

installation of power cables and antenna feed lines the only other construction to take place involves the installation of two UHF antennas on a twenty foot high antenna tower that is mounted on the roof of the building." [Building = PAVE PAWS] Air Force Document "It [the antenna] can be assembled and installed by two men in less than one hour...." Chu Associates.

Congressman Studds has kept the Air Force to their word concerning the 60 day period for public comment. The period begins July 1st and ends September 1st. We encourage everyone with environmental concerns and contacts to make full use of this comment period. AND:CC has alerted the Association for the Preservation of Cape Cod. Suggestions of other interested individuals and groups are greatly appreciated (477-1386).

We appreciate Congressman Studds distributing the environmental survey to his Otis mailing list.

There is no firm date for installation of the I/O terminal, but it will not be before fall.

We will greatly miss our No GWEN Chairperson : Elizabeth Ball. She has joyfully purchased land in California and has gone West. We wish her success and happiness. We thank Elizabeth for her hours of work on the GWEN issue and especially for her recent briefing of Congressman Studds on why the peace movement sees GWEN as a dangerous component of the government's suicidal nuclear war fighting strategy.

Good Luck, Elizabeth, and keep an eye on the GWEN site in Bakersfield, California!

GWEN LANE COUNTY , OREGON

Eugene, Oregon has held a series of public forums on GWEN. Their County Commissioners have expressed their ire over the Air Force's lack of compliance with local land use procedures. Oregon congressmen and Senator Hatfield have been helpful.

The Lane County No GWEN Alliance is considering filing a legal suit requiring the Air Force to file an Environmental Impact Statement describing the effects of nuclear war, since it is only during nuclear war that GWEN will be used. A number of nationally recognized legal experts and defense analysts have agreed that their case has merit.

AND:CC has sent them our moral and financial support!
