Conclusion

This record of the Council's activities in 1965 indicates that the Christians in the United States are confronted with the most formidable possible challenge. On every side the National Council of Churches is active to change the structure of freedom and the structure of the churches in the United States. It is indeed a one-world church, and it is indeed the development of some form of a one-world government that the NCC is seeking to advance.

One listens in vain for any clear message proclaiming the precious blood of Jesus Christ as the only hope of sinners.

A social gospel, as they call it, which is not the Gospel, has perverted and turned the National Council of Churches away from a proclamation of the message of grace and salvation — yea, from the Gospel of Jesus Christ as offered in the Holy Scriptures.

Christian people must repudiate and reject all this and return to the Bible, its message of life, its commandments of righteousness, and its plain teaching that Christians are the salt of the earth.

We invite the readers of this tract and appraisal, wherever they may be, to subscribe immediately to the Christian Beacon, a weekly religious newspaper which deals with these issues constantly. The price is $2 a year; the address, Collingswood, New Jersey. Also, we invite the readers of this tract to listen to the 20th Century Reformation Hour broadcast and join in the great struggle to preserve in the United States both civil and religious freedom — freedom of speech and the free exercise of religion — as it is under attack by the liberal elements and the forces in the National Council of Churches which are seeking to remove this broadcast from the radio waves.
