot slave groveling in hopeless despair, with the temporary security of a pig in his sty, but without mind, soul or hope.

Gentlemen, if you, and others like you, will stop lolling complacently on your expanding posteriors, and galvanize into action, this country can be saved from the gathering darkness of Socialist night. If you get busy soon enough.

Surely, your own self-respect, and the love you bear your children, will impel you to do so.

Let's refute the basic flaw of socialism. Let's establish that "the end does not justify the means." Let's preach it so consistently and forcefully that it will penetrate the thick skulls of the politicians.
