

GOOD & EVIL

"Acknowledging the existence of evil — not just evil people but evil itself — is a prerequisite to understanding and controlling it. Denying that evil exists, and that it is a proper metaphor for the worst kind of behavior, ensures that evil will prosper."

Cal Thomas (c)1995 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

"But, over one generation, government has doubled the amount of money it takes from us, has increasingly deprived us of control over our own lives, has turned our public spaces over to criminals and our public schools into factories of ignorance. It has driven us apart on the basis of race and even of sex and, in the name of tolerance, has made us intolerant."

Malcolm Wallop, Founder Frontiers of Freedom and former U.S. Senator, Wyoming, in IMPRIMIS, July 1995, v24 no.7
