

These school children in Boston work together and learn together while their parents fight in the streets. Racism is not a natural feeling—it is used by the ruling class to divide the workers.

YAWF has a long record of struggle for the right of Black students to a decent education. This picket line was called in 1972 in response to a racist mobilization against busing in Canarsie, New York City.