

THE CHRISTIAN AND CIVIL GOVERNMENT

by Pastor John Weaver

The 13th chapter of Paul's Epistle to the Romans - at least the first clause of verse one: "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers" - is a favorite section of Scripture appealed to by those who allege that Christians are obligated by God in all ages to render unquestioned obedience and submission to every law, ordinance, rule, regulation, edict, and decree promulgated by civil government.

Pastor John Weaver has taken this most controversial passage of Scripture and, in a remarkably simple and straightforward way, examined it in light of its scriptural and historical context and set forth the proper, God-honoring relationship that a Christian is to have with civil authority. His insights coupled with his thorough examination of Romans 13 will stir you and compel you to develop a more thoroughly biblical perspective on this important subject.

"You will never be the same after reading this book."
