

and its activity, which includes so many Communist spokesmen.

All that we delight in as free men is compromised when we obscure the activity of the Communists in their program for "peaceful coexistence" and world domination.

Much Sunday school literature and church literature, particularly that of those connected with the National Council of Churches, gives UNICEF a complete endorsement. Communists are no friends of little children, and any charitable, humanitarian, or relief activity that gives to the Communists a cover and a respectability should not be endorsed or supported by liberty-loving Christians. The trick-or-treat collection and the Christmas cards of UNICEF, we believe, should be passed up and not supported directly. In fact, we believe that if the information contained in this tract can be widely distributed, our interest in helping children can be carried out in other ways aside from a program that gives a place to the Communists.
