$6.00: "Consultation on the Bible and Civil Government"

This paper was delivered by Gary DeMar at Geneva College on June 3rd as part of a Consultation that was designed to answer this question: How should the Bible be used to influence public policy? Four separate positions were presented. This paper was a response to one of the main papers that sees the Constitution as a secular document because it does not acknowledge the Lordship of Jesus Christ. It is filled with historical information that sheds a tremendous amount of light on our nation's religious heritage.

$15.00: 1988 Election Calendar

Most Christians are caught off guard during election years because they never know when the next political event is about to surface. Do you know when and where the primaries will be held? This very unique calendar gives you major and minor political events leading up to the presidential election of 1988. There is an interesting map that shows you the difference of voting patterns in the last four presidential elections.

$25.00: Biblical Principles

This book is a gold mine of useful biblical, statistical, and historical information on 32 separate issues. It covers topics like abortion, child abuse, education, evolution vs. creation, inflation, the courts, making covenants with God's enemies, religious liberty, "Rock 'n Roll," sodomy, taxation, video witchcraft. There is also a section on our nation's religious heritage as well as a cartoon description of the differences between a democracy and a republic. This is a very helpful book. We'll send you the paper on the "Consultation on the Bible and Civil Government" with this selection.

$50.00: Toward Rediscovering the Old Testament

Walter Kaiser is a scholar who knows how to communicate. His "Toward" books has been very helpful. I've watched his books get progressively better. Many Christians believe that the Old Testament has no bearing on the Christian. "Well, that's in the Old Testament." This attitude is not much different from the liberals who keep telling us that not all the Bible is God's word. This book will give you a new appreciation for the whole Bible. I've always wondered why we carry Bibles with the Old and New Testaments if the Old Testament is not for Christians.

$75.00: Christianity and the Constitution:

This is the first book on the Constitution that is self-consciously Christian. It is divided into three parts. Part 1 deals with the background and education of the founding
