

But things are looking up. The press is paying more attention. You might have a chance of hooking up with the Concord Coalition, in which Paul Tsongas is a principal. I would guess that they will concentrate on something other than mass citizen involvement between now and the election, but anyhow Who's Who lists him at Foley Hoag and Elliot in Boston.

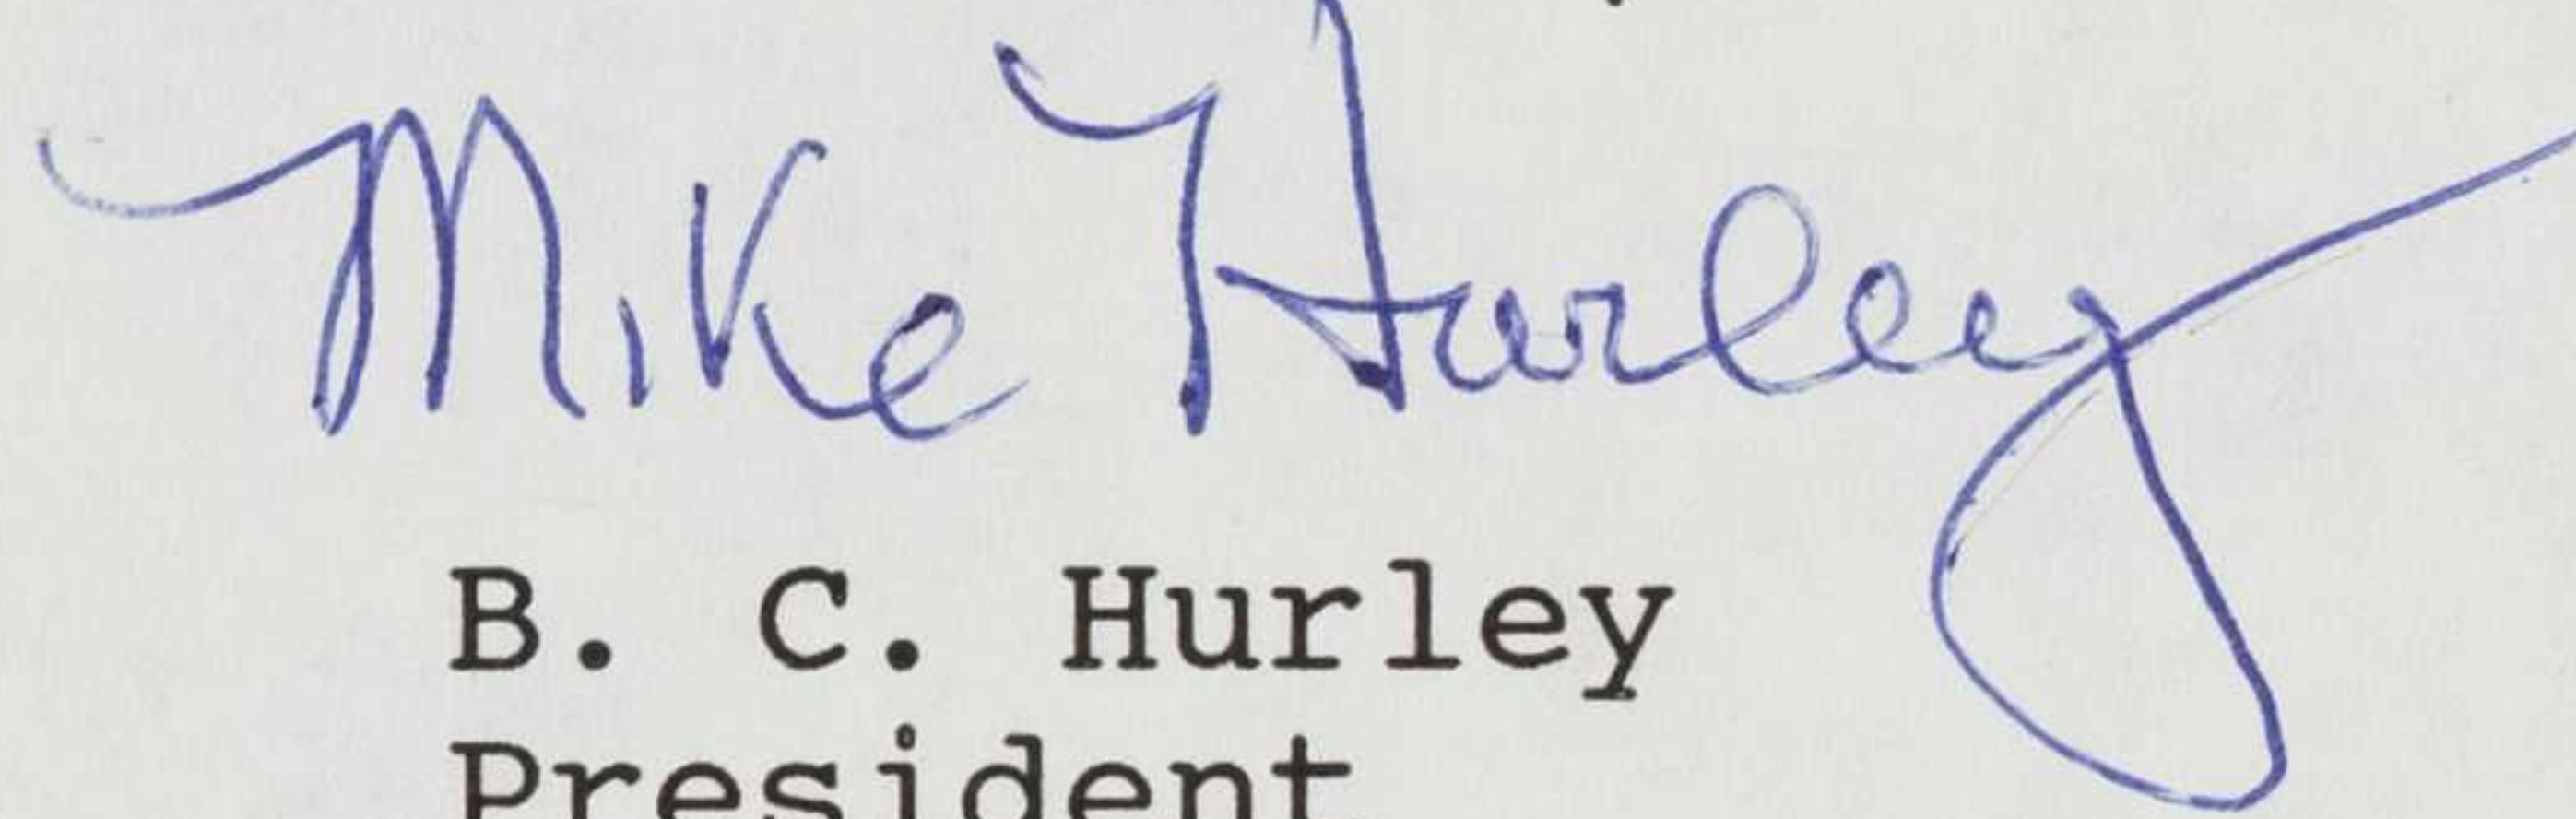

If I were you and I wanted to stir things up, I would write a letter to a newspaper and royally chew out the seniors' generation for being so greedy and so callous as to the fate of future generations. You might throw in the politicians, too, but I feel that they are the image of the electorate. The ones who were frank were never elected.

If you ever need my help on anything, I'd be delighted. I do such things at times. If you want me to review a written draft in a hurry, for instance, fax it to 517/835-8201, giving my name and the phone number on the letterhead (my home).

I don't intend to throw a burden of conscience on you, but you sounded like you were searching for a path. People who take the trouble to write usually are.

I have added your name to our mailing list. I will add your classmate too, if requested, or use more permanent addresses if you prefer.

Best Wishes,
