

THE FOUNDATION FOR ECONOMIC EDUCATION

while nonprofit and nonpolitical is nonetheless an educational champion of private property, the free market, the profit and loss system, and limited government.

The Foundation's complaint is simple: Socialism—no private property, no free market, no profit and loss system, government without limit—gains because there is so little opposition to it. Bluntly, persons who don't like socialism are not accomplished enough at setting forth their own position so as to convince others. For the most part, they sputter rather than explain! Thus, socialism grows by default.

The Foundation's solution is equally simple: Let each individual who would effectively combat socialism become an accomplished expositor of the
